STAGE 2 — GLOSSARY

👑 STAGE 2 — INTERMEDIATE

Empire English · CEFR B1 · Rank: Legionary Built from: `curriculum/01-cefr-roadmap.md` $5 +
`curriculum/stage2/00-stage2-unit-map.md`

من وصف حياتك إلى مناقشة الأفكار — وبأسبابك.

WELCOME, LEGIONARY — أهلاً بالليجيونري

You arrive with A2. You can narrate a familiar past event, make a plan, compare two options, give advice, and keep an ordinary conversation alive. Stage 2 is where that stops being a set of tasks you can complete and starts being a language you can think in.

إنت داخل المرحلة دي وإنت قادر تحكي وتخطط وتقارن. الجديد إنك هتبقى تناقش، وتقول رأيك بسبب، وتتخيل.

By the end of Stage 2 you will be able to express and justify an opinion, tell a detailed story, handle a hypothetical, report what someone else said, and sustain a discussion of eight to twelve minutes — largely in English.

That last phrase is the real content of this stage. B1 is called independence for a reason: the measure is not how much grammar you have collected but whether you can cope when the conversation stops being predictable.

الهدف الحقيقي مش عدد القواعد. الهدف إنك تكمل الكلام لما الموقف يخرج عن المتوقع.

YOUR RANK — رُتبتك

Rank	الليجيونري — Legionary
CEFR	B1 — Intermediate
Entry	A2 achieved through Stage 1 or placement evidence
What it means	you can handle most everyday and work situations, and give reasons for what you think

The rank path: Recruit (A1) → Citizen (A2) → Legionary (B1) → Confident (B2, the Coronation) → Sovereign (C1).

A Citizen participates in a conversation. A Legionary can hold a position in one — state it, support it, adjust it when challenged, and stay in the exchange instead of ending it.

الرُّتْبَة معناها إنك بقيت تقدر تمسك موقف في نقاش، مش بس تشارك فيه.

THE ROADMAP — خريطة المرحلة

12 units · 60 lessons · roughly 150–200 guided hours, about 16–24 weeks at around 7 hours a week.

Unit	Theme	What you take from it
1	Present Perfect (1) — Experiences	talk about life experiences; ever/never; been against gone
2	Present Perfect (2) — Recent & Unfinished	just/already/yet; for/since ; the perfect-against-past contrast
3	Narrative Past — Continuous & used to	set a scene, interrupt an action, describe a habit that ended
4	First Conditional & Future Time	real conditions and their results; when/as soon as/unless
5	Hypotheticals — Second Conditional	imagine, advise with If I were you , and wish
6	Relative Clauses	say who, which, where and whose in one sentence instead of three
7	Reported Speech	report statements, questions, advice and requests accurately
8	The Passive	describe processes, facts and results when the doer does not matter
9	Connecting Ideas & Opinions	because/so/although/however ; state and justify an opinion
10	Discussion Skills	agree, disagree politely, hedge, and give reasons under pressure
11	Storytelling & Real-World Topics	the whole stage in use — work, technology, city life, the unexpected
12	Putting It Together	retrieval, an accent clinic, the full mock, and the B1 summative

The grammar spine: present perfect for experience → recent and unfinished time, and the contrast with the past simple → past continuous and used to → first conditional and future time clauses → second conditional and wish → defining relative clauses → reported speech → the present and past passive → connectors and opinion structure → discussion functions → all of it integrated.

Stage 2 is built in three movements. Units 1–3 complete the time system that Stage 1 opened, because storytelling is what the perfect and the narrative past exist for. Units 4–8 add the reasoning tools — conditions, hypotheticals, relative clauses, reported speech and the passive — which are what let you talk about complicated things without breaking them into short flat sentences. Units 9–11 build the discourse layer, where the grammar becomes discussion. Unit 12 consolidates and assesses.

Vocabulary target: roughly 2,000–2,500 words cumulative — opinions, work and study, connectors, collocations, and topics that begin to leave the concrete behind. All of it is collected in the generated glossary at the back of this book.

Accent Lab priorities:

- linking — a final consonant joining the next vowel, so words stop arriving separately
- weak forms — and, to, of, for, can, was, were collapsing toward /ə/
- reductions — gonna, wanna, gotta, and the 've / 's / 'll / 'd contractions
- intonation — questions, lists, contrast, emphasis, and how a turn ends
- stress-timing, the American beat: content words carry the beat, function words get squeezed
- your own residual sounds, identified from your recordings rather than assumed from a list النطق هنا بقى إيقاع، مش حروف. الفرق بين كلام سهل المتابعة وكلام متعب هو الإيقاع.

THE ARABIC FADE — الدعم العربي يوقف

Stage 1 faded Arabic gradually. Stage 2 finishes the job.

Units	Arabic support	What that looks like
1–5	~15%	short glosses on new concepts and on the one contrast that prevents a durable error
6–8	~12%	glosses on the hardest form only
9	~10%	reassurance and mindset lines
10–11	~5%	near-immersion; almost everything arrives in English
12	0%	full immersion — English only, including the assessment

This is not help being taken away. Familiar lesson structure, worked examples, tables and repeated English instructions gradually do the work that translation used to do. By Unit 12 you will not need the Arabic, and the last week of a stage is the wrong moment to discover you still do.

لو الشرح بقى إنجليزي أكثر، ده مش لأننا سحبن الدعم. ده لأنك بقيت تستقبل اللغة باللغة.

THE PLATEAU — الهضبة

There is one thing about this stage you should hear before it happens rather than after.

Somewhere in the middle of B1, most learners feel they have stopped improving. Stage 0 and Stage 1 produced visible jumps: you could not order food, then you could. B1 does not work like that. The gains move into fluency, accuracy, range and confidence — real improvements that are hard to feel from the inside, arriving at the same time as the Arabic support fades and the tasks get longer. So the work gets harder and the sense of progress gets quieter, in the same month.

This is the normal shape of intermediate learning, not evidence of failure, and it is the point where most self-taught learners quit. The answer is not to study harder or start a new method. It is to keep the routine, keep recording, and compare like with like: your ninety-second Unit-11 recording against your Stage-1 milestone, not against how fluent you wish you sounded.

الإحساس إنك واقف مكانك طبيعي في المرحلة دي، ومش دليل إنك بتفشل. ده أشهر مكان الناس بتسيب فيه.

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK — إزاي تستخدم الكتاب

Every teaching lesson keeps the same route. Review, milestone and assessment lessons adapt the middle to the task.

Section	What you do there
 Your Conquest	name the ability you are building
 Why this matters	connect the language to a real reason to use it
 Warm-up	retrieve earlier language before adding more
 Watch & Listen	meet the language inside a complete situation
 Decode it	notice the form, the meaning, and the contrast that matters
 Your Arsenal	collect the words and functional phrases
 Accent Lab	perceive, cue, produce, record, and compare
 Train	practise accurately before the speaking load rises
 Your Turn	connect the lesson into meaningful speech
 Your Orders	carry one small action into real life
 Remember	compress the lesson into what must survive
 Self-check	verify and correct without waiting for a teacher

Four rules make Stage 2 work:

1. Attach a reason to every opinion. An unjustified opinion is a dead turn at B1 — there is nothing for the other person to hold on to, and it is the single most common thing that keeps a learner below threshold.
2. Stop translating in your head. Translation is a bridge, and at some point standing on a bridge is slower than walking. Build English-only zones — one podcast, one hour, one topic — and grow them.
3. Talk through the gap, never around it. When the word is missing, describe it, approximate it, or say what it is not. Silence and switching language are the two habits this stage exists to remove.
4. Record before you feel ready. In a stage where progress is hard to feel, a recording is the only honest evidence you have. Keep them.

★ القاعدة الذهبية: الاستمرار أهم من الشدة. ارجع بسرعة، حتى لو رجعت بعشر دقائق بس.

WHAT GETS RECORDED — إيه اللي بيتسجل

Each unit ends in a speaking task. Those recordings do three jobs: they give the coach evidence for specific feedback, they let you compare your current speech with your own earlier speech, and they build the proof timeline that reaches four points at the end of this stage — Day 1, Stage 0, A2, and B1.

Recording for learning is not permission to publish. Storage, comparison and any public use follow the consent tier in the before/after protocol, that tier is yours to choose, and you can withdraw it later. You can complete this entire course without ever granting marketing use.

التسجيل دليل ليك وأداة تعليم. أي استخدام ثاني محتاج موافقة منفصلة وواضحة، ومن حقاك تسحبها.

HOW YOU ARE ASSESSED — التقييم

- Entry: A2 evidence through the Stage-1 summative or the placement process.
- End of every unit: a short quiz plus a speaking task — formative checks that direct feedback and the review queue, not gates.
- Unit 12, L03: a personalised accent clinic built from your own recorded evidence, targeting the three features that most affect how easy you are to follow.
- Unit 12, L04: a full mock discussion in the exact shape of the summative, without a pass or fail label.
- Stage-2 summative: a mixed quiz plus an extended opinion and discussion task of 8–12 minutes, scored on Fluency · Coherence · Accuracy · Range · Interaction at the committed B1 threshold, in English only.
- B1 milestone sample: a separate standard-prompt recording, so Day 1, Stage 0, A2 and B1 can be compared fairly.

A green quiz is not proof of speaking ability, and a strong discussion is not proof that every structure is stable. The determination uses the required evidence together, and it begins with the evidence rather than the label.

التقييم مش كمين. شكله معروف، ومعاييره ثابتة، والنتيجة تبدأ بالدليل قبل الاسم.

AN HONEST PROMISE — وعد صادق

We promise structured practice toward clear, confident, intelligible communication. We do not promise a native accent, effortless fluency in a fixed number of days, or progress without sustained use. Pronunciation is scored for clarity and follow-ability. Your accent is your identity, not an error to be removed.

مانوعدكش بلكنة أصلية ولا بطلاقة سريعة. نوعدك بمسار واضح، وتدريب حقيقي، ودليل تسمعه بنفسك.

What Stage 2 can honestly deliver: you can state and justify opinions, tell detailed stories with a shape, handle hypotheticals and report what others said, describe how things are done, disagree without ending the conversation, and keep a discussion going for eight to twelve minutes. You will still search for words, make errors in longer sentences, and find fully abstract or fast professional discussion difficult. That is not a failed B2; it is a real B1 — and B2 is the next climb, not a standard you have missed.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Stage overview for the coach. 12 units, 60 lessons, ~150–200 guided hours, normally 16–24 weeks at about 7 hours a week. Entry is evidenced A2. Arabic runs ~15% → 12% → 10% → 5% → 0% by Unit 12; the fade is committed per unit and gated by the Arabic-dial audit, so do not restore translation merely because productive struggle appears.

Stage structure: U1–U3 complete the tense system, U4–U8 add the reasoning grammar, U9–U11 build the discourse and discussion layer, U12 is retrieval + clinic + mock + summative. Pre-teach the plateau, do not wait for it. Unit 1 names it and Unit 2 revisits it. When a learner says they are getting worse, play two of their own recordings, name the increased task difficulty, and compare like with like before changing anything about the plan. The immersion is the deliverable, not a side effect. From U10 the live sessions are English-only. When a learner stalls, feed an English phrase rather than switching language — that is the strategy they need in the assessment and in every conversation after it. Non-negotiables: every requested recording, the Accent Lab, retrieval before support, a reason attached to every opinion, and interaction evidence. A correct monologue is not a discussion; reward following up, conceding, challenging, clarifying and repairing. Persistent errors to recycle: will after if; present perfect with a finished-time expression; for against since; been against gone; a doubled subject in a relative clause (the man who he...); missing backshift and reported word order; a missing be in the passive; however punctuated as a conjunction; second-conditional 'd dropped so real and unreal collapse together. Assessment integrity: U12–L04 must match L05 exactly in length, parts and rubric. Push back once, genuinely, for every learner — a discussion that is never challenged cannot evidence Interaction. Rubric bands and determination come from `curriculum/05-assessment-suite.md` ; prompt, conditions, storage and consent come from `curriculum/06-before-after-protocol.md` . The assessment recording and the milestone sample are two separate files. Never round a determination up for motivation or down for strictness. Carry residuals forward. Ending a stage is not a claim that every feature is finished; hand the unresolved ones to Stage 3 in writing.

NEXT → UNIT 1: PRESENT PERFECT — EXPERIENCES

Your first campaign opens the part of English that talks about a life rather than a day: what you have done, where you have been, and what you have never tried.

Empire English 🏰 · Stage 2 — Intermediate · من دراسة الإنجليزي لاستخدامه

STAGE 2 · UNIT 1

PRESENT PERFECT (1): EXPERIENCES

👑 UNIT 1 — PRESENT PERFECT (1): EXPERIENCES

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 1 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit1-present-perfect-experiences.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 1 you'll talk about your life, not your day — say what you have done, ask anybody what they have done, say what you have never done, and tell a listener whether somebody is back or still away. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تحكي خبرة حياتك كلها في جمل، من غير ما تحدد وقت.

Why this is the doorway to B1: every tense you have used so far pointed at a moment — now, yesterday, next week. The present perfect points at a span: everything up to now. That is the grammar of experience, and experience is what adults actually talk about.

ودي أول وحدة نتيجتها إنك تتكلم عن نفسك ككل، مش عن روتينك.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	The form	have/has + participle · contractions · no specific time
L02	Past participles	the third column — and why I've saw is wrong
L03	Have you ever...?	open a conversation with anyone · ever and never
L04	Been vs gone	one image: back, or still away
L05	Life experiences (milestone) 🎤	a 7–9 sentence talk + record your milestone

Grammar spine: present perfect for indefinite experience — form, participles, questions and negatives, and the been/gone contrast. Accent Lab: the contractions 've / 's (present but never dropped) · linking have-you-ever → /həvju'evər/ · the -en participles · -ed participles recycled · been /ɪ/ against gone /ɒ/.

Mindset: the intermediate plateau — progress stops being visible around B1, and that is normal. Arabic support: ~15% at L01, easing to ~10% by L05. The new concept is glossed; everything else is English.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-1 experiences talk — the first recognisably B1 recording in your timeline.
- One question, Have you ever...?, that will get you real conversation practice for free.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, L04 ~30, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. Hold the line at L01: no specific time. That single constraint makes the tense teachable. The explicit present-perfect-against-past-simple contrast is U2-L03 — bringing it forward means learners juggle two rules and lose both. Flag the pivot in L03, model it once, and leave it. L02 carries the unit's top error and two units' worth of value. ❌ "I've saw / I've went" is column two standing where column three belongs — not carelessness, since A2 never needed a third column. Drill column three relentlessly: it also powers the passive in U8. Teach eleven high-frequency participles, not a long list; a list produces recognition, not production. L03's double negative is an Arabic interference point. ❌ "I haven't never been". Never is already negative and takes a positive auxiliary. Also note that have is weak everywhere except a short answer, where it carries the whole meaning and takes the beat. L04 is one image, not a rule. Two arrows: been = back, gone = still away. Thirty minutes is deliberate — analysis dissolves this contrast, situations fix it. The usual error is gone where been belongs, which tells a listener you are abroad. L05 is the first clearly-B1 task, and the past-simple detail is the discriminator. A learner who says "I went in 2022" has understood the pivot early; one who says "I've gone in 2022" has not. Note it, do not correct at length mid-recording. Pre-teach the plateau in L01 and reassure in L05. This is the stage learners conclude they have stopped improving. They have not — the gains simply moved from visible to invisible.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: present perfect form · past participles, especially irregular · Have you ever...? with ever and never · been against gone.
- Speaking task: the L05 experiences talk, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold).
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker (weekly activity + each learner's flagged sound) and flags weak participles and dropped contractions for the review queue.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → UNIT 2 — PRESENT PERFECT (2): RECENT & UNFINISHED just · already · yet, for and since, and the contrast this unit deliberately postponed: present perfect against past simple.

Empire English 🏰 · Stage 2 · Legionary rank · consistency beats intensity

PRESENT PERFECT FORM: HAVE / HAS + PAST PARTICIPLE

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 1 · Lesson 1 ⌚ ~35 min · 📞 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: Stage 1 (A2 past simple) Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit1-present-perfect-experiences.md` · S2-U1-L01

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 7 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 6 · Your Turn 4 · Feedback 1 · Assign 1.

Objectives: form the present perfect for every person · understand that it links past to now · produce three or four experience sentences. Hold one line today: no specific time. That single constraint is what makes the tense learnable. The explicit present-perfect-against-past-simple contrast is U2-L03 — do not bring it forward, or learners will try to hold two rules at once and lose both. The predictable error is a dropped auxiliary. A learner who means "sometime in my life" produces "I visited many countries", which is a different tense with a different meaning. Gloss the concept in Arabic once, then drill in English. This is where the plateau talk belongs. B1 is the stage where progress stops being visible week to week. Say so now, before they conclude they have stopped improving.

Support: participle card + frame. Stretch: add once · a few times · never without naming a date. Arabic ~15% — the new concept only.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Build the present perfect: have / has + past participle.
- Say what you have done sometime in your life, without giving a date.
- Use contractions the way people actually speak. 🗣️

دي أول مرة تتكلم عن خبرة حياتك كلها في جملة واحدة، من غير ما تحدد وقت.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

At A2 you could say what happened yesterday. That is a closed box: a finished event at a finished time. This tense opens a different box — your whole life up to now. It is how people ask what you have tried, where you have travelled, and what you have achieved.

الجديد إن الزمن ده بيربط الماضي بالنهاية، والوقت مش بنقوله.

A note about this stage. Around B1, progress stops being obvious. You are not slowing down — the things you are learning are simply less visible than the alphabet was. That is the plateau, and everybody meets it.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From Stage 1: three past-simple sentences with a time in each — yesterday · last week · in 2019.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Insist on the time phrase. Today's tense is defined by its absence, so the contrast has to exist before you can remove it.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Three people describing experiences (📞 in the portal).

A: I've visited Turkey twice. I've tried every kind of kebab there is. B: She's travelled all over Europe, and she's met two famous footballers. C: We've eaten at that restaurant before. We've seen the chef on television.

Notice what is missing: no yesterday, no last year, no date at all. Every sentence means sometime before now — and that is the whole point.

English	بالعربي
I've visited Turkey.	زرت تركيا (في حياتي)
She's met him before.	قابلته قبل كده
We've eaten there.	أكلنا هناك قبل كده

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Play twice. On the second pass learners hunt for a time expression and find none. Let them discover the absence rather than announcing it.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

The form never changes. Two auxiliaries, one participle.

Person	Auxiliary
I / you / we / they	have	+ past participle	I have visited Spain.
he / she / it	has	+ past participle	She has visited Spain.

In real speech it is almost always contracted:

I've* · you've · we've · they've · he's · she's · it's

The negative:

I haven't been there. · He hasn't finished.

⚠️ الغلطة المتوقعة: لازم الفعل المساعد يبقى موجود قبل التصريف التالت.

The one rule that defines this tense: no specific time. The moment you name a time, English switches to the past simple.

I've been* to Paris.*	✅ experience, no date
I went to Paris in 2019 .	✅ a date, so past simple
I've been to Paris in 2019.	❌ both at once

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Build the auxiliary table, then spend the rest on the no-time rule using the three-row contrast above. Do not open the full tense comparison — that is U2-L03.

✂️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I've visited...	زرت...	I've visited Jordan.
I've tried...	جربت...	I've tried Japanese food.
I've met...	قابلت...	I've met her before.
I've travelled...	سافرت...	I've travelled a lot.
I've never...	عمري ما...	I've never flown.
twice / a few times	مرتين / كام مرة	I've been there twice.
before	قبل كده	We've eaten there before.
haven't / hasn't	لسه ما...	He hasn't finished.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the contraction is the normal form, not the lazy one.

I have visited → I've visited — /aɪv/ She has tried → She's tried — /ʃi:z/

Saying every have in full does not sound careful; it sounds like reading aloud. But never drop it entirely — "I visited" is a different tense.

Part 2 — link the contraction into the participle. The two words become one shape:

I've eaten → I-veaten · We've always → We-valways

Part 3 — hear the difference that matters:

I've worked here. (still true now) — I worked here. (finished, and I left)

! لو الـ ve' مش مسموعة، اللي بيسمعك بيّفهم زمن تاني خالص.

Record & compare: "I've eaten there before, and I've always liked it."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on the contraction, two on linking, one on the meaning-changing contrast. The last one is the reason this matters — a swallowed /v/ changes the tense.

TRAIN — تدرب

Exercise 1 — have or has?

1. I _____ visited Lebanon.
2. She _____ tried scuba diving.
3. They _____ met my brother.
4. My sister _____ travelled to China.

Exercise 2 — contract it.

1. I have seen that film. → _____
2. He has finished his work. → _____
3. We have never tried it. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I visited Turkey twice in my life. → _____
2. She have tried sushi. → _____
3. I've been to Paris last year. → _____
4. He hasn't finish yet. → _____

Exercise 4 — true for you. Three real experiences, no dates.TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Ex1: have · has · have · has. Ex3: I've visited · She has · drop last year (or switch to I went) · finished. Ex3.3 is the one to linger on.

 YOUR TURN — دورك

Say three things you have done in your life and one you have never done. No dates.

 Record it.
TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min + 1 feedback. Success check: correct auxiliary for every person, correct participle, no time expression, and an audible contraction in at least two sentences.

 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post: "I've ____, I've ____, and I've never ____."
- Expect the flat stretch. From here, gains arrive as things you stop getting wrong rather than things you suddenly can do. Keep the daily rep and let the evidence accumulate.

 REMEMBER — افكر

- have / has + past participle. has only for he · she · it.
- Contract it — I've · she's — but never drop it.
- No specific time. Name a time and you must use the past simple.
- Negative: haven't · hasn't + participle.
- A dropped 've is heard as a different tense.

✓ SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) have · 2) has · 3) have · 4) has
- Ex2: 1) I've seen · 2) He's finished · 3) We've never tried
- Ex3: 1) I've visited Turkey twice. · 2) She has tried sushi. · 3) I went to Paris last year. · 4) He hasn't finished yet.

PAST PARTICIPLES: THE THIRD COLUMN

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 1 · Lesson 2 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01 · Stage 1 irregular pasts Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit1-present-perfect-experiences.md` · S2-U1-L02

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 8 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 3 · Assign 2. Objectives: form regular participles (-ed) and the high-frequency irregulars · separate past simple from participle where they differ · use participles accurately inside the present perfect. The top error in the whole unit is ❌ "I've saw" / "I've went" — the past form used where the participle belongs. It is not carelessness: at A2 the second column was the past, and nothing needed a third. The three-column table is the anchor of two units. It powers the present perfect now and the passive in U8. Time spent drilling column three here is paid back twice. Do not teach the whole irregular list. Eleven high-frequency participles carry almost every sentence a B1 learner needs. A long list produces recognition, not production. Support: the three-column card stays on the desk. Stretch: a short paragraph using five participles. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Form the participle of any regular verb.
- Produce the eleven irregular participles that do most of the work.
- Stop saying "I've went". 🗣️

النهاردة بنضيف عمود تالت للفعل، وهو اللي بيشتغل مع الزمن اللي اتعلمته امبارح.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

The present perfect you learned in L01 is only as good as the participle you put in it. Get the auxiliary right and the participle wrong, and the sentence still fails. This is also the form the passive will need later, so it is worth over-learning now.

الزمن الجديد محتاج عمود تالت.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From L01: three present perfect sentences with visit · try · travel — all regular, all easy.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Deliberately regular verbs, so the form feels solved. The irregulars then land as the real content of the lesson.

 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

A short experience text (📖 in the portal).

I've worked in three countries and I've lived in two. I've seen things I never expected — I've eaten street food in Bangkok, I've driven through the desert at night, and I've met people who changed how I think. I've never written about any of it, and I've never taken a single photograph.

Notice two groups. Worked · lived end in -ed — the same as their past. But seen · eaten · driven · written · taken are not saw · ate · drove · wrote · took. Those verbs have a genuinely different third form.

English	بالعربي
I've worked there.	اشتغلت هناك
I've seen it.	شفته
I've eaten it.	أكلته
I've never taken one.	عمري ما خدت واحدة

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Learners sort the participles into "same as the past" and "different from the past". The sort is the lesson; the table then confirms what they found.

 DECODE IT — القاعدة

1) Regular verbs: the participle is just -ed. Identical to the past simple, so nothing new to learn.

Base	Past	Participle
work	worked	worked visit	visited	visited
study	studied	studied

2) Irregular verbs have three columns, and column three is the new one.

Base	Past
be	was / were	been go	went	gone
do	did	done
see	saw	seen
eat	ate	eaten
have	had	had
make	made	made
take	took	taken
meet	met	met write	wrote	written
give	gave	given

3) Notice the patterns — they reduce the memory load.

Pattern	Verbs
all three the same	cut · put · let past = participle	had · made · met · bought · found participle ends -en / -n	eaten · taken · written · given · seen · gone

⚠️ أشهر غلطة في الوحدة: إنك تحط العمود الثاني مكان الثالث.

Where each column lives:

Column 2 stands alone: I saw it yesterday. Column 3 needs an auxiliary: I've seen it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Drill column three orally, fast, in isolation — base → past → participle, chorally. Then put the participles straight into present perfect frames. The pattern table matters: learners who see -en stop guessing.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
been	كنت / رحت ورجعت	I've been to Rome. gone	راح (ولسه هناك)	She's gone to work. done	عملت	I've done it. seen	شفت	I've seen that film. eaten	أكلت	Have you eaten? taken	خدت	He's taken my pen. written	كتبت	I've written to her. given	إديت	They've given us time. met	قابلت	We've met before. made	عملت / صنعت	I've made a mistake.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the three -ed sounds return. They behave on participles exactly as they did on the past simple:

/t/	/d/	/ɪd/
work ed · watch ed	live d · stay ed	visit ed · want ed

Part 2 — the -en participles need a clear final syllable. It is unstressed and easy to swallow, but it is the only thing marking the form:

eat-en /'i:tən/ · tak-en /'teɪkən/ · writ-ten /'rɪtən/ · giv-en /'gɪvən/

Say taken and count two syllables. If you hear one, the participle has collapsed into take.

Part 3 — put it together with the contraction from L01:

I've taken → *I-vtaken · She's written → *She-zwritten

Record & compare: "I've seen it, I've eaten there, and I've written about it."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on -ed recall, three on the -en endings, which are the genuinely new articulation problem in this lesson.

 TRAIN — تدرّب
Exercise 1 — give the participle.

1. see → _____ 2. go → _____ 3. eat → _____ 4. take → _____
 2. write → _____ 6. work → _____ 7. do → _____ 8. give → _____

Exercise 2 — past simple or participle?

1. I _____ (see) him yesterday.
 2. I've _____ (see) that film twice.
 3. She _____ (write) to me last week.
 4. She's _____ (write) three books.

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I've saw that film. → _____
 2. He's went home. → _____
 3. We've eat already. → _____
 4. They've took my seat. → _____

Exercise 4 — true for you. Three experiences, each using an irregular participle.TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: seen · gone · eaten · taken · written · worked · done · given. Ex2: saw · seen · wrote · written. Ex3: seen · gone · eaten · taken. Ex2 is the diagnostic — it isolates exactly which column the learner reaches for.

 YOUR TURN — دورك

Say three experiences using three different irregular participles, and one with a regular participle.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min. Success check: column three used after the auxiliary every time, audible -en endings, and the correct -ed sound on the regular one.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Learn ten participles this week and post three sentences using them.
- Test yourself by column, not by list: cover column three and say it from the base. Recognising a participle on a page is not the same as producing it in a sentence.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Regular participle = -ed, same as the past.
- Irregular verbs have three forms; the third one follows the auxiliary.
- Column 2 alone · Column 3 with have/has.
- Many participles end -en: eaten · taken · written · given · seen.
- ❌ I've saw → ✅ I've seen.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: seen · gone · eaten · taken · written · worked · done · given
- Ex2: 1) saw · 2) seen · 3) wrote · 4) written

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Feedback 1. Objectives: ask about experience with Have you ever...? · answer short · use ever in questions and never in negatives · sustain an experiences mini-interview. This is the highest-value question form at B1. It opens a conversation with a stranger, and every answer it produces is personal. Learners who own this one frame get real practice for free. Watch the double negative: ❌ "I haven't never been". In Arabic the negation can be doubled; in English never is already negative and takes the positive auxiliary — I have never been. Preview the pivot lightly, do not teach it. When an answer gains a time, English switches to the past simple: "Yes — I went in 2019." Flag it, model it once, and leave it. U2-L03 formalises it. Support: prompt cards + short-answer cards. Stretch: every answer carries a follow-up detail. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Ask Have you ever...? about anything.
- Answer short and naturally: Yes, I have. / No, I haven't.
- Say what you have never done. 🗣️

السؤال ده لوحده يفتح لك محادثة كاملة مع أي حد.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Most learner conversations die because the questions run out. Have you ever...? never runs out: it works on food, travel, work, films, fears, anything. And unlike "What did you do yesterday?", it invites a story rather than a fact.

والإجابة القصيرة مهمة زي السؤال.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From L02: eight participles, fast, by column — see · go · eat · take · write · do · give · be.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Rapid-fire. Every question in this lesson needs a participle, so shakiness here surfaces immediately.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

A short interview (📺 in the portal).

A: Have you ever been to Europe? B: No, I haven't — but I've been to Turkey twice. A: Have you ever tried Japanese food? B: Yes, I have! I love it. Have you? A: I've never tried it, actually. Have you ever eaten something you regretted? B: Yes — I ate a whole chilli in Bangkok last year. Terrible idea.

Notice three things: ever appears only in the questions · never replaces the negative auxiliary · and in that last answer, the moment a time appeared (last year), the tense switched to ate.

English	بالعربي
Have you ever been to...?	عمرك رحت...؟
Yes, I have.	أيوه
No, I haven't.	لا
I've never tried it.	عمري ما جربته

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners mark every ever, every never, and the one past-simple verb. Ask why that verb changed — most will spot last year themselves.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

1) The question: auxiliary first.

Have you ever + past participle?* Has she ever + past participle?*

Have you ever flown in a helicopter? · Has he ever been here?

2) Short answers keep the auxiliary and drop everything else.

Yes, I have .	No, I haven't .
Yes, she has .	No, she hasn't .

Never answer with the main verb: ❌ "Yes, I been."

3) ever and never sit in the same slot — between the auxiliary and the participle.

question	Have you ever been...? negative experience	I have never been...

⚠️ خد بالك: كلمة never لوحدها بتنفي الجملة، فالفعل المساعد بيفضل إيجابي. بنقول I have never been، مش I haven't never been.

4) The pivot to watch for. Add a time and the tense changes:

— Have you ever been to Rome? — Yes, I have. → still experience — Yes, I went in 2019. → a date, so past simple

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on question form, two on short answers, two on the ever/never slot. Model the pivot once and move on — the full contrast is U2-L03.

🗡️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example

I've never...	عمرى ما...	I've never skied.
Neither have I.	ولا أنا	reaction

once / twice	مرة / مرتين	I've done it once.
Not yet.	لسه	No, not yet.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق*Part 1 — Have you ever is one word in speech. Three words, one shape:have you ever → /həvju'evər/ — "hu-vyu-EV-er"

The stress lands on ever. Said as three separate words it sounds like an exam question, not a conversation.

Part 2 — the question rises.Have you ever been to Japan? ➡Part 3 — the short answer falls, and the auxiliary is stressed.Yes, I HAVE. ⬇ · No, I HAVEN'T. ⬇

This is the one place have is not weak. In a statement it reduces to /əv/; in a short answer it carries the whole meaning, so it gets the beat.

Record & compare: "Have you ever been to Japan?" — "No, I haven't. Have you?"TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Drill the linked question chorally until it sounds like one word, then the rise, then the stressed short answer. The strong-versus-weak have contrast is worth naming explicitly.

TRAIN — تدرب*Exercise 1 — build the question.

1. you / ever / ride a camel → _____
2. she / ever / work abroad → _____
3. they / ever / eat Korean food → _____

Exercise 2 — short answers.

1. Have you ever been to London? (no) → _____
2. Has he ever driven a truck? (yes) → _____
3. Have they ever met you? (no) → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. Have you ever went to Spain? → _____
2. I haven't never tried it. → _____
3. Yes, I been. → _____
4. Have you ever be there? → _____

Exercise 4 — mini-interview. Ask your partner three Have you ever...? questions. After each answer, ask one follow-up.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: Have you ever ridden a camel? · Has she ever worked abroad? · Have they ever eaten Korean food? Ex3: gone/been · I have never tried it · Yes, I have · been. Ex4 is the lesson — insist on the follow-up, or it becomes a form drill.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Interview a partner with three questions, then report one of their answers and add one thing you have never done.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min + 1 feedback. Success check: correct question form with the participle, a correct short answer, one never sentence with a positive auxiliary, and audible linking on at least one question.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post one Have you ever...? question for the group and answer somebody else's.
- Use it live this week. This is the cheapest conversation-starter in English. One question, and the other person does the talking while you listen — which is exactly the practice you need.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Have you ever + participle? — auxiliary first.
- Short answers: Yes, I have. / No, I haven't. Never the main verb.
- ever in questions, never in negatives — same slot.
- never is already negative: I have never been, not haven't never.

- Add a time and switch to the past simple.

✓ SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~30 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 4 · Train 6 · Your Turn 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: separate has been to (went and came back) from has gone to (went and is still there) · describe where people are · use both in short exchanges. Teach this as one image, not a rule. Been = the person is back. Gone = the person is still away. Draw the two arrows once and the distinction holds; explain it in prose for five minutes and it dissolves. Do not over-teach. This is a thirty-minute lesson on purpose. The contrast is small, concrete, and fixed by situations — not by analysis. The error is almost always gone where been belongs, because gone looks like the obvious participle of go. It produces "I've gone to Paris" from somebody sitting in the room, which is genuinely confusing to a listener. Support: the contrast graphic stays visible. Stretch: a mini-story that needs both. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Say where you have been — places you visited and came back from.
- Say where someone has gone — and is still.
- Hear the difference instantly. 🎧

فرق صغير في الكلمة، بس بيغيّر مكان الشخص في ذهن اللي بيسمعك.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

These two participles come from the same verb and mean opposite things about where the person is now. Say the wrong one and your listener pictures you in another country.

معناها رايح ولسه هناك gone معناها رحت ورجعت، و been.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From L03: Have you ever been to...? — three questions to a partner, three short answers.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. They have already been saying been correctly inside that frame all lesson. Today names why.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Two people looking for a colleague (📞 in the portal).

A: Is Layla here? B: No, she's gone to the bank. She'll be back in twenty minutes. A: Again? She's been to the bank three times this week. B: I know. And I've been there myself twice — the queue is unbelievable. A: Have you ever been to the branch downtown? It's much faster. B: No, I haven't. Where has everyone gone today, anyway? The office is empty.

Notice: every gone describes somebody not here now. Every been describes a completed visit by somebody who is back.

English	بالعربي
She's gone to the bank.	رايحة البنك (لسه هناك)
She's been to the bank.	رحت البنك ورجعت
Where has everyone gone?	الناس كلها رايحة فين؟

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: for each verb, learners answer one question only — is that person here or not? That is the entire grammar.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Two arrows. That is the whole lesson.

	Meaning	Where they are now
He's been * to Cairo.*	went and came back	🏠 here
He's gone * to Cairo.*	went and is still there	✈️ away

1) been is the experience word. It is what you use for your life list, which is why every Have you ever...? question in L03 used it:

I've been to four countries. · Have you ever been to Europe?

2) gone is the whereabouts word. It answers where is that person?

She's gone home.* · They've gone* out.* · My keys have gone.*

⚠️ الغلطة الشائعة: إنك تقول I've gone to Paris وإنّ قاعد قصاد الشخص، لو رجعت، الصح been.

3) The test that always works. Ask yourself: is the person back?

Situation	Choose
I visited Rome in 2018 and I'm home now	I've been to Rome.
My brother left for Rome this morning	He's gone to Rome.

4) A useful pairing: been to takes a place. gone often stands with a direction or nothing at all — gone home · gone out · gone away.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Board the two arrows and leave them up. Then run situations aloud and have learners choose. Do not accept a choice without the reason — "because he's back".

✂️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I've been to...	رحت... ورجعت	I've been to Jordan.

Where has he gone?	راح فين؟	Where has he gone?
He'll be back.	هيرجع	He'll be back at five.
I've never been to...	عمري ما رحت...	I've never been to Europe.
three times	ثلاث مرات	I've been there three times.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — 's been links into one sound.

She's been → /ʃi:zbɪn/ — the /z/ runs straight into been He's gone → /hi:zgɒn/

Part 2 — the two vowels are genuinely different, and they carry the meaning.

	Vowel
been	/ɪ/ — short, or /i:/ in careful speech	bin · been gone	/ɒ/ — open, back of the mouth	gone

Say them back to back: been · gone · been · gone. If they sound similar, your listener cannot tell whether you are home or abroad.

والفرق في الحركة هو اللي بيوصل المعنى، فخلي الاتنين واضحين.

 Record & compare: "She's gone to the shop, but I've been there already."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes on the linked contraction, two on the vowel contrast. Eyes-closed pair testing works well here.

🏋️ TRAIN — تدرّبExercise 1 — been or gone?

1. My sister isn't here — she's _____ to the market.
2. I've _____ to Turkey twice.
3. Where's Ahmed? He's _____ home.
4. Have you ever _____ to a live match?
5. The children have _____ out; the house is quiet.

Exercise 2 — answer with the right one.

1. Your friend asks if you know Rome. You visited in 2019. → _____
2. Your manager asks where Sara is. She left for the airport. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I've gone to Spain three times. (you're home) → _____
2. She's been to the bank — she'll be back soon. → _____
3. Have you ever gone to Japan? → _____

Exercise 4 — true for you. Two places you have been, and one person who has gone somewhere today.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Ex1: gone · been · gone · been · gone. Ex3: been · gone · been. Ex3.2 is the subtle one — been contradicts she'll be back.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Say two places you have been, then where two people have gone today.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min. Success check: correct choice every time with the reason available if asked, and a clear vowel contrast between the two words.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post: "I've been to _____. My friend has gone to _____."
- When you hear either word this week, ask yourself one question: is that person back? That habit fixes the pair faster than any exercise.

Name that difference for them — it is the clearest evidence that the plateau is not a stall. The past-simple detail is the stretch, and it is where errors cluster. A learner who adds "I went in 2019" correctly has understood the pivot before U2 teaches it. A learner who says "I've gone in 2019" has not — note it, do not correct at length during the recording. Score interaction. The peer interview is part of the task, not a warm-up for it. Asking back and reacting are B1 behaviours. Support: 7 sentences with the checklist card. Stretch: two past-simple details and a follow-up question handled unscripted. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Talk about your life experiences for 7–9 connected sentences.
- Combine present perfect · ever/never · been/gone.
- Add a past-simple detail when you give a time.
- Record your Unit-1 milestone. 🎤

دي أول مهمة على مستوى B1 — بتتكلم عن حياتك كلها، مش عن يومك.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: an auxiliary + participle → an irregular participle → a Have you ever...? question → a never sentence → a been/gone choice.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One item each, fast, no repeats. This retrieves all four lessons before the load rises.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model experiences talk (🗣️ in the portal).

I've been lucky with travel. I've visited six countries, and I've been to Turkey three times because my cousin lives there. I've tried a lot of food I couldn't name — I've eaten octopus, and I 've never eaten anything worse. The best trip was Georgia; I went there in 2022 with two friends and we drove through the mountains for a week. I've never been anywhere so green. I've also worked abroad, in Dubai, for eight months. My brother has gone to Canada now, so I think I'll visit him next.

Notice the shape: experiences in the present perfect · one never for contrast · one stretch into the past simple, triggered by in 2022 · a gone for somebody currently away · and a closing plan.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for the story, once for the structures. Ask why went and drove appear — the answer is in 2022, and that is the pivot U2 will formalise.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست الحكاية

- ✓ Three or more experiences in the present perfect
- ✓ One never sentence
- ✓ One been (a place you returned from)
- ✓ One gone (somebody still away) — or a Have you ever...? to your partner
- ✓ One past-simple detail with a time — I went in 2022
- ✓ Contractions audible throughout — I've · she's
- ★ Handle one follow-up question you did not prepare

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Item 5 is the discriminator between a solid A2 talk and a B1 one.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- contractions — I've · you've · he's · she's (present, but never dropped)
- linking — have-you-ever → /həvju'evər/ · I've eaten → I-veaten
- -en participles — eaten · taken · written · given

- -ed participles — /t/, /d/, /ɪd/
- been /ɪ/ against gone /ɒ/

 Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One personal target each, taken from your L01–L04 notes. The dropped auxiliary is the priority if it is still happening — it changes the tense, and nothing else on this list does.

YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse against the checklist with a partner, interview each other, then record.

Talk about your life experiences in 7–9 sentences. Include three or more experiences, one thing you have never done, a place you have been, and one detail in the past simple with a time. Then answer one question about it.

 Record it and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min recording + 3 feedback. Ask your follow-up after the recording and unscripted — "Which trip would you repeat? Who did you go with?" Success check (Unit-1): a connected 7–9 sentence talk with correct auxiliaries and participles, one correct never, a correct been/gone choice, one clean past-simple detail, and audible contractions (rubric: Fluency + Accuracy + Pronunciation at B1).

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your experiences talk.
- Complete the Unit-1 quiz.
- Ask one person one Have you ever...? question this week and listen to the whole answer. Input at this level comes from real replies, not from exercises.

REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 1 WRAP)

- have / has + past participle — and has only for he · she · it.
- Column three is the participle: seen · gone · eaten · taken · written.
- ever in questions, never in negatives, both between auxiliary and participle.

- been = came back · gone = still away.
- No specific time. Name a time and switch to the past simple.

✓ SELF-CHECK — UNIT 1 MINI-QUIZ

1. She ____ visited Rome. → has
2. Participle of see → seen
3. Participle of take → taken
4. Have you ever ____ to Japan? → been
5. I ____ never tried it. → have
6. He's ____ to the shop — he'll be back. → gone
7. I've been to Paris ____ 2019. → wrong; say I went to Paris in 2019
8. Short answer to Have you eaten? (no) → No, I haven't.

🎉 UNIT 1 COMPLETE — بقيت تتكلم عن حياتك، مش عن يومك

You can now describe what you have done in your life, ask anybody about theirs, say what you have never done, and tell a listener whether somebody is back or still away.

Next → Unit 2: Present Perfect (2). Just, already, yet, for and since — and the contrast this unit deliberately left alone: when to use the present perfect and when to use the past simple. 🏰

STAGE 2 · UNIT 2

PRESENT PERFECT (2): RECENT & UNFINISHED

👑 UNIT 2 — PRESENT PERFECT (2): RECENT & UNFINISHED

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 2 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit2-present-perfect-recent.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 2 you'll choose the right past tense on purpose — talk about what you have just done, how long things have been true, and share news the way people really share it.
مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تعرف تختار بين الزمنين بسؤال واحد، وتتكلم عن الفترة الأخيرة في حياتك.

Why this unit is the hinge of the stage: Unit 1 gave you the present perfect on its own, with the time question switched off. This unit switches it back on. The present perfect against past simple contrast is the single most important tense skill at B1 — and the one that separates a fluent-sounding intermediate from a confident A2.

ودي الوحدة اللي بتحدد شكل كلامك عن الماضي لباقي المرحلة.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	just · already · yet	mark recency — and put each word in its own slot
L02	for · since	say how long, and stop saying " I live here since... "
L03	Perfect vs past simple ★	ask one question and pick the right tense
L04	News & recent events	headline in the perfect, details in the past
L05	"Lately" talk (milestone) 🎤	an 8–10 sentence catch-up + record your milestone

Grammar spine: just / already / yet · for and since for unfinished time · present perfect against past simple · the announce-then-detail pattern in real discourse. Accent Lab: weak for /fə/ · squeezed just / already against final, clear yet · 've been linking · news intonation · switching tense cleanly mid-turn. Mindset: trust the process on the flat stretch — measure duration, not perfection. Arabic support: ~15% through L01–L04, easing to ~10% at L05.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-2 "lately" talk — the most reusable conversation in the language.

- One question — is there a specific finished time? — that fixes the commonest intermediate error.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L03 and L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. L01's slip is yet in a positive sentence. Teach already and yet as a positive/negative pair from the start; taught separately, learners cross them. And position is the real grammar: just/already between auxiliary and participle, yet at the end. Note too that already carries mild surprise — used as a neutral past marker it makes learners sound astonished by everything. L02 contains the highest-value correction in the unit. Arabic marks an ongoing situation with the present, so ❌ "I live here since 2019" is near-universal — and being perfectly understandable, it survives for years uncorrected. Anchor it: unfinished time reaching now → present perfect. The for/since choice itself is mechanical; do not spend the lesson there. L03 is the most important lesson in Stage 2, and it will not be mastered in one sitting. Plan for that. The realistic outcome is one reliable self-question — is there a specific finished time? — plus many contrastive reps. Teach the trigger, not the event: the time expression decides. Then drill the announce-then-detail chain, because that is what transfers to speech. Re-drill this contrast in every remaining unit of the stage. L04 makes L03 communicative and should be scored as a pattern, not as sentences. Insist on real news — invented news produces invented language — and reward reactions as much as accuracy. L05 assesses tense choice and interaction together. Expect the contrast to be imperfect; record each learner's pattern for the queue instead of correcting at length in the feedback minute.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: just / already / yet placement · for against since · present perfect against past simple (the key items) · the announce-then-detail pattern.
- Speaking task: the L05 "lately" talk, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold) with an eye on tense choice.
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker and flags perfect/past errors plus weak forms for the review queue.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → UNIT 3 — NARRATIVE PAST: CONTINUOUS & USED TO setting a scene, saying what was going on when something interrupted it, and describing how life used to be.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 4 · Train 7 · Your Turn 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: use just (very recent), already (sooner than expected) and yet (until now, in negatives and questions) · talk about recently finished actions · ask Have you ... yet? and answer. The slip is yet in a positive sentence — ❌ "I've done it yet." Contrast it directly against already, which is the positive twin. Teaching the two separately is what lets learners cross them. Position is the grammar here, not meaning. Just and already go between auxiliary and participle; yet goes at the end. Learners who know the meanings still put them in the wrong slot. Already carries surprise. "She's already left" is not neutral — it means sooner than I expected. Learners who use it as a plain past marker sound oddly astonished by everything. Support: the position card. Stretch: add a past-simple detail — "I've already done it; I finished an hour ago" — which previews L03. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Say something happened a moment ago — I've just finished.
- Say it happened sooner than expected — She's already left.
- Ask whether something has happened up to now — Have you eaten yet? 🗣️

ثلاث كلمات صغيرة بتغيّر إحساس الجملة بالكامل.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

These three words are how English marks recency — and they are everywhere in ordinary speech: at work, in messages, at the door. Without them you can say what happened but not how recently, which is usually the part the other person cares about.

الثلاثة بيوصفوا حاجة قريبة، والفرق في مكان الكلمة.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخّن

From Unit 1: three present perfect sentences with irregular participles — seen · eaten · done.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. The form must be automatic before adverbs are inserted into it.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Three short exchanges (📞 in the portal).

A: Are you ready to order? B: Sorry, we haven't decided yet. Give us two minutes. A: Where's Omar? I need to talk to him. B: He's already gone — he left at four. A: Already? That's early. B: I know. Oh — I've just heard from him, actually. He's on the train. A: Have you eaten yet? B: No, not yet. Have you?

Notice the slots. Just and already sit before the participle. Yet sits at the very end, and it only appears in the negative and the question.

English	بالعربي
I've just heard.	سمعت حلاً
He's already gone.	مشي خلاص
We haven't decided yet.	لسه ما قررنا
Have you eaten yet?	أكلت؟ (لسه؟)

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. On the second pass learners mark each adverb's position. The distribution — two in the middle, one at the end — is the lesson.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

1) The meanings are distinct.

Word	Means	Example
just	a moment ago	I've just finished. already	sooner than expected	She's already left. yet	up to now — still waiting	He hasn't arrived yet.

2) The positions are fixed.

I've just / already + participle — between auxiliary and participle ... participle ... yet. — at the end of the sentence

3) The sentence type decides which one you may use.

	already	yet
positive	✅ I've already eaten.	❌
negative	❌	✅ I haven't eaten yet .
question	sometimes (surprise)	✅ Have you eaten yet ?

⚠️ خذ بالك: yet للنفي والسؤال، وalready للإيجابي.

4) Already is not neutral. It carries mild surprise — earlier than I thought. If nothing is surprising, leave it out.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Two minutes on meaning, three on position, two on the sentence-type grid. Drill by transformation: give a positive with already and ask for the question with yet.

🗡️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I've just...	حالا / منذ لحظة	I've just arrived. already	خلاص / بالفعل	He's already paid.
not ... yet	لسه ما...	It hasn't started yet.
Have you ... yet?	لسه...؟	Have you finished yet?
Not yet.	لسه	short answer
I've just heard.	سمعت حالا	I've just heard the news.
So soon?	بالسرعة دي؟	reaction

🎧 ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — just and already are unstressed and fast. They are grammar words, so they get squeezed:

I've just finished → I've-jæs-finished — the /t/ often disappears before a consonant He's already gone
→ He's-ɔ:lredi-gone

The stress stays on the main verb, not the adverb.

Part 2 — yet is different: it is final and it is clear. Sitting at the end of the sentence, it carries the falling beat and its /t/ is released:

I haven't finished yet. 🗣️

Part 3 — the question rises, and yet still lands last:

Have you eaten yet? 🗣️

🎧 Record & compare: "I've just eaten, but she hasn't arrived yet."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes squeezing just/already, two making yet final and audible. Learners who stress just sound emphatic in a way they do not intend.

🏋️ TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — put the word in the right place.

1. I've finished my work. (just) → _____
2. She has left. (already) → _____
3. They haven't called. (yet) → _____
4. Have you sent the email? (yet) → _____

Exercise 2 — already or yet?

1. I've _____ seen this film — twice.
2. He hasn't woken up _____.
3. Have you spoken to her _____?
4. Don't worry, I've _____ paid.

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I've done it yet. → _____

2. She has yet finished. → _____
3. I've eaten already my lunch. → _____
4. Have you already the report sent? → _____

Exercise 4 — true for you. Two things you have just or already done today, and one you have not done yet.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: I've just finished my work · She has already left · They haven't called yet · Have you sent the email yet?

Ex2: already · yet · yet · already. Ex3: already · already finished · already eaten my lunch · Have you sent the report yet?

YOUR TURN — دورك

Say three recent things using just and already, then ask a partner one question with yet.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min. Success check: correct position for all three adverbs, yet only in a negative or question, and unstressed just/already.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post: "I've just ____, I've already ____. Have you ____ yet?"
- Trust the reps on the flat stretch. These three words will feel trivial and then, in a month, they will come out of your mouth without thought. That gap is what practice is.

REMEMBER — افكر

- just = a moment ago · already = sooner than expected · yet = up to now.
- just / already go before the participle.
- yet goes at the end, and only in negatives and questions.
- already is the positive twin of yet — they never swap.
- just and already are squeezed; yet is final and clear.

✓ SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) I've just finished my work. · 2) She has already left. · 3) They haven't called yet. · 4) Have you sent the email yet?
- Ex2: 1) already · 2) yet · 3) yet · 4) already
- Ex3: 1) I've done it already. · 2) She has already finished. · 3) I've already eaten my lunch. · 4) Have you sent the report yet?

FOR AND SINCE — "HOW LONG HAVE YOU...?"

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 2 · Lesson 2 🕒 ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit2-present-perfect-recent.md · S2-U2-L02

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 4 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 1. Objectives: use for (a period) and since (a starting point) with the present perfect · ask and answer How long have you...? · describe situations still true now. This is the highest-value fix in the unit. Arabic marks an ongoing situation with the present, so learners produce ❌ "I live here since 2019" — and because it is perfectly understandable, nobody corrects it and it survives for years. Anchor it: unfinished time reaching now → present perfect. The for/since choice itself is mechanical — duration against point. Do not spend the lesson there; spend it on the tense that carries them. Note the meaning: I've lived here for five years means I still live here. That is what "unfinished" means, and it is why the past simple is wrong. Support: the timeline card + a phrase sort. Stretch: interview a partner with three How long...? questions. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Say how long a situation has been true: for five years · since 2019.
- Ask How long have you...?
- Stop saying "I live here since...". 🗣️

أهم تصحيح في الوحدة: الحالة اللي بدأت في الماضي ولسه مستمرة بتأخذ الزمن الجديد، مش المضارع.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

How long have you...? is one of the first questions anybody asks you — about your job, your city, your English. Answering it correctly marks you instantly as beyond A2. Answering it with the present tense is the single most common intermediate error there is.

والعربي بيستخدم المضارع هنا، فالجملة مفهومة بس غلط.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From L01: two sentences with just, one with already, one negative with yet.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Keep the adverb positions alive; they reappear in this lesson's answers.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Meeting a new colleague (📞 in the portal).

A: How long have you worked here? B: I've worked* here for about three years. And you? A: I've* only been here since March, so I'm still learning. B: How long have you known Layla? You seemed familiar. A: Oh, I've known* her since we were at university — for nearly ten years. B: That's a long time.

Notice: every one of those situations is still true right now — he still works here, she still knows Layla. That is why English uses this tense and not the past simple.

English	بالعربي
How long have you worked here?	بقالك قد إيه بتشتغل هنا؟
for three years	بقالي ثلاث سنين
since March	من مارس
I've known her since...	أعرفها من...

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: for each sentence, learners answer is it still true? Every answer is yes — that is the pattern the tense encodes.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

1) The tense first: unfinished time takes the present perfect.

If a situation started in the past and is still true now, English uses have/has + participle — not the present, and not the past simple.

I've lived* here for five years.*	✅ and I still live here
I live here for five years.	❌
I lived here for five years.	✅ but I have moved away

⚠️ أهم غلطة في الوحدة: الحالة التي لسه مستمرة بتأخذ الزمن الجديد. بنقول I've lived here for five years، مش I live here for five years.

2) Then the easy part — for or since?

	Takes	Example
for	a period — how long	for two hours · for a week · for ten years · for a long time since	a point — when it started	since Monday · since 2019 · since I was a child · since we met

The test: could you answer "how long?" → for. Could you answer "starting when?" → since.

3) The question.

How long have you + participle?? How long have you had that car? · How long has she been here?*

4) The verbs this happens with are mostly states: live · work · know · have · be · study.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Four minutes on the tense — that is the real content — and three on the for/since sort. Test with a phrase sort, then push straight into How long...? pairs.

✂️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
How long have you...?	بقالك قد إيه...؟	How long have you studied English? for two years	لمدة سنتين	I've worked here for two years. since 2019	من سنة ٢٠١٩	I've been here since 2019. since I was a child	من وأنا صغير	I've loved it since I was a child. for a long time	من مدة طويلة	I've known him for a long time.
all my life	طول عمري	I've lived here all my life.
I've known...	أعرف...	I've known her for years.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — for is weak. It almost never sounds like the word four:

for → /fə/ — "I've worked here fə three years"

Say it strong and the sentence sounds like a list of separate words. It only becomes /fɔːr/ when you stress it for contrast.

Part 2 — since keeps its /s/ endings. Both of them:

since /sɪns/ — not "sin". The final /s/ matters before a vowel: since April → sin-sApril.

Part 3 — link the auxiliary into the participle, as in Unit 1:

I've lived → I-vlived · I've known → I-vknown

 Record & compare: "I've lived here for five years and I've known her since 2019."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes on weak for — it is the most audible improvement available in this lesson — then since, then the linking.

TRAIN — تَدْرِبْ

Exercise 1 — for or since?

- _____ three months
- _____ Tuesday
- _____ a long time
- _____ 2015
- _____ I graduated
- _____ half an hour

Exercise 2 — put the verb in the right tense.

- I _____ (know) him for ten years.
- She _____ (work) here since January.
- We _____ (live) in Cairo for a while, then we moved to Alexandria.
- How long _____ you _____ (have) that phone?

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

- I live here since 2019.* → _____
- I've worked here since three years.* → _____
- She knows me for a long time.* → _____
- How long do you study English?* → _____

Exercise 4 — true for you. How long have you: lived where you live · done your job or studies · known your oldest friend?

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: for · since · for · since · since · for. Ex2: have known · has worked · lived (finished — they moved) · have you had. Ex3: I've lived · for three years · She's known me · How long have you studied...? Ex2.3 is the useful trap: for a while with a finished situation genuinely takes the past.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Say how long three things have been true for you — one with for, one with since, and one of your choice. Then ask a partner one How long...? question.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: present perfect for every still-true situation, correct for/since, and a weak /fə/.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post: "I've ___ for ___ and ___ since ___."
- Measure duration, not perfection. "I've practised for six weeks" is a real achievement sentence — and it happens to be exactly this grammar.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Still true now → have/has + participle, never the present simple.
- for + a period · since + a starting point.
- How long have you...? — the question that proves you are past A2.
- Past simple means it stopped: I lived there for five years (and left).
- for is weak: /fə/.

SELF-CHECK — صحح لنفسك

- Ex1: for · since · for · since · since · for
- Ex2: 1) have known · 2) has worked · 3) lived · 4) have ... had

- Ex3: 1) I've lived here since 2019. · 2) ...for three years. · 3) She's known me for a long time. · 4) How long have you studied English?

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Input 6 · Decode 8 · Accent Lab 4 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Feedback 1 · Assign 1.

Objectives: choose present perfect for indefinite or unfinished time and past simple for a specific finished time · switch to the past simple when a detail is added · narrate an experience then give its specifics correctly. This is the single most important grammar lesson in Stage 2, and it will not be mastered today. Say that to yourself before you start. The realistic goal is that learners leave with one reliable question they can ask themselves, plus many contrastive repetitions. Mastery comes from re-drilling it in every remaining unit. Teach the trigger, not the event. Learners try to decide from the meaning of what happened, which is unreliable. The time expression decides: a specific finished time forces the past simple, and nothing else does. The "announce, then detail" chain is the productive pattern and the one that transfers to real speech: "I've got a new job — I started last week." Drill the chain, not isolated sentences. Support: the decision card stays on the desk all lesson. Stretch: a monologue that moves between the tenses without prompting. Arabic ~15% — the rule glossed once, then English.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Ask yourself one question and pick the right tense.
- Announce something with the present perfect, then give details in the past simple.
- Hear why "I've been to Paris last year" is wrong. 🗣️

دي أهم قاعدة في المرحلة كلها. مش هتتقنها اليوم، بس هتمشي بسؤال واحد يظبطك.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

English has two ways to talk about the past and they are not interchangeable. Choosing wrongly rarely stops communication, which is exactly why the error lasts: it is comfortable, understandable, and permanently noticeable to a fluent listener.

دي أهم قاعدة في المرحلة، والزمن بيتحدد من كلمة الوقت.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

Two sentences about the same trip: one as an experience (no time), one with a date. Notice you already change the verb without being told.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Many learners produce the contrast correctly here by instinct. Naming what they already did is a stronger start than presenting a rule.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

An experience turning into details (📺 in the portal).

A: Have you ever been to Italy? B: Yes, I 've been twice, actually. A: Nice — when? B: I went the first time in 2019, and I went again last summer with my sister. We stayed in Naples and we ate far too much pizza. A: Have you been to Rome? B: No, I haven't — not yet.

Watch the pivot. The conversation opens in the present perfect (have you been · I've been). The moment "when?" is answered, every verb switches to the past simple (went · stayed · ate). Then the last question returns to experience — and returns to the present perfect.

English	بالعربي
I've been twice.	رحت مرتين
I went in 2019.	رحت سنة ٢٠١٩
We stayed in Naples.	قعدنا في نابولي
I haven't been yet.	لسه ما رح

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners mark where the tense changes and what caused it. The cause is always a time expression.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Ask one question: is there a specific finished time?

Answer	Tense	Example
Yes — a finished time is named or implied	past simple	I went yesterday.
No — no time, or the time is still open	present perfect	I've been* there.*

1) These expressions force the past simple. They close the time:

yesterday · last week · in 2019 · two days ago · when I was young · at school · this morning (if it is over)

2) These sit comfortably with the present perfect. The time is open or absent:

ever · never · before · already · yet · just · recently · today · this week · so far · in my life

3) So the same event takes either tense, depending only on the time phrase.

I've lost* my keys.*	they are still lost — it matters now
I lost my keys yesterday.	a finished moment
She's broken* her arm.*	it is still broken
She broke her arm in March.	a finished moment

الخلاصة: ⚠ لو الوقت محدد وخلص، ماضي بسيط. لو مفيش وقت أو الوقت لسه مفتوح، الزمن الجديد. والكلمة اللي بتحدد الوقت هي اللي بتقرر.

4) The pattern you will actually use — announce, then detail.

I've got a new job.* → I started on Monday. We've moved* house.* → We moved in April. I've read* that book.* → I read it when I was at school.*

Announce with the perfect. Explain with the past. That is how real conversations run.

5) The error to kill. Never put a finished time with the present perfect:

I've been to Paris last year. ❌ → I went to Paris last year. ✅

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Board the one question and the two word-lists, then spend the rest on the announce-then-detail chain. Do not add exceptions today — this morning is enough nuance for one lesson.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I've lost...	ضيّعت (ولسه ضايع)	I've lost my keys.
I lost ... yesterday	ضيّعت ... امبارح	I lost it yesterday. recently	مؤخرًا	I've seen him recently.
so far	لحد دلوقتي	So far, it's been good.
When did you...?	إمتى...؟	When did you start?
two days ago	من يومين	I finished two days ago.
I've got...	عندي / جالي	I've got a new job.
It happened in...	حصل في...	It happened in 2019.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Switching tense mid-turn is a pronunciation task as much as a grammar one. The two forms sound completely different, and the switch has to stay clean at speed:

I've started... → contraction + /ɪd/ ending *I start*ed... → no auxiliary, same /ɪd/ ending

Drill the chain aloud. Say each pair as one breath, so the switch happens under pressure:

"I've finished the course — I finished last week." "I've seen that film — I saw it twice." "We've moved — we moved in April."

Two things to protect: the contraction in the first half (drop it and both halves become past simple) and the -ed / irregular form in the second.

Record & compare: "I've been to Italy — I went in 2019 and I stayed for a week."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. The chained pairs are the drill. Listen specifically for a swallowed 've, which collapses the whole contrast the lesson is teaching.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — choose the tense.

1. I _____ (see) that film three times.
2. I _____ (see) it last Friday.
3. She _____ (live) in Cairo since 2018.
4. She _____ (live) in Cairo when she was a child.
5. _____ you ever _____ (eat) sushi?
6. What time _____ you _____ (get) home last night?

Exercise 2 — announce, then detail. Add a past-simple second sentence.

1. I've bought a new phone. → _____
2. We've finished the project. → _____
3. He's passed his exam. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I've seen him yesterday. → _____
2. Did you ever go to Japan? (experience) → _____
3. I've finished my degree in 2020. → _____
4. When have you arrived? → _____

Exercise 4 — talk. Give an experience with no time, then let your partner ask "when?" and answer in the past simple.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: have seen · saw · has lived · lived · Have ... eaten · did ... get. Ex3: I saw him yesterday · Have you ever been to Japan? · I finished my degree in 2020 · When did you arrive? Ex3.4 is worth naming: when is a specific-time question, so it never takes the present perfect.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Talk about one experience: announce it with the present perfect, then add two details in the past simple (when, where, or who with).

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min + 1 feedback. Success check: a correct announce-then-detail switch, no finished time attached to a present perfect, and an audible contraction on the announcement.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post one experience (present perfect) plus one detail (past simple).
- Carry the question, not the rule. Is there a specific finished time? Ask it while you speak this week. It will feel slow for a while, and then it will stop being a question at all.

REMEMBER — افكر

- One question: is there a specific finished time? Yes → past simple. No → present perfect.
- The time expression decides, not the type of event.
- yesterday · last week · in 2019 · ago → past simple, always.
- ever · never · yet · already · recently · so far → present perfect.
- Announce with the perfect, explain with the past.
- When...? always takes the past simple.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) have seen · 2) saw · 3) has lived · 4) lived · 5) Have ... eaten · 6) did ... get
- Ex2 (model): 1) I bought it last week. · 2) We finished it on Friday. · 3) He passed in June.
- Ex3: 1) I saw him yesterday. · 2) Have you ever been to Japan? · 3) I finished my degree in 2020. · 4) When did you arrive?

NEWS & RECENT EVENTS — "GUESS WHAT!"

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 2 · Lesson 4 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L03 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit2-present-perfect-recent.md · S2-U2-L04

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 5 · Accent Lab 4 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 1. Objectives: share and react to recent news · ask What's new? / Have you heard...? · sustain a short catching-up conversation.

This lesson makes L03 communicative. The announce-then-detail chain stops being an exercise and becomes the actual shape of every piece of news anybody tells you. Score the pattern, not isolated sentences. Reward reactions as much as accuracy. "Really? That's great — when did you find out?" is B1 interaction. A learner who delivers perfect tenses to a silent partner has not done this lesson. Insist on real news. Invented news produces invented language. Anything counts: a delivery arrived, an exam finished, a phone broke. The tense pattern is fixed and worth stating plainly: the headline is present perfect, the details are past simple. It is the same hinge as L03 wearing ordinary clothes. Support: news openers + reaction cards. Stretch: two follow-up questions and a reaction that keeps the conversation going. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Announce your news: Guess what — I've...!
- Ask for somebody else's: What's new? · Have you heard...?
- React so the conversation keeps moving. 🗣️

ده الشكل الحقيقي لأي خبر: عنوان بالزمن الجديد، وتفاصيل بالماضي البسيط.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Catching up is the most common conversation there is — with a colleague, a friend, a family member you have not seen in a month. It has a fixed shape, and once you can hear that shape you can join in without preparing anything.

والحو إن الشكل ثابت، فمش محتاج تجهز كلام.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L03: three announce-then-detail chains — "I've _____. I _____ last week."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Straight retrieval of the hinge. Today it becomes a conversation instead of a drill.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Two friends catching up (📞 in the portal).

A: Hey! Guess what — I've got a new job! B: Really? That's brilliant! When did you find out? A: They called me on Tuesday. I start next month. B: Congratulations. Have you told your family yet? A: I've told my mum, but I haven't told my dad yet. What about you — what's new? B: Not much, honestly. Oh — have you heard about Omar? He's moved to Canada. A: No! When did he leave? B: Two weeks ago. It all happened very fast.

Notice the rhythm. Headline in the present perfect → reaction → when? → details in the past simple → hand the turn back. Every single time.

English	بالعربي
Guess what!	تعرف إيه!
I've got a new job.	جالي شغل جديد
Have you heard about...?	سمعت عن...؟
What's new?	إيه الجديد؟
When did you find out?	عرفت إمتى؟

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners label each line headline · reaction · question · detail · handover. The labels are the lesson plan for their own conversation.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

News has four moves, and the tense changes at move four.

Move	Language	Tense
1 Headline	Guess what — I've...! · Have you heard...?	present perfect
2 React	Really? · No way! · That's great! · Oh no.	—
3 Ask	When did...? · How did...? · What happened?	past simple
4 Details	They called me on Tuesday.	past simple

1) Openers that hand you the floor:

Guess what! · You'll never believe this. · Have you heard about...? · Did you know...?

2) Asking for news:

What's new? · How have you been? · Anything happened since I saw you?

3) Reactions, which are not optional. A missing reaction reads as indifference:

Good news	Bad news	Surprise
That's great! · Congratulations!	Oh no. · I'm sorry to hear that.	Really? · No way! · Seriously?

⚠️ خد بالك: ردّ الفعل مش رفاهية. لو سمعت خبر وسكت، اللي قصادك يفهم إنك مش مهتم.

4) Then the hinge from L03 does its job. The headline has no time — so it is present perfect. The details answer when — so they are past simple.

I've passed my exam!* → I got the result this morning.*

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Keep this short — the content is a discourse pattern, not new grammar. Board the four moves and the reaction table, then move to practice.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
Guess what!	تعرف إيه!	Guess what — I've moved!
Have you heard...?	سمعت...؟	Have you heard about Omar?
What's new?	إيه الجديد؟	Hey, what's new?
Really?	جد؟	reaction
No way!	مش ممكن!	reaction
That's great!	حلو أوي!	reaction
I'm sorry to hear that.	الله يعينك	reaction
When did you find out?	عرفت إمتى؟	follow-up
It happened fast.	حصل بسرعة	It all happened very fast.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — news lives on pitch. A headline said flat is not news:

*I've got a NEW JOB! — high, and stretch the stressed word *Guess what! ↗ — rising, to pull the listener in Part 2 — reactions are almost pure intonation. The same two words work for delight or disaster; only the melody differs:

Really? ↗ — surprise, interested Really. → — bored, or sceptical

Say "Really?" three ways: thrilled, sympathetic, unimpressed. If a partner cannot tell them apart, the reaction is not doing its job.

Part 3 — link the announcement:

I've got → I-vgot · He's moved → He-zmoved Record & compare: "Guess what — I've passed my exam!" — "Really? That's amazing!"

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. The three-way Really? drill is the one to keep; it transfers to every reaction in the language.

 TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — headline or detail? Choose the tense.

1. I _____ (buy) a car! (headline)
2. I _____ (buy) it last Thursday. (detail)
3. She _____ (have) a baby! (headline)
4. The baby _____ (arrive) on Sunday. (detail)

Exercise 2 — react. Give a natural reaction plus a follow-up question.

1. I've broken my phone. → _____
2. I've finished my thesis! → _____
3. We've sold the house. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. Guess what — I got a new job last week! (as a headline) → _____
2. I've told him yesterday. → _____
3. When have you found out? → _____

Exercise 4 — catch up. Tell your partner two pieces of real recent news. They must react and ask a follow-up for each. Then swap.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: have bought · bought · has had · arrived. Ex3: I've got a new job! · I told him yesterday · When did you find out? Ex4 is the assessment — listen for the four moves and for genuine reactions.

 YOUR TURN — دورك

Share two pieces of real recent news: headline in the present perfect, then details in the past simple. Then take one question.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: correct headline/detail tense split, at least one natural reaction if working in a pair, and audible pitch on the headline.

📋 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post one piece of real news (present perfect) with one detail (past simple).
- Ask one person "what's new?" this week — in English if you can, and listen to the whole answer. This is the conversation you will have most often for the rest of your life in this language.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- Headline = present perfect. Details = past simple.
- Four moves: headline → react → ask → details.
- Openers: Guess what! · Have you heard...? · What's new?
- A reaction is part of the conversation, not decoration.
- When did...? — always past simple.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) have bought · 2) bought · 3) has had · 4) arrived
- Ex2 (model): 1) Oh no! How did that happen? · 2) That's great — when did you hand it in? · 3) Really? When did you sell it?
- Ex3: 1) ...I've got a new job! · 2) I told him yesterday. · 3) When did you find out?

UNIT SPEAKING TASK: "WHAT YOU'VE DONE LATELY" (+ REVIEW)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 2 · Lesson 5 — UNIT MILESTONE 🕒 ~40 min · 📞 Recorded + live (assessment-style) · Prerequisite: L01–L04 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit2-present-perfect-recent.md · S2-U2-L05

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 5 · Rehearse 8 · Record 5 · Feedback 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: talk about recent life in 8–10 sentences using just/already/yet and for/since with past-simple details · catch up with a partner by asking, reacting and following up · record the Unit-2 talk. Score the tense choice, and expect it to be imperfect. The present-perfect-against-past-simple contrast is the unit's real target and the hardest thing at B1. Note each learner's pattern for the queue rather than trying to fix it in the feedback minute. The catch-up half is assessed too. Interaction is on the rubric: asking back, reacting, and following up are what separate a B1 conversation from two monologues. Give each partner one unpredictable detail so reactions cannot be rehearsed. Support: 8 sentences with the checklist. Stretch: sustain a two-way catch-up with follow-ups and no teacher prompt. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Talk about your recent life in 8–10 connected sentences.
- Use just · already · yet and for · since naturally.
- Switch to the past simple whenever you give a time.
- Record your Unit-2 milestone. 🎤

"إيه أخبارك الفترة الأخيرة؟" — دي أكثر محادثة بتتكرر في الحياة، والنهاردة بتعملها بالإنجليزي.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: a just sentence → an already sentence → a yet question → a for answer → a since answer → one announce-then-detail pair.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast, no repeats. This sweeps all four lessons before the load rises.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model "lately" talk (🗣️ in the portal).

Things have been busy lately. I've just finished a big project at work — we delivered it on Friday, two days late, but nobody complained. I've been at this company for three years now, and honestly I've already learned more here than in my whole degree. Outside work, I've started going to the gym since January — three times a week, mostly. I haven't been this month yet, though. My sister has moved to Dubai, so I've been calling her a lot. I visited her in March and it was much hotter than I expected. What about you?

Notice: perfects for the open period (have been · have just finished · have already learned), for and since for duration, yet in the negative — and every time a date appears (on Friday · in March), the verb switches to the past simple. It closes by handing over the turn.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for content, once for tense switches. Ask learners to find the four past-simple verbs and name what triggered each.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست الكلام عن الفترة الأخيرة

1. ✅ Two or more present perfect sentences about the recent period
2. ✅ One for or since duration
3. ✅ One of just · already · yet
4. ✅ One past-simple detail with a time — we delivered it on Friday
5. ✅ Contractions audible — I've · she's
6. ✅ Hand the turn over — What about you?
7. ★ React and follow up on your partner's news, unprompted

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Items 4 and 7 are the discriminators — item 4 for accuracy, item 7 for interaction.

🎤 ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- contractions — I've · he's · we've (present, never dropped)

- weak for — /fə/, not four
- squeezed just / already — stress stays on the main verb
- final yet — clear /t/, falling
- news pitch — a headline is not flat
- the switch — "I've finished — I finished last week" in one breath

 Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One personal target each. The swallowed 've is the priority: it collapses the entire tense contrast this unit exists to build.

YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse against the checklist, catch up with a partner, then record.

Talk about what you have done lately in 8–10 sentences. Include two or more present perfects, a for or since, one of just/already/yet, and at least one past-simple detail with a time. Finish by handing the turn over, then answer one question.

 Record it and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min recording + 3 feedback. Secretly give each partner one detail to introduce so the reaction is genuine. Ask your own follow-up unscripted, after the recording. Success check (Unit-2): a connected 8–10 sentence talk with correct just/already/yet placement, correct for/since, at least one clean present-perfect-to-past-simple switch, and visible interaction (rubric: Fluency + Accuracy + Interaction at B1).

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your "lately" talk.
- Complete the Unit-2 quiz.
- Carry the question from L03 — is there a specific finished time? — into next week's speaking. It is the most useful sentence-level habit available to you at this level.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 2 WRAP)

- just = a moment ago · already = sooner than expected · yet = up to now, in negatives and questions.
- just / already before the participle; yet at the end.
- for + a period · since + a starting point · both with the present perfect.
- Still true now → present perfect. Finished and dated → past simple.
- Announce with the perfect, explain with the past.
- When...? is always past simple.

✅ SELF-CHECK — UNIT 2 MINI-QUIZ

1. I've ___ finished — one minute ago. → just
2. He hasn't called ___. → yet
3. I've ___ seen it, twice. → already
4. I've lived here ___ five years. → for
5. I've known her ___ 2015. → since
6. I ___ (see) him yesterday. → saw
7. I ___ (see) that film three times. → have seen
8. When ___ you arrive? → did
9. Headline tense for news → present perfect
10. I've been to Rome last year. → wrong; say I went to Rome last year

🎉 UNIT 2 COMPLETE — بقيت تختار الزمن الصح

You can talk about recent actions, say how long something has been true, share news the way people actually share it — and, most importantly, you now have one question that decides between the two past tenses.

Next → Unit 3: Narrative Past. The past continuous and used to — the tools for setting a scene, describing what was going on, and talking about how life used to be. 🏰

Empire English 🏰 سؤال واحد يضبط الزمن —

STAGE 2 · UNIT 3

NARRATIVE PAST: CONTINUOUS & USED TO

👑 UNIT 3 — NARRATIVE PAST: CONTINUOUS & USED TO

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 3 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit3-narrative-past.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 3 you'll tell a story instead of listing events — set a scene, describe what was going on, interrupt it, and say how things used to be. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تبني مشهد. قبل الحدث، وتحكي حكاية حقيقية بطبقاتها.

Why this unit changes how you sound: Units 1 and 2 completed the perfect half of the tense system. This unit adds the narrative half. Together they are enough to tell any ordinary story about your life — which is the practical definition of B1.

والفرق مش قواعد أكثر. الفرق إن كلامك يبقى فيه خلفية وأحداث، مش جمل مرصوفة.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	Past continuous	was/were + -ing — a line, not a dot
L02	while / when	background + interruption in one sentence
L03	used to	habits and states that are not true anymore
L04	Setting a scene	layer all three so a listener can picture it
L05	A memorable moment (milestone) 🗣️	a 6–8 sentence story + record your milestone

Grammar spine: past continuous · past continuous against past simple with while/when · used to for past habits and states · all three integrated into narrative. Accent Lab: weak was /wəz/ and were /wə/ — present but never dropped · -ing linking with clean /ŋ/ · used to → /'ju:stə/ as one word · narrative rhythm: flat background, sharp event · -ed endings surviving at speed. Mindset: stop translating — build the sentence directly, especially when describing a scene. Arabic support: ~15% through L01–L03, easing to ~10% for L04–L05.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-3 memorable moment — a strong proof-clip candidate, and audibly beyond the A2 trip narration.
- The ability to open a story so people actually listen to it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. L01 must hold one meaning only: in progress. The form takes two minutes; the meaning is the work. Learners who meet the past-simple contrast here will use the continuous for everything — that contrast is L02. Watch the dropped auxiliary (✗ "I working at eight"), which is exactly where a legitimately weak was becomes an absent one. L02 should be anchored to the timeline, not to the words. ■■ line = continuous, ■ dot = simple. Learners who memorise "while takes continuous" fail the moment a sentence is reordered. Show both mirror errors together — simple for the background, continuous for the event — and note that either clause can come first; only the comma moves. L03 teaches used to and nothing else. Be used to (accustomed) is a different structure; name the difference in one sentence if asked and move on. Two form traps: the plain verb (✗ used to lived) and the vanishing d in didn't use to. Make sure learners hear the built-in not anymore — that implication is the reason to choose the structure at all. Then prevent over-generalisation: one dated event takes the past simple. L04 is integration, so correct by delayed feedback. The predictable error is continuous overuse — a whole story in the background tense that never arrives at an event. Exercise 3 exists to expose exactly that. Prioritise layering over form accuracy here. L05 is a proof-clip candidate. Pair it with the A2 trip narration where consent allows; the gap is the clearest evidence of the stage. Score the scene and the point, not only the tenses.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: past continuous form · while/when with the correct tense in each clause · used to in all three forms · which tense sets a scene and which carries events.
- Speaking task: the L05 memorable moment, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold).
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker and flags dropped auxiliaries, -ing and -ed endings for the review queue.

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 3 · Lesson 1 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: Unit 2 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit3-narrative-past.md · S2-U3-L01

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: form the past continuous (was/were + -ing) in all three sentence types · describe a past situation in progress · use at 8 o'clock · this time yesterday · all morning. Keep one meaning today: in progress, not completed. The past continuous describes the situation around an event, never the event itself. The explicit contrast with the past simple is L02 — introduce it here and learners will use the continuous for everything. The form is easy; the meaning is the work. Learners can build was working in two minutes and then use it to mean worked. Spend your time on "was it finished, or was it going on?" Do not let the auxiliary drop. ❌ "I working at eight" — and note that was is weak in a statement, which makes it easy to swallow entirely. Support: the timeline picture + the frame. Stretch: two things in progress at once — "I was cooking while my brother was studying." Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Say what was going on at a moment in the past.
- Build was/were + -ing — positive, negative, question.
- Answer "What were you doing at eight last night?" 🗣️

الزمن ده بيوصف حاجة كانت شغالة في لحظة معينة، مش حاجة خلصت.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Until now every past sentence you made described a finished action. But most stories need a background too: the weather, what people were doing, what was going on when the interesting part happened. That background is what this tense is for.

والماضي البسيط بيقلو الحاجة خلصت، والزمن ده بيقلو كانت مستمرة.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From Unit 2: two past-simple sentences with a time — "I finished at six · I arrived on Monday."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Finished actions, deliberately. The new tense is defined against them.

🔊 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Describing an evening (📺 in the portal).

A: What were you doing at eight last night? I called twice. B: Sorry! I was cooking, and the kids were watching something loud. A: Ah. I wasn't sure if you were working. B: No, not last night. This time yesterday I was sitting in traffic for an hour. A: All that time? B: All morning, honestly. Nothing was moving.

Notice: not one of those actions is presented as finished. Every one was in progress at the moment being described — that is the whole meaning of the tense.

English	بالعربي
What were you doing?	كنت بتعمل إيه؟
I was cooking.	كنت بطبخ
They were watching TV.	كانوا بيتفرجوا
Nothing was moving.	مفيش حاجة كانت بتتحرك

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: for each verb, learners answer one question — finished, or going on? Every answer is "going on".

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

The form: was / were + verb-ing

Person
I / he / she / it	was	I was working.
you / we / they	were	They were working.

Negative — add n't to the auxiliary:

I wasn't listening. · They weren't waiting.

Question — swap the auxiliary to the front:

Was he sleeping? · Were you working? · What were you doing?*

⚠ خد بالك: الفعل المساعد لازم يبقى موجود قبل الفعل. مينفعش تقول .I working

The meaning: in progress at that moment. Picture a line, not a dot:

I worked until six.	▪ finished — a completed action
I was working at six.	■ ■ in progress — it started before six and continued after

Time phrases that go with it:

at eight o'clock · this time yesterday · all morning · all day · at that moment

And two things at once both take the continuous:

I was cooking while my brother was studying.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on form, four on the line-against-dot image. Do not open the when/while contrast — that is L02. Today the continuous simply describes what was going on.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I was working.	كنت بشتغل	I was working late.
They were waiting.	كانوا مستنيين	They were waiting outside.
I wasn't listening.	ماكنتش بسمع	Sorry, I wasn't listening.
What were you doing?	كنت بتعمل إيه؟	What were you doing then? at that moment	في اللحظة دي	At that moment, I was driving.
this time yesterday	نفس الوقت امبارح	This time yesterday I was flying.
all morning	الصباح كله	It was raining all morning.
while	في نفس الوقت اللي	while she was reading

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — was and were are weak. In a normal statement they almost disappear:

was → /wəz/ · were → /wə/ "I wəz working" · "They wə waiting"

They only go strong when you contradict somebody: "I WAS listening!"

Part 2 — but never delete them. Weak is not absent. "I working" is not a sentence, and this is exactly where a weak form becomes a dropped one.

Part 3 — link the -ing into the next word, and keep /ŋ/ clean with no hard /g/:

was cooking and → was-cookin-gand · were waiting outside → were-waitin-goutside

 Record & compare: "I was working all morning and they were waiting outside."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes weak forms, one on not deleting them, two on -ing linking. The weak-but-present balance is the target: learners either over-pronounce or drop entirely.

TRAIN — تدرب

Exercise 1 — was or were?

1. I _____ sleeping. 2. They _____ talking. 3. She _____ reading.
2. You _____ driving. 5. We _____ eating. 6. It _____ raining.

Exercise 2 — make it negative, then a question.

1. He was studying. → neg: _____ / question: _____
2. They were listening. → neg: _____ / question: _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I working at eight o'clock. → _____
2. They was waiting for me. → _____
3. What you were doing? → _____
4. She were not listening. → _____

Exercise 4 — true for you. What were you doing at these times yesterday: 8am · 2pm · 10pm?

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: was · were · was · were · were · was. Ex3: I was working · They were waiting · What were you doing? · She wasn't listening. Ex3.3 is the word-order one worth repeating aloud.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Describe three moments yesterday — what was going on at each. Use a time phrase in every sentence.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: correct auxiliary for each person, -ing on every verb, weak but audible was/were, and no completed-action meaning.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post: "At 8pm yesterday I was _____. This time yesterday I was _____."
- Try describing a scene without translating it. Look out of a window, and say what people were doing an hour ago. Building the sentence directly, rather than from Arabic, is the habit this stage is really about.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- was / were + verb-ing.
 - Meaning: in progress, not finished — a line, not a dot.
 - Negative: wasn't · weren't. Question: auxiliary first.
 - was /wəz/ and were /wə/ are weak — but never dropped.
 - Two things at once: both continuous.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: was · were · was · were · were · was
 - Ex2: 1) He wasn't studying / Was he studying? · 2) They weren't listening / Were they listening?
 - Ex3: 1) I was working... · 2) They were waiting... · 3) What were you doing? · 4) She wasn't listening.

WHILE / WHEN: INTERRUPTED ACTIONS

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 3 · Lesson 2 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit3-narrative-past.md · S2-U3-L02

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: combine past continuous and past simple in one sentence · use while for the background and when for the event · tell a short interrupted-action story. Anchor everything to the timeline, not to the words. ■■ long line = continuous (the background). ■ dot = simple (the event that cuts in). Learners who memorise "while takes continuous" fail as soon as a sentence is reordered; learners who see the timeline do not. The two classic errors are mirror images: simple for the background — ❌ "I walked when it started to rain" — and continuous for the event — ❌ "while I was walking, it was starting to rain." Show both, side by side, as wrong for the same reason. Either clause can come first. "I was walking when it started" and "When it started, I was walking" are both correct; only the comma moves. Learners assume the order is fixed. Support: the timeline graphic stays visible all lesson. Stretch: three-part stories — background, interruption, result. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Put a background and an event in one sentence.
- Choose while or when correctly.
- Tell the smallest kind of story there is: I was doing X when Y happened. 🗣️ ده أول تركيب بيخليك تحكي حكاية حقيقية: خلفية، وحاجة قطعها.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Stories are not lists of finished events. Something is going on, and then something cuts across it — that is what makes an event worth telling. This one sentence pattern is the engine of almost every anecdote you will ever tell.

والقاعدة في صورة: الخلفية خط طويل، والحدث نقطة بتقطع الخط.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01: three was/were + -ing sentences with time phrases, weak auxiliaries.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. The continuous must be automatic; today it becomes one half of a bigger structure.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Three small disasters (📞 in the portal).

A: I was walking home when it started to rain — no jacket, of course. B: That's nothing. While I was cooking last night, the electricity went off. A: In the middle of cooking? B: In the middle of everything. And when the lights came back, the food was burnt. A: My phone died while I was talking to my manager. B: What did you do? A: I called him back. He was laughing when he answered.

Notice the shape. In every sentence one verb is a long background (was walking · was cooking · was talking) and one is a short event (started · went · died · came). The background is continuous; the event is simple.

English	بالعربي
I was walking when it started to rain.	كنت ماشي لما الدنيا مطرت
While I was cooking...	وأنا بطبخ...
The electricity went off.	النور قطع
My phone died.	تليفوني فصل

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners draw the timeline for each sentence — a line and a dot. Drawing it is worth more than naming it.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

One picture explains the whole lesson.

■■■■■■■■■■ background → past continuous ■ event that cuts in → past simple

1) The default pairing:

I was walking home when it started to rain. While I was cooking, the electricity went off.

2) Which word goes where.

Word	Usually introduces while	the long background	While I was driving...
when	the short event	...when my phone rang.

3) Either clause can come first. Put the while/when clause at the front and add a comma:

I was reading when she called. = When she called, I was reading. The lights went out while I was cooking. = While I was cooking, the lights went out.

⚠️ الغلطتين المتوقعتين: إنك تحط الماضي البسيط للخلفية، أو المستمر للحدث. الخلفية دائماً خط، والحدث نقطة.

4) Two backgrounds at once → both continuous, joined by while:

I was studying while my sister was watching television.

5) Two quick events one after another → both simple, joined by when:

When the bell rang, everybody stood up.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Board the timeline first and leave it up. Then run sentences aloud and have learners point: line or dot? Only after that give the while/when tendency — as a tendency, not a law.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
while	وأنا / في نفس الوقت	while I was working when	لما	when the phone rang suddenly	فجأة	Suddenly, the door opened.
in the middle of...	في وسط...	in the middle of dinner
it started to rain	الدنيا مطرت	...when it started to rain.
the lights went out	النور قطع	The lights went out.
I was on my way	كنت في السكة	I was on my way home.
just as	بالظبط لما	just as I arrived

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the two clauses are two rhythm groups, with a small pause between them.

I was walking home ☐ when it started to rain.

Said as one flat run, the listener cannot hear where the background ends and the event begins. The pause does the punctuation.

Part 2 — the background often rises slightly; the event falls.

While I was cooking ↗ the electricity went off. ↘

Part 3 — keep the weak forms from L01 inside the background, then hit the event verb clearly:

I wəz WALKING home when it STARTED to rain.

Record & compare: "I was driving home when my phone rang."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Model the pause exaggeratedly, then normally. Learners who run the clauses together usually also lose the tense contrast, so the prosody drill supports the grammar directly.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — choose the tense.

1. I _____ (read) when the phone _____ (ring).
2. While she _____ (drive), it _____ (start) to snow.
3. They _____ (wait) outside when I _____ (arrive).
4. When the film _____ (finish), we _____ (go) home.

Exercise 2 — while or when?

1. I was cooking _____ the doorbell rang.
2. _____ I was walking to work, I saw an accident.
3. He broke his leg _____ he was playing football.
4. _____ she called, I was asleep.

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I walked home when it started to rain. → _____
2. While I was cooking, the lights were going out. → _____
3. When I was arriving, they were leaving already. → _____

Exercise 4 — tell it. Three sentences: something that was going on, something that interrupted it, and what you did next.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: was reading / rang · was driving / started · were waiting / arrived · finished / went. Ex2: when · While · while · When. Ex3: I was walking home when... · ...the lights went out · When I arrived.... Ex1.4 is the useful exception: two short events, so both simple.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Tell a small story in three or four sentences using while and when — something that was going on, something that cut in, and the result.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: continuous for the background, simple for the event, one correct while and one correct when, and an audible pause between the clauses.

📄 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post one interrupted-action story: "I was ____ when ____."
- Notice this pattern in what you watch this week. It is how every anecdote in every language starts. Once you hear it in English, you will start producing it without planning.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- Background = continuous ■■■. Event = simple ■ .
- while usually takes the background; when usually takes the event.
- Either clause can come first — front it and add a comma.
- Two backgrounds → both continuous. Two quick events → both simple.
- Pause between the clauses; it is the audible punctuation.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) was reading / rang · 2) was driving / started · 3) were waiting / arrived · 4) finished / went
- Ex2: 1) when · 2) While · 3) while · 4) When
- Ex3: 1) I was walking home when it started to rain. · 2) ...the lights went out. · 3) When I arrived, they were already leaving.

USED TO: PAST HABITS & STATES

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 3 · Lesson 3 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L02 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit3-narrative-past.md · S2-U3-L03

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: use used to for past habits and states that are no longer true · form the negative and question · contrast then with now.

Teach only used to. Be used to (= accustomed) is a different structure and will be met later. If a learner raises it, name the difference in one sentence and move on — merging them here reliably breaks both. The form error is the base verb: ❌ "I used to lived there." Used to is followed by the plain verb, always. And in the negative and question the d disappears: didn't use to · Did you use to...? The meaning carries an implication learners must hear: not anymore. "I used to smoke" tells the listener you stopped. That implication is the reason to choose this structure over the past simple. Support: the then/now card. Stretch: three changes with a reason for each. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Talk about what you used to do — and no longer do.
- Say what you didn't use to do.
- Ask Did you use to...? 🎧

التركيب ده معناه إنك كنت بتعمل حاجة وبطلتها. كلمة "خلاص مابقيتش" جَوَاه.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Change is one of the most natural things to talk about: your city, your job, your habits, who you were at eighteen. Used to is the structure English reaches for whenever the point is that something is different now.

ولو استخدمت الماضي البسيط بس، اللي بيسمك مش هيعرف إن الحاجة اتغيرت ولا لأ.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From L02: one interrupted-action story — "I was ____ when ____."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Quick retrieval; today's structure is unrelated in form but joins the same narrative toolkit.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Talking about how things changed (📺 in the portal).

A: This street used to be so quiet. There used to be a bakery right there. B: I remember. I used to buy bread there every morning. A: Did you use to live near here? B: For years. I didn't use to like the area at first, honestly — but it grew on me. I used to complain about the noise, and now I miss it. A: Things change. I used to walk everywhere; these days I drive. B: Me too. I don't walk anymore.

Notice: every single one of those sentences means and that is no longer the case. The bakery has gone, he has moved, she drives now. The structure carries the change.

English	بالعربي
It used to be quiet.	كانت هادية زمان
I used to buy bread there.	كنت بشتري عيش من هناك
I didn't use to like it.	ماكنتش بحبها
I don't walk anymore.	مابقيتش بمشي

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: after each sentence, learners say what is true now. That inference is the meaning of the structure.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

1) Positive: used to + the plain verb.

I used to smoke. · She used to live in Tanta. · There used to be a cinema here.

Nothing changes for person — I / you / he / she / we / they all take used to.

⚠️ خد بالك: الفعل بعد used to بييجي أساسي خالص. مينفعش used to lived ولا used to living.

2) Negative and question: the d disappears.

negative	I didn't use to like coffee. question	Did you use to play football?

Because did already carries the past, use goes back to its plain form. This is the same rule you learned at A2 for didn't go.

3) It works for habits and states.

habit — a repeated action	I used to train every day. state — a lasting situation	I used to have long hair. · There used to be a shop here.

4) The built-in meaning: not anymore. Pair it with change language:

I used to play a lot. Now I don't. · These days I drive. · I don't smoke anymore.

5) When not to use it. For a single finished event, use the past simple:

I went to Rome in 2019. ✓ — one event I used to go to Rome in 2019. ✗ — not a habit, and it has a date

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on the three forms, two on habit-against-state, two on the not anymore implication. Point 5 prevents over-generalisation, which is the predictable next error.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I used to...	كنت به...	I used to swim a lot.
I didn't use to...	ماكنتش به...	I didn't use to like it.
Did you use to...?	كنت به...؟	Did you use to live here?
There used to be...	كان فيه...	There used to be a park. now / these days	دلوقتي / الأيام دي	These days I work from home. not anymore	مابقيتش	I don't smoke anymore. things have changed	الدنيا اتغيرت	Things have changed a lot.
when I was younger	وأنا أصغر	when I was younger

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — used to is one reduced chunk. It is never said as two careful words:

used to → /'ju:stə/ — "YOOS-tuh"

The /d/ vanishes completely into the /t/. Learners who say "yoozd too" sound like they are reading, and listeners often miss the structure entirely.

Part 2 — the stress lands on used, and the following verb keeps its own beat:

I YOOS-tuh PLAY football.

Part 3 — the negative keeps the same reduction:

didn't use to → /'dɪdəntju:stə/ — "didn-choos-tuh"

ولاحظ إن الحرف d بيختفي في النطق، فالكلمتين بيبقوا كلمة واحدة.

Record & compare: "I used to live there, but I didn't use to like it."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Drill /'ju:stə/ chorally until it is one word. This single reduction does more for intelligibility here than any grammar correction.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — complete with used to + the verb.

1. I _____ (play) volleyball at school.
2. There _____ (be) a cinema on this street.
3. She _____ (have) very long hair.

Exercise 2 — negative and question.

1. I used to like coffee. → negative: _____
2. You used to work here. → question: _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I used to lived in Cairo. → _____
2. I didn't used to like it. → _____
3. Did you used to play football? → _____
4. I used to go to Rome in 2019. → _____

Exercise 4 — then and now. Three things that were true about you five years ago and are not true now. Add what is true now for each.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: used to play · used to be · used to have. Ex3: used to live · didn't use to · Did you use to · I went to Rome in 2019. Ex3.4 needs the reason said aloud: one event with a date is not a habit.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Say three things you used to do and are different now, and one thing you didn't use to do but do today.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: plain verb after used to every time, correct didn't use to, one now or these days contrast, and the /'ju:stə/ reduction audible.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post: "I used to ___, but now I ___."
- Say a change out loud in English before you translate it. Changes are easy content — you already know what happened; you only need the frame.

REMEMBER — افكر

- used to + plain verb — no person changes.
- Negative didn't use to, question Did you use to...? — the d goes.
- Works for habits and states: used to have · there used to be.
- It always implies not anymore.
- One dated event → past simple, not used to.
- Say it as one word: /'ju:stə/.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) used to play · 2) used to be · 3) used to have
- Ex2: 1) I didn't use to like coffee. · 2) Did you use to work here?
- Ex3: 1) used to live · 2) didn't use to · 3) Did you use to play...? · 4) I went to Rome in 2019.

SETTING A SCENE IN A STORY

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 3 · Lesson 4 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01–L03 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit3-narrative-past.md · S2-U3-L04

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: open a story by setting the scene · layer background, habit and event across the three tenses of this unit · keep a short narrative smooth and connected. Prioritise a well-layered story over perfect forms. This is the integration lesson: correct patterned errors by delayed feedback after the story, never mid-sentence. A learner interrupted while narrating stops narrating. The teachable insight is that stories open wide and then narrow. Scene (continuous) → context or habit (used to) → the event (simple) → result. Learners who begin with the event have no story, just news. Watch for continuous overuse. Having just met a new tense, learners put the whole story in it. The background is continuous; the events are simple. Two or three continuous verbs at the start is plenty. Support: the four-layer skeleton card. Stretch: open with a sound or a feeling instead of a time. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Open a story so a listener can picture it.
- Layer the three tenses of this unit in one narrative.
- Get to the event after the scene, not instead of it. 🎤

الحكاية الكويبة بتبدأ واسعة وبعدين بتضيق: مشهد، فحدث.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Two people can describe the same incident and only one of them is worth listening to. The difference is rarely vocabulary — it is that the good storyteller builds a scene first, so the event lands somewhere. You now have exactly the tenses that scene-building requires.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

One sentence in each of this unit's three forms: a was/were + -ing, a while/when pair, and a used to.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Confirms all three are available before asking learners to combine them under narrative pressure.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

A short story, well opened (📺 in the portal).

It was about ten at night and it was raining — properly raining, the kind we hardly ever get here. I was driving home from my sister's, and the roads were completely empty. I used to take the ring road every time, but that night something told me to go through the old town instead.

While I was waiting at a red light, a man knocked on my window. He was holding a phone and he looked worried. His car had a flat tyre and his phone was dead.

So I drove him to a garage. It took twenty minutes. He offered me money and I said no, and then he gave me a bag of oranges from his boot. I still don't know why he had oranges.

Notice the layers. Paragraph one is almost all background — weather, time, roads, plus one used to for context. Paragraph two brings the interruption. Paragraph three is a run of simple past events. The scene is wide, then it narrows.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play once for the story. Second pass: learners label each paragraph scene · interruption · events. Ask where the first past-simple verb appears — surprisingly late, and that is the craft.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

A story has four layers, and each one has its tense.

Layer	Tense	Example
1 Scene — when, where, weather, mood	past continuous + was/were	It was raining and I was driving home.
2 Context — what normally happened	used to	I used to take the ring road.
3 Event — what cut in	past simple	A man knocked on my window.
4 Result — what you did, how it ended	past simple	I drove him to a garage.

Scene-setting openers:

It was about ten at night... · It was raining... · I was on my way home... · Nobody was around...

Words that move a story forward:

Suddenly · At that moment · Just as · Then · So · In the end · A few minutes later ⚠️ خذ بالك: المشهد بس هو اللي بياخد المستمر. الأحداث نفسها بتاخذ الماضي البسيط.

The most common structural mistake is starting at layer 3:

"A man knocked on my window." — no story yet; the listener has nothing to picture. "It was raining and I was waiting at a light when a man knocked on my window." — now it is a story.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Board the four layers as a skeleton and leave it up for Train. The bad-versus-good opening comparison is the part learners remember.

🔪 YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
It was getting late.	الوقت كان بيتأخر	It was getting late.
I was on my way...	كنت في السكة...	I was on my way home.
Nobody was around.	مكانش فيه حد	Nobody was around.
Suddenly	فجأة	Suddenly, someone shouted.
Just as...	بالظبط لما...	Just as I sat down...
A few minutes later	بعد كام دقيقة	A few minutes later, he came back.
In the end	في الآخر	In the end, we laughed.
I couldn't believe it.	مقدرتش أصدق	I couldn't believe it.

🎤 ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Narrative rhythm: the scene is smooth, the event is sharp.

The background runs on with weak forms and linking, almost hurried. Then the event verb gets a clear beat and a small pause before it:

It wəz raining ənd I wəz driving home ☞ when a mæn KNOCKED ɒn maɪ wɪndəʊ.

Say a story with every word equally stressed, then again with the background flattened and the event pushed. The second version sounds like storytelling; the first sounds like a police statement.

Keep the endings alive under speed — this is where -ed and -ing die:

knocked /t/ · offered /d/ · wanted /ɪd/ · waiting /ɪ/

Record & compare: "It was raining and I was waiting at the light when someone knocked on my window."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on the flat-background/sharp-event contrast, three on endings at speed. Both are immediately audible in the recording, so flag them there rather than in isolation.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — build the scene. Turn each bare event into a two-part sentence with a background.

1. The phone rang. → _____
2. I lost my wallet. → _____
3. We met by accident. → _____

Exercise 2 — choose the tense.

1. It _____ (be) late and everyone _____ (sleep).
2. I _____ (used to / walk) to school when I _____ (be) a child.
3. While we _____ (wait), the manager _____ (come) out.
4. In the end, we _____ (get) a refund.

Exercise 3 — fix the story. This is all background and never arrives:

It was raining. I was walking. I was thinking about work. I was feeling tired. I was going home.

Rewrite it so something happens.

Exercise 4 — build one. Use the four layers to tell a real small incident in five or six sentences.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex2: was / were sleeping · used to walk / was · were waiting / came · got. Ex3 is the key exercise — it isolates continuous overuse, which is this lesson's predictable error. Ex4 rehearses L05.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Tell a real small incident in five or six sentences. Set the scene first, bring in the event, and finish with the result.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: at least two scene-setting continuous verbs, one clear past-simple event, a connector, and a resolution. Delay all correction until the story is finished.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a five-or-six-sentence story with a proper opening.
- Steal openings. Next time you watch something in English, note the first two lines of any anecdote. Scene first is a habit, and habits are copied more easily than they are taught.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Four layers: scene → context → event → result.
- Scene = continuous. Events = simple. Context = used to.
- Do not start at the event; the listener has nothing to picture.
- Movers: suddenly · just as · then · in the end.
- Flat background, sharp event — and keep the endings alive.

SELF-CHECK — صحح لنفسك

- Ex2: 1) was / were sleeping · 2) used to walk / was · 3) were waiting / came · 4) got
- Ex3 (model): It was raining and I was walking home, thinking about work, when someone called my name.
- Ex1 (model): 1) I was watching TV when the phone rang.

UNIT SPEAKING TASK: "A MEMORABLE MOMENT" (+ REVIEW)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 3 · Lesson 5 — UNIT MILESTONE ⌚ ~40 min · 📞 Recorded + live (assessment-style) · Prerequisite: L01–L04 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit3-narrative-past.md · S2-U3-L05

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 5 · Rehearse 8 · Record 5 · Feedback 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: narrate a memorable moment with layered narrative tenses · set a scene before the event · answer follow-up questions about the story. This is a strong proof-clip candidate. It is personal, it has a shape, and it is audibly more advanced than the A2 trip narration — put the two side by side and the learner can hear a level change rather than being told about one. Score the layering, not just the forms. A story with three correct tenses but no scene is weaker evidence than a well-built story with one slip. The rubric line that matters here is Fluency plus Range. Delay all correction. Take notes during, feed back after. Interrupting a narration ends the narration. Support: 5 sentences with the four-layer card. Stretch: include a used to for context and handle two unscripted questions. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Tell a memorable moment in 6–8 connected sentences.
- Layer scene · context · event · result.
- Answer questions about your own story.
- Record your Unit-3 milestone. 🎤

دي حكاية حقيقية بمشهد وأحداث — أقرب حاجة للحكي الطبيعي وصلت لها لحد دلوقتي.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: a was/were + -ing → a while clause → a when event → a used to → a scene-setting opener.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast, no repeats. This sweeps the unit before the narrative load rises.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model memorable moment (📞 in the portal).

This happened about four years ago. I was working in a small company then, and I used to stay late almost every night — nobody asked me to, I just did. It was a Thursday and the office was nearly empty.

I was finishing a report when the fire alarm went off. Everyone was walking out slowly, half-laughing, because it had happened twice that month for nothing. But while we were standing outside, we saw actual smoke coming from the kitchen window.

The fire brigade arrived in about six minutes. Nobody was hurt — someone had left a towel on a hot plate. But I remember standing in the car park at nine at night, holding a report nobody read, and thinking: I don't want to be the person who stays late anymore.

I left that job four months later. So it was memorable, but not for the fire.

Notice: scene and habit first (was working · used to stay), the interruption (when the alarm went off), events in the simple past, and a point at the end. The last line is what makes it a story rather than an incident.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for the story, once for structure. Ask what the final sentence adds — it converts an anecdote into a memorable moment, which is the task word.

THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست الحكاية

1.  Set the scene — when, where, what was going on (continuous)
2.  One used to for context or habit
3.  One clear event in the past simple
4.  One while or when pairing
5.  A result or ending
6.  A point — why you remember it
7.  Handle one question about the story you did not prepare

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Items 1 and 6 separate a B1 narrative from an A2 sequence of events.

ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- weak was / were — /wəz/, /wə/ — present but never dropped

- -ing linking and clean /ɪ/ with no hard /g/
- used to → /'juːstə/ as one word
- narrative rhythm — flat background, sharp event
- -ed endings surviving at speed

 Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One personal target each, from your L01–L04 notes. A dropped auxiliary is the priority — it removes the tense that carries the whole scene.

YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse against the checklist with a partner, then record.

Tell the story of a memorable moment in 6–8 sentences. Set the scene, bring in what happened, say how it ended, and finish with why you remember it. Then answer one question about it.

 Record it and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min recording + 3 feedback. Ask your follow-up unscripted and after the recording — "What would you do differently? Did you tell anyone?" Success check (Unit-3): a connected 6–8 sentence narrative with a genuine scene, correct continuous-for-background and simple-for-event, one used to, and a handled follow-up (rubric: Fluency + Accuracy + Range at B1). Consider pairing this clip with the learner's A2 trip narration where consent allows. The gap between them is the clearest evidence of the stage.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your memorable moment.
- Complete the Unit-3 quiz.
- Tell the same story again tomorrow, out loud, without notes. The second telling is always better, and it is where the tenses stop being decisions.

REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 3 WRAP)

- was / were + -ing = in progress; a line, not a dot.
- Background continuous, event simple — I was walking when it started.

- while usually the background, when usually the event; either clause can come first.
- used to + plain verb = a habit or state that is not true anymore.
- Stories open with a scene and end with a point.

✅ SELF-CHECK — UNIT 3 MINI-QUIZ

1. I ____ (work) when she called. → was working
2. They ____ (wait) outside. → were waiting
3. While I ____ (cook), the lights went out. → was cooking
4. When the bell ____ (ring), we stood up. → rang
5. I ____ live in Tanta. (habit, not now) → used to
6. I didn't ____ to like coffee. → use
7. Did you ____ to play football? → use
8. I used to ____ there. (live) → live
9. Which tense sets the scene? → past continuous
10. Which tense carries the events? → past simple

🎉 UNIT 3 COMPLETE — بقيت تحكي، مش بس تقول

You can describe what was going on, interrupt it with an event, talk about how things used to be, and open a story so that a listener can see it before it happens.

Next → Unit 4: First Conditional & Future Time. If, when, as soon as and unless — talking about real possibilities and what will happen if they occur. 🏰

Empire English 🏰 — مشهد، حدث، ونتيجة

STAGE 2 · UNIT 4

FIRST CONDITIONAL & FUTURE TIME CLAUSES

👑 UNIT 4 — FIRST CONDITIONAL & FUTURE TIME CLAUSES

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 4 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit4-first-conditional.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 4 you'll reason about the future out loud — set a condition, sequence the steps, say what will not happen unless something else does, and promise at the right strength. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تربط سبب بنتيجة في المستقبل، وتخطط بشروط وبديل.

Why this unit is a different kind of skill: Units 1–3 were about reporting — what you have done, what was happening. This unit is about reasoning. It is the first grammar that lets you think aloud in English instead of describing something already settled.

ودي أول مرة تستخدم الإنجليزي للتفكير، مش للوصف.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	First conditional	if + present, will — and never will after if
L02	Future time clauses	when · as soon as · before · after · until · plus if vs when
L03	unless	one word for if ... not — without the double negative
L04	Plans & promises	commit, hedge, decline — and always have a fallback
L05	Plans & consequences (milestone) 🎤	a 7–9 sentence plan + record your milestone

Grammar spine: first conditional · future time clauses · unless — all three governed by one rule: present tense in the condition or time clause, will in the result. Accent Lab: weak but surviving 'll · stressed won't · as soon as → /ə'su:nəz/ · unless → /ən'les/ · the audible clause break between condition and result · stress on commitment words. Mindset: build one small English-only zone and stack English onto a fixed daily moment. Arabic support: ~15% through L01–L03, easing to ~10% for L04–L05.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-4 plan — reasoning aloud, with conditions and a fallback.
- A sentence worth owning: "I won't improve unless I speak every day."

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. One rule carries the whole unit, so teach it once and reuse it. Present after if / when / as soon as / before / after / until / unless; will in the other half. Presenting L02 and L03 as separate rules wastes the transfer that makes this unit efficient. L01's error is ✗ "If I will study" — and it is persistent precisely because it is logical: the future is meant. Give learners the phrasing to carry, not just the correction. Also anchor the meaning as real and likely, because U5 introduces the unreal; without that contrast the two conditionals merge. L02's genuinely new content is if against when. If = it may happen; when = it will, timing unknown. A final-year student saying "if I graduate" has changed the meaning to doubt. And until means up to that point, pairing naturally with won't. L03 is a rewrite, not new grammar. unless = if ... not. Drill the conversion both ways; learners who can convert own it. The trap is the double negative — ✗ "unless you don't hurry" — so keep every example positively conditioned. L04 is integration: correct patterns only, by delayed feedback. Its real content is social — the commitment ladder from I might to I promise I'll. Learners over-commit because the strong phrase is the one they know; give them a usable hedge. Reward a plan that has a fallback. L05 closes the real-future block, so prime the pivot. Say one second-conditional sentence at the end and let them hear the tenses move backwards. That thirty seconds materially improves U5.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: first-conditional form · present tense after time words · if against when · unless conversion and the double-negative trap · commitment strength.
- Speaking task: the L05 plan, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold) with a handled complication.
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker and flags will-after-if plus dropped 'll for the review queue.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → UNIT 5 — HYPOTHETICALS: SECOND CONDITIONAL

what would happen if things were different — imaginary situations, hypothetical advice, and wishes.

Empire English 🏰 · Stage 2 · Legionary rank · consistency beats intensity

FIRST CONDITIONAL: IF + PRESENT, WILL

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 4 · Lesson 1 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: Unit 3 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit4-first-conditional.md · S2-U4-L01

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: build the first conditional · talk about real future possibilities and their results · put the present tense after if and will in the result. The number-one error is will in the if-clause — ❌ "If I will study, I'll pass." It is logical (the future is meant), which is why it is so persistent. Give them the phrasing to carry: present after if, will in the result. That same rule powers L02 and L03. Teach it as one rule with three surfaces rather than three separate facts; it is the highest-transfer thing in the unit. Anchor the meaning as real and likely. This matters because U5 introduces the second conditional for the unreal. If learners never hear "this one is for things that may actually happen", the two conditionals merge into one confused structure. Support: the two-clause frame card. Stretch: reverse the clause order and drop the comma correctly. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Say what will happen if something happens.
- Put the right tense in each half.
- Reason out loud about your own real plans. 🗣️

التركيب ده بيوصل سبب ونتيجة في المستقبل، لحاجات ممكن تحصل فعلاً.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Most adult conversation is about consequences: what happens if we leave late, if the price goes up, if you take that job. This is the structure English uses for all of it — and it is the first grammar that lets you reason aloud rather than only report.

والقاعدة: مضارع بعد if، والمستقبل في النتيجة.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From Stage 1: three going to or will sentences about next week.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. The future half is already known. Today only the if-half is new, and framing it that way lowers the perceived difficulty.

 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Two colleagues deciding about a trip (📞 in the portal).

A: If we leave at six, we'll get there before the traffic. B: And if we leave at seven? A: Then we'll be late. If it rains, it'll be even worse. B: Okay. If I finish this report tonight, I'll be ready by five. A: Perfect. I'll drive if you navigate. B: Deal. And if we arrive early, we'll get coffee first.

Notice two things. Every if-clause uses the present — leave · rains · finish · navigate — even though all of it is about the future. And the result half always has will or 'll.

English	بالعربي
If we leave at six...	لو مشينا الساعة ستة...
...we'll get there early.	...هتوصل بدري
If it rains...	لو الدنيا مطرت...
I'll drive.	أنا هسوق

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. On the second pass learners underline the verb after every if and confirm none of them is will. Let the pattern be discovered.

 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Two halves. Each has its own tense.

Half	Tense	Example
the condition — if ...	present simple	If it rains,
the result	will* / 'll	we'll stay* home.*

If you study, you'll pass.

⚠️ دي أشهر غلطة: إنك تقول If I will study. بعد if بيجي مضارع، والمستقبل بيجي في النتيجة بس.

1) The order can flip — and the comma moves with it.

If it rains, we'll stay home. — comma after the if-clause We'll stay home if it rains. — no comma

2) The meaning is real and likely. This structure is for things that may genuinely happen:

If I miss the bus, I'll take a taxi. ✅ a real possibility

3) Other words can replace will in the result once the pattern is solid:

Result word	Use
will / 'll	a prediction or decision
might	a weaker possibility
can	an ability or option
imperative	an instruction — If it rains, take an umbrella.

4) The negative works in either half:

If you don't hurry, we'll miss it.* · If you hurry, we won't be late.*

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Four minutes on the two-tense split — that is the lesson — then the clause flip, then the alternatives to will. Drill by giving the if-clause aloud and taking results around the room.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
If ..., I'll ...	لو... هـ...	If I have time, I'll call.
If it rains...	لو مطرت...	If it rains, we'll cancel.
we'll be late	هنتأخر	We'll be late if we wait.
I might...	يمكن...	If I finish, I might come.
we won't...	مش هـ...	We won't go if it's closed.
in that case	في الحالة دي	In that case, I'll wait.
Then what?	وبعدين؟	Then what will you do?
It depends.	على حسب	It depends on the weather.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the contraction 'll is tiny and it must survive.

I will → *I'll /aɪl/ · we will → *we'll /wi:l/ · it will → *it'll /'ɪtɪl/

Dropped entirely, the sentence loses its future: "If it rains, we stay home" means something else — a habit, not a plan.

Part 2 — the if-clause runs together, then a small break before the result.

If it RAINS ⌘ we'll STAY home.

That break is the comma made audible, and it is what tells a listener where the condition ends.

Part 3 — the two stressed words are the condition verb and the result verb. Everything else is squeezed:

If you STUDY, you'll PASS.

Record & compare: "If we leave at six, we'll get there before the traffic."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on 'll survival, two on the clause break, one on the two-beat stress. The dropped 'll is the priority because it changes meaning.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — put the verbs in the right form.

1. If it _____ (rain), we _____ (stay) at home.
2. If you _____ (not / hurry), you _____ (miss) the train.
3. She _____ (call) you if she _____ (have) time.
4. If I _____ (see) him, I _____ (tell) him.

Exercise 2 — join the halves.

1. you / finish early → we / go out → _____
2. the shop / be closed → I / come back tomorrow → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. If I will study, I will pass. → _____
2. If it will rain, we stay home. → _____
3. If you would help me, I'll finish faster. → _____
4. We'll be late, if we don't leave now. (punctuation) → _____

Exercise 4 — true for you. Three real conditions about this week — If I ____, I'll ____.TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: rains/'ll stay · don't hurry/'ll miss · 'll call/has · see/'ll tell. Ex3: If I study, I'll pass · If it rains, we'll stay home · If you help me... · remove the comma. Ex3.4 is worth naming — the comma only appears when the if-clause comes first.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Say three real conditions about your week and their results. Then reverse one so the result comes first.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: present after if every time, audible 'll in the results, one correctly reversed clause order.

📄 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post: "If I ___ this week, I'll ___."
- Create one English-only zone. Pick a single fixed slot — your commute, your walk, the ten minutes before bed — and use no Arabic in it. Small and permanent beats big and temporary.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- Present after if. will in the result.
- ❌ If I will study → ✅ If I study.
- Flip the order freely; the comma only follows a leading if-clause.
- might · can · imperative can replace will in the result.
- Keep the 'll audible or the future disappears.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) rains / 'll stay · 2) don't hurry / 'll miss · 3) 'll call / has · 4) see / 'll tell
- Ex2 (model): 1) If you finish early, we'll go out. · 2) If the shop is closed, I'll come back tomorrow.
- Ex3: 1) If I study... · 2) If it rains, we'll* stay home.* · 3) If you help me... · 4) We'll be late if we don't leave now.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 4 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: use when · as soon as · before · after · until + present to refer to the future · sequence future events · distinguish if from when. This is L01's rule with a different word in front. Teach them together explicitly: after these conjunctions the verb is present, and will lives in the main clause. Presenting it as a second, unrelated rule wastes the transfer. The genuinely new content is if against when. If = it may happen. When = it definitely will, we just do not know the moment. ❌ "If I graduate" said by a final-year student changes the meaning to doubt, which is not what they intend. Until* needs care: it means up to that point, and it pairs naturally with a negative main clause — "I won't leave until she arrives." Support: the conjunction card + the same two-clause frame as L01. Stretch: chain three future events in sequence. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Sequence future events: before · after · as soon as.
- Say what you will do when something happens.
- Choose between if and when on purpose. 🗣️

نفس قاعدة الدرس اللي فات، بس بكلمات وقت مختلفة.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Plans are rarely a single step. They are ordered: after I finish, before I leave, as soon as they reply. These words let you lay out a sequence in the future — and the tense rule you already learned yesterday carries all of them.

والفرق: if يمكن تحصل، وwhen هتحصل بالتأكيد.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01: three first conditionals, checking the present tense after if each time.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Deliberate priming. Today's rule is the same rule, and learners should feel that.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Planning an evening (📺 in the portal).

A: As soon as I finish work, I'll come straight over. B: Good. When you get here, we'll order food. A: Before I leave the office, I'll send you the address. B: And after we eat, we can watch that film you mentioned. A: I won't be able to stay late — I have an early start. B: That's fine. We won't start the film until you're ready to go, then we'll skip it.

Notice: finish · get · leave · eat · are — every verb after the time word is present, and every future is in the other half. Exactly like if.

English	بالعربي
As soon as I finish...	أول ما أخلص...
When you get here...	لما توصل...
Before I leave...	قبل ما أمشي...
I won't start until...	مش هبدأ لحد ما...

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners list the five time words and the verb after each. The pattern should now feel familiar rather than new.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Same rule as L01: after the time word, use the present.

Time word	Meaning	Example
when	at that time (it will happen)	When I get home, I'll call* you. as soon as	immediately after	As soon as it stops, we'll go. before	earlier than	I'll finish before he arrives.*
after	later than	After I eat, I'll study. until	up to that point	I won't go until she calls.

⚠️ نفس القاعدة: بعد كلمة الوقت مضارع، والمستقبل في النص الثاني. ماتقولش when I will finish.

1) if or when? The difference is certainty.

	Means
If I pass the exam...	I might pass — it is uncertain
When I pass the exam...	I will pass — only the timing is open

A final-year student says "when I graduate". Saying "if I graduate" tells the listener you have doubts.

2) Until likes a negative main clause.

I won't leave until he arrives. — I stay up to that point Wait here until I get back.

3) Clause order flips, and the comma follows the same rule as L01:

When I get home, I'll call you.* = I'll call you when I get home.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes confirming the shared rule, three on if against when — the real new content — and one on until. The certainty contrast is worth a quick round of situations.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
as soon as	أول ما	As soon as I arrive, I'll text. when	لما	When he calls, tell me. before	قبل ما	Before I go, I'll pay. after	بعد ما	After we finish, we'll rest. until	لحد ما	Wait until I come back. straight away	على طول	I'll do it straight away. by then	لحد وقتها	By then, I'll be ready. in the meantime	في الوقت ده	In the meantime, relax.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — as soon as is one squeezed chunk.

as soon as → /ə'su:nəz/ — "uh-SOON-uz"

The stress sits on soon; the two as words almost vanish.

Part 2 — the time clause runs on, then a break, then the future half.

As soon as I FINISH ☒ I'll COME over.

Part 3 — protect the 'll and the won't. In a negative, won't takes a clear beat — it is the whole meaning:

I WON'T go until she calls.

ولاحظ إن won't بتأخذ نبذة واضحة، لأنها هي اللي شايطة المعنى.

Record & compare: "As soon as I finish, I'll call you — but I won't leave until he arrives."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes on /ə'su:nəz/, two on the clause break and the stressed won't.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — put the verbs in the right form.

1. I _____ (call) you when I _____ (arrive).
2. As soon as she _____ (finish), we _____ (start).
3. We _____ (not / leave) until it _____ (stop) raining.
4. After I _____ (get) paid, I _____ (buy) it.

Exercise 2 — if or when?

1. _____ I finish university next year, I'll look for a job. (certain)
2. _____ it snows tomorrow, school will close. (uncertain)
3. _____ the sun sets, it gets cold. (certain, every day)
4. _____ he calls, tell him I'm out. (uncertain)

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. When I will finish, I'll call you. → _____
2. I'll wait until you will come. → _____
3. As soon as I will arrive, I'll text. → _____
4. I'll leave until he arrives. (meaning: stay till then) → _____

Exercise 4 — chain it. Three steps of one real plan, using before, after and as soon as.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: 'I'll call/arrive · finishes/'I'll start · won't leave/stops · get/'I'll buy. Ex2: When · If · When · If. Ex3: drop each will in the time clause; 4) I won't leave until he arrives.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Describe one real plan in three steps, using at least three different time words, and one until sentence.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: present after every time word, will/'ll only in main clauses, a correct if/when choice, and a clear won't if used.

📖 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a three-step plan using before, after and as soon as.
- Stack English onto a fixed moment. "As soon as I wake up, I'll read one page in English." A condition attached to something you already do never needs remembering.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- After when · as soon as · before · after · until → present, never will.
- will belongs in the other half.
- if = it may happen · when = it will, timing unknown.
- until = up to that point, and it likes won't.
- as soon as → /ə'su:nəz/, one chunk.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) 'll call / arrive · 2) finishes / 'll start · 3) won't leave / stops · 4) get / 'll buy
- Ex2: 1) When · 2) If · 3) When · 4) If
- Ex3: 1) When I finish... · 2) ...until you come. · 3) As soon as I arrive... · 4) I won't leave until he arrives.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 4 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: use unless + present as the equivalent of if ... not · give conditions and warnings · convert between the two forms. The trap is the double negative: ❌ "unless you don't hurry." Unless is already negative, so the verb after it stays positive. Keep every example positively conditioned and the trap never opens. Teach it as a rewrite, not as new grammar. Unless = if ... not. Learners who can convert in both directions own it; learners who learn a separate "meaning" guess. The tense rule is unchanged from L01 and L02 — present after unless. That is now three lessons of the same rule, and worth naming as such. Unless is common in warnings and conditions, so the natural contexts are rules, deadlines and consequences. Keep the examples concrete. Support: the conversion card with both forms side by side. Stretch: rewrite a whole set of rules using unless. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Use unless to mean if ... not.
- Convert freely between the two.
- Give a warning without sounding aggressive. 🗣️

كلمة unless معناها "إلا لو"، فهي نافية لوحدها. الفعل بعدها يبقى إيجابي.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Unless compresses a whole negative condition into one word. It appears constantly in rules, deadlines, warnings and instructions — and understanding it wrongly reverses the meaning of the sentence, which in a workplace or an airport is expensive.

ولو حطيت النفي مرتين، المعنى بيتقلب. القاعدة: بعد unless فعل إيجابي.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From L01: two first conditionals with a negative if-clause — "If you don't hurry, we'll be late."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. These are precisely the sentences today's word replaces, so produce them first.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

A manager briefing a team (📞 in the portal).

A: The deadline is Thursday. Unless we finish the testing, we can't release. B: We'll finish. Unless something breaks, we're on track. A: Good. And remember — unless you book leave in advance, it won't be approved. B: Understood. What about the client call? A: It goes ahead unless they cancel. They usually don't. B: So, unless I hear otherwise, I'll prepare the slides. A: Exactly.

Notice: every verb after unless is positive — finish · breaks · book · cancel · hear — and every one of those sentences could be rewritten with if ... not.

English	بالعربي
unless we finish	إلا لو خَلَصْنَا
unless they cancel	إلا لو أُلْغُوا
It won't be approved.	مش هتتوافق
unless I hear otherwise	إلا لو سمعت غير كده

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners rewrite two of the lines with if ... not and confirm the meaning is unchanged. The equivalence is the lesson.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

One equation.

unless = if ... not

With unless	With if ... not
Unless you hurry, we'll be late.	If you don't hurry, we'll be late.
I won't go unless you come.	I won't go if you don't come.
Unless it rains, we'll walk.	If it doesn't rain, we'll walk.

1) The verb after unless is positive. The negative is already inside the word:

⚠️ الغلطة المتوقعة: unless you don't hurry — ده نفي مرتين والمعنى بيتقلب. الصح unless you hurry.

2) The tense rule has not changed — present after unless, will in the other half:

Unless he calls, I won't wait.

3) Clause order flips as usual:

Unless you book, it won't be approved. = It won't be approved unless you book.

4) A useful fixed phrase:

unless I hear otherwise · unless something changes · unless you'd prefer...

5) When to prefer unless. It sounds crisper in rules and warnings. If ... not is fine everywhere and is the safer choice when you are unsure.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Four minutes on the equation and the conversion drill in both directions, two on the double negative, one on the fixed phrases. Conversion is the assessment.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

unless I hear otherwise	إلا لو سمعت غير كده	...unless I hear otherwise.

in advance	مقدمًا	Book in advance.
It won't be approved.	مش هتتوافق	It won't be approved.
on track	ماشي صح	We're on track.
Unless something changes...	إلا لو حصل تغيير...	Unless something changes, yes.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — unless is stressed on the second syllable.

unless → /ən'les/ — "un-LESS"

The first syllable is a schwa and nearly disappears; the /s/ at the end must be clear, or it blurs into the next word.

Part 2 — the clause break stays where it was in L01 and L02.

Unless we FINISH ☒ we CAN'T release.

Part 3 — the negative in the main clause takes the beat, because it carries the consequence:

Unless you book, it WON'T be approved.

 Record & compare: "Unless we finish the testing, we can't release."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes on /ən'les/ with a clear final /s/, two on the stressed negative consequence.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — rewrite with unless.

1. If you don't study, you won't pass. → _____
2. If it doesn't rain, we'll play. → _____
3. I won't sign if I don't read it first. → _____

Exercise 2 — rewrite with if ... not.

1. Unless you leave now, you'll miss it. → _____
2. We'll go ahead unless they cancel. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. Unless you don't hurry, we'll be late. → _____
2. Unless it will rain, we'll walk. → _____
3. Unless he doesn't call, I won't wait. → _____

Exercise 4 — three rules. Write three real rules from your work, studies or home using unless.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: Unless you study, you won't pass · Unless it rains, we'll play · I won't sign unless I read it first. Ex3: remove each double negative; 2) Unless it rains. The bidirectional conversion in Ex1–Ex2 is the real check.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Give three conditions or warnings using unless, then rewrite one of them aloud with if ... not.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: positive verb after unless every time, present tense there, and one accurate conversion.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post three unless sentences about your own week.
- Own the condition: "I won't improve unless I speak every day." That sentence is true, and it is this grammar. Write your version and put it somewhere you will see it.

REMEMBER — افكر

- unless = if ... not.
- The verb after unless is positive — the negative is already in the word.
- Present after unless; will in the other half.
- Clause order flips; comma only after a leading unless-clause.
- /ən'les/ — stress the second syllable, keep the final /s/.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: make realistic plans with conditions · make and soften promises · commit, hedge, or decline clearly. This is the unit's integration lesson. Correct only patterned conditional errors, and by delayed feedback. The target is connected, realistic planning, not sentence-level perfection. The social content is the strength of commitment. I'll try and I promise I'll are not interchangeable, and learners routinely over-commit because the stronger phrase is the one they know. Give them a hedge they can actually use. Reward realism. A plan with a condition and a fallback is better evidence of B1 than a confident plan with none — and it is what real speech sounds like. Support: the commitment-strength ladder card. Stretch: decline something politely while offering an alternative condition. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Make a plan that has a condition and a fallback.
- Promise something and mean it.
- Say I'll try when you cannot promise. 🎤

فرق كبير بين "هحاول" و "أوعدك"، والناس بتسمع الفرق.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Adults negotiate constantly: what you will do, by when, and what happens if something changes. The grammar for that is already in your hands after three lessons — this one adds the phrases that make it sound committed, honest, or appropriately cautious.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

One first conditional, one time clause, one unless — three sentences, thirty seconds each.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. All three structures must be live before they get combined into a plan.

🔊 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Agreeing who does what (📞 in the portal).

A: Can you send the figures today? B: I'll try, but I can't promise — I have two meetings. If I don't finish by five, I'll send them first thing tomorrow. A: That works. As soon as you send them, I'll start the report. B: I promise I'll send them before nine tomorrow at the latest. A: Perfect. And unless something changes, we'll present on Thursday. B: Agreed. I'll definitely be ready by then. A: If anything comes up, just tell me — I'd rather know early.

Notice the ladder. I'll try is cautious. I'll send them is a plan. I promise I'll and I'll definitely are strong. Each one tells the listener how much to rely on it.

English	بالعربي
I'll try.	هحاول
I can't promise.	مش أقدر أوعد
I promise I'll...	أوعدك ه...
I'll definitely...	أكيد ه...

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners rank the commitments from weakest to strongest. That ranking is the lesson's real content.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

1) The commitment ladder. Same future tense, very different weight:

Strength	Phrase
weak	I'll try. · I'll see what I can do. · I might be able to. neutral	I'll send it. · I'll be there. strong	I'll definitely... · I promise I'll... · You have my word.

2) A realistic plan has three parts:

the plan — I'll send the figures today. the condition — If I don't finish by five, the fallback — I'll send them first thing tomorrow.

3) Softeners that keep you honest:

I'll try, but I can't promise. · I should be able to. · Probably, but let me check. · As far as I know...

4) Declining well — refuse the request, not the person, and offer a condition:

I can't do it today, but if you can wait until Monday, I'll do it properly.

⚠️ خذ بالك: لو وعدت بحاجة مش متأكد منها، الثقة بتضيع. استخدم I'll try وإن كنت مرتاح.

5) The grammar underneath is unchanged — present in the condition, will in the result. Three lessons, one rule.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Three minutes on the ladder, three on the plan-condition-fallback shape. Do not re-teach the conditional; only correct it if a pattern appears.

🗡️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

I'll try.	هحاول	I'll try, but I can't promise.
I promise I'll...	أوعدك ه...	I promise I'll call.

I should be able to.	المفروض أقدر	I should be able to finish.
Let me check.	خليني أشوف	Let me check and get back to you. at the latest	على الأكثر	By nine at the latest.
if anything comes up	لو حصل أي حاجة	If anything comes up, tell me.
I'd rather know early.	أحب أعرف بدري	I'd rather know early.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — commitment lives on stress. The strong words must actually be strong:

I'll DEFINITELY be there.* · I PROMISE I'll call.*

Said flat, a promise sounds like a maybe — and the listener will plan accordingly.

Part 2 — the hedge is quieter and faster. That contrast is what makes it a hedge:

I'll try, but I can't promise. — lower pitch, quicker, no push

Part 3 — keep the 'll alive under the emphasis. Learners stressing definitely often drop the auxiliary before it:

I'll definitely — not "I definitely"

Record & compare: "I'll try, but I can't promise — I promise I'll send it tomorrow."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Have learners say the same sentence as a firm promise and as a hedge. If a partner cannot tell which is which, the delivery is not doing its job.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — rank the commitments from weakest (1) to strongest (4).

a) I promise I'll do it. b) I might do it. c) I'll do it. d) I'll try to do it.

Exercise 2 — add a condition and a fallback.

1. I'll finish the report today. → _____

2. I'll meet you at seven. → _____

Exercise 3 — soften or strengthen.

1. Make it weaker: I'll be there at six. → _____

2. Make it stronger: I'll send it. → _____

Exercise 4 — decline politely. A friend asks you to help them move house on Saturday. You cannot. Refuse, give a reason, and offer a conditional alternative.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: b (1) · d (2) · c (3) · a (4) — accept d/b swapped with a reason. Ex4 is the assessment: listen for a refusal, a reason, and a condition.

🎤 YOUR TURN — دورك

Make one realistic plan with a condition and a fallback, one promise you can keep, and one honest hedge.

🎤 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: correct conditional forms, three distinguishable commitment strengths, and audible stress on the strong one.

📄 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post one plan with a condition, and one promise.
- Make one conditional promise to yourself about English — "If I have ten minutes at lunch, I'll read one article." Small, conditional, and attached to something real is the kind of promise that survives.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- The ladder: I might → I'll try → I'll → I promise I'll · I'll definitely.
- A realistic plan has a plan · condition · fallback.
- Hedge honestly; a broken promise costs more than a cautious one.
- Decline the request, not the person — and offer a condition.
- Stress the commitment word, and keep the 'll.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: b → d → c → a
- Ex2 (model): 1) I'll finish the report today. If I don't finish by six, I'll send it tomorrow morning.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 5 · Rehearse 8 · Record 5 · Feedback 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: talk through a real plan with conditions, sequence and consequences · handle a change of circumstances · record the Unit-4 talk. This closes the "real future" block. Flag the pivot at the end: U5 moves to the unreal. Priming the contrast now makes the second conditional land as a different meaning rather than a competing form — which is exactly what stops the two from merging. The one form to hunt is will after if or a time word. Three lessons taught the same rule; this is where it is tested under load. Note the pattern, do not lecture. Throw one complication in live. "What if the flight is cancelled?" Handling an unplanned condition is the B1 behaviour being assessed. Support: 6 sentences with the checklist. Stretch: two fallbacks and an unless used accurately. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Sequence it: before · after · as soon as.
- Handle a problem thrown at you mid-plan.
- Record your Unit-4 milestone. 🎤

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: a first conditional → a when clause → an as soon as clause → an unless sentence → a hedge (I'll try).

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast, no repeats. Confirms all four lessons before the load rises.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model plan with consequences (📞 in the portal).

I'm going to move flat next month, so the next few weeks are mostly planning. As soon as I get my deposit back, I'll start looking properly. If I find somewhere near the metro, I'll take it even if it costs a bit more — the commute is killing me.

Unless the agent calls this week, I'll assume the first flat has gone. That's fine. If it falls through, I'll stay with my brother for a month and keep looking.

Before I sign anything, I'll check the contract carefully. My cousin got caught last year. And after I move, I'll definitely repaint — I promise myself that every time and never do it.

When everything is settled, I'll have people over. Unless I run out of money first.

Notice: every verb after if · unless · as soon as · before · after · when is present; every future is in the other half. There is a fallback for the thing that might fail, and a hedge at the end.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for the plan, once for structures. Ask learners to find the fallback — the "if it falls through" sentence — because that is what distinguishes a real plan from a wish list.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست الخطة

- ✓ Two or more first conditionals — If I ..., I'll ...
- ✓ Two different time words — when · as soon as · before · after · until
- ✓ One unless
- ✓ One fallback — what you'll do if something fails
- ✓ One commitment or hedge — I promise I'll... / I'll try...
- ✓ Present tense after every if and time word — no will there
- ★ Handle one new condition the assessor introduces

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Item 6 is the accuracy discriminator; item 7 is the interaction one.

🎤 ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- weak 'll — present in every result clause, never dropped

- stressed *won't — it carries the consequence
- as soon as → /ə'su:nəz/ as one chunk
- unless → /ən'les/ with a clear final /s/
- the clause break — condition ☒ result
- commitment stress — I'll DEFINITELY...

 Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One personal target each. A dropped 'll is the priority: without it the result clause stops being future and the whole structure collapses.

YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse against the checklist with a partner, then record.

Talk through one real plan in 7–9 sentences. Include at least two conditions, two time words, one unless, and one fallback. Then answer one new condition the assessor gives you.

 Record it and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min recording + 3 feedback. Introduce your complication after the prepared part — "What if the deposit doesn't come back in time?" — so the response is genuinely unrehearsed. Success check (Unit-4): a connected 7–9 sentence plan with correct present-after-if throughout, two accurate time clauses, one correct unless, a fallback, and a handled complication (rubric: Fluency + Accuracy + Interaction at B1). Close by priming U5: everything this unit did was real. Next unit is for the unreal — "If I had the money, I'd buy it." Say the sentence once and let them hear that the tenses move backwards.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your plan with at least two conditions.
- Complete the Unit-4 quiz.
- Keep your English-only zone running. One fixed slot, no Arabic. If you skipped it this week, restart tomorrow rather than expanding it.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 4 WRAP)

- Present after if; will in the result. One rule, three lessons.
- Same rule after when · as soon as · before · after · until.
- if = maybe · when = certain, timing unknown.
- unless = if ... not, and the verb after it stays positive.
- until likes won't: I won't go until she calls.
- Real plans carry a fallback and an honest level of commitment.

✅ SELF-CHECK — UNIT 4 MINI-QUIZ

1. If it ___ (rain), we'll stay in. → rains
2. If I ___ (see) her, I'll tell her. → see
3. I'll call you when I ___ (arrive). → arrive
4. As soon as she ___ (finish), we'll start. → finishes
5. I won't leave ___ he arrives. → until
6. ___ you hurry, we'll be late. (= if you don't) → Unless
7. Unless you ___ (book), it won't be approved. → book
8. ___ I graduate next year, I'll look for work. (certain) → When
9. If I will study, I'll pass. → wrong; say If I study, I'll pass
10. Weakest commitment: I promise I'll / I'll try → I'll try

🎉 UNIT 4 COMPLETE — بقيت تفكر بصوت عالي

You can now reason about the future: set a condition, sequence the steps, state what will not happen unless something else does, and commit at the right strength.

Next → Unit 5: Hypotheticals. The second conditional — what would happen if things were different. The tenses move backwards, and the meaning becomes imaginary. 🏰

Empire English 🏰 — لو حصل كذا، هعمل كذا

STAGE 2 · UNIT 5

HYPOTHETICALS: SECOND CONDITIONAL (+ WISH)

👑 UNIT 5 — HYPOTHETICALS: SECOND CONDITIONAL (+ WISH)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 5 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit5-second-conditional.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 5 you'll talk about the life you don't have — imagine situations, advise by putting yourself in someone's place, say what you wish were true, and then step back and make a real plan. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تتكلم عن المتخيل، وتفرق بينه وبين الواقع.

Why this completes the reasoning toolkit: Unit 4 covered what will happen. This unit covers what would. Together they let you argue, advise, dream, and plan — which is most of what adults use language for.

والمفتاح إن الفعل الماضي هنا معناه "مش حقيقي"، مش "حصل".

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	Second conditional	if + past, would — the past form means unreal
L02	Real vs unreal	choose by likelihood, and hear 'll against 'd
L03	If I were you...	advise as imagination, not instruction
L04	I wish...	say what isn't true now — then convert it into a plan
L05	Dreams (milestone) 🎤	an 8–10 sentence talk + record your milestone

Grammar spine: second conditional · first against second conditional · were in unreal conditions · wish + past for present wishes. Accent Lab: the 'd' reduction and its survival · the 'll' / 'd' minimal pair · stressed wouldn't · I wish I → /aɪ'wɪʃaɪ/ · content-word stress. Mindset: picture the fluent version of yourself — then reverse-engineer the plan. Arabic support: ~15% through L01–L04, easing to ~10% at L05.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-5 dreams talk, ending in a real plan.
- The range to say both "if I finish early, I'll come" and "if I had the time, I'd come" — and to mean different things.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. L01's hurdle is conceptual, not formal. The past tense here is not about the past — If I had a car is about an untrue now. Gloss that once in Arabic, then keep every example unmistakably imaginary. If an example could be real, learners cannot tell which conditional they are practising and L02's contrast collapses before you teach it. Expect U4 interference in both directions: would in the if-clause, or a present tense there. L02 must be anchored to meaning, not form. The question is how likely is it? Show early that the same situation can take either conditional with different meanings — that single pair converts the rule from arbitrary to sensible. And treat the 'll / 'd minimal pair as an accuracy matter: one phoneme carries the entire real/unreal distinction, so an inaudible auxiliary makes the grammar unverifiable. L03 needs an honesty note about was. "If I was you" is extremely common among native speakers and accepted informally. Teach were as the careful standard; do not over-penalise was in speech. Frame the lesson as Stage 1's advice lesson at a higher register: should points at the listener, If I were you puts the speaker in their place. L04 stays on present wishes only. Wish + past perfect is B2; if a learner produces it, confirm it is correct and defer it. Do not skip the wish → plan conversion at the end — it is ninety seconds and it is the mindset content of the unit. L05 closes the conditionals block. Score the switching between real and unreal, not just the second conditional, and name the range gain out loud. This is the most concrete progress evidence available while the plateau still feels flat.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: second-conditional form · first against second by meaning · were in unreal conditions · wish + past · the two mixing errors.
- Speaking task: the L05 dreams talk, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold) with an eye on Range.
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker and flags dropped 'd plus would-in-the-if-clause for the review queue.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → UNIT 6 — RELATIVE CLAUSES who · which · that · where · whose — packing more information into one sentence, and knowing when to drop the pronoun entirely.

Empire English 🏰 · Stage 2 · Legionary rank · consistency beats intensity

SECOND CONDITIONAL: IF + PAST, WOULD

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 5 · Lesson 1 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: Unit 4 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit5-second-conditional.md · S2-U5-L01

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: build the second conditional · talk about imaginary situations and their imagined results · understand that the past form here signals unreal, not past. The conceptual hurdle is that the past tense is not about the past. If I had a car is about now — a now that is not true. Gloss that once in Arabic, then stay inside clearly imaginary contexts so the meaning cannot be misread as history. Keep every example unmistakably unreal today — money you do not have, places you have not been, superpowers. If an example could be real, learners cannot tell which conditional they are practising, and the U4/U5 contrast (L02) collapses before you teach it. Form errors to expect: would inside the if-clause (❌ "If I would have...") and a present tense there (❌ "If I have a car, I would..."). Both come from U4 interference, which is normal and worth naming. Support: the two-clause frame beside U4's, so the difference is visible. Stretch: add a reason for the imagined result. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Talk about situations that are not true and what would follow.
- Build if + past, would + base verb.
- Say what you would do with time, money, or a different life. 🗣️

الشكل ماضي، بس المعنى مش ماضي — المعنى حاجة متخيلة في الحاضر.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Everything in Unit 4 was possible. This structure covers the other half of thinking: the imagined, the wished-for, the hypothetical. It is how people discuss choices they have not made, advice, dreams, and any question that starts "what would you do if...?"

والفعل الماضي هنا معناه إن الحاجة مش حقيقية.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From Unit 4: two first conditionals about things that might really happen this week.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Real conditions first, so the shift into the unreal is felt rather than described.

🔊 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Two friends imagining (🖥️ in the portal).

A: If I had more time, I'd learn the guitar properly. B: If I won the lottery tomorrow, I wouldn't work another day. A: Really? I think I'd get bored. If I didn't have a job, I'd probably invent one. B: What would you do if you could live anywhere? A: Somewhere by the sea. If I lived near water, I'd be calmer — I'm sure of it. B: If I were you, I'd just move. A: With what money?

Notice: had · won · didn't have · could · lived · were — all past forms. But nobody is talking about the past. Every sentence is about an imagined now.

English	بالعربي
If I had more time...	لو كان عندي وقت أكثر...
I'd learn the guitar.	كنت هتتعلم جيتار
If I won the lottery...	لو كسبت اللوتري...
I wouldn't work.	مكنتش هشتغل

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: ask whether any sentence describes something that actually happened. None does — and that realisation is the lesson.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Two halves, both moved backwards.

Half	Form	Example
the imagined situation — if ...	past simple	If I had a car,
the imagined result	would* / 'd + base verb	I'd drive* to work.*

*If I spoke French, I'd live in Paris.

⚠️ الفكرة الأساسية: الفعل الماضي هنا مش بيتكلم عن الماضي — بيقول إن الحاجة مش حقيقية.

1) would never goes in the if-clause.

If I had money, I'd* buy it.* ✅ If I would have money... ❌ If I have money, I'd* buy it.* ❌ — that is U4's tense in U5's frame

2) would is followed by the plain verb — no to, no -s, ever:

She'd go. · He'd be* happy.* · They'd help.

3) Negative in either half:

If I didn't work here, I'd* travel.* · If I had time, I wouldn't stay home.

4) could and might can replace would when the result is an ability or a weaker guess:

I'd* go*	I would, definitely
I could go	I would be able to
I might go	perhaps

5) The question form is extremely useful:

What would you do if you lost your phone?

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Four minutes on the two halves and the unreal meaning, three on the would-placement errors. Keep contexts impossible or improbable throughout.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
If I had...	لو كان عندي...	If I had a car...
I'd...	كنت هـ...	I'd drive there.
I wouldn't...	مكنتش هـ...	I wouldn't tell anyone.
What would you do...?	كنت هتعمل إيه...؟	What would you do?
If I could...	لو أقدر...	If I could fly...
I'd probably...	يمكن كنت هـ...	I'd probably say no. imagine	تخيل	Imagine you had a year off.
in your place	في مكانك	In your place, I'd wait.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — would almost always reduces to 'd.

I would → *I'd /aɪd/ · he would → *he'd /hi:d/ · they would → *they'd /ðeɪd/

That /d/ is the entire signal that a sentence is hypothetical. Lose it and "I'd go" becomes "I go" — a completely different meaning.

Part 2 — 'd links straight into the verb:

I'd get → I-dget · I'd be → I-dbe

Part 3 — the stress sits on the content words, not on would:

If I HAD more time, I'd LEARN the guitar.

Part 4 — wouldn't is different: it takes a clear beat, because the negative carries the meaning:

I WOULDN'T work another day.

Record & compare: "If I had more time, I'd learn the guitar — but I wouldn't stop working."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on the 'd reduction and its survival, one on linking, two on the stressed wouldn't. A dropped 'd is the priority error.

TRAIN — تَدْرِبْ

Exercise 1 — put the verbs in the right form.

1. If I _____ (have) a car, I _____ (drive) to work.
2. If she _____ (speak) English, she _____ (get) the job.
3. What _____ you _____ (do) if you _____ (lose) your passport?
4. If they _____ (not / live) so far, we _____ (visit) more often.

Exercise 2 — answer for yourself.

1. What would you do if you had a free year? → _____
2. Where would you live if money didn't matter? → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. If I would have time, I would call you. → _____
2. If I have a car, I would drive. → _____
3. If I had money, I would to buy it. → _____
4. If she had time, she would goes. → _____

Exercise 4 — three imaginary situations. Complete each with your own result: If I could live anywhere... / If I had another career... / If I spoke five languages...

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: had/'d drive · spoke/'d get · would ... do/lost · didn't live/'d visit. Ex3: If I had time · If I had a car · would buy · would go. Ex3.2 is the U4 interference error — name it as such.

YOUR TURN — دُورُكَ

Say three imaginary situations and what you would do in each. Use wouldn't at least once.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: past form after if, would + plain verb in the result, no would in the if-clause, and an audible 'd.

📋 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post: "If I ____, I'd ____." — three imagined situations.
- Picture the fluent version of yourself. "If I spoke English fluently, I'd ____." Finish that sentence honestly; it is the clearest statement of why you are doing this.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- if + past simple, would + plain verb.
- The past form means unreal, not past.
- Never would in the if-clause.
- could and might can replace would for ability or a weaker guess.
- Keep the 'd audible — it is the whole hypothetical signal.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) had / 'd drive · 2) spoke / 'd get · 3) would ... do / lost · 4) didn't live / 'd visit
- Ex3: 1) If I had time... · 2) If I had a car, I'd drive. · 3) ...would buy it. · 4) ...would go.

Empire English 🏰 — شكل ماضي، معنى متخيل

REAL VS UNREAL: 1ST VS 2ND CONDITIONAL

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 5 · Lesson 2 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01 · Unit 4 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit5-second-conditional.md` · S2-U5-L02

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 3 · Assign 2. Objectives: choose between the first and second conditional · anchor the choice to likelihood, not to form · switch cleanly between 'll and 'd. Anchor to meaning, not form. The mixing errors — ❌ "If I will...", ❌ "If I would..." — come from treating this as a form choice. The real question is how likely is it? Give them that question and the forms follow. Both conditionals can be correct for the same sentence — with different meanings. "If it rains, I'll stay" (it might) against "If it rained, I'd stay" (unlikely today). Show a pair like that early; it converts the rule from arbitrary to meaningful. The tell is 'll against 'd. One phoneme carries the entire real/unreal distinction, which makes this as much an Accent Lab lesson as a grammar one. Support: the two-column comparison card. Stretch: say the same situation both ways and explain the difference in meaning. Arabic ~15% — the rule glossed once.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Decide which conditional a situation needs.
- Hear the difference between I'll and I'd.
- Say the same idea as likely or as imaginary, on purpose. 🎤

الاختيار مش شكلي. السؤال: الحاجة دي واردة تحصل، ولا متخيلة؟

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

You now have two conditionals, and they answer different questions: what will happen and what would happen. Choosing between them is a reasoning skill, not a grammar exercise — and it is one of the clearest markers that a speaker has arrived at B1.

ولو خلطت الاثنين، مش هيعرف إنت بتخطط ولا بتتخيل.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

One first conditional, then one second conditional, back to back. Same topic if possible.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Both must be individually available before they can be contrasted. If the second is shaky, spend an extra minute here.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Planning, and dreaming, in the same conversation (🗨️ in the portal).

A: If the weather is good on Friday, we'll go to the coast. B: And if it rains? A: Then we'll stay here. It's fine either way. B: If I had a bigger car, I'd drive us all. A: You don't have a car at all. B: Exactly. If I did, I'd be very generous with it. A: If you get that promotion, you'll be able to buy one. B: If I got it, I'd buy a boat instead.

Notice the switch. Friday's weather and the promotion are real possibilities — first conditional. The bigger car and the boat are imagined — second conditional. Same speakers, same conversation, different worlds.

English	بالعربي
If it's good, we'll go.	لو الجو حلو، هنروح
If I had a car, I'd drive.	لو كان عندي عربة، كنت هسوق
If you get it, you'll be able to...	لو جبتها، هتقدر...
If I got it, I'd buy a boat.	لو جبتها، كنت هشتري قارب

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners mark each sentence real or imagined, then check the form matched. The last two lines are the same situation both ways — point at them.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Ask: how likely is this?

	conditional	conditional meaning	real, possible	imaginary, unlikely, or untrue
if-clause	present — If I have time	past — If I had time result	'll — I'll call	'd — I'd call feels like	a plan	a daydream

⚠️ القاعدة في سطر: واردة تحصل → مضارع وwill. متخيلة → ماضي وwould.

1) The same situation, both ways — and both correct:

	Means
If it rains, I'll* take a taxi.*	it may well rain
If it rained, I'd* take a taxi.*	it probably will not

Nothing about the weather changed. The speaker's estimate changed.

2) The two mixing errors, and where they come from:

If I will have time... ❌ — U4's error: future after if If I would have time... ❌ — U5 leaking into the if-clause

In both conditionals, the if-clause never contains will or would.

3) A quick decision test. Could you reasonably bet on it?

Situation	Choose
I might finish work early today.	first — If I finish early, I'll come.
I am not a millionaire.	second — If I were rich, I'd travel.
There is a real chance of rain.	first
I do not speak Japanese.	second

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on the table, two on the same-sentence-both-ways pair, two on the two mixing errors. Drill by naming a situation and asking which conditional and why — always demand the why.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
If I have time, I'll...	لو لقيت وقت، هـ...	If I have time, I'll help.
If I had time, I'd...	لو كان عندي وقت، كنت هـ...	If I had time, I'd help.
It's possible.	ممکن يحصل	It's possible, yes.
It's unlikely.	مستبعد	It's unlikely, honestly.
in theory	نظريًا	In theory, I'd say yes. realistically	بشكل واقعي	Realistically, we'll be late. either way	في كل الحالات	Either way, I'm coming.
Let's say...	افتترض إن...	Let's say you had a month off.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

One phoneme separates real from imaginary. That is the whole pronunciation lesson.

I'll go* → /aɪl/ — the real one I'd* go* → /aɪd/ — the imagined one*

The minimal pair drill. Say each pair until a partner can tell them apart with eyes closed:

I'll help · I'd help We'll stay · We'd stay He'll come · He'd come

If your listener cannot hear which one you said, they cannot tell whether you are making a plan or a wish — and there is no context that reliably rescues it.

Then switch mid-turn, which is what real conversation requires:

"If it rains, I'll take a taxi — but if it snowed, I'd just stay home."*

ولاحظ إن حرف واحد هو الفرق بين خطة وحلم، فخليه واضح.

Record & compare: the three minimal pairs, then the switching sentence.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Eyes-closed pair testing is the only honest check here. This is the highest-value four minutes in the unit: the grammar is useless if the auxiliary is inaudible.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — first or second? Complete it.

1. If I _____ (finish) early today, I _____ (call) you. (possible)
2. If I _____ (be) taller, I _____ (play) basketball. (untrue)
3. If it _____ (rain) tomorrow, we _____ (cancel). (possible)
4. If I _____ (know) her number, I _____ (give) it to you. (I don't)

Exercise 2 — say it both ways. Give the real and the imagined version.

1. (get the job) → real: _____ / imagined: _____
2. (have a free week) → real: _____ / imagined: _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. If I will see him, I'll tell him. → _____
2. If I would have money, I'd travel. → _____
3. If I was you, I'll wait. → _____
4. If she had time, she will come. → _____

Exercise 4 — decide and justify. For each, choose a conditional and say why: the bus is late · you are president for a day · your friend calls tonight · you could speak ten languages.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: finish/'ll call · were/'d play · rains/'ll cancel · knew/'d give. Ex3: If I see · If I had money · If I were you, I'd* wait* · she would come. Ex4 is the assessment — insist on the justification, not just the choice.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Say two real conditions about this week and two imaginary ones. Then take one situation and say it both ways, explaining the difference.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min. Success check: correct form for each meaning, no will/would in any if-clause, and an audible 'll against 'd distinction.

📋 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post two real conditions and two imaginary ones about yourself.
- Notice which one you reach for. Learners who only ever use the second conditional are describing a life they are not living. Some of your conditions should be real — that is what a plan is.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- Likely → present + will. Imaginary → past + would.
- The same situation can take either; the speaker's estimate decides.
- No will and no would inside the if-clause, ever.
- 'll against 'd is one sound carrying the whole difference.
- Demand the why of your own choice.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) finish / 'll call · 2) were / 'd play · 3) rains / 'll cancel · 4) knew / 'd give
- Ex3: 1) If I see him... · 2) If I had money... · 3) If I were you, I'd wait. · 4) ...she would come.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: give advice with If I were you, I'd... · use were for all subjects in unreal conditions · advise warmly rather than bluntly. On was against were: teach were as the standard, and do not over-penalise was in speech. "If I was you" is extremely common among native speakers and is accepted informally. Marking it as an error damages confidence for no communicative gain — name it as the careful form and move on. This is Stage 1's advice lesson again at a higher level. Should was direct; If I were you, I'd... is softer because it frames the advice as imagination rather than instruction. Name the link — learners who see the progression use both deliberately. The structure is a fixed chunk. Do not analyse the subjunctive. If I were you is one unit of language, and I'd is its automatic partner. Support: the advice-frame card. Stretch: advise, then give the reason and one alternative. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Give advice with If I were you, I'd...
- Use were for every subject in an imagined situation.
- Advise without sounding like you are giving orders. 🗣️

الجملة دي بتقول نصيحتك من غير ما تبقى أمر، لأنك بتتخيل نفسك مكانه.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

In Stage 1 you learned to advise with should. It works, but it points at the other person. If I were you does something socially cleverer: it puts you in their place, so the advice arrives as empathy instead of instruction.

والفرق إنك مش بتأمره، إنت بتتخيل نفسك مكانه.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From Stage 1: two pieces of advice with should. From L01: one second conditional.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Putting the Stage-1 form beside the new one makes the register difference audible immediately.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

A friend with a decision (📞 in the portal).

A: They've offered me the job, but it's a two-hour commute. B: Hmm. If I were you, I'd ask whether they allow remote days. A: I hadn't thought of that. B: And if I were in your position, I wouldn't decide this week. Take the weekend. A: My father says I should take it immediately. B: He might be right. But if it were me, I'd want to see the contract first. A: What would you do about the salary? B: Honestly? If I were you, I'd ask for ten percent more. They expect it.

Notice: If I were you — never was, in this careful form. And every result uses 'd or wouldn't, because the whole frame is imaginary.

English	بالعربي
If I were you...	أنا في مكانك...
I'd ask for more.	كنت هطلب أكثر
I wouldn't decide yet.	مكنتش هقرر لسه
If it were me...	لو كنت أنا...

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners note how many pieces of advice are given without a single imperative or should. That absence is the point.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

The frame is fixed. Learn it whole.

If I were you, I'd + plain verb.

If I were you, I'd take* the job.*	✓
If I were you, I wouldn't wait.	✓ negative advice

1) were for every subject. In unreal conditions English uses were even where you would expect was:

If I were rich...	not was
If he were here...	not was
If it were cheaper...	not was

⚠️ ملاحظة صادقة: كثير يقولوا If I was you وده مقبول، بس were هي الشكل الصح.

2) Useful variations of the same idea:

Phrase	Feel
If I were you...	the standard, warm
If I were in your position/shoes...	slightly more formal
If it were me...	casual, personal
What would you do?	asking for it

3) Compare the registers you now own:

Take the job.	an instruction
You should take the job.	advice, direct
If I were you, I'd take the job.	advice, softened by imagination

4) Strengthen it with a reason — advice without a reason is just an opinion:

If I were you, I'd ask for more — because they clearly need you.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the frame, two on were, two on the register ladder. Drill by giving a problem and taking advice around the room; require a reason each time.

If I were you...	أنا في مكانك...	If I were you, I'd wait.
I'd definitely...	أكيد كنت هـ...	I'd definitely ask.
I wouldn't...	مكنتش هـ...	I wouldn't sign yet.
in your position	في مكانك	In your position, I'd ask.
If it were me...	لو كنت أنا...	If it were me, I'd refuse.
It's up to you.	القرار ليك	But it's up to you.
Have you thought about...?	فكرت في...؟	Have you thought about asking?
I'd sleep on it.	خد وقتك في القرار	I'd sleep on it.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the frame is said fast and low, then the advice is stressed.

If-I-were-you ⚡ I'd ASK for more.

The frame is grammar, not content, so it gets squeezed. The verb of the advice carries the beat.

Part 2 — protect the 'd. As in L02, one phoneme distinguishes advice from a plain statement:

I'd ask /aid/ — advice · I ask — a habit

Part 3 — advice needs warm intonation. A falling, flat delivery makes even a softened frame sound like a verdict:

If I were you, ⬆️ I'd wait. ⬇️ — gentle rise, then settle Say it twice: once as a friend, once as an impatient boss. Same words.

Record & compare: "If I were you, I'd ask for more — but it's up to you."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes squeezing the frame, one on 'd, two on warmth. The friend-versus-boss contrast lands instantly and transfers to all advice-giving.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — complete with were or the right form.

1. If I _____ you, I'd apologise.
2. If he _____ here, he'd help us.
3. If it _____ cheaper, I'd buy it.

Exercise 2 — give advice with the frame.

1. My laptop keeps crashing. → _____
2. I'm always tired in the mornings. → _____
3. My neighbour plays loud music at night. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. If I were you, I will take the job. → _____
2. If I were you, I'd to wait. → _____
3. If I would be you, I'd ask. → _____
4. If I were you, I'd asked for more. → _____

Exercise 4 — advise with a reason. Your partner describes a real small problem. Give advice with the frame, a reason, and one alternative.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: were · were · were. Ex3: I'd* take* · drop to · If I were you · I'd ask. Ex4 is the assessment: frame + reason + alternative.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Give three pieces of advice using the frame — each with a reason. Make one of them negative advice.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: were in the frame, would + plain verb in the advice, a reason attached, and warm rather than flat delivery.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post advice for one classmate's real situation using the frame plus a reason.
- Advise your past self. "If I were the person who started this course, I'd ____." You know something now that you did not know then — say it in English.

REMEMBER — افكر

- If I were you, I'd + plain verb. Learn it as one chunk.
- were for every subject in an unreal condition; was is common but informal.
- Alternatives: in your position · in your shoes · if it were me.
- Register ladder: Take it → You should → If I were you, I'd.
- Attach a reason, and keep the delivery warm.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) were · 2) were · 3) were
- Ex2 (model): 1) If I were you, I'd back up your files first. · 2) If I were you, I'd go to bed an hour earlier.
- Ex3: 1) ...I'd take the job. · 2) ...I'd wait. · 3) If I were you... · 4) ...I'd ask for more.

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 5 · Lesson 4 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01–L03 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit5-second-conditional.md · S2-U5-L04

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: express present wishes with wish + past · say what you wish you could or had · turn a wish into a plan. Keep this to present wishes only. Wish + past perfect ("I wish I had studied") is B2 — if a learner produces it, accept it and say it is correct but later material. Opening it here doubles the difficulty for no gain. The past form does the same job it did in L01: it marks not true. That is why this lesson sits after the second conditional and not before — the mechanism is already familiar. The meaning learners must feel is regret or dissatisfaction about now. "I wish I spoke French" = I do not speak French, and I mind. It is not about the past. Finish by converting a wish into a first conditional. That move — from "I wish I spoke fluently" to "If I practise every day, I'll get there" — is the mindset content of the whole unit, and it takes ninety seconds. Support: the wish-frame card. Stretch: three wishes, each with the plan that would address it. Arabic ~15%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Say what you wish were different about your life now.
- Use I wish I could... and I wish I had...
- Turn a wish into a plan. 🗣️

نفس الفكرة: الفعل الماضي معناه إن الحاجة مش حقيقية دلوقتي.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Wish is how English expresses dissatisfaction with the present without complaining about it. It is softer than "I don't have" and more honest than pretending everything is fine — and it is everywhere in ordinary conversation.

ولاحظ إن الجملة بتتكلم عن دلوقتي، مش عن الماضي. I wish I spoke French معناها أنا مش بتكلم فرنساوي.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01: two second conditionals. Notice that both use a past form for something untrue now.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Explicit priming: today's structure borrows exactly that mechanism.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Two colleagues at the end of a long week (📞 in the portal).

A: I wish this week was over. B: Same. I wish I had more holiday left — I've used almost all of it. A: I wish I could work from home on Fridays. The commute is two hours. B: Have you asked? A: Not yet. I wish I were braver about that kind of thing, honestly. B: You should ask. I wish someone had told me that years ago — I never asked for anything. A: I wish I spoke better English too. Then I'd apply abroad. B: Your English is fine. Ask for the Fridays.

Notice: every wish uses a past form — was · had · could · were · spoke — and every one is about right now. Nobody is describing history.

English	بالعربي
I wish this week was over.	نفسي الأسبوع ده يخلص
I wish I had more holiday.	نفسي كان عندي أجازة أكثر
I wish I could work from home.	نفسي أقدر أشتغل من البيت
I wish I spoke better English.	نفسي أتكلم إنجليزي أحسن

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: after each wish, learners state the true present situation. That inversion is the meaning.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

The frame: wish + a past form.

I wish I had a car. → I do not have a car. I wish I spoke Japanese. → I do not speak Japanese. I wish she wasn't angry. → She is angry.

1) The past form means not true now — the same mechanism as the second conditional.

⚠ خد بالك: الجملة دي عن الحاضر، ومش بتتكلم عن الماضي خالص. الفعل الماضي بس علامة إن الحاجة مش حقيقية.

2) Three very high-frequency versions:

Frame	Use	Example
I wish I had...	something you lack	I wish I had more time.
I wish I could...	an ability or permission	I wish I could drive.
I wish I were...	a state or identity	I wish I were taller.

3) was or were? Same honest note as L03: were is the careful form, was is common in speech.

I wish I were there. — standard · I wish I was there. — informal, very common

4) Wishing about other people works too:

I wish he would call. — a complaint about somebody's behaviour I wish they didn't live so far away.

5) Not for the past — yet. "I wish I had studied medicine" is a past wish and belongs to B2. Today, everything is about now.

6) The move that matters — wish → plan. A wish names the gap; a first conditional crosses it:

I wish I spoke fluent English. → If I speak for ten minutes every day, I'll get much closer.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on the frame and the three versions, one on was/were, one on wishing about others, two on the wish→plan conversion. That last move is the unit's mindset content — do not skip it.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I wish I had...	نفسي كان عندي...	I wish I had more time.
I wish I could...	نفسي أقدر...	I wish I could swim.
I wish I were...	نفسي أكون...	I wish I were braver.
I wish he would...	نفسه...	I wish he would answer.
I wish it wasn't...	نفسي ماكانش...	I wish it wasn't so hot.
if only	يا ريت	If only I had known. one day	يوم من الأيام	One day I will. that's the plan	ده الهدف	That's the plan, anyway.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — I wish I is three small words that run together.

I wish I → /aɪ'wɪʃaɪ/ — the /j/ links straight into the second I

Said as three separate words it sounds recited. Said as one shape it sounds like feeling.

Part 2 — the stress lands on the wished-for thing, not on wish:

I wish I had MORE TIME. · I wish I could DRIVE.

Part 3 — wishes carry a falling, slightly slower melody. That is what makes them read as regret rather than as a request:

I wish I spoke better English. 📌

Say it twice — once as a complaint, once as a quiet regret. The words do not change.

Record & compare: "I wish I had more time, and I wish I could work from home."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on the linked frame, one on stress placement, two on the regret melody. The complaint-versus-regret contrast is the memorable one.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — complete the wish.

1. I don't have a car. → I wish I _____ a car.
2. I can't cook. → I wish I _____ cook.
3. It's raining. → I wish it _____ raining.
4. She isn't here. → I wish she _____ here.

Exercise 2 — say the true situation.

1. I wish I lived closer. → _____
2. I wish I could play the piano. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I wish I have more time. → _____
2. I wish I can swim. → _____
3. I wish I would be taller. → _____
4. I wish I will pass. → _____

Exercise 4 — wish, then plan. Three real wishes about your life now. For each, add a first conditional that would move you toward it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: had · could · wasn't/weren't · were/was. Ex3: had · could · were · If I study, I'll pass — number 4 is not a wish at all but a condition, which is the useful correction.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Say three wishes about your life now, then turn one of them into a plan with if.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: past form after wish every time, correct could/had/were choice, one accurate wish→plan conversion, and a falling regret melody.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post two wishes and one plan that follows from one of them.
- Convert one wish this week. "I wish I spoke fluently" is a feeling. "If I speak for ten minutes daily, I'll be closer by March" is a plan. You have the grammar for both — choose the second more often.

REMEMBER — افكر

- wish + past form = not true now.
- *I wish I had · *I wish I could · *I wish I were.
- were is careful; was is common in speech.
- *I wish he would... complains about behaviour.
- Past wishes (wish I had studied) come later, at B2.
- A wish names the gap — a first conditional crosses it.

SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) had · 2) could · 3) wasn't (weren't) · 4) were (was)
- Ex2: 1) I don't live close. · 2) I can't play the piano.
- Ex3: 1) I wish I had more time. · 2) I wish I could swim. · 3) I wish I were taller. · 4) If I study, I'll pass.

UNIT SPEAKING TASK: "IF I COULD... / MY DREAMS" (+ REVIEW)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 5 · Lesson 5 — UNIT MILESTONE 🕒 ~40 min · 📞 Recorded + live (assessment-style) · Prerequisite: L01–L04 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit5-second-conditional.md` · S2-U5-L05

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 5 · Rehearse 8 · Record 5 · Feedback 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: talk about imaginary situations, hypothetical advice and wishes in 8–10 sentences · switch between real and unreal · record the Unit-5 talk. This closes the conditionals block, and it is a genuine range milestone. Learners can now reason about what will and what would happen. Say that out loud — it is the most concrete evidence of progress available during the plateau. Score the switching, not only the second conditional. A talk that stays entirely imaginary is easier than one that moves between a real plan and a daydream. The rubric line is Range. Listen for 'll against 'd. If the auxiliary is inaudible the whole distinction is unverifiable, so treat it as an accuracy issue rather than a pronunciation nicety. Support: 8 sentences with the checklist. Stretch: end with a real first-conditional plan that follows from the dream. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Talk about your dreams and hypotheticals in 8–10 sentences.
- Give hypothetical advice and express wishes.
- Move between what will happen and what would.
- Record your Unit-5 milestone. 🎤

بقيت تقدر تتكلم عن الواقع والمتخيل، وتفرّق بينهم بوضوح.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: a second conditional → a first conditional → an If I were you → an I wish → one 'll against 'd minimal pair.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast. The final item is a pronunciation check disguised as retrieval.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model dreams-and-plans talk (🗣️ in the portal).

If I could change one thing about my life, I'd work somewhere with a view. I know that sounds small. But I sit in a room with no windows for nine hours a day, and if I had natural light, I think I'd be a different person by six o'clock.

If I won a serious amount of money, I wouldn't stop working — I'd just choose differently. I'd probably open a small place that sells books and coffee and loses money slowly.

I wish I had started learning English earlier. If I had more confidence at twenty, I'd have applied for jobs abroad. If I were my younger self, I'd tell him to speak badly and often instead of waiting to be ready.

Anyway — that's the dream. Realistically, if I keep studying at this pace, I'll be able to interview in English by the summer. If that works, everything else gets easier.

Notice the movement. Three imagined paragraphs, then the last one switches to the real — if I keep studying, I'll be able to. The dream is framed, and then a plan follows from it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for content, once for structures. Ask where the tenses change to the real world and why — the answer is that the speaker moves from wishing to planning.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست الكلام

1. ✓ Three or more second conditionals — If I ..., I'd ...
2. ✓ One I wish sentence
3. ✓ One If I were you or If I were my younger self
4. ✓ One negative — I wouldn't...
5. ✓ One switch to the real — a first conditional plan
6. ✓ No will or would inside any if-clause
7. ★ Audible 'd throughout — and a reason for at least one imagined result

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Item 5 is the Range discriminator; item 6 is the accuracy one.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- 'd — /aɪd/, present in every imagined result
- 'll against 'd — the minimal pair that carries real against unreal
- stressed wouldn't — the negative carries the meaning
- I wish I → /aɪ'wɪʃaɪ/ as one shape
- content-word stress — If I HAD more TIME

🎧 Record & compare the 'll/'d pair, then your weakest.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One personal target each, but run the 'll/'d pair with everyone — it is the sound this whole unit depends on.

🎤 YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse against the checklist with a partner, then record.

Talk about your dreams and hypotheticals in 8–10 sentences. Include three or more second conditionals, one wish, one piece of hypothetical advice, and one negative. Finish by switching to a real plan with if. Then answer one question.

🎧 Record it and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min recording + 3 feedback. Ask your follow-up unscripted — "What would be the first step?" — which conveniently pushes them back into the real conditional. Success check (Unit-5): a connected 8–10 sentence talk with correct second-conditional forms, one wish, one If I were you, a clean switch to a first conditional, no will/would in any if-clause, and audible 'd (rubric: Fluency + Accuracy + Range at B1). Name the achievement: they can now reason about both the real and the unreal. That is a major range gain and exactly the reassurance the plateau needs.

📄 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your dreams talk, ending with one real plan.
- Complete the Unit-5 quiz.
- Reverse-engineer one dream. Write the imagined version, then the first conditional that starts moving toward it. Keep both sentences where you can see them.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 5 WRAP)

- if + past, would + plain verb — the past form means unreal, not past.
- Likely → 'll. Imaginary → 'd. One sound, whole meaning.
- No will and no would inside an if-clause.
- If I were you, I'd... — advice as imagination, not instruction.
- wish + past = not true now; I wish I could · had · were.
- A wish names the gap; a first conditional crosses it.

✅ SELF-CHECK — UNIT 5 MINI-QUIZ

1. If I ___ (have) time, I'd help. → had
2. If I had money, I ___ travel. → would / 'd
3. If I ___ you, I'd wait. → were
4. I wish I ___ (can) drive. → could
5. I wish I ___ (have) more time. → had
6. If I would have money, I'd travel. → wrong; say If I had money
7. If I have a car, I would drive. → wrong; say If I had a car
8. Real or unreal: If it rains, I'll stay in. → real
9. Real or unreal: If it rained, I'd stay in. → unreal
10. Turn "I wish I spoke French" into a plan → If I study French daily, I'll improve

🎉 UNIT 5 COMPLETE — بقيت تفرّق بين الواقع والتمثيل

You can talk about what would happen if your life were different, advise someone by imagining yourself in their place, express what you wish were true — and then step back into the real world and make a plan.

Next → Unit 6: Relative Clauses. Who, which, that, where, whose — adding information inside one sentence, so your English stops being short and starts being rich. 🏰

Empire English 🏰 من الحلم للخطّة

STAGE 2 · UNIT 6

RELATIVE CLAUSES (DEFINING)

👑 UNIT 6 — RELATIVE CLAUSES (DEFINING)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 6 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit6-relative-clauses.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 6 you'll stop speaking in short sentences — define people, things and places inside one sentence, show possession, and describe your way around any word you cannot remember. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تضيف معلومة جوّه الجملة، فكلامك يبقى أغنى وأقل تقطيع.

Why this unit changes how advanced you sound: most learners at this point know enough words but still sound simple, because every sentence is short and separate. Relative clauses are the fastest available fix — one structure, and your sentences get visibly longer and richer.

ودي أوضح علامة على التقدم، لأنها بتسمع فوراً.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	who · which · that	join two sentences into one, defining people and things
L02	where · whose	places and possession — and where against which
L03	Dropping the pronoun	the film I saw — sound fluent by saying less
L04	Defining in detail	describe your way around any missing word
L05	Describe a person/place (milestone) 🎤	an 8–10 sentence description + record your milestone

Grammar spine: defining relative clauses — subject relatives (who/which/that), where and whose, and object relatives with the pronoun omitted. Accent Lab: saying each clause as one intonation group · unstressed relative pronouns · /hu:z/ for whose · /wer/ for where · no phantom pause where a dropped pronoun used to be. Mindset: upgrade your input diet — pick sources one notch above comfortable. Arabic support: ~12% through L01–L03, easing to ~10% for L04–L05.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-6 description — audibly longer, richer sentences than Unit 1.
- Circumlocution: the ability to keep talking when a word disappears.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. Frame the whole unit as sentence-joining, not as new grammar. Two short sentences become one longer one — which also answers the learner's why bother?

L01's error is the doubled subject: ❌ "a person who he helps people." The pronoun is the subject. Also watch clause placement — "The man has three dogs who lives next door" is funny and therefore memorable. Teach who/which as the precise forms and that as the natural spoken default. L02's trip-up is which for a place. Where already contains in which, so ❌ "the place where I live in" and ❌ "the place which I live" are both wrong — but "the city which I love" is right, because there is no preposition. Give them the test: does the sentence need in/at/on? Teach whose through the question whose ____? and note it takes a bare noun. L03 should not be over-drilled. The goal is natural speech, not a subject/object analysis. One test — another subject after the pronoun means you can drop it — plus many imitable examples. Say clearly that keeping it is never wrong, because learners get anxious about an invisible rule. And treat it as a listening skill first: learners stall on "the man I met" because they are waiting for a pronoun that never arrives. L04 is a fluency lesson in grammar clothing. The guessing game is the lesson — give Train its full ten minutes, because precision suddenly has a purpose beyond the teacher. Teach the natural ceiling of two clauses per sentence rather than rewarding maximum length. L05 is where you celebrate visible complexity. Put it beside a Unit-1 recording; sentence length and richness are the most audible progress markers in Stage 2, and this is the unit that produces them.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: who/which/that choice · where against which · whose · when the pronoun may be dropped · the doubled-subject error.
- Speaking task: the L05 description, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold) with an eye on Range.
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker and flags doubled subjects plus clause-grouping for the review queue.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → UNIT 7 — REPORTED SPEECH telling someone what another person said — say and tell, the tense backshift, and reported questions.

Empire English 🏰 · Stage 2 · Legionary rank · consistency beats intensity

WHO / WHICH / THAT — PEOPLE & THINGS

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 6 · Lesson 1 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: Unit 5 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit6-relative-clauses.md · S2-U6-L01

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: join two sentences with who, which or that · define people and things · say the clause as one intonation group. The error to hunt is the doubled subject: ❌ "A doctor is a person who he helps people." The relative pronoun is the subject — it replaces it. Once learners see the replacement, the extra pronoun disappears. Frame this as sentence-joining, not as new grammar. Two short sentences become one longer one. That framing also explains why to bother: relative clauses are the single fastest way to stop sounding like a list of short statements. This is a visible complexity win. Celebrate the longer sentences explicitly — learners hear their own English get richer in one lesson, which is rare and motivating on the plateau. That covers both people and things in defining clauses, and is the commonest choice in speech. Teach who/which as the precise forms, that as the natural default. Support: the joining card with two-sentence pairs. Stretch: define an abstract noun. Arabic ~12%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Join two sentences into one with who · which · that.
- Define a person or a thing precisely.
- Make your sentences longer without making them wrong. 🗣️

بتضيف معلومة جوه الجملة، فكلامك يبقى أغنى وأقل تقطيع.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Learners at this level often know enough words but still sound simple, because every sentence is short and separate. Relative clauses fix that in one structure: they let you attach information inside a sentence instead of starting a new one.

ودي أسرع طريقة تخلي جملك أطول وأنضف، من غير قواعد جديدة كتير.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

Describe three people in your family in one short sentence each. Notice how choppy it sounds.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Deliberately expose the problem this lesson solves. Learners should feel the shortness before the fix arrives.

 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Describing colleagues and things (📱 in the portal).

A: Who's the woman who was at the meeting yesterday? B: That's Nadia — she's the engineer who designed the new system. A: And the app that everyone keeps talking about, is that hers too? B: The one which won the award, yes. She's the kind of person who never mentions it. A: I need to meet her. B: She's the only person here that understands the old database.

Notice: each who / which / that introduces information that defines which person or thing is meant — not extra decoration, but the identifying detail.

English	بالعربي
the woman who was there	الست اللي كانت هناك
the engineer who designed it	المهندسة اللي صممته
the app that everyone talks about	الأبليكيشن اللي الكل بيتكلم عنه
the one which won	اللي كسب

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners identify the noun each clause defines. Point out that Arabic uses one word — اللي — where English chooses between three.

 DECODE IT — القاعدة

You are joining two sentences. The pronoun replaces the repeated noun.

I know a man. He repairs bikes. → I know a man who repairs bikes.

1) Which word to use:

Pronoun	For	Example
who	people	the doctor who helped me which	things and animals	the book which changed my mind
that	both — and the most common in speech	the person that called · the car that broke

2) The pronoun is the subject — do not add another one.

A teacher is someone who explains things. ✅ A teacher is someone who he explains things. ❌

⚠️ دي أشهر غلطة: إنك تضيف ضمير ثاني. كلمة who هي نفسها الفاعل، فمفيش داعي لـ he بعدها.

3) Put the clause immediately after the noun it defines.

The man who lives next door has three dogs. ✅ The man has three dogs who lives next door. ❌ —
now the dogs live next door

4) These clauses are defining — they answer which one? and take no commas:

The students who finished early left. — only those students

5) Useful definition frames:

A ___ is a person who ... · A ___ is a thing which ... · It's the kind of place that ...

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on joining pairs of sentences aloud, two on the doubled subject, two on clause placement.
The placement error is funny in examples and therefore memorable.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
the person who...	الشخص الذي...	the person who called
the thing which...	الحاجة التي...	the thing which broke
the one that...	الذي...	the one that works someone who...	حد...	someone who understands
the kind of person who...	نوع الناس الذي...	the kind of person who helps
A ____ is a person who...	ال... هو الذي...	A dentist is a person who... the only one that...	الوحيد الذي...	the only one that fits
everything that...	كل حاجة...	everything that happened

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the clause is one intonation group, not a new sentence.

The man who lives next door has three dogs.

Say it with a full stop before who and the sentence breaks. Say it as one flowing group with light edges and it holds together. This grouping is what makes long sentences sound easy rather than laboured.

Part 2 — who and that are weak. They are grammar words, so they get squeezed:

that → /ðæt/ · who → /hu/ — quick, unstressed

The stress goes on the verb inside the clause:

the person that CALLED me

Part 3 — which keeps its /w/ and its final /tʃ/ clean, or it blurs into the next word.

ولاحظ إن الجملة الطويلة بتبان سهلة لما تنطقها كوحدة واحدة، مش لما تقطعها.

 Record & compare: "She's the engineer who designed the system that everyone uses."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Model the broken version against the grouped version. Learners who master the grouping stop fearing long sentences, which matters more than any single form here.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — who or which?

1. the woman _____ works upstairs
2. the phone _____ I bought last year
3. the students _____ passed
4. the film _____ won the prize

Exercise 2 — join the sentences.

1. I have a friend. He speaks five languages. → _____
2. This is the book. It changed my life. → _____
3. She's the teacher. She taught me English. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. A nurse is a person who she looks after patients. → _____
2. The man has a dog who lives next door. → _____
3. I know someone which can help. → _____
4. The book who I read was long. → _____

Exercise 4 — define five things. Define these in one sentence each: a dentist · a fridge · a mechanic · a library · a passport.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: who · which · who · which. Ex3: drop she · move the clause after man · who/that · which/that. Ex4 is the fluency payoff — take answers around the room quickly.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Describe three people and two things in your life, each with a relative clause. Then define one job without naming it and let a partner guess.

 Record it.TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: correct pronoun choice, no doubled subject, clause placed right after its noun, and the clause delivered as one intonation group.

 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post three sentences with relative clauses about people you know.
- Upgrade one input source this week. Pick something one notch harder than your comfortable level — a podcast or article you almost understand. Relative clauses are everywhere in real English, and now you can hear them.

 REMEMBER — افكر

- who = people · which = things · that = both, and commonest in speech.
- The pronoun replaces the subject — never add another one.
- Put the clause right after the noun it defines.
- Defining clauses take no commas.
- Say the clause as one intonation group.

 SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) who · 2) which · 3) who · 4) which
- Ex2: 1) I have a friend who speaks five languages. · 2) This is the book which changed my life. · 3) She's the teacher who taught me English.
- Ex3: 1) ...a person who looks after patients. · 2) The man who lives next door has a dog. · 3) someone who can help · 4) The book which/that I read...

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: use where for places and whose for possession · choose between where and which correctly · describe your own world in detail. The trip-up is which for a place: ❌ "the place which I live." Where already contains in which, so nothing else is needed. Contrast the two directly — the place where I live against the place which I love — because both are correct with different structures underneath. Do not teach whose as possession in the abstract. Teach it as the answer to "whose?": the man whose car was stolen. One clear question makes it usable. whose* is not who's. They sound identical, which matters for writing only — mention it once, do not dwell. This lesson is where learners describe their own city, family and workplace. Personal content, so expect real engagement and let them talk. Support: the two-column where/whose card. Stretch: three sentences describing your city with both pronouns. Arabic ~12%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Describe places with where.
- Show possession with whose.
- Choose between where and which on purpose. 🎧

كلمة where جواها معنى "في"، فمش محتاج تزود حرف جر بعدها.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Now that you can define people and things, the two missing pieces are places and belonging — and those are exactly what you need to describe your own city, home and family, which is the most common thing anybody asks you about.

where للمكان، وwhose للملكية. وأهم نقطة إن where جواها معنى "في"، فمفيش حاجة تزود حرف جر بعدها. والاختبار: لو الجملة محتاجة "في" يبقى where.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01: three relative clauses with who and that, delivered as one intonation group each.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Keep the grouping habit alive — it transfers directly to today's longer clauses.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Describing a neighbourhood (📱 in the portal).

A: I grew up in a small town where everyone knew everyone. B: That sounds nice, actually. A: It was — but there was nothing to do. The café where we used to sit is a phone shop now. B: Do you remember the neighbour whose dog barked all night? A: How could I forget? And the family whose house had that huge tree? B: They moved to Alexandria. Their son is the one who became a doctor. A: It's strange going back to a place where nothing looks the same.

Notice: where introduces a place and never needs a preposition after it. Whose answers the question whose? — the neighbour's dog, the family's house.

English	بالعربي
a town where everyone knew everyone	بلد الكل فيها يعرف الكل
the café where we used to sit	الكافيه اللي كنا نقعد فيه
the neighbour whose dog barked	الجار اللي كلبه كان بينبح
the family whose house...	العيلة اللي بيتها...

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners note that no where clause contains in it or there. That absence is the rule.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

1) where = for places, and it already means in which.

This is the house where I was born. I work in an office where nobody talks.

Because where contains the preposition, you do not add one:

the town where I live ✅ the town where I live in ❌ the town which I live ❌ — which is not a place word here

خد بالك: where جواها "في". ماتقولش the place where I live in, ولا the place which I live ⚠️

2) But which is still right when the place is the object of the verb:

the city where I grew up	I grew up in it
the city which I love	I love it — no preposition needed

The test: does the sentence need in / at / on? If yes → where.

3) whose = possession, for people and sometimes things.

the man whose car was stolen — his car a book whose ending I hated — its ending

The question test: if you could ask "whose ____?", use whose.

4) whose is followed directly by the noun it belongs to — no the:

the woman whose son plays football ✅ · the woman whose the son... ❌

5) Spelling only: whose (possession) and who's (= who is) sound the same. In writing they are different words.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on where and the no-preposition rule, two on the where/which test, two on whose with the question test. Keep the who's note to fifteen seconds.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
the place where...	المكان الذي...	the place where we met
the house where I grew up	البيت الذي كبرت فيه	the house where I grew up
a country where...	بلد...	a country where it never rains
the man whose...	الرجل الذي...	the man whose car broke
the family whose...	العيلة التي...	the family whose house burned
the one whose name I forgot	الذي نسيت اسمه	the one whose name I forgot somewhere quiet	مكان هادي	somewhere quiet where I can read
the street where I live	الشارع الذي ساكن فيه	the street where I live

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — whose is /hu:z/, with a clear long vowel and a voiced /z/:

whose → /hu:z/ — not /hoʊs/, and the final sound is z, not s

Say whose · shoes · lose — same vowel, same ending.

Part 2 — where is /wer/, and the /w/ must be there:

where → /wer/ — round the lips first; without the /w/ it collapses toward air

Part 3 — the grouping from L01, over a longer clause. These clauses tend to be longer, so the pause discipline matters more:

I grew up in a small town ☒ where everyone knew everyone.

Part 4 — keep where and whose unstressed. The stress falls on the noun or verb that follows:

the man whose CAR was stolen · the town where I GREW UP

Record & compare: "I grew up in a town where everyone knew the family whose house had the big tree."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on /hu:z/ — the /z/ is genuinely often wrong — one on /wer/, two on grouping the longer clause.

TRAIN — تَدْرِبْ

Exercise 1 — where or whose?

1. the restaurant _____ we had dinner
2. the student _____ phone rang
3. a city _____ the buses are free
4. the author _____ books I collect

Exercise 2 — join the sentences.

1. That's the school. I studied there. → _____
2. I met a woman. Her brother is famous. → _____
3. This is the café. We first met here. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. the town where I live in → _____
2. the place which I was born → _____
3. the man who's car was stolen → _____
4. the woman whose the son plays football → _____

Exercise 4 — describe your world. Four sentences: your street, your city, one relative, one neighbour — using where twice and whose twice.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: where · whose · where · whose. Ex3: drop in · where I was born · whose · drop the. Ex4 is personal and usually generates the best language of the lesson.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Describe two places that matter to you with where, and two people with whose.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: no preposition after where, correct where/which choice if both appear, whose + bare noun, and /hu:z/ with a voiced ending.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post four sentences describing your street, your city and two people.
- Describe your world in English out loud this week. Your building, your route, your family. Familiar content plus a new structure is the easiest kind of practice there is.

REMEMBER — افكر

- where = for places, and it already means in which — add no preposition.
- Use which when the place is the object: the city which I love.
- whose = possession; test it with the question whose ___?
- whose is followed by a bare noun — no the.
- /hu:z/ with a z; /wer/ with a real w.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) where · 2) whose · 3) where · 4) whose
- Ex2: 1) That's the school where I studied. · 2) I met a woman whose brother is famous. · 3) This is the café where we first met.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: recognise object relative clauses · drop the pronoun where English allows it · deliver the reduced clause smoothly. Do not over-drill the rule. The goal is natural-sounding speech, not a subject/object analysis learners can recite. Model many examples and let them imitate; the pattern is absorbed far faster than it is explained. The one-line test is enough: if another subject follows the pronoun, you can drop it. The film I saw — I is there, so that is optional. The film that won — nothing follows but the verb, so that must stay. Nothing is ever wrong by keeping it. Say that explicitly, because learners get anxious about a rule they cannot see. Dropping it sounds more fluent; keeping it is always correct. This is a listening problem before it is a speaking one. Learners often fail to parse "the man I met" because they are waiting for a pronoun that never comes. Practise hearing it too. Support: paired sentences with and without the pronoun. Stretch: a short description using three reduced clauses. Arabic ~12%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Hear and understand "the film I saw" without hesitating.
- Drop the pronoun where English drops it.
- Sound more fluent by saying less. 🗣️

ساعات الإنجليزي بيشيل الكلمة الرابطة خالص، وده بيخلي الكلام أسرع وأطيع.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

This is one of the few places where removing something makes your English better. Native speakers drop the pronoun constantly, so you need it twice: to sound natural when you speak, and — more urgently — to understand people when they do it to you.

ولو مستني كلمة رابطة وهي مش جاية، ذهنك بيتوقف.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01–L02: three relative clauses with who, that and where.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Full clauses first. Today's lesson only makes sense against them.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Talking about a weekend (📞 in the portal).

A: Did you like the film we saw? B: The one you chose? Honestly, no. A: Why not? Everyone I know loved it. B: It was too long. The book I read last year was much better. A: That's the thing I don't understand about you — you always prefer the book. B: Because the book has the parts they cut. Anyway, the restaurant you booked was excellent. A: See? Something I chose worked.

Notice what is missing. The film we saw. Everyone I know. The book I read. There is no that or which anywhere — and every sentence is completely correct.

English	بالعربي
the film we saw	الفيلم اللي شوفناه
everyone I know	كل اللي أعرفهم
the book I read	الكتاب اللي قرأته
the restaurant you booked	المطعم اللي حجزته

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners insert that into three of the lines and confirm the meaning is unchanged. Both versions are correct — that is the reassurance they need.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

One test: is there another subject right after the pronoun?

	Test	Pronoun
the film (that) I saw	I follows → yes	optional
the film that won	only a verb follows	required

1) When you can drop it — the noun is the object of the clause:

the man (who) I met · the book (that) she wrote · the thing (which) we need

2) When you cannot — the noun is the subject of the clause:

the man who lives here ✓ · the man lives here ✗ — now it is just a sentence the bus that goes to town ✓

⚠️ الفرق في سطر: لو بعد الكلمة الرابطة فاعل ثاني، تقدر تشيلها.

3) Keeping it is never wrong.

the film that I saw ✓ correct, slightly more careful the film I saw ✓ correct, more natural

4) where and whose are not dropped. They carry meaning that nothing else supplies:

the place where I live — where stays.

5) Watch the double-object trap. Do not leave the old object behind:

the film I saw ✓ · the film I saw it ✗

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the test, two on many spoken examples for imitation, one on "keeping it is fine", one on the leftover-object error. Resist a full subject/object grammar lecture.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
the film I saw	الفيلم اللي شوفته	The film I saw was long. everyone I know	كل اللي أعرفهم	Everyone I know agrees. the thing I like most	أحب حاجة عندي	The thing I like most is... something I need	حاجة محتاجها	There's something I need. the person you mentioned	الشخص اللي ذكرته	the person you mentioned nothing I said	مفيش حاجة قلتها	Nothing I said helped.
the way you do it	الطريقة اللي بتعملها	I like the way you do it.
all I want	كل اللي عايزه	All I want is coffee.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the reduced clause has no pause at all. With the pronoun gone, the two nouns run straight together:

the film we saw → the-film-we-saw — one smooth group, no gap where that used to be

Learners often leave a small silence where the pronoun was. That silence is what makes it sound hesitant rather than fluent.

Part 2 — the stress pattern tells the listener what is happening:

the FILM we SAW — two beats, everything else squeezed

Part 3 — train the ear, not just the mouth. Listen for these shapes; they are extremely common and easy to miss:

the guy I work with · the thing you said · the place we went · everything I do

Record & compare: "The film we saw was worse than the book I read."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes eliminating the phantom pause, one on stress, two on listening. Say the four phrases at natural speed and have learners repeat immediately — imitation beats explanation here.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — can the pronoun be dropped? Yes or no.

1. the woman who called me
2. the woman who I called
3. the bus that goes to the airport
4. the bus that I take every day

Exercise 2 — remove the pronoun where possible.

1. the letter that she sent → _____
2. the man who lives upstairs → _____
3. the food which we ordered → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. The film I saw it was long. → _____
2. The man lives next door is friendly. → _____
3. the place I live in it → _____

Exercise 4 — describe. Three sentences about things in your week, all with the pronoun dropped: something you watched, someone you met, something you bought.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: no · yes · no · yes. Ex2: the letter she sent · cannot drop · the food we ordered. Ex3: drop it · restore who · the place where I live. Ex1 is the diagnostic and worth doing aloud together.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Describe three things from your week using reduced clauses, then say one of them again with the pronoun put back.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: correct dropping only where allowed, no leftover object pronoun, no phantom pause, and awareness that both versions are acceptable.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post three sentences with the pronoun dropped.
- Natural beats perfect. This structure is one of the clearest signs of a speaker who has stopped translating. Use it even when the careful version feels safer.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Test: another subject after the pronoun → you can drop it.
- the film I saw ✅ · the film that won — that must stay.
- Keeping it is never wrong; dropping it sounds more fluent.
- where and whose are never dropped.
- Never leave the old object behind: ❌ the film I saw it.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) no · 2) yes · 3) no · 4) yes
- Ex2: 1) the letter she sent · 2) not possible · 3) the food we ordered
- Ex3: 1) The film I saw was long. · 2) The man who lives next door... · 3) the place where I live

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 5 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 10 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 1. Objectives: combine all the defining relatives in extended description · sustain clause grouping across longer sentences · define something precisely enough for someone to identify it. The guessing game is the lesson. Definition-and-guess makes relative clauses genuinely communicative: the learner must be precise or the partner cannot guess, so accuracy has a purpose beyond the teacher. Give Train the full ten minutes. This is a fluency lesson wearing a grammar lesson's clothes. Prioritise smooth, longer sentences over perfect pronoun choice, and correct patterns afterwards. Watch for over-stacking. Two relative clauses in one sentence is impressive; three usually collapses. Teach the natural limit rather than rewarding maximum length. Support: the pronoun card plus a definition frame. Stretch: define an abstract idea — patience · a deadline · homesickness. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Define anything precisely enough for someone to guess it.
- Combine who · which · that · where · whose naturally.
- Keep long sentences smooth. 🎙️

بقيت تقدر توصف حاجة بدقة لحد ما اللي قصادك يعرفها.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

When you do not know a word — which happens constantly, at every level — you have two options: stop, or define your way around it. That skill is called circumlocution, and it is one of the most practical things an intermediate learner can own. It is built almost entirely from relative clauses.

ودي مهارة عملية: لو الكلمة ضاعت، وّصفها.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

One clause each with who, which, where and whose — four fast sentences.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. All four pronouns must be live before they are combined.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Someone describing a word they cannot remember (🗨️ in the portal).

A: What's the word for the thing that you use to open a bottle of wine? B: A corkscrew? A: That's it. And the shop where you buy medicine? B: A pharmacy. A: Right. I was talking to a man whose job is to fix those machines which print bank cards, and I couldn't remember any of the words. B: You managed, though. You described everything. A: That's the trick, isn't it? If you don't know a word, you describe the thing it does.

Notice: she never gets stuck. Each time a word is missing, she builds a definition instead — the thing that you use to... · the shop where you buy... · the man whose job is to...

English	بالعربي
the thing that you use to...	الحاجة اللي بتستخدمها عشان...
the shop where you buy...	الدكان اللي بتشتري منه...
the man whose job is...	الراجل اللي شغلته...
I couldn't remember the word.	مش قادر أفكر الكلمة

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners note the three definition frames. Those frames are the takeaway tool, more than any pronoun rule.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Three frames cover almost any definition.

Frame	For	Example
a person who ...	people and jobs	A vet is a person who treats animals.
a thing / something that ...	objects	It's a thing that keeps food cold.
a place where ...	places	It's a place where you borrow books.

And two extras when you need them:

...whose job is to... · the one which ...

1) Add a purpose with you use ... to:

It's a thing that you use to cut paper. — scissors

2) Stack two clauses when one is not enough — but stop at two:

It's the shop where you buy medicine that stays open all night. ✅ Three clauses in one sentence normally collapses; start a new sentence instead.

خد بالك: جملة فيها وصفين كفاية. لو زودت التالت، المعنى بيتوه. ⚠️

3) The escape sentence, worth memorising. When a word vanishes mid-conversation:

Sorry — what's the word for the thing that...?

That single sentence keeps you in the conversation instead of stopping it.

4) Precision is the goal. "A thing that you use" defines nothing. Add the purpose, the place, or the material.TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Keep it short — the three frames plus the escape sentence. Train is where the learning happens today.

✂ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
It's a thing that...	حاجة بـ...	It's a thing that cuts paper.
It's a person who...	شخص بـ...	It's a person who fixes cars.
It's a place where...	مكان بـ...	It's a place where you eat.
You use it to...	بتستخدمه عشان...	You use it to open bottles.
What's the word for...?	إيه الكلمة بتاعة...؟	What's the word for...?
the one whose job is...	اللي شغلته...	the man whose job is fixing them something like...	حاجة زي...	It's something like a spoon.
the opposite of...	عكس...	It's the opposite of empty.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Longer sentences need grouping, not slowing. The way to sound fluent across a long sentence is to break it into groups, keeping each group fast:

It's the shop ☒ where you buy medicine ☒ that stays open all night.

Three groups, each quick, with light edges. Learners who instead slow the whole sentence down sound laboured; the speed is fine, the grouping is what was missing.

Keep the relative pronouns unstressed — they are signposts, not content:

the thing that you USE to CUT paper

And keep /hʊz/ and /wer/ clean under the extra length, since they are the first things to blur when a sentence grows.

🎧 Record & compare: "It's a place where you buy medicine that's open late."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Demonstrate slow-and-flat against fast-and-grouped. This is the clearest fluency lever available in the unit.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — define these in one sentence each.

1. a dentist 2. an umbrella 3. a library 4. a mechanic 5. a fridge 6. a passport

Exercise 2 — guessing game. Define something without naming it; your partner guesses. Three rounds each. Use a different pronoun every time.

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. It's a place where you can buy medicine there. → _____
2. A vet is a person which treats animals. → _____
3. It's a thing that you use it to cut paper. → _____

Exercise 4 — define an abstract idea. Try one: a deadline · patience · homesickness · a bargain.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~10 min. Give Ex2 at least five minutes — it is the heart of the lesson. Ex3: drop there · who/that · drop it. Ex4 stretches strong learners without extra input.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Define four things without naming them — a job, an object, a place and a person you know. Make each precise enough to guess.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: four different frames used, precise enough to identify, at most two clauses per sentence, and grouped delivery.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post three definitions and let the group guess.
- Use the escape sentence when a word disappears — "what's the word for the thing that...?"
Stopping is the only real failure; describing your way around a gap is what fluent speakers do constantly.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Three frames: a person who · a thing that · a place where.
 - Add purpose with you use it to...*
 - Two clauses per sentence is the practical limit.
 - Never repeat the object or the place: ❌ *...that you use it · ❌ ...where you buy there.
 - Group long sentences; do not slow them down.

SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex1 (models): 1) a person who treats teeth · 3) a place where you borrow books · 6) a document that lets you travel
 - Ex3: 1) drop there · 2) a person who treats animals · 3) drop it

UNIT SPEAKING TASK: "DESCRIBE A PERSON / PLACE WHO / THAT..." (+ REVIEW)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 6 · Lesson 5 — UNIT MILESTONE 🕒 ~40 min · 📞 Recorded + live (assessment-style) · Prerequisite: L01–L04 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit6-relative-clauses.md · S2-U6-L05

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 5 · Rehearse 8 · Record 5 · Feedback 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: describe a person and a place in extended detail using defining relative clauses · sustain clause grouping across a longer turn · answer questions about the description. Relative clauses raise sentence complexity visibly, so celebrate it. Put a Unit-1 recording beside this one: the same learner, noticeably longer and richer sentences. That is a concrete, audible answer to the plateau. Score length-with-control, not maximum length. Two well-formed clauses in a flowing sentence beats four stacked into a collapse. Range on the rubric means appropriate variety, not volume. The doubled subject is still the error to watch under load — ❌ "my uncle who he owns a shop". Note the pattern; do not interrupt. Support: the pronoun card + the checklist. Stretch: include one reduced clause and one whose. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Describe a person and a place in 8–10 connected sentences.
- Use at least four different relative pronouns.
- Keep long sentences smooth rather than slow.
- Record your Unit-6 milestone. 🎤

جملك بقت أطول وأغنى، وده أوضح دليل على إنك اتقدمت.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: a who clause → a which clause → a where clause → a whose clause → one clause with the pronoun dropped.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast, no repeats. The fifth item checks L03, which learners often avoid under pressure.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model description (📄 in the portal).

The person I want to describe is my aunt Hoda, who raised four children on a teacher's salary and still found time to argue with everyone about politics. She's the kind of person who notices when you've gone quiet. She lives in the flat where my father grew up, in a building whose lift has been broken since roughly 2009.

The place I'd choose is a café that used to be a bookshop, about ten minutes from her flat. It's the place where I did most of my studying, mainly because it's the only one nearby that has decent light and doesn't play music. The owner is a man whose memory is unbelievable — he still remembers the order I used to have three years ago.

The thing I like most about both of them is the same thing: they pay attention.

Notice: six relative clauses, one reduced clause (the order I used to have), and every sentence still easy to follow — because each clause is grouped rather than crammed.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for content, once to count clauses. Ask why it does not feel complicated: the answer is grouping and a maximum of two clauses per sentence.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست الوصف

1. ✅ Describe one person and one place
2. ✅ Use who and which or that
3. ✅ Use where
4. ✅ Use whose
5. ✅ One clause with the pronoun dropped — the thing I like most
6. ✅ Clauses placed right after their noun, with no doubled subject
7. ★ One sentence with two clauses — grouped, not crammed
8. ★ Answer one question about your description

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Item 5 is the fluency marker; item 6 is the accuracy one.

🎤 ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- clause grouping — one group per clause, each kept fast
- unstressed pronouns — who · that · which are signposts, not content
- /hu:z/ — whose, with a voiced ending
- /wer/ — where, with a real /w/
- no phantom pause where a dropped pronoun used to be

🎧 Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One personal target each. Grouping is the priority: it is what makes the added complexity sound effortless instead of laboured.

🎤 YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse against the checklist with a partner, then record.

Describe one person and one place that matter to you, in 8–10 sentences. Use at least four different relative pronouns and one clause with the pronoun dropped. Then answer one question about them.

🎤 Record it and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min recording + 3 feedback. Ask your follow-up unscripted — "What would you change about that place?" — which conveniently also samples Unit 5. Success check (Unit-6): a connected 8–10 sentence description with at least four pronouns used correctly, one reduced clause, correct clause placement, no doubled subject, and grouped delivery (rubric: Fluency + Accuracy + Range at B1). Name the win: compare against a Unit-1 recording where available. Sentence complexity is the most audible progress marker in the whole stage.

📄 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your description.
- Complete the Unit-6 quiz.
- Keep the upgraded input source going. You started that in L01. Relative clauses are everywhere in real English — now that you can build them, you will start hearing them constantly, which is how they become automatic.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 6 WRAP)

- who people · which things · that both · where places · whose possession.
- The pronoun replaces the subject — never add another one.
- Clause goes right after its noun; defining clauses take no commas.
- Drop the pronoun when another subject follows it — and keeping it is never wrong.
- where already means in which; whose takes a bare noun.
- Group long sentences instead of slowing them.

✅ SELF-CHECK — UNIT 6 MINI-QUIZ

1. the woman ___ called me → who / that
2. the book ___ I read → which / that (or nothing)
3. the café ___ we met → where
4. the man ___ car broke down → whose
5. A vet is a person who ___ treats animals. → wrong; drop he
6. the town where I live ___ → wrong; drop in
7. Can you drop the pronoun in the film that I saw? → yes
8. Can you drop it in the film that won? → no
9. the place which I was born → wrong; say where I was born
10. Maximum comfortable clauses in one sentence → two

🎉 UNIT 6 COMPLETE — جملك بقت أغنى

You can now define people, things and places precisely, show possession, drop the pronoun where English drops it, and describe your way around any word you cannot remember.

Next → Unit 7: Reported Speech. Telling somebody what another person said — and what happens to the tenses when you do. 🏰

Empire English 🏰 — جمل أطول، وتحت السيطرة

STAGE 2 · UNIT 7

REPORTED SPEECH (INTRO)

👑 UNIT 7 — REPORTED SPEECH (INTRO)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 7 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit7-reported-speech.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 7 you'll pass on what other people said — statements, questions, requests and advice, with the right verb and the right word order. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تنقل كلام الناس، مش بس تحكي كلامك.

Why this unlocks a lot of speaking: half of ordinary conversation is repeating what somebody else said. And the content already exists — you are not inventing anything, only re-shaping it. That makes this the cheapest speaking practice available at B1.

والحلو إن الكلام موجود أصلاً. إنت بس بتنقله، فالتدريب بيبقى أسهل.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	say vs tell	one rule: tell needs a person, say doesn't
L02	Backshift	move the tense one step back — and know when not to
L03	Reported questions	statement order · no do · no question mark
L04	Requests & advice	asked me to · told me not to — no tense shift at all
L05	Report a conversation (milestone) 🎙️	an 8–10 sentence report + record your milestone

Grammar spine: say against tell · the backshift set · reported yes/no and wh- questions · reporting with to + infinitive. Accent Lab: weak that /ðæt/ · told me / told him linking with a disappearing /h/ · /æskt/ as one syllable · the falling tune of a reported question · weak to /tə/ with a stressed not. Mindset: the output ramp — say slightly more than feels comfortable, every session. Arabic support: ~12% through L01–L03, easing to ~10% for L04–L05.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-7 reported conversation — a real narrative skill, not a grammar exercise.
- A daily practice habit that needs no preparation: re-tell what you were told.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. L01 is the foundation — do not rush it. Every later lesson sits on a reporting frame, so a shaky say/tell choice contaminates the whole unit. The two classic errors are mirror images (✗ said me / ✗ told that) and one rule fixes both, so drill them as a pair. Teach that as optional; learners who think it is required sound stilted. L02 must not demand perfection. The B1 target is the main shifts only: present→past and will→would. Chasing every modal produces learners who stop reporting rather than learners who report well. Say plainly that native speakers often keep the present when the fact is still true — "She said she lives in Cairo" is normal. And watch pronouns and time words, which are forgotten more often than tenses. L03 carries the unit's top error: ✗ "She asked me where do I live." Anchor it hard — a reported question is a statement. Give the two-step procedure (link word, then statement order); learners who follow it in that order succeed. The falling tune is diagnostic: a rise means they are still thinking of it as a question. /æskt/ is genuinely difficult and worth its own drill. L04 is the confidence lift, so schedule it as one. There is no tense shift — just verb + person + to + base. Learners who struggled with L02 need this win. The real content is that the verb carries the force: asked · told · advised · warned · reminded. Note that not takes a beat, because swallowing it reverses the instruction. L05 scores followability, not flawless backshift. The one item to hold the line on is word order in reported questions.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: say against tell · the main backshift shifts · reported question word order · to and not to patterns · choosing a reporting verb for force.
- Speaking task: the L05 reported conversation, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold).
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker and flags reported-question word order plus /æskt/ for the review queue.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → UNIT 8 — THE PASSIVE (INTRO)

describing processes, facts and results — and saying who did it only when it matters.

Empire English 🏰 · Stage 2 · Legionary rank · consistency beats intensity

SAY VS TELL

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 7 · Lesson 1 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: Unit 6 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit7-reported-speech.md · S2-U7-L01

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: choose between say and tell · use tell with a person and say without one · build reporting frames fluently. Two classic errors, and they are mirror images: ❌ "She said me" and ❌ "She told that...". One rule fixes both — tell* needs a person; say does not. Drill them as a pair, never separately. This is the foundation of the whole unit. Every lesson from here builds on a reporting frame, so a shaky say/tell choice will contaminate L02–L05. Spend the time now. Teach that as optional. "She said (that) she was tired" — both are correct, and dropping it is more natural in speech. Learners who think it is required sound stilted. Support: the two-column frame card. Stretch: report three things using a different reporting verb each time. Arabic ~12%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Choose say or tell without thinking.
- Report what somebody said to you.
- Drop that the way people actually do. 🗣️

القاعدة كلها في سطر: tell محتاجة شخص، و say لا.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Half of ordinary conversation is repeating what somebody else said — a colleague, a doctor, a message from your mother. Without reporting verbs you can only quote directly, which sounds childish and quickly becomes impossible in a long story.

والغلطتين المشهورتين: حد يقول she said me، وحد يقول she told that.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

Quote three things somebody said to you today, using their exact words.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Direct quotes only. This exposes how limited quoting is, which motivates the reporting frame.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Passing on messages (📱 in the portal).

A: Did you speak to Mona? B: Yes. She said she'd be late. A: Did she say why? B: She told me the metro was closed. And she told everyone the meeting is moving to three. A: She didn't tell me that. B: She said she'd message the group. Actually — she told me to remind you. A: Well, now you have.

Notice the pattern. Said appears alone. Told always has a person straight after it — told me, told everyone. Not once is it the other way round.

English	بالعربي
She said she'd be late.	قالت إنها هتتأخر
She told me the metro was closed.	قالتلي المترو مقفول
Did she say why?	قالت السبب؟
She didn't tell me.	ماقالتليش

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners circle the word right after every told. It is always a person — let them find the rule.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

One rule.

Verb	Needs a person?	Frame
say	no	She said (that) she was tired.
tell	yes	She told me (that) she was tired.

⚠️ الغلطتين: She said me غلط لأن say مش بتاخذ شخص. و She told that غلط لأن tell لازم شخص قبل الجملة.

1) The correct four:

She said she was busy. ✅ She told me she was busy. ✅ She said me she was busy. ❌ She told she was busy. ❌

2) that is optional — and usually dropped in speech:

He said (that) he'd call. · He told me (that) he'd call.

3) Fixed expressions with tell that do not follow the pattern — learn them whole:

tell a story · tell the truth · tell a lie · tell the time · tell the difference

4) Fixed expressions with say:

say sorry · say hello · say goodbye · say a word · say nothing

5) The useful negative and question forms:

She didn't tell me. · Did she say why?

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on the rule and the correct-four contrast, two on optional that, two on the fixed expressions. Drill orally: give a sentence with one verb, ask for the same meaning with the other.

✂️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
She said (that)...	قالت إن...	She said she was tired.
He told me (that)...	قال لي إن...	He told me he was busy.
Did she say why?	قالت ليه؟	Did she say why?
She didn't tell me.	ما قالت لي شي	She didn't tell me anything.
tell the truth	يقول الحق	Tell me the truth.
tell a story	يحكي حكاية	He told us a story.
say sorry	يعتذر	He didn't say sorry.
according to...	على حسب كلام...	According to Mona, it's closed.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — that is weak, when you use it at all.

that → /ðət/ — quick, unstressed, the vowel almost gone

She said that she was tired.

Part 2 — told me links into one shape:

told me → tol-dmee — the /d/ runs straight into the /m/ told him → tol-dim — the /h/ usually disappears entirely

That /h/ dropping is worth hearing: "told him" really does sound like "toldim" in natural speech.

Part 3 — the reporting frame is unstressed; the message carries the beat.

She told me the metro was CLOSED.

If learners stress told me, the sentence sounds like an accusation rather than information.

Record & compare: "She told me she'd be late, but she didn't say why."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on weak that, two on the told me/told him linking, one on frame stress. The /h/-dropping is a listening gain as much as a speaking one.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — say or tell?

1. She _____ me she was tired.
2. He _____ he would call later.
3. Did they _____ you the price?
4. Nobody _____ anything.
5. Please _____ me the truth.
6. He didn't _____ sorry.

Exercise 2 — rewrite with the other verb.

1. She said she was leaving. → (tell + me) _____
2. He told me he'd finished. → (say) _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. She said me she was busy. → _____
2. He told that he was late. → _____
3. She told to me the answer. → _____
4. Can you say me the time? → _____

Exercise 4 — pass it on. Report three real things people said to you this week — use say twice and tell once.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: told · said · tell · said · tell · say. Ex3: told me · told me that · drop to · tell me the time. Ex3.4 is a good one — tell the time is a fixed expression, so say is impossible.

 YOUR TURN — دورك

Report three things people said to you recently. Use told me at least once and said at least once.

 Record it.
TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: tell always with a person, say never with one, at least one dropped that, and an unstressed reporting frame.

 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post two reported sentences — one with said, one with told me.
- Ramp your output. Say slightly more than feels comfortable each session — one extra sentence, one extra detail. Reporting what others said is the easiest way to add length, because the content is already there.

 REMEMBER — افكر

- tell* needs a person. say does not.

- She said she was tired. · She told me she was tired.
 - ❌ said me · ❌ told that
 - that is optional — and usually dropped in speech.
 - Fixed: tell the truth · tell a story · say sorry · say hello.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 4 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: shift the tense back when reporting · handle the main shifts reliably · adjust pronouns and time words. Do not demand perfect backshift. The B1 target is the main shifts — present→past and will→would. Chasing every modal produces learners who stop reporting at all rather than learners who report accurately. Reassure them explicitly: native speakers often keep the present when the fact is still true — "She said she lives in Cairo" is entirely normal. Teaching backshift as an absolute rule creates anxiety and is also inaccurate. Pronouns and time words shift too, and learners forget them more often than tenses: "I'll see you tomorrow" reported the next week becomes "he said he'd see me the next day." Five shifts are enough for this lesson. Put them on a card and drill those only. Support: the shift card stays visible. Stretch: report a three-line exchange with pronouns and time words adjusted. Arabic ~12% — the backshift idea glossed once.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Move the tense one step back when you report.
- Handle is → was, do → did, will → would, can → could.
- Fix the pronouns and time words too. 🗣️

لما تنقل كلام حد، الزمن بيرجع خطوة لورا.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

When you report, the moment of speaking has already passed — so English pulls the tense backwards to mark that distance. Once you see it as one step back rather than a list of pairs, most of it becomes predictable.

وخذ بالك: الضمائر وكلمات الوقت بتتغير كمان.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01: three reported sentences with said and told me — no tense changes yet.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Frames must be automatic before the tense shifts are added on top.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Reporting a phone call (📞 in the portal).

A: What did the doctor say? B: He said the results were fine. He told me I needed to rest for a week.

A: Did he say anything about the medication? B: He said he would send a prescription, and that I could stop the tablets. A: So what did you say? B: I told him I was feeling much better. He said that was normal — but he also said I shouldn't go back to the gym yet.

Notice the shift. The doctor actually said "the results are fine · you need to rest · I will send · you can stop." Reported, every one of those moved one step back.

Direct	Reported
are	were
need	needed
will	would
can	could

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners reconstruct the doctor's original words. Working backwards makes the shift concrete.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Everything moves one step back.

Direct speech	→	Reported present simple — works	→	past simple — worked
am / is	→	was
are	→	were
past simple — worked	→	past perfect — had worked
will	→	would
can	→	could

⚠️ الفكرة: الزمن يرجع خطوة واحدة لورا، لأن لحظة الكلام خلصت.

1) The five you actually need at B1 are the shaded ones above: is→was · are→were · present→past · will→would · can→could. Master those and you can report almost anything.

2) Pronouns change with the speaker.

"I lost my keys," said Ali. → Ali said he'd lost his keys.

3) Time and place words change too:

Direct	Reported
today	that day
tomorrow	the next day
yesterday	the day before
now	then
here	there

4) An honest exception, and a common one. If the fact is still true, speakers often keep the present:

She said she lives in Cairo. ✅ perfectly normal — she still does She said she lived in Cairo. ✅ also correct

Do not worry about which. Both are used.

5) Some things never shift: would · could · should · might are already back, so they stay.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on the shift table — five items only — two on pronouns and time words, two on the still-true exception. That exception prevents over-correction later.

 YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
He said he was...	قال إنه كان...	He said he was tired.
She told me she had...	قالتلي إنها...	She told me she had finished.
He said he would...	قال إنه هـ...	He said he would call.
She said she could...	قالت إنها تقدر...	She said she could help. the next day	تاني يوم	He said he'd come the next day.
the day before	اليوم اللي قبله	She said she'd seen it the day before. apparently	على ما يبدو	Apparently, it's closed.
that's what he said	ده اللي قاله	That's what he said.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the reporting frame is fast and flat; the reported content carries the meaning.

He said the results were FINE. She told me she'd FINISHED.

Part 2 — would and had reduce to 'd, and they sound identical.

he'd call* = he would call he'd* finished* = he had finished*

Context tells them apart: 'd + base verb is would; 'd + participle is had. Learners need this for listening more than for speaking.

Part 3 — keep the past endings clean under the extra length of a reported sentence:

needed /ɪd/ · worked /t/ · finished /t/

Record & compare: "He said the results were fine and he'd send a prescription."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes on frame-versus-content stress, two on the 'd ambiguity. The second is a genuine comprehension unlock.

TRAIN — تَدْرِبْ

Exercise 1 — report it.

1. "I'm tired." → He said _____
2. "We work here." → They said _____
3. "I'll call you." → She said _____
4. "I can swim." → He said _____
5. "I don't like coffee." → She told me _____

Exercise 2 — work backwards. What were the original words?

1. He said he was busy. → _____
2. She told me she would come. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. He said he will call me. → _____
2. She told me she is tired. (she isn't anymore) → _____
3. He said he can help. → _____
4. "I'll see you tomorrow," he said. → He said he'd see me tomorrow. → _____

Exercise 4 — report a real conversation. Three things somebody told you this week, with the tenses shifted.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: he was tired · they worked there · she would call me · he could swim · she didn't like coffee. Ex3: would call · was tired · could help · the next day. Ex3.4 targets the time word, which is the most-forgotten shift.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Report four things people told you this week, shifting the tense each time. Include one would and one could.

 Record it.TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: the main shifts applied, pronouns adjusted, at least one correct time word, and an unstressed reporting frame. Do not penalise a retained present tense where the fact is still true.

 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post three reported sentences with the tenses shifted.
- Mistakes are data. Report anyway. A reported sentence with one wrong tense still communicates; silence communicates nothing, and teaches you nothing either.

 REMEMBER — افكر

- Reporting moves the tense one step back.
- The five that matter: is→was · are→were · present→past · will→would · can→could.
- Pronouns and time words shift too: tomorrow → the next day.
- If the fact is still true, keeping the present is fine.
- would · could · should · might do not shift.

 SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) he was tired · 2) they worked there · 3) she would call me · 4) he could swim · 5) she didn't like coffee
- Ex2: 1) "I'm busy." · 2) "I'll come."
- Ex3: 1) he would call · 2) she was tired · 3) he could help · 4) ...the next day

REPORTED QUESTIONS

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 7 · Lesson 3 ⌚ ~35 min · 📞 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01–L02 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit7-reported-speech.md · S2-U7-L03

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 4 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: report yes/no questions with if or whether · report wh- questions in statement order · drop the auxiliary do. The top error in the unit is keeping question order: ❌ "She asked me where do I live." Drill the anchor relentlessly — a reported question is a statement. No inversion, no do, no question mark. Give them the two-step procedure. 1) Choose the link word: if/whether for yes/no, the wh- word otherwise. 2) Then write a statement. Learners who follow those two steps in order get it right; learners who translate get it wrong. The intonation must fall. It is no longer a question, so a rising tune contradicts the grammar and is a reliable sign the learner is still thinking of it as a question. Support: the two-step card. Stretch: report a four-question exchange in one turn. Arabic ~12%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Report yes/no questions with if or whether.
- Report wh- questions in statement order.
- Stop saying "she asked me where do I live." 🗣️

السؤال المنقول بيتحول لجملة عادية: مفيش قلب، ومفيش do، ومفيش علامة استفهام.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Reporting questions is how you re-tell an interview, a phone call, a doctor's appointment, or an argument. It is also the single most error-prone structure in this unit — and the errors are very audible, because the word order is visibly wrong.

والمنقول جملة، مش سؤال.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L02: three reported statements with the tense shifted.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Statements first, because that is exactly what a reported question becomes.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Reporting a job interview (📞 in the portal).

A: How did it go? What did they ask you? B: They asked me why I wanted the job — the obvious one.
A: And? B: They asked me if I had any experience with their software, and whether I could start in March.
A: Did they ask about salary? B: They asked me what I was earning now, which I thought was a bit direct. Then the second one asked me where I had studied and how long I had been at my current company.
A: That's a lot of questions. B: I asked them when they would decide. They said Friday.

Notice: every reported question reads like a statement — why I wanted · if I had · what I was earning · when they would decide. There is no inversion and no do anywhere.

Direct	Reported
"Why do you want the job?"	... why I wanted the job
"Do you have experience?"	... if I had experience
"Where did you study?"	... where I had studied

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners reconstruct two original questions. The contrast between the two word orders is the lesson.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Two steps. Do them in order.

Step 1 — choose the link word. Step 2 — write a statement.

1) Yes/no questions → if or whether (they are interchangeable):

"Are you tired?" → He asked me if I was tired. "Do you live here?" → She asked me whether I lived here.

2) Wh- questions → keep the wh- word, then a statement:

"Where do you live?" → She asked me where I lived. "What did you say?" → He asked me what I had said.

⚠️ أهم قاعدة في الدرس: بعد كلمة السؤال، الترتيب يبقى ترتيب جملة عادية. مفيش do ومفيش قلب.

3) The three things that disappear:

Gone	Because
the inversion	it is a statement now
the auxiliary do/does/did	statements do not need it
the question mark	there is no question being asked

4) The tense still shifts, exactly as in L02:

"Where are you?" → He asked where I was.

5) The reporting verb is usually ask — and it takes a person directly, like tell:

She asked me... ✅ · She asked to me... ❌

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on the two steps, two on the three disappearing elements, two on transformation drilling. Insist learners say the link word out loud before the rest of the sentence.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
He asked me if...	سألني إذا...	He asked me if I was ready.
She asked whether...	سألت إذا...	She asked whether I could come.
They asked me where...	سألوني فين...	They asked me where I lived.
He wanted to know...	كان عايز يعرف...	He wanted to know why.
She asked me what...	سألتنني إيه...	She asked me what I did.
I asked them when...	سألهم إمتى...	I asked them when they'd decide.
nobody asked	محدث سأل	Nobody asked me.
a strange question	سؤال غريب	That was a strange question.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the tune falls. This is the audible half of the grammar:

She asked me where I LIVED. 📌 — a statement Where do you LIVE? 📌 — a question

If the reported version rises, the listener hears a question and waits for an answer.

Part 2 — asked is one syllable ending in /kt/.

asked → /æskt/ — not "ask-ed"

That cluster is hard, and inserting a vowel is the commonest error here. Build it backwards: /t/ → /kt/ → /skt/ → asked.

Part 3 — link the frame:

asked me → as-kmee · asked him → as-ktim

Record & compare: "She asked me where I lived and whether I could start in March."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes on /æskt/ — genuinely difficult and worth the drill — and two on the falling tune. The tune is diagnostic: a rise means the learner still conceives of it as a question.

TRAIN — تَدْرِبْ

Exercise 1 — report it.

1. "Are you ready?" → He asked me _____
2. "Where do you work?" → She asked me _____
3. "Did you call him?" → They asked me _____
4. "What time does it start?" → I asked _____
5. "Can you drive?" → She asked me _____

Exercise 2 — work backwards.

1. He asked me if I had eaten. → _____
2. She asked where I was going. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. She asked me where do I live. → _____
2. He asked me if am I ready. → _____
3. They asked me what did I want. → _____
4. She asked me if I can help? → _____

Exercise 4 — report an interview. Your partner asks you five quick questions. Report all five in one turn.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: if I was ready · where I worked · if I had called him · what time it started · if I could drive. Ex3: where I lived · if I was ready · what I wanted · if I could help + drop the question mark. Ex4 is the assessment — listen for statement order five times.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Report four questions somebody asked you recently — two yes/no and two wh-.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: statement order every time, correct if/whether for yes/no, no do, tense shifted, and a falling tune.

📖 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post four reported questions from a real conversation.
- Re-tell one real exchange each day this week. Reporting questions is the fastest way to turn something that already happened to you into speaking practice — you do not need to invent anything.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- A reported question is a statement. No inversion, no do, no question mark.
- Yes/no → if or whether. Wh- → keep the wh- word.
- Two steps: link word first, then statement order.
- The tense still shifts one step back.
- ask takes a person directly: asked me, never asked to me.
- The tune falls. 📉

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) if I was ready · 2) where I worked · 3) if I had called him · 4) what time it started · 5) if I could drive
- Ex2: 1) "Have you eaten?" · 2) "Where are you going?"
- Ex3: 1) ...where I lived · 2) ...if I was ready · 3) ...what I wanted · 4) ...if I could help.

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 7 · Lesson 4 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01–L03 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit7-reported-speech.md · S2-U7-L04

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: report requests, orders and advice with verb + person + to · use not to for negatives · choose the reporting verb that carries the right force. This pattern is easier than backshift and just as useful — say so. There is no tense to shift: "Close the door" becomes "He asked me to close the door." Learners who found L02 hard get a confidence win here, so schedule it as a lift. The negative is not to, and it goes before to: "He told me not to worry." ❌ "He told me to not worry" is heard but non-standard; ❌ "He didn't tell me to worry" means something else entirely. The reporting verb carries the force. Asked is polite, told is firm, advised is a recommendation, warned is a danger. Same structure, very different social meaning — that is the real content of the lesson. Support: the reporting-verb strength card. Stretch: report four instructions with four different verbs. Arabic ~12%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Report a request: He asked me to wait.
- Report a negative one: She told me not to worry.
- Choose asked · told · advised · warned deliberately. 🗣️

النمط ده أسهل من اللي قبله: مفيش زمن يتغير، بس to والفعل الأساسي.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Most of what people tell you is not information — it is instructions, requests and advice. This one pattern reports all of it, and it is more reliable than backshift because nothing has to be transformed.

والفعل بيوصل القوة: asked مؤدب، و told أقوى.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L03: two reported questions in statement order.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Brief. Today's pattern is structurally simpler, and the contrast is reassuring.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Reporting a day of instructions (📱 in the portal).

A: How was the first day? B: Fine, but everyone told me something different. My manager asked me to shadow Layla for a week. A: That's reasonable. B: Then IT told me not to install anything myself. And Layla advised me to write everything down, which was actually the best advice I got. A: Anything else? B: Someone warned me not to use the third-floor kitchen. Nobody explained why. A: That's ominous. B: And my manager reminded me to finish the online training by Friday.

Notice: five different reporting verbs, one structure — verb + person + to + base verb. The negative simply adds not before to.

English	بالعربي
He asked me to wait.	طلب مني أستنى
They told me not to install it.	قالولي ما أنصبهوش
She advised me to write it down.	نصحتني أكتبها
Someone warned me not to...	حد حذرني ما...

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners list the five verbs and rank them by force. That ranking is the lesson's social content.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

One structure: verb + person + to + base verb.

He asked me to wait. · She told him to stop. · They advised us to apply.

1) The negative puts not before to:

He told me not to worry. ✅ He told me to not worry. ❌ non-standard He didn't tell me to worry. ❌ different meaning — he said nothing

⚠️ خذ بالك: النفي not to ببيجي قبل to.

2) The verb chooses the force.

Verb	Force	Example
asked	polite request	She asked me to help. told	firm, or an order	He told me to wait. advised	a recommendation	She advised me to rest. warned	danger	He warned me not to go. reminded	you already knew	She reminded me to call. invited	an offer	They invited me to join.

3) All of them need a person. Like tell, never say:

He asked me to wait. ✅ · He asked to wait. — means he wanted to wait

4) Compare with the frames you already have:

He said he was tired.	a statement
He asked me if I was tired.	a question
He asked me to rest.	a request

5) Direct commands report naturally here. "Sit down!" → She told me to sit down.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the structure, two on not to, two on the verb-force table. Drill by giving a direct instruction and asking for it reported with a specified verb.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
asked me to...	طلب مني...	She asked me to wait. told me to...	قال لي...	He told me to stop. told me not to...	قال لي ما...	He told me not to worry. advised me to...	نصحتني...	She advised me to rest. warned me not to...	حذرنني ما...	He warned me not to go. reminded me to...	فكرتني...	She reminded me to call. invited me to...	عزمتني...	They invited me to dinner. encouraged me to...	شجعتني...	He encouraged me to apply.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — to is weak: /tə/.

asked me to wait → askt-mi-tə-wait

Said as /tu:/ it sounds careful and slow. It is a grammar word, so it reduces.

Part 2 — the whole frame is one run, and the stress lands on the action:

He asked me to WAIT. · She told me not to WORRY.

Part 3 — but not takes a beat, because it reverses the instruction:

She told me NOT to worry.

Learners who swallow not report the opposite of what they were told, which matters more here than in most structures.

Record & compare: "She asked me to wait, and she told me not to worry."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on weak /tə/, two on the stressed not, one on the whole frame as a single run. The stressed not is a meaning-protecting habit.

 TRAIN — تَدْرِبْ
Exercise 1 — report it.

1. "Please wait here." → He asked me _____
2. "Don't touch that." → She told me _____
3. "You should rest." → The doctor advised me _____
4. "Don't forget to call." → She reminded me _____
5. "Come to dinner." → They invited me _____

Exercise 2 — choose the verb. asked · told · warned · advised · reminded

1. My mother _____ me not to walk home alone at night.
2. My boss _____ me to finish by five. (firm)
3. My friend _____ me to try that restaurant. (recommendation)
4. She _____ me to bring my passport. (I already knew)

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. He asked me wait. → _____
2. She told me to not worry. → _____
3. He asked to me to help. → _____
4. She said me to sit down. → _____

Exercise 4 — report your day. Four things people asked or told you to do recently — use four different verbs, and make one negative.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: to wait here · not to touch that · to rest · to call · to dinner. Ex2: warned · told · advised · reminded. Ex3: to wait · not to worry · drop to me · told me to sit down. Ex3.4 recycles L01's rule inside the new pattern.

 YOUR TURN — دورك

Report four instructions or pieces of advice you were given recently. Use four different verbs and at least one not to.

 Record it.TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: verb + person + to + base every time, correct not to placement, four distinct verbs with appropriate force, weak /tə/ and a stressed not.

 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post four reported instructions with four different verbs.
- Re-tell what you were told, in English, at the end of each day. It is thirty seconds, the content is already there, and it rehearses the most frequent reporting pattern in the language.

 REMEMBER — افكر

- verb + person + to + base verb. No tense shift at all.
- Negative: not to — He told me not to worry.
- The verb carries the force: asked · told · advised · warned · reminded · invited.
- They all need a person: asked me to...
- to is weak /tə/, but not takes a beat.

 SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) to wait here · 2) not to touch that · 3) to rest · 4) to call · 5) to dinner
- Ex2: 1) warned · 2) told · 3) advised · 4) reminded
- Ex3: 1) He asked me to wait. · 2) ...not to worry. · 3) He asked me to help. · 4) She told me to sit down.

UNIT SPEAKING TASK: "REPORT A CONVERSATION" (+ REVIEW)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 7 · Lesson 5 — UNIT MILESTONE 🕒 ~40 min · 📞 Recorded + live (assessment-style) · Prerequisite: L01–L04 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit7-reported-speech.md · S2-U7-L05

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 5 · Rehearse 8 · Record 5 · Feedback 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: report a whole conversation — statements, questions and requests — in 8–10 sentences · keep the reporting frames varied · record the Unit-7 talk. Backshift will not be flawless, and that is acceptable at B1. Score whether the conversation is followable: who said what, in what order, with the right force. A retained present tense where the fact is still true is not an error. The pass/fail question is word order in reported questions. That one is genuinely wrong when it is wrong, and it is the item to note for the queue. Run the passing-a-message game if time allows. Keep it light — a message passed along three people and then compared with the original makes the whole unit feel purposeful in ninety seconds. Support: 8 sentences with the checklist. Stretch: report a disagreement, with both sides' words and the right reporting verbs. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Report a whole conversation in 8–10 sentences.
- Mix statements, questions and requests.
- Choose reporting verbs that carry the right force.
- Record your Unit-7 milestone. 🎤

بقيت تقدر تنقل محادثة كاملة، مش جملة واحدة.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: a said sentence → a told me sentence → a reported yes/no question → a reported wh-question → an asked me to → a not to.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast, no repeats. This sweeps all four lessons before the load rises.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model reported conversation (📞 in the portal).

I had a strange call from my landlord yesterday. He said the building was being inspected next month and he told me the inspectors would need access to every flat.

Then he asked me if I was planning to renew the contract, which surprised me, because I'd only moved in in March. I asked him whether there was a problem and he said there wasn't — he just wanted to know early.

He asked me to send him a copy of my ID again, and told me not to worry about the inspection. He also reminded me to pay the water bill separately, which I had completely forgotten.

I asked him when the inspection would be, and he said he didn't know yet. So the whole call was mostly him asking me things.

Notice the variety. Statements with said and told me, two reported questions in statement order, three to-patterns including a not to, and appropriate verbs throughout — reminded for the bill, not told.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for content, once for structures. Ask learners to count the reported questions and check the word order in each.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست المحادثة

1. ✓ Two or more reported statements — said / told me
2. ✓ One reported yes/no question — if or whether
3. ✓ One reported wh- question, in statement order
4. ✓ One asked/told me to...
5. ✓ One not to
6. ✓ Tenses shifted where the fact has changed
7. ★ A reporting verb chosen for its force — advised · warned · reminded
8. ★ Answer one question about the conversation

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Item 3 is the accuracy discriminator; item 7 is the range one.

🎤 ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- weak that → /ðæt/, or dropped entirely
- told me / told him linking — and the disappearing /h/
- /æskt/ — asked, one syllable, no inserted vowel
- falling tune on a reported question
- weak to → /tə/, with a stressed not
- unstressed frames — the message carries the beat

🎧 Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One personal target each. /æskt/ and the falling tune are the two that most affect intelligibility here.

🎤 YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse against the checklist with a partner, then record.

Report a real conversation you had recently, in 8–10 sentences. Include statements, at least two questions, one request or instruction, and one negative instruction. Then answer one question about it.

🎧 Record it and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min recording + 3 feedback. Ask your follow-up unscripted — "What did you say back?" — which pushes one more reporting frame out of them. Success check (Unit-7): a followable 8–10 sentence report with correct say/tell choice, statement order in every reported question, at least one accurate to-pattern with a not to, and the main tense shifts applied (rubric: Fluency + Accuracy + Range at B1). Do not penalise a retained present where the fact is still true.

📋 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your reported conversation.
- Complete the Unit-7 quiz.
- Report one real conversation every day this week. It is the cheapest speaking practice that exists: the content already happened, so all you are practising is the language.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 7 WRAP)

- tell needs a person; say does not. ❌ said me · ❌ told that
- Reporting moves the tense one step back: is→was · will→would · can→could.
- Pronouns and time words shift too.
- A reported question is a statement — no inversion, no do, no question mark.
- Yes/no → if / whether; wh- → keep the word, then statement order.
- Requests: verb + person + to + base, negative not to.
- The reporting verb carries the force.

✅ SELF-CHECK — UNIT 7 MINI-QUIZ

1. She ___ me she was tired. → told
2. He ___ he was busy. → said
3. "I'm ready" → He said he ___ ready. → was
4. "I'll call" → She said she ___ call. → would
5. "Can you swim?" → He asked me ___ I could swim. → if / whether
6. "Where do you live?" → She asked me where I ___. → lived
7. "Please wait." → He asked me ___ wait. → to
8. "Don't worry." → She told me ___ worry. → not to
9. She asked me where do I live. → wrong; say where I lived
10. Verb for a warning about danger → warned

🎉 UNIT 7 COMPLETE — بقيت تنقل الكلام

You can now report what people said, asked and requested — with the right verb, the right word order, and the right level of force.

THE PASSIVE (INTRO)

👑 UNIT 8 — THE PASSIVE (INTRO)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 8 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit8-passive.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 8 you'll explain how things work — describe facts, histories and processes without naming who did them, and add the doer only when it matters. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تشرح إزاي حاجة بتتعمل، والتركيز على الحاجة نفسها.

Why this is the professional unit: instructions, procedures, reports and news are all written this way, because the steps matter and the person performing them usually does not. This is the structure that moves you from describing your own life to explaining your work.

ودي الوحدة اللي بتخليك تشرح، مش بس توصف.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	Present passive	is/are + participle — facts and processes
L02	Past passive	was/were + participle — history and results
L03	by + agent	include the doer only when it earns its place
L04	Processes & news	sequence a procedure, and choose active or passive
L05	How it's made (milestone) 🏰	an 8–10 sentence explanation + record your milestone

Grammar spine: present and past simple passive · by + agent and when to omit it · active/passive choice · process sequencing. Accent Lab: weak but present is/are/was/were · participle endings surviving at speed · the final clusters in built · found · closed · sent · unstressed by with a stressed agent · the signpost-pause-step rhythm. Mindset: progress is not perfection — every mistake tells you exactly what to drill next.

Arabic support: ~12% for L01–L03, easing to ~10% for L04–L05.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-8 process explanation — a genuinely professional skill in English.
- The end of the heavy grammar block: U6–U8 complete the structures for complex ideas.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. The participle is the engine, and it came from U1's third column. If participles are shaky, re-drill them in L01 — the passive cannot work without them. This is the second payoff from that table, exactly as promised in U1-L02. L01's error is a missing be: ❌ "Coffee grown in Brazil." A participle alone is not a verb. Note that this error often arrives through pronunciation — a weak auxiliary becoming a deleted one — so treat the Accent Lab as grammar support, not decoration. Teach the why (doer unknown, obvious, or unimportant) before the form, or learners produce correct sentences in contexts where nobody would use them. L02 is L01 with one word changed — say so. The error is the base verb (❌ was build), because learners hear the past auxiliary and stop transforming. Anchor it: the auxiliary carries the tense, the participle never changes. Spend the real time on participles that differ from the past simple — done · forgotten · written · taken · broken. L03's error is over-use, not under-use. Having just met by, learners attach it to everything: ❌ stolen by someone, ❌ emptied by the bin men. Both are grammatical and neither is said. State the principle plainly — omitting the agent is the point of the passive — and teach the judgement through authorship contexts. The by against with distinction (doer against tool) is a useful extra. L04 makes the passive purposeful. Processes are its natural home. Reward clear sequencing over form perfection, and teach the choice rather than the transformation, since conversion is already automatic by now. L05 closes the U6–U8 block. Tell the cohort the heavy grammar is behind them and that U9–U11 — discourse and opinion — is where the B1 "cope independently" outcome is actually won.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: present and past passive form · missing be · base verb against participle · when to include by · by against with · intransitive verbs that cannot be passive.
- Speaking task: the L05 process explanation, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold).
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker and flags participle endings plus final clusters for the review queue.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: form the present simple passive · describe facts and processes where the doer is unknown or irrelevant · notice when the passive is the natural choice. The participle is the engine, and it came from Unit 1's third column. If participles are shaky, re-drill them here — the passive simply does not work without them. This is the second time that column pays off, as promised in U1-L02. The commonest error is a missing be: ❌ "Coffee grown in Brazil." The participle alone is not a verb. Every passive needs is or are to become a sentence. Teach the why before the form. English uses the passive when the doer is unknown, obvious, or unimportant. Learners who only learn the transformation produce grammatically correct sentences in contexts where nobody would use them. Support: the be + participle frame plus the participle card. Stretch: describe a three-step process. Arabic ~12%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Say what is done without saying who does it.
- Build am / is / are + past participle.
- Describe facts and processes. 🎧

بنستخدم المبني للمجهول لما اللي عمل الحاجة مش معروف، أو مش مهم.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Sometimes the person who did something is unknown, obvious, or simply not the point. "My bike was stolen" — I do not know who. "English is spoken here" — by everybody, so who is irrelevant. The passive is how English keeps the focus on the thing rather than the doer.

ولاحظ إن الفعل المساعد لازم يبقى موجود.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From Unit 1: eight past participles, fast — made · grown · sold · built · spoken · taken · written · used.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Non-negotiable warm-up. If the third column is weak, spend six minutes here instead of four; the lesson cannot proceed without it.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

A short factual description (📺 in the portal).

Coffee is grown in more than fifty countries, but most of it is produced in Brazil, Vietnam and Colombia. The beans are picked by hand in many places, then they are dried, roasted and packed. In my city, coffee is sold on almost every corner. It is usually served very sweet, and it isn't drunk quickly — people sit with it for an hour. The word coffee is thought to come from Arabic. Nobody knows for certain.

Notice: nobody is named. We are not told who grows, picks, dries or sells — because it does not matter, or nobody knows. The focus stays entirely on the coffee.

English	بالعربي
Coffee is grown in Brazil.	البن بيتزرع في البرازيل
The beans are picked by hand.	الحبوب بتتقطف بالأيدي
It is served very sweet.	بيتقدم حلو أوي
It isn't drunk quickly.	مابيتشربش بسرعة

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners try to name the doer for each verb. They cannot — which is the reason the passive exists.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

The form: am / is / are + past participle.

Subject	be	participle
Coffee	is	grown
The beans	are	picked
I	am	paid

English is spoken here. · These cars are made in Japan.

⚠️ أشهر غلطة: إنك تنسى الفعل المساعد. لازم is أو are قبل التصريف الثالث.

1) The negative and the question:

Rice isn't grown here. · Are these made locally?

2) Compare active and passive. The object of the active becomes the subject of the passive:

active	They make these cars in Japan.
passive	These cars are made in Japan.

3) When to use it — three situations:

Reason	Example
the doer is unknown	My bike is often stolen from here.
the doer is obvious	The bins are emptied on Tuesdays.
the doer is unimportant	Coffee is grown in Brazil.

4) You usually leave the doer out entirely. That is the whole point — and it is why by is optional (L03).

5) Only verbs with an object can be passive. Sleep · arrive · happen cannot: ❌ "The accident was happened."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on form, two on active↔passive transformation, two on the three reasons. Point 5 prevents a common over-generalisation with happen.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example

is called	ييسمى	It's called a corkscrew. is spoken	بيتكلم بها	Arabic is spoken here.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — is and are are weak, and they get contracted:

It's made* /ɪts/ · They're* grown* /ðer/*

But weak is not absent. Drop them entirely and the sentence has no verb — which is exactly the error the grammar section warns about, arriving through pronunciation.

Part 2 — the participle carries the beat:

Coffee is GROWN in Brazil. · These are MADE in Japan.

Part 3 — the participle endings must survive. This is Unit 1's work again:

picked /t/ · dried /d/ · roasted /ɪd/ · packed /t/

Say the four-verb chain from the clip at speed and keep all four endings alive:

picked, dried, roasted and packed

Record & compare: "The beans are picked, dried, roasted and packed."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on weak-but-present auxiliaries, three on the participle chain. That chain is a genuinely hard piece of connected speech and an excellent diagnostic.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — make it passive.

1. They grow rice here. → _____
2. People speak English in Malta. → _____
3. They don't sell it in shops. → _____
4. Somebody cleans the office every night. → _____

Exercise 2 — complete with is/are + participle.

1. These shoes _____ (make) in Italy.
2. The bins _____ (empty) on Tuesdays.
3. Breakfast _____ (serve) from seven.
4. That word _____ (not / use) anymore.

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. Coffee grown in Brazil. → _____
2. These cars are make in Japan. → _____
3. The accident was happened yesterday. → _____
4. English speaks here. → _____

Exercise 4 — describe a process. Three steps of something familiar — how tea is made, how bread is baked, how your work gets done.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: Rice is grown here · English is spoken in Malta · It isn't sold in shops · The office is cleaned every night.

Ex3: add is · made · The accident happened · English is spoken here. Ex3.3 is the intransitive trap.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Describe something familiar in four passive sentences — a product, a place, or a routine at your work.

 Record it.TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: be present in every sentence, correct participles, and a context where the passive is genuinely the natural choice.

 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post four passive sentences about something made or done where you live.
- Progress is not perfection. Every mistake you make in these four sentences tells you precisely what to drill next. That is information you cannot get from silence.

 REMEMBER — افكر

- am / is / are + past participle.
- Never drop be: ❌ Coffee grown in Brazil.
- Use it when the doer is unknown, obvious, or unimportant.
- The active object becomes the passive subject.
- Verbs with no object cannot be passive: ❌ was happened.
- Weak auxiliary, stressed participle.

 SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: form the past simple passive · describe historical events, results and finished processes · keep the participle distinct from the base verb. The error to hunt is the base verb after was/were: ❌ "It was build in 1902." Learners hear the auxiliary, know the sentence is past, and stop transforming. Anchor it: the auxiliary carries the tense, the participle never changes. Keep contexts concrete and factual — famous buildings, inventions, results. Abstract passives are harder and unnecessary here; the structure is best learned on things learners can picture. This is the same structure as L01 with one word changed. Say that plainly: is → was, are → were. Nothing else moves. Framing it as new grammar wastes the transfer. Support: the participle card + a timeline of dated facts. Stretch: a three-sentence history of something local. Arabic ~12%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Say what was done, without saying who did it.
- Build was / were + past participle.
- Talk about history and results. 🗣️

نفس تركيب الدرس اللي فات، بس الفعل المساعد بيرجع للماضي.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Most of what you know about the past came to you in the passive: buildings were built, laws were passed, things were invented, destroyed, discovered. In all of it the doer is either unknown or beside the point.

والفعل المساعد هو اللي بيثيل الزمن.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01: three present passives, then the same three shifted into the past.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Do the shift orally in the warm-up itself. The lesson is then confirmation rather than instruction.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

A short history (📺 in the portal).

The bridge was built in 1902 and was destroyed twice — once by a flood and once during the war. It wasn't repaired properly until the sixties.

The old station next to it was designed by an Italian architect whose name was forgotten for decades. Then, in 2018, the original drawings were found in a cupboard in the town hall. They were sent to a museum in Cairo, where they were exhibited last year.

The station itself was closed in 1994. Nothing was done with the building for twenty years.

Notice: every verb is was or were plus a participle — built · destroyed · repaired · designed · forgotten · found · sent · exhibited · closed · done. Not one is a base verb.

English	بالعربي
It was built in 1902.	اتبنى سنة ١٩٠٢
It was destroyed twice.	اتهد مرتين
The drawings were found.	الرسومات اتلاقت
Nothing was done.	مفيش حاجة اتعملت

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners list the participles and mark any that differ from the past simple — found/found, forgotten/forgot, done/did, sent/sent. That mixed set is the lesson's real difficulty.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

The form: was / were + past participle.

Subject	be	participle
The bridge	was	built
The drawings	were	found

It was built in 1902. · They were sent to Cairo.

1) One word changes from L01. Nothing else:

present	It is made here. past	It was made here.

⚠ خد بالك: التصريف الثالث ثابت مايتغيرش.

2) The error to avoid — the base verb:

It was built in 1902. ✓ It was build in 1902. ✗ It was builded in 1902. ✗

3) Negative and question:

It wasn't finished on time. · Were they found together?

4) Watch the participles that differ from the past simple:

Base	Past
do	did	done
forget	forgot	forgotten
write	wrote	written
take	took	taken
break	broke	broken

Was ___ always takes the third column, never the second.

5) The reason is the same as L01 — the doer is unknown, obvious, or unimportant. Dates and results matter; the builder usually does not.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the one-word change, two on the base-verb error, two on the third-column table. That table is where the actual work is.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
was built	اتبنى	It was built in 1902. was founded	اتأسس	The city was founded in... was invented	اتخترع	It was invented by... was destroyed	اتهد	It was destroyed in the war. were found	اتلاقوا	The keys were found. was written	اتكتب	It was written in Arabic. was closed	اتقفل	The station was closed. nothing was done	مفيش حاجة اتعملت	Nothing was done about it.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — was and were are weak here too:

was → /wəz/ · were → /wə/ "It wəz built in 1902."

This is the same weak form you learned in Unit 3 for the past continuous — and the same rule applies: weak, but never deleted.

Part 2 — the participle takes the beat, and its ending must be audible:

It was BUILT · They were FOUND · It wasn't FINISHED

Part 3 — the two-consonant endings are the hard part. Built · found · closed · sent all end in a cluster that learners simplify:

built /lt/ · found /nd/ · closed /zd/ · sent /nt/

Drop that final consonant and the passive becomes unrecognisable.

Part 4 — link the date on:

was built in → wəz-buil-tin

Record & compare: "It was built in 1902 and it wasn't repaired until the sixties."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on weak auxiliaries, three on the final clusters. The clusters matter more here than anywhere else in the unit, because they are the participle.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — make it passive.

1. They built the bridge in 1902. → _____
2. Someone stole my bike. → _____
3. They didn't finish the work. → _____
4. Nobody told me. → _____

Exercise 2 — complete with was/were + participle.

1. The letters _____ (find) in a cupboard.
2. My phone _____ (steal) at the station.
3. The photos _____ (take) in 1998.
4. Nothing _____ (do) about it.

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. It was build in 1902. → _____
2. The keys was found yesterday. → _____
3. My bike was stole. → _____
4. The accident was happened at six. → _____

Exercise 4 — a local history. Three passive sentences about a building, street or object near you — when it was built, what happened to it, what was done about it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: The bridge was built in 1902 · My bike was stolen · The work wasn't finished · I wasn't told. Ex3: built · were found · stolen · The accident happened. Ex1.4 is a good one — the indirect object becomes the subject.

🎤 YOUR TURN — دورك

Give a short history of something near you in four passive sentences — with at least one date and one negative.

🎤 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: was/were + third column every time, no base verbs, audible final clusters, and at least one correct irregular participle.

📖 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a three-sentence history of something in your city, all passive.
- Look at how much grammar you have stacked. Perfect tenses, narrative tenses, both conditionals, relative clauses, reported speech, and now the passive. Eight units ago you were describing your routine.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- was / were* + past participle.
- Only the auxiliary changes for tense; the participle never does.
- ❌ was build · ❌ was builded → ✅ was built
- was ___ takes the third column: done · forgotten · written · taken · broken.
- Keep the final clusters: *buil*t* · found · *closed.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: add by + agent when the doer matters · leave it out when it does not · judge which case applies. The error here is over-use, not under-use. Having just learned by, learners attach it to everything — ❌ "My bike was stolen by someone", ❌ "The bins are emptied by the bin men." Both are grammatical and both are wrong in the sense that matters: nobody would say them. State the principle plainly: omitting the agent is the point of the passive. You include by only when the doer is surprising, specific, or important — usually a named creator. The reliable context for by is authorship: books, buildings, paintings, discoveries, inventions. Teach it there and the judgement becomes concrete. This is a judgement lesson, not a form lesson. The form takes two minutes. Spend the rest on decide-and-justify. Support: the include/omit decision card. Stretch: rewrite a paragraph removing every unnecessary by. Arabic ~12%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Add by when the doer matters.
- Leave it out when it does not — which is most of the time.
- Explain which case you are in. 🗣️

الأصل إننا بنشيل اللي عمل الحاجة. بنضيف by بس لما يكون مهم أو مفاجئ.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

The passive exists to remove the doer. So adding by every time undoes the reason you chose the structure — and it produces sentences that are correct but that no native speaker would utter.

ولو حطيت by someone, الجملة تبقى صح نحوياً بس محدش بيقلوها.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01–L02: two present passives and two past passives, with no agent mentioned.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Agentless passives first — they are the default, and today is about the exception.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Two people in a gallery (🖼️ in the portal).

A: This one was painted by Mahmoud Said, wasn't it? B: Yes — and the one behind you was painted by his student. You can see it. A: Who's the building designed by? B: An Italian architect. The interior was redesigned in the seventies, though — badly. A: By whom? B: Nobody remembers. It just was redesigned, and everyone regrets it. A: My coat was taken from the cloakroom last week, by the way. B: Taken? Or stolen? A: I prefer taken.

Notice the pattern. By appears for the painters and the architect — specific, important people. It does not appear for the seventies redesign (nobody knows) or the coat (nobody knows either).

English	بالعربي
It was painted by Mahmoud Said.	رسمها محمود سعيد
Who was it designed by?	مين اللي صممه؟
It was redesigned in the seventies.	اتعمل تعديل في السبعينات
My coat was taken.	جاكيتي اتاخذ

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners mark which sentences have by and say why. The pattern is authorship against anonymity.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

The form is trivial: be + participle + by + doer.

The book was written by an Egyptian journalist. These photos were taken by my grandfather.

When to include by — the doer is surprising, specific, or important:

Situation	Example
a named creator	It was written by Naguib Mahfouz. a surprising doer	The window was broken by the cat.
the point of the sentence	The law was passed by the previous government.

When to leave it out — which is most of the time:

Situation	Say
the doer is unknown	My bike was stolen. — not by someone the doer is obvious	The bins are emptied on Tuesdays. — not by the bin men
the doer is people in general	English is spoken here. — not by people

⚠️ دي الغلطة هنا: إنك تزود by على كل حاجة. stolen by someone مالهاش معنى — لو مش عارف مين، سيبها.

1) Never say these:

by someone · by somebody · by people · by them (when them is nobody in particular)

2) Asking about the agent:

Who was it written by? — natural in speech By whom was it written? — formal, and rare in conversation

3) Note by against with. By is the doer; with is the tool:

It was cut by a machine. — the machine did it It was cut with a knife. — the knife was the instrument

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on form and the two lists, two on the never-say list, two on by against with. The instrument distinction is a genuine and useful extra.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — by is weak when the name is what matters:

by → /baɪ/ but quick and unstressed *It was written bay-*na-GEEB ma-FOOZ

The name takes the stress, not by.

Part 2 — but by goes strong when you are contrasting doers:

It wasn't written by HIM — it was written BY HER.

Part 3 — the whole agentless passive is smoother, and that is a clue. Say both aloud:

My bike was stolen. — smooth, natural My bike was stolen by someone. — clumsy, and the clumsiness is the signal

If a phrase feels like it is dragging, that is often because it should not be there.

Record & compare: "It was painted by Mahmoud Said, but the frame was made locally."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on unstressed by with a stressed name, one on contrastive by, two on the smooth-versus-clumsy comparison — which teaches the judgement through the ear.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — keep by or delete it?

1. The letter was written by my grandmother.
2. My wallet was stolen by someone.
3. The streets are cleaned by the cleaners every morning.
4. This mosque was designed by a Turkish architect.
5. English is spoken by people all over the world.

Exercise 2 — make it passive, deciding about by.

1. Naguib Mahfouz wrote this novel. → _____
2. Somebody broke the window. → _____
3. My uncle built this house. → _____
4. They deliver the post every morning. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. My phone was stolen by somebody. → _____
2. It was cut by a knife. → _____
3. The bins are emptied by the bin men on Tuesdays. → _____

Exercise 4 — five facts. Describe five things around you — three without an agent, two with a by that genuinely earns its place.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: keep · delete · delete · keep · delete. Ex3: drop by somebody · with a knife · drop the agent. Ex1 is the assessment — require a reason for each decision.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Describe five things — three agentless passives and two with by. Be ready to say why each by belongs.

 Record it.TEACHER'S EDITION

 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post three passive facts — at most one with by.
- You are the agent of your own progress. Nobody else can do the reps. That is one place where the doer is neither unknown nor unimportant.

 REMEMBER — افكر

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 5 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 9 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: describe a sequenced process with the passive · choose between active and passive on purpose · sequence with first · then · next · after that · finally. Processes make the passive purposeful, which is the whole point of this lesson. Reward a clear, well-sequenced description over form perfection — a learner who sequences six steps with one wrong participle has met the objective. Teach the choice, not just the transformation. By now learners can convert; what they need is judgement. Active when the doer is interesting; passive when the process is. Most instructions and most news headlines are passive for exactly that reason. The natural context is anything they already know how to do — their job, cooking, a bureaucratic procedure. Familiar content plus a new structure is the easiest productive combination there is. Support: the sequencer card plus the participle card. Stretch: describe a process from their actual work with six steps. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Describe how something is done, step by step.
- Choose active or passive deliberately.
- Sequence a process so a listener can follow it. 🗣️

العمليات هي أنسب مكان للمبني للمجهول، لأن المهم الخطوات مش مين عملها.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Explaining a process is a professional skill. Instructions, procedures, recipes, reports and news are written this way because the steps matter and the person performing them usually does not. Being able to do it in English moves you from describing your life to explaining your work.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From L01–L03: one present passive, one past passive, one with by that earns its place.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. All three lessons live before they get combined into a sequence.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

How a simple process works (📄 in the portal).

First, the applications are collected online — nothing is accepted on paper anymore. Then they are checked by an assistant, who removes anything incomplete.

After that, the complete files are sent to two reviewers. Each application is read twice, and the scores are compared. If the two reviewers disagree, the file is passed to a third.

Next, the shortlist is published on the website. Candidates are contacted by email, and interviews are arranged for the following month.

Finally, the decisions are announced — usually late, if I'm honest.

Notice two things. The sequencers carry the structure — first · then · after that · next · finally. And the only by in the whole description is the assistant, because that step is the one where the person matters.

English	بالعربي
First, they are collected.	الأول بيتجمعوا
Then they are checked.	بعدين بيتراجعوا
After that, they are sent.	بعد كده بيتبعثوا
Finally, the decisions are announced.	وفي الآخر النتائج بتعلن

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners list the sequencers, then count the passives. The ratio is the lesson.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

A process is sequencers plus passives.

Step	Sequencer
1	First, · To begin with,
2	Then, · Next, · After that,
3	Once it's ____, · When it's been ____, last	Finally, · In the end,

First, the beans are picked. Then they are dried. After that, they are roasted.

1) Choosing active or passive.

Choose	When	Example
active	the doer is interesting	My grandfather built this house. passive	the process is interesting	This house was built in 1940.

⚠ خذ بالك: الاختيار على حسب المهم في الجملة — اللي عمل الحاجة، ولا الحاجة نفسها.

2) News headlines are passive for the same reason — the event outranks the agent:

Three people were injured. · A decision is expected tomorrow. · The road has been closed.

3) Mixing them is normal and good. A real description moves between the two:

They collect the applications online, then the files are checked, and an assistant removes anything incomplete.

4) Keep the tense consistent across the process. A present-tense procedure stays present throughout; a history stays past.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Keep this short — sequencers and the choice table. Train is where the lesson happens.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
First, ...	الأول...	First, the dough is mixed.
Then / Next	بعدين	Then it's left to rise.
After that	بعد كده	After that, it's baked.
Once it's...	لما يكون...	Once it's cooled, it's packed.
Finally	وفي الآخر	Finally, it's delivered. is left to...	بيتسيب ل...	It's left to cool. is checked	بيتراجع	Everything is checked twice.
is expected	متوقع	A decision is expected soon.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the sequencer gets its own small group, then a pause.

First, ☒ the beans are PICKED. ☒ Then, ☒ they are DRIED.

That rhythm — signpost, pause, step — is what makes a long process followable. Without the pauses the steps blur into one sentence and the listener loses count.

Part 2 — the auxiliaries stay weak and contracted across the whole description:

they're picked · its dried · theyre sent

Part 3 — but every participle ending survives. This is the hardest part at speed, and it is where a process description falls apart:

*pick*ed · dried · roasted · packed · checked · sent · published

Say the whole chain in one breath and keep all seven endings.

Record & compare: "First they're picked, then they're dried, and finally they're packed."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on the signpost-pause-step rhythm, three on the participle chain at speed. The chain is the best diagnostic in the unit.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — active or passive? Choose and say why.

1. Telling a friend who made your cake.
2. Explaining how bread is made in a factory.
3. A news headline about a road closure.
4. Praising the architect of a building.

Exercise 2 — put the process in order and make it passive.

bake it · mix the flour and water · leave it to rise · sell it · shape the dough

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. First, the beans pick. Then they dry. → _____
2. The applications are collect online. → _____
3. Then it is leave to cool. → _____

Exercise 4 — your process. Describe something you actually do at work, at home, or in a routine — five steps, mostly passive, properly sequenced.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~9 min. Ex1: active · passive · passive · active. Ex2: First the flour and water are mixed, then the dough is shaped, then it's left to rise, then it's baked, and finally it's sold. Ex3: add are/is + participles. Give Ex4 at least four minutes.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Describe a real process in five steps — mostly passive, fully sequenced, with one by only if it earns its place.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: five ordered steps, correct sequencers, auxiliaries present, participle endings audible, and a justified active/passive mix.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a five-step process from your own life or work.
- Explain one real procedure in English this week — to yourself, out loud, in the car. You already know the steps, so the only thing you are practising is the language.

REMEMBER — افكر

- A process = sequencers + passives.
- First · Then · Next · After that · Once it's... · Finally.
- Active when the doer is interesting; passive when the process is.
- News is passive because the event outranks the agent.
- Keep the tense consistent, and keep every participle ending alive.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) active · 2) passive · 3) passive · 4) active
- Ex2: First the flour and water are mixed, then the dough is shaped, then it's left to rise, then it's baked, and finally it's sold.
- Ex3: 1) ...are picked. Then they are dried. · 2) are collected · 3) is left to cool

UNIT SPEAKING TASK: "DESCRIBE HOW SOMETHING IS MADE/DONE" (+ REVIEW)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 8 · Lesson 5 — UNIT MILESTONE 🕒 ~40 min · 📞 Recorded + live (assessment-style) · Prerequisite: L01–L04 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit8-passive.md` · S2-U8-L05

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 5 · Rehearse 8 · Record 5 · Feedback 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: explain a process or set of facts in 8–10 sentences using the passive · sequence it clearly · answer a question about it. This completes the "grammar for complex ideas" block, U6–U8. From here the stage turns to discourse and opinion (U9–U11), which is where the B1 "cope independently" outcome is actually won. Say that to the cohort — the heavy grammar is now behind them. Name the professional angle. Explaining how something works is a workplace skill, not a classroom one. Learners who see that tend to bring real content, which produces better language. Score followability first. Eight sequenced steps with one wrong participle beats five perfect sentences in no order. Support: 8 sentences with the checklist and both cards. Stretch: include one past passive and one by that genuinely earns its place. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Explain how something is made or done in 8–10 sentences.
- Sequence the steps so anyone can follow.
- Judge where by belongs.
- Record your Unit-8 milestone. 🎤

بقيت تشرح إزاي حاجة بتتعمل — ودي مهارة شغل، مش تمرين.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: a present passive → a past passive → a passive with a justified by → a sequencer → one irregular participle.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast, no repeats. This sweeps the unit before the sequencing load rises.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model process description (📄 in the portal).

I'll explain how the bread at my uncle's bakery is made, because I worked there for two summers. First, the flour is weighed — always by hand, because the machine was broken in 2019 and it has never been replaced. Then the dough is mixed with water, salt and yeast, and it is left to rise for about two hours. In winter it is covered with a cloth, because the room isn't heated. After that, the dough is divided and shaped. This part is done by my uncle himself — he doesn't trust anybody else with it, and honestly the shapes are noticeably better when he does it. Next, the loaves are baked for twenty minutes in a stone oven that was built by my grandfather. Finally, they are stacked on wooden shelves and sold within about four hours. Nothing is kept overnight.

Notice: eleven passives, five sequencers, one past passive, and exactly two uses of by — his uncle and his grandfather — both people who genuinely matter to the story.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for content, once for structures. Ask why by my uncle belongs but by hand is not an agent — a useful distinction between doer and manner.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست الشرح

1. ✓ Six or more passive verbs
2. ✓ Four sequencers — first · then · after that · next · finally
3. ✓ be present in every passive sentence
4. ✓ Correct participles, including at least one irregular
5. ✓ At most one or two uses of by, each justified
6. ✓ Consistent tense across the description
7. ★ One past passive — something that was built, broken or replaced
8. ★ Answer one question about the process

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Item 3 is the accuracy discriminator; item 5 is the judgement one.

🎤 ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- weak auxiliaries — it's · they're · was · were — present but never dropped
- participle endings at speed — picked · dried · roasted · packed
- final clusters — *buil*t · found · closed · sent
- unstressed by with a stressed agent
- signpost · pause · step rhythm across the whole process

🎧 Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One personal target each. The participle chain is the priority: it is where a fluent-sounding process description is won or lost.

🎤 YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse against the checklist with a partner, then record.

Explain how something is made or done in 8–10 sentences — something you actually know. Use at least six passives and four sequencers, keep the tense consistent, and include by only where it earns its place. Then answer one question about it.

🎤 Record it and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min recording + 3 feedback. Ask your follow-up unscripted — "What happens if a step goes wrong?" — which usually produces a first conditional as well. Success check (Unit-8): a followable 8–10 sentence explanation with six or more correct passives, be present throughout, accurate participles, clear sequencing, and justified use of by (rubric: Fluency + Accuracy + Range at B1). Close by naming the shift: U6–U8 built the grammar for complex ideas. U9–U11 turn it into opinion and discussion, which is what the B1 summative actually assesses.

📋 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your process description.
- Complete the Unit-8 quiz.

- Explain one thing at your work in English this week. You now have the exact structure professionals use for it — and the content is already in your head.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 8 WRAP)

- am/is/are + participle (present) · was/were + participle (past).
- Never drop be: ❌ Coffee grown in Brazil.
- The auxiliary carries the tense; the participle never changes.
- Use the passive when the doer is unknown, obvious, or unimportant.
- Add by only when the doer is surprising, specific, or important — never by someone.
- by = the doer · with = the tool.
- A process = sequencers + passives, with a consistent tense.

✅ SELF-CHECK — UNIT 8 MINI-QUIZ

1. Rice ____ (grow) here. → is grown
2. These cars ____ (make) in Japan. → are made
3. The bridge ____ (build) in 1902. → was built
4. My bike ____ (steal). → was stolen
5. Coffee grown in Brazil. → wrong; say is grown
6. It was build in 1902. → wrong; say was built
7. My phone was stolen by somebody. → wrong; drop by somebody
8. It was cut ____ a knife. → with
9. The accident was happened. → wrong; say happened
10. Sequencer for the last step → Finally

🎉 UNIT 8 COMPLETE — بقيت تشرح إزاي الحاجات بتحصل

You can describe facts, histories and processes without naming a doer, add one when it matters, and sequence a whole procedure so that somebody else could follow it.

Next → Unit 9: Connecting Ideas & Opinions. The grammar block is done; from here you learn to link your ideas and say what you actually think — which is what B1 is really assessed on. 🏰

Empire English 🏰 — من وصف حياتك لشرح شغلك

STAGE 2 · UNIT 9

CONNECTING IDEAS & EXPRESSING OPINIONS

👑 UNIT 9 — CONNECTING IDEAS & EXPRESSING OPINIONS

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 9 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit9-connecting-ideas-opinions.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 9 you'll argue a point — connect your ideas smoothly, state an opinion, justify it with a reason, illustrate it with an example, and concede a point without losing your position. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تربط أفكارك، وتقول رأيك بسبب ومثال.

Why this is the keystone unit of the stage: the B1 summative is opinion plus discussion. Units 1–8 built the grammar; this unit turns it into argument. If you leave here with one reliable three-part shape — opinion, reason, example — the rest of the stage is winnable.

والقواعد خلصت. من هنا الشغل على إنك تربط وتقع.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	because · so · so that	give a reason, a result, and a purpose
L02	although · but · however	contrast — and punctuate however properly
L03	Adding & sequencing	organise a turn so it sounds planned
L04	Opinion & justification ★	opinion → reason → example , the keystone shape
L05	Give your opinion (milestone) 🎤	an 8–10 sentence argued turn + record your milestone

Grammar spine: the four discourse relations — reason · result · contrast · addition — plus opinion frames, hedging, and concession. Accent Lab: list intonation (items rise, the last one falls) · double stress on a contrast · the double pause around however · unstressed frames and connectors · protecting the reason so it does not fade. Mindset: from facts to opinions — your view matters, said imperfectly and clearly. Arabic support: ~10% for L01–L04, easing to ~5% at L05.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-9 opinion turn — the closest thing yet to the B1 summative.
- The clearest before/after in the programme: routine description at Stage 0, argued position here.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. Reward longer, connected sentences — that is the objective. This is a discourse unit, not an accuracy unit. A learner joining three clauses clumsily has done better than one producing three short perfect sentences. L01's grammar is the mirrored pair: because points backwards to the cause, so points forwards to the result. Learners who see them as a pair stop swapping them. Keep so against so that to two clear examples — result against purpose — and do not lecture. Watch the doubled connector (✗ Because ..., so ...), which is direct Arabic interference and appears again in L02. L02's however is the "sounds educated" upgrade, and its punctuation is the whole difficulty: full stop → However → comma. Model it visibly. The concede-then-counter move (I agree that..., however...) is the transferable skill and it reappears in L05 and U10. L03 is the cheapest fluency gain in the stage. Sequencers add no grammatical difficulty and immediately make a turn sound planned. Teach the announce-the-number frame explicitly: it tells the listener the shape and buys the speaker thinking time. Note the form constraint on as well as (+ noun or -ing, never a clause), and drill the rise-rise-fall list contour — without the final fall, learners cannot signal that their turn is over, which causes real trouble in U10. L04 is the keystone. Drill opinion → reason → example until it is automatic. The example is the part learners skip and the part that convinces. Tell them plainly that the content of the opinion is not assessed, so they should pick the side they can explain fastest rather than the side they believe. Teach hedging — absolute statements sound aggressive, not confident. L05 is a dress rehearsal for the summative. Score organisation and justification above accuracy, refuse unsupported opinions, and give a real counter-argument rather than a prompt.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: because against so · so against so that · however position and punctuation · doubled connectors · as well as + -ing · the three parts of an argued opinion.
- Speaking task: the L05 opinion turn, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold) with an eye on Interaction.
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker and flags list intonation plus faded reasons for the review queue.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → UNIT 10 — DISCUSSION SKILLS agreeing, disagreeing, hedging, and holding your place in a live conversation without freezing.

Empire English 🏰 · Stage 2 · Legionary rank · consistency beats intensity

BECAUSE · SO · SO THAT — REASON & RESULT

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 9 · Lesson 1 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: Unit 8 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit9-connecting-ideas-opinions.md · S2-U9-L01

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: link a reason with because · link a result with so · express purpose with so that · build longer, connected sentences.

Reward smoother, longer sentences — that is the actual objective. This unit is about discourse, not accuracy. A learner joining three clauses with one clumsy connector has done better than one producing three short perfect sentences. so against so that is subtle; do not over-explain it. So = result (what happened). So that = purpose (why you did it). Two clear examples land it; a lecture does not. The direction of the two main connectors is the whole grammar: because points backwards to the cause, so points forwards to the effect. Learners who see them as a mirrored pair stop swapping them. This begins the run-up to the summative. U9–U11 are the discourse units, and the B1 speaking task is opinion-plus-discussion. Frame the unit that way from lesson one. Support: the connector card. Stretch: one sentence carrying a reason and a result. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Give a reason with because.
- Give a result with so.
- Express purpose with so that. 🗣️

بتشاور على النتيجة so بتشاور على السبب، و because.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

From here to the end of the stage, the target is no longer new tenses — it is connected speech. Two short sentences say the same thing as one joined sentence, but the joined one sounds like an adult thinking, and it is what the B1 assessment listens for.

والهدف بقى إنك تربط، مش إنك تحفظ زمن جديد.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

Say three facts about your week as separate short sentences. Notice the gaps between them.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Expose the choppiness deliberately — this unit's whole value is closing those gaps.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Explaining a decision (📞 in the portal).

A: Why did you leave the last job? B: Mainly because the commute was three hours a day, so I never saw my family. A: That's a good reason. B: I stayed two years because I wanted the experience, but in the end I was exhausted, so I applied somewhere closer. A: And now? B: Now I work fifteen minutes away. I took a small pay cut so that I could keep the time — and honestly it was the best decision I've made. A: So the money mattered less than the hours. B: Exactly. I moved so that I'd have a life, not a better salary.

Notice the directions. Because always introduces the cause — the commute, the experience. So always introduces the result — never seeing family, applying elsewhere. And so that gives the purpose of a deliberate choice.

English	بالعربي
because the commute was long	لأن الطريق كان طويل
so I never saw my family	فمكنتش بشوف عيلتي
so that I could keep the time	عشان أحافظ على وقتي
in the end	في الآخر

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners mark each connector cause · result · purpose. The three-way sort is the lesson.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Two connectors, opposite directions.

Connector	Introduces	Points
because	the cause	← backwards
so	the result	→ forwards

I was tired because I worked late. — cause after I worked late, so I was tired. — result after Both sentences describe the same two facts. Only the order and the connector change.

خد بالك: الاتنين بيوصفوا نفس الحقيقتين، بس الترتيب بيتقلب مع الكلمة. ⚠️

1) so that = purpose. It answers what for? and usually takes can · could · would:

I left early, so I caught the train.	result — what happened
I left early so that I could catch the train.	purpose — my intention

2) Punctuation.

..., so ... — comma before so ... because ... — usually no comma Because ..., ... — comma when it starts the sentence

3) because of + a noun. No verb follows:

I was late because of the traffic. ✓ — noun I was late because the traffic was bad. ✓ — clause I was late because of the traffic was bad. ✗

4) Answering why? in speech. A short because answer is completely natural:

— Why didn't you come? — Because I was working.

5) Do not double the connector. Arabic can mark both halves; English marks one:

Because I was tired, so I went home. ✗ → pick one.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Three minutes on the mirrored pair, two on so that, one on because of, one on the doubled connector — which is a direct interference error and worth naming.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
because	لأن	...because it was late.
because of	بسبب	...because of the traffic.
so	فـ	It was late, so I left.
so that	عشان	...so that I could rest.
that's why	عشان كده	That's why I left.
the reason is...	السبب إن...	The reason is simple.
as a result	نتيجة لكده	As a result, we were late.
in the end	في الآخر	In the end, I resigned.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — a small pause before the connector, not after.

I worked late ☒ so I was tired. I was tired ☒ because I worked late.

The pause marks the join. Learners who pause after the connector — "because ... I worked late" — sound hesitant, as if searching for the reason.

Part 2 — connectors are unstressed. They are signposts:

I was TIREd bikəz I worked LATE.

because → /bɪkəz/, and in fast speech often just /kəz/.

Part 3 — keep the two halves at the same speed. The commonest fluency problem here is a strong first clause followed by a mumbled second one. The reason is usually the interesting part — do not throw it away.

🎧 Record & compare: "I left the job because the commute was too long, so now I work nearby."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on pause placement, one on /bɪkəz/, two on keeping both halves audible. Pause placement is the highest-value item.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — because or so?

1. It was raining, _____ we stayed in.
2. We stayed in _____ it was raining.
3. I was hungry, _____ I made a sandwich.
4. I made a sandwich _____ I was hungry.

Exercise 2 — join them both ways.

The bus was late. I missed the meeting.

1. with because: _____
2. with so: _____

Exercise 3 — so or so that?

1. I set two alarms _____ I wouldn't oversleep.
2. I overslept, _____ I missed the train.
3. She spoke slowly _____ everyone could understand.

Exercise 4 — fix the mistake.

1. Because I was tired, so I went home. → _____
2. I was late because of the traffic was bad. → _____
3. I stayed home so that I was tired. → _____

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: so · because · so · because. Ex3: so that · so · so that. Ex4: drop one connector · because the traffic was bad · because I was tired. Ex4.1 is the interference error — worth saying aloud twice.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Explain one real decision you made — the reason with because, the result with so, and the purpose with so that.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: correct direction for each connector, no doubled connector, one accurate so that, and the pause before the join.

📋 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post one decision explained with because, so and so that.
- Start saying why. Until now you have mostly reported facts. From this week, add a reason to your opinions even when nobody asks for one — it is the single habit this unit exists to build.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- because → the cause, pointing backwards. so → the result, pointing forwards.
- Same two facts, different order.
- so that = purpose, usually with can · could · would.
- because of + noun · because + clause.
- Never double them: ❌ Because ..., so ...
- Pause before the connector; keep it unstressed.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) so · 2) because · 3) so · 4) because
- Ex2: 1) I missed the meeting because the bus was late. · 2) The bus was late, so I missed the meeting.
- Ex3: 1) so that · 2) so · 3) so that
- Ex4: 1) I was tired, so I went home. · 2) ...because the traffic was bad. · 3) ...so that I could rest.

Empire English 🏰 — سبب ونتيجة في جملة واحدة

ALTHOUGH · BUT · HOWEVER — CONTRAST

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 9 · Lesson 2 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit9-connecting-ideas-opinions.md · S2-U9-L02

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 7 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 7 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: contrast two ideas with but, although and however · place and punctuate however correctly · hold two sides of a point. However* is the "sounds educated" upgrade of this unit, and its punctuation is the tricky bit. It starts a new sentence and takes a comma after it — not the middle-of-sentence slot where but lives. Model it visibly; learners who master it sound noticeably more advanced. The classic error is treating however as but: ❌ "It was expensive however I bought it." Give them the physical rule — full stop, then However, then comma. The other error is doubling, exactly as in L01: ❌ "Although it was late, but I stayed." Arabic marks both halves; English marks one. Nuance is a fluency marker, so name it. A learner who can concede a point and then disagree is doing something an A2 speaker cannot. That is worth saying out loud. Support: the contrast card with punctuation shown. Stretch: concede a point, then counter it. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Contrast two ideas with but, although and however.
- Punctuate however correctly.
- Hold two sides of an argument in one turn. 🗣️

التناقض بيخلي كلامك أنضج: بتعترف بحاجة، وبعدين تقول رأيك.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Real opinions are rarely one-sided. "The pay was good, however the hours were impossible" is a more honest and more adult sentence than either half alone. This is also where written English starts to matter — however is one of the clearest signals of an educated register.

ولاحظ إن however بتبدأ جملة جديدة، وبعدها فاصلة. دي أهم نقطة في الدرس.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01: two sentences with because and so, both properly joined.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Reason and result first; contrast is the third relation and the more sophisticated one.

 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Two views on a city (📺 in the portal).

A: How was Dubai? B: Impressive, but exhausting. Everything works, although it doesn't feel very real. A: In what way? B: The infrastructure is extraordinary. However, you can't walk anywhere. Although I was only there for a week, I never once left a building without getting into a car. A: Would you live there? B: The salaries are excellent. However, I'd miss having a street to walk down. Although plenty of people manage perfectly well, it wouldn't suit me. A: So a good place to work, not to live. B: That's it exactly.

Notice the positions. But sits inside a sentence. Although introduces a clause, at the start or the middle. However begins a new sentence and is followed by a comma.

English	بالعربي
impressive but exhausting	مبهر بس متعب
although it doesn't feel real	مع إنه مش بيبان حقيقي
However, you can't walk.	لكن، مش بتقدر تمشي
it wouldn't suit me	مش هتناسبني

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners mark where each connector sits. The three different positions are the grammar.

 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Three ways to contrast, three different positions.

Connector	Position	Example
but	joins two clauses, mid-sentence	It was cheap but slow.
although	starts a clause — front or middle	Although it was cheap, it was slow.*
however	starts a new sentence + comma	It was cheap. However, it was slow.

1) however punctuation — the item to get right:

It was expensive. However, I bought it. ✓ It was expensive, however I bought it. ✗ It was expensive however I bought it. ✗

The physical rule: full stop → However → comma.

⚠ خذ بالك: however بتبدأ جملة جديدة وبعدها فاصلة. مش زي but اللي بتيجي وسط الجملة.

2) although can go in either half:

Although it was raining, we walked. — comma after the clause We walked although it was raining. — no comma

3) Never double the connector:

Although it was late, but I stayed. ✗ → Although it was late, I stayed. ✓

4) A very useful move — concede, then counter:

*I agree that it's expensive. However, I think it's worth it. Although I understand the argument, I don't agree with it.

This is the shape of a mature opinion, and it is exactly what the summative rewards.

5) though is the casual spoken version, and it often goes at the end:

It was expensive. I bought it, though.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Two minutes on the three positions, three on however punctuation, one on doubling, one on concede-then-counter. The concession move is the transferable skill.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
but	بس	cheap but slow
although	مع إن	Although it was late...
however	لكن / مع ذلك	However, I disagree. though	بس (في الآخر)	It's good, though. on the other hand	من ناحية ثانية	On the other hand, it's cheap.
even though	رغم إن	Even though it rained...
I agree that..., however...	موافق إن..., لكن...	I agree that..., however...
it depends	على حسب	It depends, honestly.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — however takes a real pause after it. The comma is audible:

It was expensive. ☒ However, ☒ I bought it.

Two breaks: one before however, one after. That double break is what makes it sound deliberate rather than bolted on.

Part 2 — the contrast gets stress on both contrasted words:

It was CHEAP but SLOW. The pay was GOOD. However, the hours were IMPOSSIBLE.

If only one is stressed, the contrast disappears and the sentence sounds like a list.

Part 3 — although is unstressed and fast:

although → /ɔ:l'dʒəʊ/, but squeezed in a sentence — the /ð/ still needs to be there

Part 4 — end-position though falls away quietly:

I bought it, though. 🗑️ — low, quick, almost an afterthought

Record & compare: "The pay was good. However, the hours were impossible."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on the double pause around however, two on double-stressing the contrast, one on though. The double stress is what makes contrast audible.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — *but, although or however?

1. The flat was small, _____ it was cheap.
2. _____ the flat was small, we took it.
3. The flat was small. _____, it was cheap.
4. I don't usually like coffee. _____, this one was excellent.

Exercise 2 — rewrite with however.

1. It was expensive but I bought it. → _____
2. Although I was tired, I finished it. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. It was late, however I stayed. → _____
2. Although it was raining, but we walked. → _____
3. However it was expensive, I bought it. → _____

Exercise 4 — concede, then counter. Three topics. For each, admit the other side, then give your view: working from home · learning grammar · social media.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~7 min. Ex1: but · Although · However · However. Ex3: It was late. However, I stayed. · drop but · Although it was expensive... Ex4 rehearses the summative move directly.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Give a two-sided view on one topic: one but, one although, and one however used correctly.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: however starting a new sentence with a comma, no doubled connectors, both contrasted words stressed, and one genuine concession.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a two-sided opinion using all three connectors.
- You can hold two sides now. That is a real marker of fluency — not knowing more words, but being able to admit a point and still disagree with it.

REMEMBER — افكر

- but mid-sentence · although starts a clause · however starts a new sentence + comma.
- The rule: full stop → However → comma.
- Never double: ❌ Although ..., but ...
- though is the casual version and often sits at the end.
- Stress both contrasted words, and pause twice around however.
- Concede, then counter: I agree that..., however...

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) but · 2) Although · 3) However · 4) However
- Ex2: 1) It was expensive. However, I bought it. · 2) I was tired. However, I finished it.
- Ex3: 1) It was late. However, I stayed. · 2) Although it was raining, we walked. · 3) Although it was expensive, I bought it.

ADDING & SEQUENCING IDEAS

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 9 · Lesson 3 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01–L02 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit9-connecting-ideas-opinions.md · S2-U9-L03

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: add ideas with also · in addition · as well as · sequence arguments with firstly · secondly · finally · organise a longer turn. Structure lowers cognitive load, and that is the real benefit — say it explicitly. A learner who announces "there are two reasons" has bought themselves thinking time and told the listener what to expect. Praise clear organisation; it directly supports the summative. Sequencers are the cheapest fluency gain in the stage. They add no grammatical difficulty and immediately make a turn sound planned. Learners who resist them usually just have not been told how much they help. As well as is followed by a noun or *-ing, not a clause: ❌ "as well as it is cheap" → ✅ "as well as being cheap." Watch list intonation. Items rise, the last one falls. Without that, a list sounds like it never ends — and the listener cannot tell when the turn is over. Support: the connector card with all four categories from L01–L03. Stretch: three organised reasons with an example each. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Add ideas: also · in addition · as well as.
- Organise them: firstly · secondly · finally.
- Sound planned rather than improvised. 🎤

الترتيب مش رفاهية: بيقلل الحمل عليك، وبيخلي اللي بيسمعك عارف إنت رايع فين.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Announcing your structure buys you two things at once: the listener knows where you are going, and you get a moment to think. "There are two reasons" is a complete sentence that commits you to nothing and gives you time — which is why confident speakers use it constantly.

وإنك تقول عدد الأسباب بيوفر لك وقت تفكير.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L01–L02: one because, one so, one however, all correctly placed.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Reason, result and contrast are live; addition and sequence complete the set.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Someone arguing a point in an organised way (🗣️ in the portal).

I think remote work suits some jobs and not others, and there are three reasons.

Firstly, it depends on the work itself. Writing and analysis are easier at home. Secondly, it depends on the person — I know people who need an office to function at all. In addition, there's the question of experience: junior staff learn by overhearing things, which you simply cannot do on a video call.

As well as those, there's the commute. I save two hours a day, and I also save money.

Finally, and this is the part people forget, it depends on your home. Not everyone has a room to work in. So, overall, I'd say it works — but not for everyone.

Notice the frame. He announces three reasons at the start, marks each one, adds two more with in addition and as well as, and closes with finally plus a summary. You always know where you are.

English	بالعربي
there are three reasons	فيه ثلاث أسباب
Firstly... Secondly...	أولاً... ثانيًا...
In addition...	وكمان...
Finally, ...	وأخيرًا...

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners count the signposts. Ask what the opening sentence does for the speaker — it announces a plan and buys time.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

1) Adding an idea.

Connector	Position	Example
also	before the main verb, or after be	I also think... · It's also cheaper. too	end of the sentence	It's cheaper too. as well	end of the sentence	It's cheaper as well.
in addition	starts a sentence + comma	In addition, it's cheaper.
as well as	+ noun or -ing	As well as saving money...

⚠ خذ بالك: بعد as well as بيجي اسم أو فعل بـ -ing، مش جملة كاملة.

As well as being cheap, it's fast. ✅ As well as it is cheap, it's fast. ❌

2) Sequencing an argument.

Firstly ... Secondly ... Finally ...

Or more casually: For a start ... Then ... And the last thing is ...

3) The frame that does the most work — announce the number:

There are two reasons for that. Firstly, ... Secondly, ...

Say the number and the listener relaxes, because they know the shape of what is coming.

4) Closing a list matters as much as opening it:

So, overall, ... · All in all, ... · That's why I think ...

Without a closing signal, listeners keep waiting for another item.

5) You now have all four relations. This is the complete toolkit:

Relation	Words
reason	because · because of result	so · that's why · as a result contrast	but · although · however
addition	also · in addition · as well as

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on addition (with the as well as form warning), two on sequencing and the announce-the-number frame, two on closing. Keep the four-relation table visible for L04 and L05.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
also	كمان	I also think that... too / as well	كمان (في الآخر)	It's cheap too.
in addition	بالإضافة لكده	In addition, it's fast. as well as	بالإضافة إلى	As well as being cheap...
firstly / secondly	أولاً / ثانيًا	Firstly, it's cheaper.
finally	وأخيرًا	Finally, there's the cost.
there are two reasons	فيه سببين	There are two reasons. overall	بشكل عام	Overall, I'd say yes.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

List intonation: items rise, the last one falls.

Firstly, ⬆ ... Secondly, ⬆ ... Finally, ⬇ ...

That final fall is the audible signal that your turn is finished. Without it, listeners wait — and in a discussion they will not interrupt a rising tune, so you end up talking longer than you meant to.

Within a short list, the same shape applies:

It's cheap, ⬆ fast, ⬆ and reliable. ⬇

Signposts get their own group and a small pause after them:

Firstly, ☐ it depends on the work.

And also is unstressed — it is a joining word, not the news:

I ALSO think... ❌ over-stressed I also THINK it's better... ✅

 Record & compare: "Firstly, it's cheaper. Secondly, it's faster. Finally, it's more reliable."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Three minutes on the rise-rise-fall shape — it is the most practically useful prosody in the unit — and two on signpost grouping.

TRAIN — تَدْرِبْ

Exercise 1 — put the word in the right place.

1. I think it's a good idea. (also) → _____
2. It's expensive. (too) → _____
3. It's fast. (in addition) → _____

Exercise 2 — complete with as well as.

1. _____ (be cheap), it's reliable. → _____
2. _____ (work full time), she studies. → _____

Exercise 3 — organise it. Turn these three loose ideas into an organised turn with signposts and a closing.

cheaper · closer to home · I can choose my hours

Exercise 4 — fix the mistake.

1. As well as it is cheap, it's fast. → _____
2. I think also it's better. → _____
3. In addition it's cheaper. (punctuation) → _____

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex2: As well as being cheap · As well as working full time. Ex4: As well as being cheap · I also think · In addition, it's cheaper. Ex3 is the assessment — require an opening number and a closing signal.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Give three reasons for a real opinion. Announce the number, signpost each reason, add one with also or in addition, and close with overall.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: number announced, three signposts, one correct addition connector, a closing signal, and rise-rise-fall intonation across the list.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post three organised reasons for an opinion, with signposts.
- Structure beats speed. You do not need to talk faster to sound fluent. Announcing "there are two reasons" makes you sound more organised and gives you time to think — both at once.

REMEMBER — افكر

- also before the main verb · too / as well at the end · in addition starts a sentence.
- as well as + noun or -ing, never a clause.
- Firstly · Secondly · Finally — and announce the number first.
- Close the list: overall · all in all.
- Items rise, the last one falls.
- You now have all four relations: reason · result · contrast · addition.

SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) I also think it's a good idea. · 2) It's expensive too. · 3) In addition, it's fast.
- Ex2: 1) As well as being cheap, it's reliable. · 2) As well as working full time, she studies.
- Ex4: 1) As well as being cheap... · 2) I also think... · 3) In addition, it's cheaper.

EXPRESSING & JUSTIFYING AN OPINION

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 9 · Lesson 4 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01–L03 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit9-connecting-ideas-opinions.md · S2-U9-L04

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: state an opinion with a clear frame · justify it with a reason · support it with an example. This is the keystone skill of Stage 2. The B1 summative is opinion-plus-discussion, so drill opinion → reason → example until it is automatic. If a learner leaves this unit with one reliable three-part shape, the summative is winnable. The three-part shape is the whole lesson. An opinion alone is a preference. An opinion with a reason is an argument. An opinion with a reason and an example is convincing — and the example is the part learners skip. Do not let them hunt for the "right" opinion. At B1 the content is not assessed; the structure and clarity are. Say so, because learners waste effort deciding what to think instead of practising how to say it. Hedging matters. I think · in my opinion · it seems to me soften a claim appropriately. A learner who states everything as absolute fact sounds aggressive rather than confident. Support: the opinion-frame card. Stretch: opinion, reason, example, then acknowledge the other side with however. Arabic ~10% — mostly English now.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- State an opinion clearly: In my opinion...
- Give a reason: because...
- Give an example: for example... 🎙️

الشكل الثلاثي هو أهم حاجة في المرحلة: رأي، سبب، مثال.

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

This is the sentence shape the B1 assessment is built on, and it is also how educated adults actually argue. An opinion on its own is just a preference. Add a reason and it becomes an argument; add an example and it becomes convincing.

والمثال هو اللي بيترك: من غيره الكلام يبقى مجرد تفضيل.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From L03: three signposted reasons for any opinion, with a closing signal.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Organisation is live from L03; today adds the frame and the example.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Two people disagreeing well (🗣️ in the portal).

A: In my opinion, exams are a bad way to measure learning, because they test memory under pressure rather than understanding. For example, I had a colleague at university who was brilliant in every seminar and failed every written exam. B: I see your point, however I'd argue that exams are at least fair — everyone gets the same questions. Personally, I think the problem isn't exams, it's what we choose to examine. A: That's true, actually. Although I still think coursework tells you more. B: It depends on the subject, doesn't it? I'd say for medicine you want an exam. For literature, you don't. A: Fair enough. I hadn't thought about it that way.

Notice the pattern. Every opinion arrives inside a frame, every frame is followed by a reason, and the strongest turn includes a concrete example. Notice also that they acknowledge each other — I see your point · that's true · fair enough.

English	بالعربي
In my opinion...	في رأيي...
because they test memory	لأنها بتقيس الحفظ
For example...	مثلاً...
I see your point.	فاهم قصدك

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners find the three parts in A's first turn. Then ask which turn was most convincing and why — the answer is always the one with the example.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

The three-part shape. Learn it as one unit.

1 Opinion → In my opinion, exams are unfair. 2 Reason → ...because they only test memory. 3 Example → ...For example, my colleague failed every exam but understood everything.

1) Opinion frames, from neutral to personal:

Frame	Feel
I think...	the everyday default
In my opinion...	slightly more formal
I believe...	stronger conviction
Personally, I...	marks it as your own view
I'd say...	soft, tentative
It seems to me that...	cautious, thoughtful

2) Reasons and examples:

reason: because · the reason is · that's why example: for example · for instance · such as · like (casual)

⚠ خذ بالك: المثال هو اللي الناس بتنساه، وهو اللي بيخلي رأيك مقنع.

3) Hedging keeps you credible. Absolute statements invite argument:

Exams are useless. — an attack In my opinion, exams tend to be a poor measure. — an argument Useful hedges: tend to · often · in most cases · it depends on.

4) Agreeing and disagreeing politely — you will need these in L05 and U10:

Agree	Partly	Disagree
I agree. · Exactly. · Fair enough.	I see your point, however... · That's true, but...	I'm not sure I agree. · I'd disagree, actually.

5) The content does not matter. Nobody is scoring your view. Pick the side you can explain fastest.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Three minutes on the three-part shape — drill it out loud, several learners, same topic — two on frames and hedging, one on the agree/disagree table.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
In my opinion...	في رأيي...	In my opinion, it's wrong.
Personally, I think...	شخصيًا أنا شايف...	Personally, I think so.
I'd say...	أنا أقول...	I'd say it depends.
because	لأن	...because it's cheaper.
For example / for instance	مثلًا	For example, last year...
it tends to be...	غالبًا يكون...	It tends to be slower.
I see your point.	فاهم قصدك	I see your point, however...
It depends on...	على حسب...	It depends on the subject.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the frame is fast; the opinion is stressed.

In my opinion, ☒ exams are UNFAIR.

In my opinion is scaffolding. Stressing it makes you sound as if the fact that it is your opinion is the news.

Part 2 — the reason gets its own beat, and it must not fade.

...because they only test MEMORY.

The commonest fluency failure in this lesson is a confident opinion followed by a mumbled reason — which loses exactly the half that makes it an argument.

Part 3 — for example is one chunk with a pause after it:

for example → /fəˈɪɡˈzɑːmpəl/ ☒

Part 4 — hedges are said low and quick, which is what makes them sound reasonable rather than uncertain:

It tends to be... — quiet, unhurried

 Record & compare: "In my opinion, exams are unfair, because they only test memory. For example..."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on frame-versus-opinion stress, two on protecting the reason, one on for example. The fading reason is the thing to listen for.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — complete the three parts.

1. In my opinion, social media is _____ because _____. For example, _____.
2. I'd say learning grammar is _____ because _____. For instance, _____.

Exercise 2 — add the missing part. Each has two of the three.

1. I think homework is useless. For example, I never did mine. → missing: _____
2. In my opinion cities are stressful, because they're crowded. → missing: _____

Exercise 3 — hedge it. Make each less absolute.

1. Exams are useless. → _____
2. Everyone hates commuting. → _____

Exercise 4 — three rounds. Your partner names a topic; you give opinion, reason and example within twenty seconds. Swap. Topics: working from home · public transport · learning a language as an adult · social media.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex2: 1) a reason · 2) an example. Ex3: tend to be a poor measure · most people find commuting tiring. Give Ex4 at least four minutes — the twenty-second limit forces the shape to become automatic.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Give your opinion on two topics. Each one: opinion → reason → example. Hedge at least once.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: all three parts present for both topics, a correct frame, at least one hedge, and an audible reason that does not fade.

📋 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post one opinion in three parts, then respond to somebody else's with I see your point, however...
- Your opinion matters, and it does not need to be perfect English. Say it imperfectly and clearly rather than correctly and never. That is the whole point of B1.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- Opinion → reason → example. Drill it until it is automatic.
- The example is the part people skip, and the part that convinces.
- Frames: I think · In my opinion · Personally · I'd say · It seems to me.
- Hedge to stay credible: tends to · often · it depends on.
- Acknowledge others: I see your point, however...
- Fast frame, stressed opinion, and never let the reason fade.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex2: 1) missing a reason · 2) missing an example
- Ex3: 1) In my opinion, exams tend to be a poor measure. · 2) Most people seem to find commuting tiring.

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 9 · Lesson 5 — UNIT MILESTONE 🕒 ~40 min · 📞 Recorded + live (assessment-style) · Prerequisite: L01–L04 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit9-connecting-ideas-opinions.md · S2-U9-L05

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 5 · Rehearse 8 · Record 5 · Feedback 3 · Assign 1. Objectives: give and justify an opinion in a sustained turn · connect ideas with all four relations · acknowledge another view · record the Unit-9 talk. This directly rehearses the B1 summative, which is opinion-plus-discussion. Treat it as a dress rehearsal and say so — the format is the same, only shorter. It is also a strong proof clip and a confidence marker. Put it beside the learner's Stage-0 recording: from describing a daily routine to arguing a position. That is the clearest single demonstration of the whole programme. Score organisation and justification above accuracy. A well-structured, well-signposted turn with three tense slips is stronger B1 evidence than two flawless sentences. Do not accept an unsupported opinion. If the reason or the example is missing, prompt for it — that habit is the point of the unit. Support: 8 sentences with the checklist and the connector card. Stretch: handle a genuine counter-argument from the assessor. Arabic ~5% — near-immersion.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Argue a position for 8–10 connected sentences.
- Use reason, result, contrast and addition.
- Acknowledge the other side and still hold your view.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: a because → a so → an although → a however → an in addition → one opinion frame.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast, no repeats. This sweeps the whole connector toolkit before the sustained turn.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model opinion turn (🗣️ in the portal).

In my opinion, learning grammar rules explicitly is still worth the time, and there are two main reasons.

Firstly, rules give you something to check against. For example, when I write an email now, I can look at a sentence and know why it's wrong, so I can fix it myself. Before, I only knew it felt wrong, which wasn't much use.

Secondly, grammar is faster than waiting for exposure. Although children learn without rules, they get thousands of hours that adults simply don't have. In addition, most of us are learning while working full time.

However, I'd admit that rules alone don't produce fluency. I see the argument that too much grammar makes people afraid to speak, and because I was that person for years, I take it seriously.

Overall, I'd say grammar is necessary but not sufficient. You need both.

Notice everything working together. An opinion frame, an announced number, two signposted reasons, an example, a concession with however, a relative clause from U6, and a closing summary. This is what B1 range sounds like.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for the argument, once for the machinery. Ask learners to count the connectors — there are more than they expect, and none of them is difficult.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست الرأي

1. ✅ An opinion frame — In my opinion · Personally · I'd say
2. ✅ Announce the number of reasons
3. ✅ Two signposted reasons — firstly · secondly
4. ✅ At least one example — for example · for instance
5. ✅ One contrast — although · however
6. ✅ One addition — also · in addition · as well as
7. ✅ A closing signal — overall · all in all
8. ★ Acknowledge the other side — I see your point, however...
9. ★ Handle one counter-argument from the assessor

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Items 4 and 8 are the discriminators between a list of assertions and an argument.

ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- list intonation — items rise ↗, the last one falls ↘
- double stress on contrast — cheap but slow
- the double pause around however — full stop, However, comma
- unstressed frames — in my opinion is scaffolding, not news
- protecting the reason — it must not fade after a confident opinion
- /bɪkəz/ and /fə'ri:g'zɑ:mpəl/ as single chunks

Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One personal target each. The falling final item is the priority — without it, learners cannot signal that their turn has ended, which causes real problems in U10's discussions.

YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse against the checklist with a partner, then record.

Give your opinion on one topic in 8–10 sentences. Announce your reasons, signpost them, include an example, concede something with however, and close with a summary. Then respond to one counter-argument.

Choose one: Is social media good for society? · Should university be free? · Is working from home better? · Is it too late to learn a language as an adult?

Record it and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min recording + 3 feedback. Give a real counter-argument after the recording — not a prompt to continue, an actual objection. Handling it is the interaction evidence. Success check (Unit-9): a connected 8–10 sentence argued opinion with a frame, two signposted reasons, at least one example, one correct contrast, one addition, and a closing (rubric: Fluency + Interaction + Range at B1). Score organisation and justification above form accuracy. Pair it with the Stage-0 recording where consent allows. Routine description to argued position is the single most persuasive before/after in the programme.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your opinion turn, then reply to a classmate's with I see your point, however...
- Complete the Unit-9 quiz.
- Give one opinion with a reason every day this week — in a message, a comment, out loud in the car. The shape becomes automatic through repetition, not through study.

REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 9 WRAP)

- because → cause  · so → result  · so that → purpose.
- but mid-sentence · although starts a clause · however = full stop, comma.
- also before the verb · as well as + noun or -ing · in addition starts a sentence.
- Announce the number, signpost, then close: overall.
- Opinion → reason → example — and the example is the part people skip.
- Hedge to stay credible; concede to sound mature.
- Items rise, the last one falls.

SELF-CHECK — UNIT 9 MINI-QUIZ

1. I stayed in ___ it was raining. (cause) → because
2. It was raining, ___ I stayed in. (result) → so
3. I left early ___ I could catch the train. (purpose) → so that
4. It was expensive. ___, I bought it. → However
5. ___ it was late, I stayed. → Although
6. Although it was late, but I stayed. → wrong; drop but
7. As well as ___ (be) cheap, it's fast. → being
8. I ___ think it's better. (also) → also think
9. The three parts of an argued opinion → opinion, reason, example
10. Intonation on the last item of a list → falls

🎉 UNIT 9 COMPLETE — بقيت تدافع عن رأيك

You can connect ideas with reason, result, contrast and addition; state an opinion, justify it, illustrate it, and concede a point without losing your position.

Next → Unit 10: Discussion Skills. Agreeing, disagreeing, hedging, and holding your place in a real conversation — under pressure, without freezing. 🏰

Empire English 🏰 — من وصف الروتينين لمناقشة الرأي

STAGE 2 · UNIT 10

DISCUSSION SKILLS

👑 UNIT 10 — DISCUSSION SKILLS

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 10 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit10-discussion-skills.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 10 you'll hold a real discussion — react to what people actually say, disagree without offending anyone, soften your claims, take your turn, and close the conversation. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تناقش فعلاً — ترد، وتعترض بأدب، وتحافظ على دورك.

Why this is the "cope independently" unit: Unit 9 taught you to state and justify an opinion. That is a monologue. This unit is about what happens when somebody answers you — and that is where B1 is actually won or lost.

والوحدة دي بالإنجليزي بس. لو ضاعت كلمة، وصّفها أو لَفّ حولها.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	Agreeing & adding	listen → react → add — never just approve
L02	Disagreeing politely	acknowledge → object → reason, with a softening rise
L03	Hedging & softening	make claims defensible and buy thinking time
L04	Structured discussion	manage the turn: get in, hold, come back, summarise
L05	Discuss with a partner (milestone) 🎤	a 3–4 minute discussion + record your milestone

Grammar spine: functional language — agreement strengths, polite disagreement, hedging, and turn management, layered on Unit 9's connectors and opinion frames. Accent Lab: warm agreement intonation · the softening rise on disagreement · unstressed but · unstressed hedges · interrupting higher, not louder · the falling turn-end that hands over the floor. Mindset: speaking under pressure without freezing — hedges and fillers keep you in the room. Arabic support: ~5% throughout — near-immersion, English-only instructions.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-10 discussion — an unscripted conversation in a second language.
- The three phrase sets that make you a participant rather than a spectator.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. The behaviour to build across the whole unit is listen → react → add. Learners here state opinions competently and then go silent, treating discussion as a queue of monologues. Closing that gap is the unit's real objective, and it is worth more than any phrase list. L01: agreement has strengths and learners own only the weakest. One flat I agree for everything sounds uninterested. Also forbid echoing — repeating the other person's sentence is not adding, and it kills the topic. L02 is an intonation lesson wearing a phrasebook. "I'm not sure I agree" delivered flat is colder than a warm "No". Learners get the words right, deliver them harshly, and conclude that English speakers are unfriendly. Model the softening rise repeatedly, keep but unstressed, and insist the acknowledgement comes first every single time. Say out loud that disagreeing here is safe — many learners avoid it entirely and quietly drop out of every discussion. L03: push hedging hard, and frame it as a fluency tool. It makes a claim defensible and buys processing time inside a natural phrase. Learners over-commit because absolutes are grammatically simpler. Warn against over-hedging too — a turn made only of hedges says nothing. L04 is the summative format in miniature. Set the topic, enforce English, then get out of the way. Manage the two failure modes — the dominant speaker and the silent one — by assigning the summariser role to the quietest person. The new content is turn management, which learners almost never have. L05 scores interaction above accuracy. Record the pair; the evidence is the exchange. This is a flagship confidence moment — name what it proves.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: agreement strengths · the three moves of polite disagreement · idea-not-person · hedges by function · turn-taking and summarising phrases.
- Speaking task: the L05 paired discussion, scored on the rubric (B1 threshold) with Interaction foremost.
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker and flags flat agreement plus harsh but for the review queue.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → UNIT 11 — STORYTELLING & REAL-WORLD TOPICS

the whole stage in use: detailed stories, work and study, familiar topics, and coping when a question catches you unprepared.

AGREEING & ADDING

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: agree naturally and at the right strength · add a related point rather than starting a new one · respond instead of waiting for a turn. The behaviour to build is listen → react → add. Learners at this level state opinions competently and then go silent, treating discussion as a queue of monologues. That is the single biggest gap between B1 on paper and B1 in a room. Agreement has strength levels, and learners only own the weakest. I agree is neutral; exactly and absolutely are strong; that's a good point concedes something. Using one flat phrase for everything makes a speaker sound uninterested. Adding is what keeps a discussion alive. Agreement alone closes a topic. "I agree — and what's more..." hands something back. Near-immersion from here. Instructions in English; Arabic only where a contrast genuinely prevents an error. Support: the agreement phrase card. Stretch: agree, add a point, then ask the other person a question. Arabic ~5%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Agree at the right strength — not always I agree.
- Add a point instead of just approving.
- Respond to someone rather than waiting to speak. 🗣️

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Most learners can state an opinion. Far fewer can respond to one — and a discussion is nothing but responses. If you only ever deliver your own view and stop, you are taking turns, not having a conversation.

والمناقشة مش أدوار كلام. لازم ترد وتضيف.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From Unit 9: one opinion in three parts — opinion, reason, example.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. The Unit-9 shape must be automatic; this unit is about what happens after somebody says it.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Two colleagues agreeing — and building (🗨️ in the portal).

A: I think open-plan offices are a mistake. Nobody can concentrate. B: Exactly. And what's more, the people who designed them don't sit in them. A: That's a very good point. B: I think so too. Plus, they're sold as collaborative, but everyone wears headphones all day. A: True. Although I'd say it depends on the job — designers seem to like it. B: Fair enough. I'd agree with that, actually. For focused work it's hopeless; for a team sketching something, maybe not. A: So the problem isn't the layout, it's applying one layout to everything. B: Absolutely. That's better put than what I said.

Notice: nobody merely agrees. Every agreement is followed by something new — a further point, a limit, or a reformulation. The conversation moves because each person adds.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners underline every agreement phrase and then the thing added after it. The pairing is the lesson.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Agreement comes in strengths. Choose deliberately.

Strength	Phrases
strong	Exactly. · Absolutely. · That's exactly what I think. neutral	I agree. · I think so too. · True. partial	That's a good point, although... · Fair enough, but... warm	I couldn't agree more. · You're absolutely right.

1) Then add. These four do most of the work:

And what's more ... · Plus, ... · Also, ... · On top of that, ...

2) The three-move pattern to internalise:

1 React → Exactly. 2 Add → And what's more, the designers don't sit in them. 3 Hand back → Don't you think?

3) Agreeing with part of something is more useful than total agreement, and sounds more thoughtful:

I agree with the first part, but I'm less sure about... That's true up to a point.

4) Do not just repeat their sentence. Echoing is not adding:

— Open-plan offices are noisy. — Yes, they are noisy. ❌ the topic dies — Yes, and the noise is worst in the afternoon. ✅

5) Short reactions keep the channel open while you think: Right. · Mm. · Sure. · Good point. These are not filler; they tell the speaker you are listening.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on strengths, two on adders, two on the three-move pattern. Drill it live: you state an opinion, each learner reacts and adds.

🗡️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
Exactly.	بالضبط	strong agreement
Absolutely.	تماماً	strong agreement
I think so too.	وأنا كمان	neutral
That's a good point.	نقطة مهمة	concedes
Fair enough.	معاك حق	accepts
And what's more...	وكمان...	And what's more, it's cheaper.
Plus...	وزيادة على كده...	Plus, nobody uses it. up to a point	لحد معين	That's true up to a point.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — agreement lives on warmth, not words.

Exactly. ➡ said high then falling — genuine Exactly. ➡ flat — sarcastic, or bored

Say "Exactly" three ways: enthusiastic, neutral, unimpressed. If a partner cannot tell them apart, the phrase is not doing its job — and in a discussion, flat agreement reads as disagreement.

Part 2 — the strong ones take real emphasis:

ex-ACT-ly · AB-so-lute-ly

Both stress the first syllable hard. Under-stressed, they sound like polite noise.

Part 3 — and what's more is one fast chunk:

and what's more → /ən'wɒtsmɔːr/ — the stress lands on more

Part 4 — short reactions are quiet and quick. Right · Mm · Sure should barely interrupt the other speaker.

 Record & compare: "Exactly. And what's more, nobody actually uses it."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. The three-way "Exactly" drill is the keeper. Flat agreement is extremely common among learners and is routinely misread as indifference.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — react and add. Agree, then add something new.

1. "Public transport here is too expensive." → _____
2. "Learning a language as an adult is harder." → _____
3. "Everyone spends too much time on their phone." → _____

Exercise 2 — choose the strength.

1. You completely agree. → _____
2. You agree with part of it. → _____
3. You accept their point but will add a limit. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the response. Each one closes the topic. Rewrite so it opens it.

1. — The traffic is terrible. — Yes, the traffic is terrible.

2. — This café is expensive. — I agree.

Exercise 4 — chain of three. In a group, one person gives an opinion. Each next person must react, add, and hand back. Keep it going for six turns.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Give Ex4 at least four minutes — it is the lesson. Insist on all three moves; the handing back is the part learners drop first.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Your partner gives an opinion. React, add a point, and hand it back — three times, on three topics.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: varied agreement strength, a genuinely new point each time (not an echo), a handover, and warm rather than flat delivery.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Reply to two classmates' posts — agree, then add something they did not say.
- Discussion is a two-way street. This week, when somebody says something you agree with, add one sentence instead of nodding. That habit alone changes how people experience talking to you.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Listen → react → add. Agreement alone closes a topic.
- Strengths: Exactly · Absolutely (strong) · I agree · True (neutral) · Good point, although... (partial).
- Adders: and what's more · plus · also · on top of that.
- Never echo their sentence back — add something new.
- Short reactions — Right · Mm · Sure — keep the channel open.
- Flat agreement sounds like disagreement.

SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex2: 1) Exactly / Absolutely · 2) That's true up to a point · 3) Fair enough, but...

- Ex3 (model): 1) Yes — and it's worst around the school run. · 2) I agree, and the coffee isn't even good.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: disagree politely · acknowledge before objecting · always attach a reason. Intonation is the lesson, not the phrases. "I'm not sure I agree" said flat is colder than "No" said warmly. Learners reach for the right words and deliver them harshly, then conclude English speakers are unfriendly. Model the softening rise repeatedly.

Acknowledge first — always. "I see your point, but..." is the single most useful discussion move in the language. Disagreement that arrives without acknowledgement reads as an attack regardless of the words used. A reason is compulsory. Bare disagreement is a wall; disagreement with a reason is a contribution. This links straight back to U9's opinion → reason shape. Make it low-stakes and practise it a lot. Many learners avoid disagreeing in English entirely, which quietly removes them from every discussion. Say explicitly that disagreeing is safe and normal here. Support: the disagreement phrase card, ordered by strength. Stretch: disagree, give a reason, then offer a middle position. Arabic ~5%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Disagree without sounding rude.
- Acknowledge the other view before objecting.
- Attach a reason every time. 🎤

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Learners often avoid disagreeing in English because they are not sure how to do it politely — and avoiding it removes them from the most interesting half of every conversation. The phrases are easy. The delivery is what makes them safe.

والنبرة أهم من الكلمات.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخِّن

From L01: react, add and hand back on one topic.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Agreement is live; today is its harder twin.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

A disagreement that stays friendly (🗨️ in the portal).

A: Honestly, I think remote work makes people lazy. B: I see your point — I've seen it happen. But in my experience it's more about management than the people. I'd say badly-managed teams are lazy wherever they sit. A: Maybe. Still, you lose something without an office. B: I'm not sure I agree with that. You lose the corridor conversations, although you gain three hours a day. For me, that's a good trade. A: For you. Not for a junior who needs to learn. B: That's a fair point, actually. I hadn't thought about juniors. So maybe it depends on where you are in your career. A: That I'd agree with.

Notice the order every time. Acknowledge → object → give a reason. And notice B concedes at the end — the disagreement improves the idea rather than winning.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners find the acknowledgement in each of B's turns. It is always there, and it is what keeps the exchange comfortable.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Three moves, in this order.

1 Acknowledge → I see your point... 2 Object → ...but I'd say... 3 Reason → ...because...

1) Acknowledgements — never skip this:

I see your point. · I know what you mean. · That's true, but... · I understand that, however...

2) Objections, from soft to direct:

Strength	Phrase
very soft	I'm not sure I agree. · I'm not convinced. soft	I'd say... · Actually, I think... · For me, ... direct	I disagree. · I don't think that's right. too direct	No. · You're wrong. ❌ avoid in a discussion

3) Actually is your friend. It softly signals a different view:

Actually, I found the opposite.

4) Disagree with the idea, not the person:

I don't agree with that. ✅ I don't agree with you. — noticeably sharper

5) The move that raises the level — offer a middle position:

Maybe it depends on... · Perhaps both are true... · So maybe the real issue is...

اعترف الأول. ⚠️

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the three moves, two on the strength ladder, two on idea-not-person plus the middle position. Insist on the acknowledgement in every practice turn.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I see your point, but...	فاهم قصدك، بس...	I see your point, but...
I'm not sure I agree.	مش متأكد إنني موافق	soft disagreement
I'm not convinced.	مش مقتنع	soft disagreement
Actually, ...	بالعكس / في الحقيقة	Actually, I found the opposite.
I'd say...	أنا أقول...	I'd say it's the management.
That's a fair point.	نقطة عادلة	concedes
In my experience...	من تجربتي...	In my experience, it's fine.
It depends on...	على حسب...	Maybe it depends on the job.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — the softening rise. This is the whole lesson.

I'm not sure I agree ↗ — gentle, open, invites a reply I'm not sure I agree → — flat, closed, sounds like contempt

The words cannot save a flat delivery. Say the same sentence twice — once as a friend who is curious, once as someone ending the conversation — and hear how little the words matter.

Part 2 — the acknowledgement is warm and slightly slower:

I see your point... — unhurried, then a small pause before but

Rushing through the acknowledgement makes it sound like a formality, which is worse than omitting it.

Part 3 — but is unstressed. Learners hit it hard, which turns the sentence adversarial:

I see your point, bat I'd say... ✓ I see your point, BUT I'd say... — combative

Part 4 — actually is quick and low, three syllables in English speech: /'æktʃəli/.

🔊 Record & compare: "I see your point, but I'm not sure I agree — in my experience it's the opposite."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Three minutes on the rise, two on the unstressed but and the unhurried acknowledgement. This is the highest-value Accent Lab in the unit: the grammar is trivial and the delivery is everything.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — soften it. Rewrite each as a polite disagreement with a reason.

1. No, that's wrong. → _____
2. I disagree completely. → _____
3. That makes no sense. → _____

Exercise 2 — add the missing move. Each is missing one of the three.

1. But I'd say it's the management. → missing: _____
2. I see your point, but I disagree. → missing: _____

Exercise 3 — disagree, three ways. Take this opinion and disagree softly, then moderately, then directly:

"Everyone should learn to code."

Exercise 4 — six-turn discussion. In pairs, take a topic. You must disagree at least twice, always acknowledging first and always giving a reason. Then find a middle position.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex2: 1) an acknowledgement · 2) a reason. Give Ex4 four minutes — and listen specifically for the acknowledgement, which is the move that disappears under pressure.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Disagree with three opinions your partner gives. Each time: acknowledge, object, give a reason. End one of them with a middle position.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: an acknowledgement every time, a reason every time, varied strength, an audible softening rise, and an unstressed but.

📋 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Disagree politely with one classmate's post — acknowledge, object, give a reason.
- Disagreeing in English is safe. Practise it here, low-stakes, until it stops feeling risky. A learner who cannot disagree is only ever half in the conversation.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- Acknowledge → object → reason. In that order, every time.
- I see your point, but...* is the most useful move in the language.
- Ladder: I'm not sure I agree → I'd say → I disagree. Avoid You're wrong.
- Disagree with the idea, not the person: with that, not with you.
- Offer a middle position to raise the level.
- The rise 📈 is what makes it polite; keep but unstressed.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1 (models): 1) I see your point, but I'm not sure — in my experience... · 2) I know what you mean, although I'd say... · 3) I'm not convinced, because...

HEDGING & SOFTENING

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 10 · Lesson 3 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01–L02 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit10-discussion-skills.md · S2-U10-L03

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: soften claims with hedges · use hedging to buy thinking time · avoid over-committing to absolute statements.

Encourage hedging heavily — it is a fluency tool, not weakness. Two things happen at once: the claim becomes defensible, and the speaker gains a second of processing time inside a natural-sounding phrase. Learners who believe hedging is timid are losing both benefits. Many learners over-commit because absolute statements are grammatically simpler. "People are lazy" is easier to build than "some people tend to be a bit lazy" — but the first invites an argument the learner cannot yet defend. Hedges are unstressed and fast. Delivered slowly and heavily they sound uncertain rather than measured, which is the opposite of the intent. This is also the anti-freeze tool. "I suppose it depends..." keeps the turn while the learner thinks. Frame it that way and resistance disappears.

Support: the hedging phrase card. Stretch: hedge a strong claim three different ways. Arabic ~5%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Soften a claim so it is defensible.
- Use hedges to buy thinking time.
- Sound measured instead of absolute. 🎧

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

An absolute statement is easy to build and easy to attack. "Social media is bad" invites an immediate objection. "*Social media tends to be bad for teenagers, I think" is harder to argue with and gives you a moment to think while you say it. That is why fluent speakers hedge constantly.

والتحفظ مش ضعف.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Hedging will now be layered onto both agreement and disagreement.

Someone giving a careful opinion (📞 in the portal).

A: Do you think university is still worth it? B: Hmm. I suppose it depends on the subject. In my experience, it's kind of essential for medicine or engineering, but probably less so for something like marketing. A: So it's a waste for some people? B: I wouldn't go that far. I'd say it's maybe less necessary than it was. A lot of employers seem to care more about a portfolio now — at least in the fields I know. A: That's quite hedged. B: Well, I only really know one industry. I could be wrong, but that's more or less how it looks from here.

Notice what the hedges do. Every claim is limited — by subject, by field, by experience. B never says anything that could simply be shown to be false, and she is never lost for words either.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners remove every hedge and re-read B's turns aloud. The unhedged version sounds arrogant and is much easier to attack — that contrast is the lesson.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Hedges do three different jobs. Learn one from each column.

Soften the claim	Limit the scope	Buy time
I think · I guess · maybe	in my experience	Well, ...
probably · it seems	at least for me	Hmm, let me think
tends to · kind of	in most cases	I suppose...
I'd say · I wouldn't say	as far as I know	That's a good question

1) Softening a verb:

Social media is bad. → Social media tends to be bad. People don't read. → People seem to read less.

2) Limiting the scope — the most useful hedge of all, because it makes you honest:

...in my experience. · ...at least in my field. · ...as far as I know.

3) Buying time. These are complete, natural utterances that commit you to nothing:

Well... · Hmm, that's a good question. · I suppose it depends.

Use them instead of silence, and instead of switching to Arabic.

4) Admitting uncertainty raises your credibility:

I could be wrong, but... · I'm not sure, but I think...

5) The one caution — do not hedge everything. A turn made entirely of hedges says nothing. One or two per claim is plenty:

Maybe possibly I kind of think perhaps... ❌

⚠️ تحفظ واحد أو اثنين كفاية.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the three jobs, two on scope-limiting (the highest-value column), two on time-buying. Warn against over-hedging or the next lesson fills with vagueness.

I could be wrong, but...	يمكن أكون غلط، بس...	I could be wrong, but... more or less	تقريبًا	More or less, yes.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — hedges are unstressed and fast. This is what separates measured from unsure:

I SUPPOSE it depends... ❌ heavy — sounds reluctant I spose it DEPENDS... ✅ quick — sounds thoughtful

I suppose → /aɪspəʊz/, almost one word. Kind of → /'kaɪndə/. Sort of → /'sɔ:tə/.

Part 2 — the time-buyers are slower and lower, and that is deliberate:

Hmm... ☒ well... ☒ I suppose it depends on the subject.

Those two beats are legitimate thinking time. A native speaker uses them constantly; a learner who refuses them just stops talking instead.

Part 3 — keep the claim stressed, not the hedge:

It tends to be QUIETER in the mornings.

Part 4 — I could be wrong, but... runs fast and lands on wrong:

/aɪkʊdbɪ'rɒŋbət/

Record & compare: "Hmm — I suppose it depends. In my experience it tends to be quieter."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on unstressed hedges, three on the time-buyers as legitimate speech. Learners often need explicit permission to pause aloud rather than silently.

TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — hedge these claims.

1. Young people don't read. → _____
2. Online learning is worse. → _____
3. Everyone hates their job. → _____

Exercise 2 — limit the scope. Add a scope hedge to each.

1. Public transport is unreliable. → _____

2. Employers don't care about degrees. → _____

Exercise 3 — buy time. Your partner asks a hard question. Respond with a time-buyer, then answer. Three rounds.

Exercise 4 — fix the over-hedge.

Well, maybe I kind of possibly think that perhaps it might sort of depend, I suppose.

Rewrite it with two hedges and one clear claim.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1 (models): Young people seem to read less · Online learning tends to be harder for some · A lot of people aren't happy at work. Ex3 is the anti-freeze rehearsal and matters most. Ex4 makes the over-hedging warning concrete.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Give your view on two topics. Hedge each claim once or twice, limit the scope at least once, and use one time-buyer before answering.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: claims softened rather than absolute, at least one scope limit, one audible time-buyer, hedges unstressed, and the claim itself still clear.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post one opinion with two hedges and one scope limit.
- Hedging buys you thinking time. Next time you feel a pause coming, fill it with "Hmm — I suppose it depends" rather than silence. You get the same second to think, and you keep the floor.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Hedges do three jobs: soften · limit scope · buy time.
- Soften: tends to · seems to · probably · kind of.

- Limit: in my experience · as far as I know · at least in my field.
 - Buy time: Well... · Hmm, that's a good question · I suppose...
 - I could be wrong, but... raises credibility.
 - One or two per claim. Never a whole turn of hedges.
 - Hedges are unstressed; the claim keeps the beat.

✓ SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- Ex2 (models): 1) In my experience, public transport is unreliable. · 2) As far as I know, employers care less about degrees than they used to.
 - Ex4 (model): Well, I suppose it depends on the field.

A SHORT STRUCTURED DISCUSSION / DEBATE

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 10 · Lesson 4 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01–L03 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit10-discussion-skills.md · S2-U10-L04

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Model 5 · Decode 5 · Accent Lab 4 · Discussion 12 · Feedback 3 · Assign 2. This is the summative format in miniature. Keep it English-only, low-stakes, and reward participation and reactions over perfect grammar. A learner who contributes six imperfect turns has done better than one who contributes two accurate ones. Run it as a real discussion, not a performance. Your job is to set the topic, enforce English, and then get out of the way. Resist correcting mid-flow; take notes and feed back at the end. The two failure modes are silence and monologue. Assign roles if needed — a timekeeper and someone responsible for bringing in quiet members — because turn-taking is an assessed B1 behaviour, not an optional social nicety. Turn-taking has language of its own, and learners rarely have it: interrupting politely, holding the floor, coming back to a point. That is the new content of this lesson. Support: all three phrase cards on the desk. Stretch: chair the discussion — bring people in, summarise at the end. Arabic ~5% — English-only run.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Take part in a real discussion in English.
- Interrupt politely and hold your turn.
- Keep going without switching to Arabic. 🗣️

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Everything in Units 9 and 10 has been preparation for this: a group of people talking about one question in English, with nobody scripting it. This is what the B1 assessment looks like, and it is also what a meeting, a seminar and a family argument look like.

ودي بالظبط شكل التقييم النهائي، بس أقصر وبدون ضغط.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

One agreement with an added point, one polite disagreement with a reason, one hedged claim.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. All three lessons in three sentences. Then the cards go on the desk and stay there.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

Four people, one question, four minutes (🗨️ in the portal).

A: So — should social media have a minimum age of sixteen? I think it should, mainly because of the effect on sleep and attention. B: I'd agree with that, and what's more, the platforms know exactly what they're doing. C: Can I just add something? I see your point, both of you, but I'm not convinced a ban works. Kids tend to find a way round it. A: That's a fair point. C: What I mean is, education might do more than prohibition. D: Sorry, can I come back to something B said? About the platforms knowing. In my experience, the design is the real problem, not the age. B: Exactly — that's what I was trying to say. A: So, to sum up, we mostly agree the design is the issue, but we disagree about whether a ban helps. C: More or less, yes.

Notice the machinery. Nobody waits for permission, but nobody talks over anybody either. There are phrases for getting in (Can I just add something?), for going back (Can I come back to...?), and for closing (So, to sum up...).

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners list every phrase used to manage the conversation rather than to state an opinion. That list is the lesson.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Discussion needs three kinds of language. You have two already.

Kind	From	Examples
stating & justifying	U9	In my opinion... because... for example...
reacting	L01–L03	Exactly · I see your point, but... · I suppose... managing the turn	new today	Can I just add something?

1) Getting in politely:

Can I just add something? · Can I say something here? · Sorry, just quickly — · Could I jump in?

2) Holding your turn when you are not finished:

Just to finish the point... · If I could just finish... · One more thing —

3) Going back to something:

Can I come back to what you said about...? · Going back to your point...

4) Bringing somebody in — this is what a good participant does, and it is easy to score:

What do you think? · You've been quiet — any view? · Do you agree with that?

5) Summarising — whoever does this sounds like the most competent person in the room:

So, to sum up... · So we mostly agree that... · It sounds like the real issue is...

6) The rule for this lesson: stay in English. If a word is missing, describe it (U6-L04) or hedge around it (L03). Switching to Arabic ends the discussion for everyone.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on getting in and holding, one on going back, two on bringing in and summarising. Assign the summariser role explicitly for the discussion.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
Can I just add something?	ممکن أضيف حاجة؟	getting in
Could I jump in?	ممکن أتکلم؟	getting in
Just to finish the point...	خليني أكمل...	holding your turn
Can I come back to...?	أرجع لـ...؟	going back
What do you think?	إنت شاييف إيه؟	bringing someone in
So, to sum up...	يعني الخلاصة...	summarising
What I mean is...	أنا قصدني...	clarifying
Sorry, go ahead.	آسف، اتفضل	yielding

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — interrupting is done with pitch, not volume. Start slightly higher than the speaker, not louder:

Can I just add something? ↗ — high, quick, light

Getting louder reads as aggression. Getting higher reads as eagerness, which is welcome.

Part 2 — the falling tune says I have finished. This is the practical payoff of U9-L03:

...and that's why I think it matters. ↘

If your turn ends on a rise, nobody will take the floor, and you will keep talking past the point you meant to stop.

Part 3 — fillers keep the floor while you think:

Well... · I mean... · You know... · The thing is...

Said quickly and quietly, they hold your place. Said slowly, they sound like you are lost.

Part 4 — yielding gracefully is short and warm: Sorry, go ahead. ↘

Record & compare: "Can I just add something? I see your point, but in my experience it's the design."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes on higher-not-louder, two on the falling turn-end. Both are behavioural and transfer immediately.

TRAIN — البروفة الكاملة

The discussion — 12 minutes, English only.

Groups of three or four. One question. Each person must:

- give an opinion with a reason
- agree with someone and add a point
- disagree with someone politely, with a reason
- hedge at least once

- bring in another person at least once

One person is the summariser and closes with "So, to sum up..."

Choose one question:

Should social media have a minimum age? · Is remote work better for everyone? · Should university be free? · Is it better to be a specialist or a generalist? · Does technology make us less patient?

The one rule: if you cannot find a word, describe it or hedge around it. No Arabic.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~12 min. Set the topic, enforce English, then step back. Note patterns; do not correct in flow. If somebody dominates, quietly hand the summariser role to the quietest person for round two.

YOUR TURN — دورك

In the discussion above, hit all five requirements. Then record a 30-second summary of what the group decided.

 Record the summary.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min feedback. Success check: active participation with agreement, disagreement and reasons; at least one hedge; one person brought in; no Arabic; and a summary that accurately reflects the discussion.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your 30-second summary.
- Use hedges and fillers to keep going. Freezing is the only real failure in a discussion. "Hmm — the thing is..." costs nothing and keeps you in the room.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Three kinds of language: stating · reacting · managing the turn.
- Get in: Can I just add something? · Hold: Just to finish the point...
- Go back: Can I come back to...? · Bring in: What do you think?
- Summarise — it makes you sound like the most competent person present.

- Interrupt higher, not louder. End your turn on a fall.
 - If a word is missing, describe it or hedge. Never switch languages.

✓ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- ☐ I gave an opinion with a reason.
 - ☐ I agreed with someone and added something.
 - ☐ I disagreed politely, with a reason.
 - ☐ I hedged at least once.
 - ☐ I brought another person in.
 - ☐ I stayed in English the whole time.

UNIT SPEAKING TASK: "DISCUSS A TOPIC WITH A PARTNER" (+ REVIEW)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 10 · Lesson 5 — UNIT MILESTONE 🕒 ~40 min · 📺 Recorded + live (assessment-style) · Prerequisite: L01–L04 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit10-discussion-skills.md · S2-U10-L05

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 4 · Rehearse 7 · Record 8 · Feedback 6 · Assign 2. This is the closest task to the B1 summative, so prioritise interaction over accuracy. Turn-taking, responding and hedging are the scored behaviours here. A grammatically cleaner speaker who does not respond to their partner is performing worse on this rubric, not better. It is a flagship confidence moment — treat it as one. Two learners sustaining three or four minutes of unscripted English is the clearest evidence the programme works. Name it. Record the pair, not the individual. The evidence is the exchange. Score each learner on their contribution to it. Both failure modes need managing: the dominant speaker and the silent one. If one partner is much stronger, give the quieter learner the summariser role — it guarantees them a substantial turn. Support: all three phrase cards plus the checklist. Stretch: sustain beyond four minutes and reach a genuine conclusion rather than a stalemate. Arabic ~5% — English-only run.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Hold a three-to-four-minute discussion in English with a partner.
- Agree, disagree, hedge and take turns naturally.
- Reach a conclusion together.
- Record your Unit-10 milestone. 🎤

دي أقرب حاجة للتقييم النهائي — مناقشة حقيقية، بالإنجليزي بس.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: an agreement + addition → a polite disagreement + reason → a hedge → a turn-taking phrase → a summarising phrase.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast, no repeats. This sweeps all four lessons before the unscripted run.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model pair discussion (🗣️ in the portal).

A: Shall I start? So, should employers be allowed to monitor staff who work from home? Personally, I think no — because it destroys trust, and in my experience trust is what actually makes people work. B: I see your point, but I'd say some monitoring is reasonable. If you're paying someone for eight hours, you'd expect eight hours. A: That's a fair point. Although I'd argue you should measure the work, not the hours. B: Hmm — I suppose it depends on the job. For creative work, probably output. For a support desk, maybe hours matter more. A: Exactly, and what's more, the monitoring software I've seen is genuinely awful — it takes screenshots. B: Can I just add something? That was the part that surprised me too. As far as I know, most of it isn't even legal here. A: Really? I didn't know that. B: I could be wrong, but I think there are rules about it. A: So, to sum up — we agree monitoring hours is the wrong measure, although we disagree about whether any monitoring is fair. B: More or less, yes. Good place to stop.

Notice everything from the unit working at once: agreement with addition, polite disagreement with a reason, hedges buying time, a scope limit, an interruption, a correction accepted gracefully, and a summary at the end. Also notice the conditionals from U4–U5 and the passive appearing naturally — that is B1 range.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for the argument, once for the machinery. Ask which speaker they would rather work with — the answer is usually B, who hedges and brings things in.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست المناقشة

1. ✓ Open with an opinion + reason
2. ✓ Agree with your partner and add something new
3. ✓ Disagree politely, with a reason
4. ✓ Hedge at least twice
5. ✓ Limit the scope once — in my experience · as far as I know
6. ✓ Use one turn-taking phrase
7. ✓ Summarise at the end
8. ★ Stay in English for the whole discussion
9. ★ Reach an actual conclusion, not a stalemate

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Items 2 and 8 are the discriminators: adding proves listening, and staying in English proves independence.

ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- warm agreement — Exactly high-then-falling, never flat
- the softening rise on disagreement — I'm not sure I agree ↗
- unstressed but — heavy but sounds combative
- unstressed hedges — I suppose · kinda · sorta
- interrupt higher, not louder
- the falling turn-end ↘ — it is how you hand over the floor

Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. One personal target each. Flat agreement and a harsh but are the two that most damage how a learner is perceived, so prioritise those.

YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse briefly, then record with your partner.

Discuss one question for three to four minutes. Hit every item on the checklist. Stay in English — if a word is missing, describe it or hedge around it. Finish with a summary.

Choose one:

Should employers monitor remote staff? · Is social media worse for teenagers than for adults? · Should everyone learn a second language? · Is it better to rent or to buy? · Does working less make you more productive?

Record the discussion and keep it. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min recording (both pairs) + 6 feedback. Record the pair. Time it — three minutes is the floor. Success check (Unit-10): a sustained three-to-four-minute discussion with opinions and reasons, genuine agreement and disagreement, at least two hedges, one turn-taking move, a summary, and no Arabic (rubric: Interaction + Fluency + Coherence at B1). Say what it proves: they have just held an unscripted conversation in a second language. That is the "cope independently" outcome B1 is defined by.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your discussion or your closing summary.
- Complete the Unit-10 quiz.
- Have one real discussion in English this week — a voice note exchange with a classmate counts. The skill is interaction, and interaction cannot be practised alone.

REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 10 WRAP)

- Listen → react → add. Agreement alone closes a topic.
- Vary the strength: Exactly · I agree · That's a good point, although...
- Disagree in order: acknowledge → object → reason. Never You're wrong.
- Disagree with the idea, not the person.
- Hedges soften · limit scope · buy time — one or two per claim.
- Manage the turn: Can I just add something? · Can I come back to...? · So, to sum up...
- Interrupt higher, not louder; end your turn on a fall.
- Never switch to Arabic. Describe the word or hedge around it.

SELF-CHECK — UNIT 10 MINI-QUIZ

1. Strong agreement, one word → Exactly / Absolutely
2. Agreement that concedes → That's a good point
3. Add a new point → And what's more...
4. Softest disagreement → I'm not sure I agree
5. The move before every disagreement → acknowledge (I see your point)
6. I don't agree with ____. (idea, not person) → that
7. A hedge that limits scope → in my experience / as far as I know
8. A phrase to get into the conversation → Can I just add something?
9. A phrase to close it → So, to sum up...
10. Interrupt by getting → higher, not louder

🎉 UNIT 10 COMPLETE — بقيت تناقش، مش بس تتكلم

You can enter a discussion, react to what people actually say, disagree without offending anyone, soften a claim so it holds, take your turn, and close the conversation.

Next → Unit 11: Storytelling & Real-World Topics. The whole stage in use — detailed stories, work and study, familiar topics, and what to do when a question catches you unprepared. 🏰

Empire English 🏰 — التفاعل هو اللي بيغرق

STAGE 2 · UNIT 11

STORYTELLING WITH DETAIL & REAL-WORLD TOPICS

👑 UNIT 11 — STORYTELLING WITH DETAIL & REAL-WORLD TOPICS

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 11 of 12 Built from: `curriculum/stage2/unit11-storytelling-real-world-topics.md` (unit map + lessons)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: by the end of Unit 11 you'll use the whole stage at once — tell a detailed story, describe your work, give an opinion on everyday topics, and keep talking when a question catches you unprepared. مهمتك في الوحدة دي: تستخدم كل حاجة اتعلمتها مع بعض، وميوقفكش سؤال مش متوقع.

Why this unit adds no new grammar: there is none left to add at B1. Everything here is the stage in use — which is a different skill from the stage in pieces, and the one the summative actually measures.

ومفيش قواعد جديدة. الشغل كله على الاستخدام والطول والثبات.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	Detailed storytelling	scene · events · earlier (had) · reflection
L02	Work & study	a reusable ninety-second answer you'll use for years
L03	Technology, media & city life	structured opinions, anchored in real numbers
L04	Unexpected topics	the anti-freeze kit: buy time, work around, land somewhere
L05	Story + topic (milestone) 🎤	a 4–5 minute two-part performance + record your milestone

Grammar spine: integrated — narrative tenses, perfect aspect, passive, relatives, conditionals, connectors and opinion structure, all in use rather than in isolation. Accent Lab: full connected speech and the American beat · rhythm groups across a long turn · job- and topic-word stress · had reducing to 'd · unhurried time-buyers · protecting numbers at speed. Mindset: use English in real life — and talk through the gaps instead of stopping at them. Arabic support: ~5% throughout — near-immersion.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- Your Unit-11 two-part performance — the last rehearsal before the B1 summative.
- A polished work answer, and a strategy kit that stops you freezing.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L05 ~40 min, the rest ~35) plus this wrapper. L01 is the payoff of the whole tense system. Reward rich, flowing narration and correct only patterned errors by delayed feedback — a learner interrupted mid-story stops telling stories. The new element is the reflection layer ("I've never forgotten it"), which is what makes narration sound told rather than listed. Do not ask for a tense checklist: ask for a good story and the tenses arrive because the story needs them. Two or three had + participle forms are the B1 target; systematic past perfect is Stage 3. L02 is the highest real-world-value lesson in the stage. The deliverable is a reusable work story for interviews and introductions. The difficulty is the tense mix, not the vocabulary — learners default to present-only, which sounds like a job description rather than a person. Insist on for/since from U2-L02, and make them explain what their job title actually means. Adapt the labels for students and job-seekers; keep the structure. L03 keeps topics familiar and opinion-based — traffic, rent, phones. It previews B2's abstract range without entering it. No new grammar; the work is vocabulary, stamina, and above all the personal anchor: "my rent has gone up forty percent" rather than "prices are high." L04 is the anti-freeze lesson and the plateau-breaker. Praise keeping going above accuracy. Everything in it already exists — circumlocution from U6-L04, hedges from U10-L03, fillers from U10-L04 — assembled into an emergency kit and drilled under pressure with deliberately unfair topics. The rule is absolute: no Arabic, no silence. L05's deliverable is a handover, not a grade. Note each learner's two weakest points and give them as written U12 priorities. Two, not five. Have them keep the recording to compare against the summative.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (FORMATIVE)

- Quiz: narrative layers and which tense does what · for against since · responsible for · present perfect for change · passive for what was done · the anti-freeze moves.
- Speaking task: the L05 two-part performance, scored on all rubric dimensions at the B1 threshold.
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker, and each learner's two written priorities for Unit 12.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → UNIT 12 — PUTTING IT TOGETHER (B1)

retrieval, a personalised accent clinic, a full mock discussion, and the B1 summative with your milestone recording.

TELLING A DETAILED STORY (TENSE MIX)

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 11 · Lesson 1 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: Unit 10 · Units 1–3

Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit11-storytelling-real-world-topics.md · S2-U11-L01

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: tell a detailed story mixing narrative and perfect tenses · layer background, events and reflection · sustain a long turn.

This is the payoff of the whole tense system, so reward rich, flowing narration and correct only patterned errors by delayed feedback. A learner interrupted mid-story stops telling stories. The new element is reflection.

A2 narration reported events. B1 narration adds a present-perspective layer — "I'd never seen anything like it", "I've told that story a hundred times" — which is what makes a story feel told rather than listed. Do not ask for a tense checklist. Ask for a good story; the tenses arrive because the story needs them. If you request three tenses, you get three sentences. Length is the skill here. Two minutes of connected speech is the target, and it is genuinely hard.

Fillers and hedges from U10 are legitimate tools for sustaining it. Support: the four-layer card from U3-L04 plus a reflection frame. Stretch: open in the middle of the action, then fill in the background. Arabic ~5%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Tell a story for two minutes without stopping.
- Mix narrative past, perfect and reflection.
- Make a listener want to know what happened next. 🎧

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Every tense you have learned since Unit 1 exists so that you can do this: hold the floor and tell somebody something that happened to you, with enough detail that they can see it. This is not an exercise in grammar. It is the thing the grammar was for.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From Unit 3: one was/were + -ing scene, one while/when interruption. From Unit 1: one present perfect experience.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. All three layers must be individually live before they get combined under length pressure.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

A detailed story, well told (📺 in the portal).

I've told this story too many times, but it still makes me laugh.

One day about four years ago I was driving to a wedding in Alexandria — my cousin's — and I was already an hour late because I hadn't checked the road. While I was sitting in traffic, my phone rang. It was my mother, asking where the flowers were.

Nobody had told me about any flowers. Apparently I had agreed to collect them two weeks earlier, at a family dinner I barely remembered. So I came off the motorway, found a florist in a town I had never been to, and bought the most expensive arrangement they had.

When I finally arrived, the ceremony had finished. My mother took the flowers, looked at them, and said they were the wrong colour.

I've never been asked to collect anything since. Honestly, I think that was the point.

Notice the layers. It opens with a present perfect reflection, sets the scene in the continuous, moves through past simple events, uses had forms for what happened earlier, and closes with a present-perfect comment. Nobody planned that — the story needed each one.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners mark where the story moves backwards in time — hadn't checked, had agreed, had never been. That backward layer is what "detailed" means.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

A detailed story uses four layers, and you already have all of them.

Layer	Tense	Job
scene	past continuous	what was going on events	past simple	what happened
earlier	had + participle	what had happened before that reflection	present perfect	what it means now

1) The reflection layer is what makes it B1. Open or close with it:

I've told this story too many times... · I've never forgotten it. · I'd never seen anything like it.

2) The earlier layer explains, and it is the one learners skip:

I was late because I hadn't checked the road. I had agreed to collect them — I just didn't remember.

You do not need to master the past perfect here. Two or three had + participle forms in a story are enough, and they add a great deal.

3) Movers keep a long turn going:

One day... · Anyway... · So... · Apparently... · In the end... · The strange thing was...

4) Detail is concrete, not abstract. "The wrong colour" is better than "she didn't like them." Numbers, names, colours and quotes make a story visible.

5) Sustaining length is a skill. When you need a moment, use U10's tools — "Anyway...", "The thing is..." — rather than stopping.

⚠️ خذ بالك: الطبقة اللي بتوضح "قبل كده" هي اللي الناس بتنساها.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the four layers, two on the reflection frame, two on concrete detail. Do not teach the past perfect systematically — that is Stage 3. Two or three uses inside a story is the B1 target.

🗡️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I've told this story...	حكيت الحكاية دي...	I've told this story before.
I'd never seen...	عمري ما شفت...	I'd never seen anything like it.
I hadn't checked...	ما كنتش شيكت...	I hadn't checked the road.
Apparently...	على ما يبدو...	Apparently I'd agreed.
One day...	مرة...	One day, about a year ago...
Anyway...	عمومًا...	Anyway, we arrived late.
The strange thing was...	الغريب إن...	The strange thing was...
In the end	في الآخر	In the end, nobody minded.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق*Part 1 — a long turn needs rhythm groups, not slow speech.

One day about four years ago ☒ I was driving to a wedding in Alexandria ☒ and I was already an hour late.

Three groups, each quick, with light pauses. Learners who slow the whole story down sound laboured; the fix is grouping, not pace.

Part 2 — the American beat: stress the content, squeeze the rest.

I wəz DRIVING tə ə WEDDING ən I wəz ALready ən HOOR late.

Read that aloud hitting only the capitals. Everything else compresses. That is what connected speech means in practice.

Part 3 — had reduces to 'd and links straight in:

I hadn't checked → I hadn checked · I'd never seen → I-dnever seen

Part 4 — the punchline slows down and drops. Give the last line room:

...and she said they were ☒ the wrong colour. 📌

Record & compare: the first two sentences of the model, grouped and beaten.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on grouping, two on the beat, one on the punchline. The beat is the Stage-2 Accent Lab thread and this is its best context.

TRAIN — تدرّب*Exercise 1 — add the earlier layer. Explain each with had + participle.

1. I was late. → I was late because _____
2. She was annoyed. → She was annoyed because _____
3. I couldn't get in. → I couldn't get in because _____ Exercise 2 — add a reflection. Open or close each story with a present perfect comment.

1. I got lost in Cairo for three hours. → _____
2. My laptop died the night before a deadline. → _____

Exercise 3 — make it concrete. Replace the vague part with a detail.

1. The food was bad. → _____
2. He was upset. → _____
3. It took a long time. → _____

Exercise 4 — two minutes. Tell a real story to your partner for two full minutes. They time you and count your layers. Then swap.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Give Ex4 five minutes. The timing matters — two minutes feels long, and learning that it is achievable is most of the lesson.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Tell a real story for about two minutes. Include a scene, events, one had + participle, and one reflection. Make one detail concrete.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: roughly two minutes sustained, at least three layers present, one had form, one reflection, concrete detail, and grouped rather than slowed delivery. Delay all correction.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a story of at least eight sentences with one had form and one reflection.
- Tell your real stories in English. That is using the language rather than studying it — and a story you have told once gets easier every time you tell it again.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Four layers: scene · events · earlier · reflection.
- had + participle explains what happened before — the layer people skip.

- Open or close with a present perfect reflection.
 - Concrete detail beats description: the wrong colour, not she didn't like them.
 - Group a long turn; do not slow it down.
 - Use Anyway... · The thing is... instead of stopping.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1 (models): 1) ...because I hadn't checked the traffic. · 3) ...because I'd forgotten my keys.
 - Ex3 (models): 1) It was cold and there was a hair in it. · 3) It took two and a half hours.

TALKING ABOUT WORK & STUDY

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 11 · Lesson 2 ⌚ ~35 min · 📺 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit11-storytelling-real-world-topics.md · S2-U11-L02

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: describe a job or course across tenses · talk about responsibilities, skills and progression · build a reusable work story. The deliverable is a reusable "work story" — say so explicitly. This is the single highest real-world-value lesson in the stage: interviews, networking, introductions, visa conversations. A learner who leaves with ninety polished seconds about their work has something they will use for years. The tense mix is the difficulty, not the vocabulary. A good work answer moves through present (what I do), present perfect (how long, what I've achieved), past (how I got here) and future (where I'm going). Learners default to present-only, which sounds like a job description rather than a person. Insist on the for/since from U2-L02. "I've been there for three years" is the most common single sentence in this topic and the most commonly wrong. Keep it honest. Students, unemployed learners and career-changers need the same frame. Adapt the labels, not the structure. Support: the four-tense work-story card. Stretch: add one thing you would change about your job, using U5's second conditional. Arabic ~5%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Describe what you do, how long you have done it, and how you got there.
- Talk about responsibilities and skills.
- Have a reusable answer ready for any interview or introduction. 🎤

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

"So, what do you do?" is the most predictable question in adult life, and in English it is usually the first one you get. Answering it well is not vanity — it is the difference between being taken seriously and being asked something easier.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From U2: two for/since sentences about your life now. From L01: one reflection with the present perfect.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. For/since is the backbone of this topic, so confirm it before the lesson rather than repairing it after.

🔦 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Someone answering "what do you do?" properly (📞 in the portal).

I work as a logistics coordinator for a shipping company in Alexandria — I've been there for about three years now.

Basically, I'm responsible for tracking containers and sorting out problems when something is delayed, which is most days. I deal with drivers, customs and about forty clients, so most of my day is spent on the phone.

I didn't plan any of this. I studied accounting, graduated in 2018, and couldn't find anything, so I took a temporary job here and never left. Since then I've learned far more about logistics than I ever did about accounting.

The part I enjoy is problem-solving. The part I don't is the paperwork — although it's got better since we changed systems.

I'm hoping to move into operations management. If a position comes up next year, I'll apply.

Notice the movement through time. Present for the role, present perfect for duration and learning, past for how he got there, and future for where he is going. That is a person, not a job description.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners label each paragraph's tense. Then ask what would be lost if it were all present — the answer is the whole trajectory.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Four moves, four tenses.

Move	Tense	Frame
1 What you do	present simple	I work as... · I'm a... · I'm studying...
2 How long	present perfect	I've been there for... · I've been studying since...
3 How you got there	past simple	I studied... · I graduated... · I took a job...
4 Where you're going	future	I'm hoping to... · If ..., I'll...

1) Responsibilities — three reliable frames:

I'm responsible for + noun or -ing · I deal with... · My job involves...

2) Say what you actually do, concretely. Job titles mean nothing across languages:

I'm a logistics coordinator — meaningless to most listeners ...which basically means I track containers and fix delays ✅

3) The honest opinion layer makes you sound human rather than rehearsed:

The part I enjoy is... · The part I don't is... · It can be repetitive, but...

4) If you are studying, the same four moves apply:

I'm studying engineering · I've been at the university for two years · I chose it because... · I'm hoping to specialise in...

5) If you are between jobs, so do they — and honestly:

I've been looking since March · I was working in retail before · I'm trying to move into...

⚠️ خذ بالك: for لمدة، وsince لنقطة بداية.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the four moves, two on responsibilities and concreteness, two on adapting for students and job-seekers. Every learner must leave with their own four sentences drafted.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
I work as...	بشتغل ك...	I work as a teacher.
I'm responsible for...	مسؤول عن...	I'm responsible for the schedule.
My job involves...	شغلي فيه...	My job involves a lot of travel.
I deal with...	بتعامل مع...	I deal with clients.
I've been there for...	بقالي هناك...	I've been there for two years.
a deadline	موعد نهائي	We have tight deadlines. colleagues	زمائل	My colleagues are good.
I'm hoping to...	نفسي...	I'm hoping to move into sales.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — job words are long, and the stress is not where learners put it:

ac-COUNT-ing · lo-GIS-tics · en-gi-NEER-ing · re-spon-si-BIL-i-ty · qua-li-fi-CA-tion

Get the stress wrong on your own job title and listeners often mishear the whole word.

Part 2 — responsible for is one chunk:

/rɪ'spɒnsəbəl fə/ — for reduces to /fə/, as in U2

Part 3 — weak for and since in the duration sentence. This is the sentence you will say most often, so it is worth drilling as a unit:

I've been there fə about three years.

Part 4 — the beat across a work answer. Content words only:

I WORK as a COordinator fə a SHIPping company.

Record & compare: "I work as a coordinator, and I've been there for about three years."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on job-word stress — genuinely high value, because these are the words learners say about themselves — and three on the duration sentence.

 TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — build your four moves. One sentence each: what you do · how long · how you got there · where you're going.

Exercise 2 — make it concrete. Rewrite each so a stranger understands it.

1. I'm an administrator. → _____
2. I work in IT. → _____
3. I'm doing a master's. → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. I work there since three years. → _____
2. I am responsible of the accounts. → _____
3. My job is involve a lot of travel. → _____
4. I am working there for 2019. → _____

Exercise 4 — interview each other. Your partner asks "So what do you do?" and then two follow-ups. Answer in at least six sentences, moving through the tenses. Swap.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex3: I've worked there for three years · responsible for · My job involves · I've been working there since 2019.
Give Ex4 four minutes — the follow-ups are what force the tense range.

 YOUR TURN — دورك

Answer "So, what do you do?" in six to eight sentences, moving through all four moves. Include one concrete explanation of what your title actually means.

 Record it — and keep this one. You will reuse it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: all four moves present, correct for/since, one concrete explanation, one honest opinion, and correct stress on their own job words.

📋 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post your work or study answer — six sentences minimum.
- Polish this one and keep it. English is a career multiplier, and this is the ninety seconds that does the multiplying. Practise it until it is automatic, then never worry about the question again.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- Four moves: what you do · how long · how you got here · where you're going.
- Duration is present perfect with for or since — never the present simple.
- I'm responsible for... · My job involves... · I deal with...
- Explain what your title actually means.
- Add the honest layer: the part I enjoy · the part I don't.
- Stress: lo-GIS-tics · en-gi-NEER-ing · re-spon-si-BIL-i-ty.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex2 (models): 1) I'm an administrator, which means I run the schedules and paperwork for twelve people. · 2) I work in IT — I fix things when the network stops working.
- Ex3: 1) I've worked there for three years. · 2) *responsible for · 3) My job involves... · 4) I've been working there since 2019.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Warm-up 4 · Input 6 · Decode 6 · Accent Lab 5 · Train 8 · Your Turn 4 · Assign 2. Objectives: give a structured opinion on a familiar public topic · use topic vocabulary accurately · sustain a longer opinion turn. Keep the topics familiar and opinion-based. These previews the B2 abstract range, but at B1 the content must stay concrete and personal — traffic, phones, rent, transport. Abstract political argument is Stage 3. This is Unit 9's structure applied to public topics. No new grammar. What is new is vocabulary plus the stamina to hold an opinion turn for ninety seconds. Insist on the personal anchor. "The cost of living has gone up" is a headline. "My rent has gone up forty percent since 2022" is B1 evidence. The personal example is what makes the opinion real and is also easier to produce. Feed the input diet. Learners who consume these topics in English produce far better turns. Make the connection explicit — this is the mindset thread for the unit. Support: topic vocabulary card plus U9's connector card. Stretch: compare two cities or two eras with U5's comparatives. Arabic ~5%.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Give a structured opinion on everyday public topics.
- Use the vocabulary these topics need.
- Anchor an opinion in your own experience. 🗣️

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

These are the topics people actually discuss: phones, traffic, prices, social media, where to live. They come up in every casual conversation, every interview small-talk moment, and every language assessment — because everybody has an opinion about them.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From U9: one opinion in three parts. From U10: one hedge and one scope limit.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. The structure is borrowed; only the vocabulary and the length are new.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

An opinion on city life (🗣️ in the portal).

In my opinion, the biggest problem with this city isn't the traffic — it's the cost of living, and specifically rent.

Firstly, the numbers. My rent has gone up about forty percent since 2022, although my salary has gone up maybe ten. As far as I know, that's fairly normal here. So people my age are either still living with their parents or sharing with three others.

Secondly, it changes the whole city. The area I grew up in has been completely rebuilt — the old buildings were knocked down and replaced with towers nobody I know can afford.

The traffic is bad too, obviously. Public transport has improved a lot since the new lines opened — although it still doesn't reach where most people actually live.

So overall, I'd say the city is getting better to look at and harder to live in. That's the trade nobody agreed to.

Notice the anchoring. Every claim has a number, a place or a personal fact attached. And notice the grammar working invisibly: present perfect for change, passive for the demolition, comparatives, connectors, hedges.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners find the personal anchor in each paragraph. Then note how many Stage-2 structures appear without being announced — that is what integration sounds like.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

No new grammar. A structure you have, plus vocabulary you need.

1) The shape is Unit 9's, extended:

Opinion → firstly + reason + personal anchor → secondly + reason + anchor → concession → overall

2) Topic vocabulary — technology and media:

English	Use
screen time · notifications · algorithm	phones and apps
scrolling · posting · following	behaviour
misinformation · clickbait	media quality
addictive · distracting · time-consuming	judgement

3) City life and cost:

English	Use
the cost of living · rent · bills	money
public transport · the metro · a commute	movement
traffic · congestion · pollution	problems
crowded · noisy · convenient · affordable	judgement

4) The structures these topics naturally need — all of which you already have:

change → present perfect: *rent has gone up cause → because · so contrast → although · however what was done → passive: *the buildings were knocked down comparison → more expensive than · the worst

5) Always anchor. One number, one place, or one personal fact per claim:

Prices are high. — a headline My rent has gone up forty percent since 2022. ✅ — evidence ⚠️ خذ بالك: مثال شخصي أو رقم بيخلي رأيك حقيقي.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the extended shape, three on vocabulary, one on anchoring. Do not teach new grammar — point at the structures already in use.

YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك

English	بالعربي	Example
the cost of living	تكاليف المعيشة	The cost of living has risen. rent	إيجار	My rent has gone up. public transport	مواصلات عامة	Public transport has improved. a commute	مشوار الشغل	My commute is 90 minutes. screen time	وقت الشاشة	My screen time is embarrassing. addictive	مسبب للإدمان	These apps are addictive. affordable	في المتناول	Nothing is affordable now. crowded	زحمة	It's crowded all the time.

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — topic vocabulary has predictable stress. Get these right:

the COST of living · pub-lic TRANS-port · COMM-ute (noun) · af-FORD-able · ad-DIC-tive · con-GES-tion · po-LLU-tion

Two to note: commute is stressed on the first syllable as a noun, and affordable on the second — both commonly wrong.

Part 2 — the beat across a long opinion turn. Content words only:

My RENT hæz gone UP ə-bout FORTY per-CENT since twenty twen-ty-TWO.

Part 3 — numbers need to survive. They are the anchor, so they cannot be mumbled:

forty percent · since 2022 · ninety minutes

Part 4 — the concession gets its double pause, as in U9-L02:

...although my salary has gone up maybe ten. ☒

Record & compare: "The cost of living has gone up, although salaries haven't."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Three minutes on word stress — these are the words the topic requires — and two on protecting the numbers.

 TRAIN — تدرّب

Exercise 1 — anchor these claims. Add a number, place or personal fact.

1. Rents are too high. → _____
2. Social media wastes time. → _____
3. Public transport is unreliable. → _____

Exercise 2 — describe the change with the present perfect.

1. (your city, last five years) → _____
2. (your own phone use) → _____

Exercise 3 — fix the mistake.

1. The cost of live is very high. → _____
2. My rent is going up since 2022. → _____
3. The buildings knocked down last year. → _____
4. My commute is take ninety minutes. → _____

Exercise 4 — ninety seconds. Give a structured opinion on one topic: social media · your city · public transport · the cost of living · smartphones. Announce your reasons, anchor each one, concede something, and close.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex3: cost of living · has gone up · were knocked down · My commute takes. Give Ex4 four minutes and time it — ninety seconds is the target.

 YOUR TURN — دورك

Give a ninety-second opinion on one familiar public topic. Two anchored reasons, one concession, one closing.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Success check: roughly ninety seconds, a clear opinion shape, an anchor for each reason, one concession, correct topic-word stress, and audible numbers.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a ninety-second opinion on one of these topics.
- Consume these topics in English. One article or one video a week about your city, technology or prices. Output on a topic is only as good as the input you have had on it — and this is the cheapest way to feed it.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Same shape as U9: opinion → reasons → concession → close.
- Anchor every claim: a number, a place, or a personal fact.
- Change is present perfect: rent has gone up.
- What was done to the city is passive: were knocked down.
- Stress: the COST of living · public TRANSport · COMMute · afFORDable.
- Protect your numbers — they are the evidence.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1 (models): 1) My rent has gone up forty percent since 2022. · 2) My screen time was six hours yesterday.
- Ex3: 1) *cost of living · 2) has gone up · 3) were knocked down · 4) My commute takes ninety minutes.

Praise "keeping going" above accuracy — the strategies are the transferable skill. A learner who talks through a gap has solved the problem that actually limits them. Freezing is not a knowledge problem, it is a strategy problem. Learners stop because they have no move for the moment a word is missing. Give them four moves and the freezing largely stops. Everything here already exists in the course. Circumlocution came in U6-L04, hedges and time-buyers in U10-L03, fillers in U10-L04. 🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

By now your English is good enough that the thing stopping you is rarely knowledge — it is the moment you hit a gap and freeze. Fluent speakers hit gaps constantly. The difference is that they have something to say while they find their way around.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن

From U10: one hedge that buys time, one filler, one circumlocution from U6 — "the thing you use to..."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Name that all three already exist in the course. Today is assembly, not new material.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اسمع وشوف

Someone caught completely off guard (📞 in the portal).

A: Quick one — what do you think about nuclear power? B: Hmm. That's a big question. Let me think for a second.

Honestly, I don't know much about it. What I do know is that it produces a lot of energy without — what's the word — the smoke, the pollution, that side of it. So in that sense it seems better than coal.

On the other hand, there's the — I don't know the English word — the waste, the material that's left over. As far as I know it stays dangerous for a very long time.

So I suppose my view is: it depends on whether you trust the people running it. Which, in most countries, I'm not sure I do.

Does that answer the question? I'm honestly making this up as I go.

Notice she never stops and never switches language. She admits ignorance, names what she does know, describes two words she does not have, hedges twice, and finishes with an actual opinion — from a standing start.

🧩 DECODE IT — القاعدة

Move	Language
1 Buy time	Hmm. · That's a big question. · Let me think for a second. · Good question.
2 Admit and narrow	I don't know much about it, but what I do know is... · I can only speak for myself...
3 Work around the word	What's the word — · It's a kind of... · the thing that...
4 Land somewhere	So I suppose... · So overall... · It depends on...

1) Buying time is legitimate speech. These are not filler; every fluent speaker uses them, and they are completely acceptable in an assessment.

2) Admitting ignorance is strong, not weak — as long as you continue:

I don't know much about it, but what I do know is...

The but is essential. Admitting without continuing is just stopping.

3) Working around a missing word is U6-L04's circumlocution under pressure:

What's the word — the stuff that's left over? The waste. It's a kind of... you know... a container?

Naming the problem out loud (what's the word) is normal English, not failure.

4) Always land somewhere. End with a position, even a hedged one:

So I suppose it depends on... · So overall, I'd lean towards...

5) The two forbidden moves:

✗ silence — the listener does not know if you have finished ✗ switching to Arabic — the conversation ends for everyone ⚠ القاعدة: مفيش سكوت، ومفيش عربي. لفّ حول الكلمة وكمل.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Two minutes on the four moves, two on admitting-and-continuing, two on the forbidden moves. Then get straight into Train — this lesson is practised, not explained.

That's a big question.	سؤال كبير	buying time

What I do know is...	اللي أعرفه إن...	narrowing
What's the word...?	إيه الكلمة...؟	working around
It's a kind of...	حاجة زي...	working around the thing that...	الحاجة اللي...	working around
So I suppose...	يعني أظن...	landing

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Part 1 — time-buyers are slow and low. That is what makes them sound thoughtful rather than panicked:

Hmm. ☒ That's a big question. ☒ Let me think.

Three unhurried beats. Rushed, they sound like panic; unhurried, they sound like consideration.

Part 2 — fillers are quick and quiet, and they hold the floor:

well · I mean · you know · the thing is — fast, low, almost under the breath

Part 3 — what's the word is said at normal speed, not apologetically. It is a normal English move:

...without — what's the word — the pollution.

Said with confidence it sounds native. Said as an apology it sounds like failure.

Part 4 — keep your rhythm through the gap. The instinct is to slow down when you get stuck; the effect is that the whole turn sounds like struggle. Keep the beat and route around the word.

Record & compare: "Hmm — that's a big question. Let me think for a second."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes on unhurried time-buyers, two on saying what's the word confidently. Both are attitude as much as pronunciation.

 TRAIN — البروفة الكاملة

Round 1 — thirty seconds each. Your partner names a topic you did not prepare. Talk for thirty seconds. You may not stop and you may not use Arabic.

the postal system · whether zoos should exist · electric cars · your city's traffic · beekeeping · school uniforms · working night shifts

Round 2 — sixty seconds, harder topics. Use at least one time-buyer and one work-around.

Round 3 — describe three things whose English names you do not know. Your partner guesses.

Exercise 4 — fix the freeze. What would you say instead?

1. (long silence) → _____
2. "...the... إزاي أقول..." → _____
3. "I don't know." (and stopping) → _____

TEACHER'S EDITION

~10 min. This is the lesson — give it the full ten minutes. Time each round out loud. Ex4: 1) Hmm, let me think · 2) what's the word — the thing that... · 3) I don't know much about it, but what I do know is...

 YOUR TURN — دورك

Your partner gives you a topic you have never thought about. Speak for one minute. Use at least one time-buyer, one work-around, and finish by landing on a position.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min. Success check: a full minute with no silence and no Arabic, at least one time-buyer, one work-around, and an actual position at the end. Accuracy is explicitly not the criterion here.

📖 YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a sixty-second answer on a topic a classmate chooses for you.
- Talk through the gaps, do not stop at them. This is the habit that breaks the intermediate plateau. Your English is already good enough — what you are building now is the refusal to freeze.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- Four moves: buy time · admit and narrow · work around the word · land somewhere.
- Time-buyers are real speech, not filler.
- Admit ignorance, then continue: I don't know much, but what I do know is...
- What's the word — the thing that... is normal English. Say it confidently.
- Always land on a position, even a hedged one.
- ❌ Silence. ❌ Arabic. Keep the beat and route around.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- ☐ I spoke for a full minute on an unprepared topic.
- ☐ I bought time in English instead of going silent.
- ☐ I described at least one word I didn't know.
- ☐ I finished with a position.
- ☐ I never switched to Arabic.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Warm-up 5 · Model 4 · Checklist 4 · Accent clinic 4 · Rehearse 7 · Record 9 · Feedback 5 · Assign 2. This is the final rehearsal before the summative. Its purpose is to remove anxiety and reveal the last gaps to polish in U12 — not to grade. Say that explicitly at the start. Two parts, four to five minutes total: a detailed story, then a discussed topic. That is the summative shape at slightly reduced length. Record it and keep it. Compare against U12-L05 next week; the difference after one week of targeted polish is usually visible, which is powerful evidence for the learner. Note gaps, do not fix them here. Write down each learner's two weakest points and hand them over as their U12 priorities. That handover is this lesson's real deliverable. Throw one unprepared question in. L04 exists for exactly this moment. Support: all cards available. Stretch: no cards, and a follow-up question handled cold. Arabic ~5% — English-only run.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك (MILESTONE)

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Tell a detailed story and discuss a topic — four to five minutes total.
- Use the whole stage without thinking about it.
- Know exactly what to polish before the summative.
- Record your Unit-11 milestone. 🎤

دي البروفة الأخيرة قبل التقييم. الهدف إنك تعرف تظبط إيه، مش إنك تتقيّم.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن (سلسلة)

Rapid chain: a story opener → a had + participle → a reflection → an anchored opinion claim → a time-buyer → a work-around.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. One each, fast. This sweeps all four lessons and both halves of the task.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A model two-part performance (📺 in the portal).

Part one — the story. I've never been so embarrassed at work. About two years ago I was giving a presentation to a client — a big one, the kind you rehearse. I'd prepared for a week. While I was setting up, I realised the file on my laptop was the old version. The one I'd been told to delete.

So I presented the wrong numbers for about ten minutes. Nobody said anything. Then the client's finance director asked, very politely, whether those figures were current. And I said — and I still don't know why — "more or less."

In the end we got the contract. Apparently the honesty helped. But I've checked the file name before every presentation since.

Part two — the topic. On presentations generally — in my opinion they're mostly theatre. Firstly, the decision is usually made before the meeting. As far as I know, in my company at least, the slides are for the record. Secondly, the format rewards confidence over accuracy, which isn't the same thing. Although — and this is fair — you do have to explain your thinking to somebody eventually. So overall, I'd say they're necessary and badly done. Not useless. Just badly done.

Notice the range. Story: continuous scene, past events, two had forms, a reported question, a reflection. Topic: opinion frame, signposts, passive, relative clause, hedges, scope limit, concession, close. That is the whole stage, used rather than displayed.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Play once for effect, once for inventory. Ask learners to name the structures they recognise — they will find most of Stage 2, which is exactly the point.

🧩 THE CHECKLIST — تشيك ليست الأداء

Part one — the story (about two minutes):

1. ✓ A scene in the past continuous
2. ✓ Events in the past simple
3. ✓ One had + participle — what happened earlier
4. ✓ One reflection in the present perfect
5. ✓ One concrete detail — a number, a colour, a quote

Part two — the topic (about two minutes): 6. ✓ An opinion frame + two signposted reasons 7. ✓ One anchor — a number or personal fact 8. ✓ One hedge and one scope limit 9. ✓ One concession with although or however 10. ✓ A closing summary

Throughout: 11. ★ No Arabic, no silence — use L04's strategies 12. ★ Handle one unprepared question

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Board it and hand out the card. Items 3, 4 and 7 are the B1 discriminators; item 11 is the independence one.

ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق

Drill your weakest from this unit:

- the American beat — stress content, squeeze function words
- rhythm groups across a long turn — group, do not slow
- topic-word stress — the COST of living · COMMute · affFORDable
- had reducing to 'd and linking
- unhurried time-buyers, said low
- numbers surviving inside a fast sentence

Record & compare your weakest one only.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. One personal target each, taken from your L01–L04 notes. The beat is the Stage-2 thread and the priority for anyone still speaking word by word.

YOUR TURN — التسجيل (MILESTONE)

Rehearse briefly against the checklist, then record both parts back to back.

Part one: tell a detailed real story for about two minutes. Part two: give a structured opinion on a related topic for about two minutes.

Then answer one question you have not prepared.

Record it and keep it — you will compare it with your summative next week. 🏰

TEACHER'S EDITION

~9 min recording + 5 feedback. Time both parts. Ask your unprepared question after part two. Success check (Unit-11): an integrated four-to-five-minute performance at or near the B1 threshold — layered story with a had form and a reflection, structured anchored opinion with a concession, no Arabic, and a handled question (rubric: all dimensions). The deliverable is the handover. Give each learner their two priorities for U12 in writing. Not five — two.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post both parts.
- Complete the Unit-11 quiz.
- Work only on your two priorities this week. Not everything. Two things, drilled properly, before the summative.

REMEMBER — افكر (UNIT 11 WRAP)

- Story layers: scene · events · earlier (had) · reflection.
- Concrete detail makes a story visible.
- Work story: what you do · how long · how you got here · where you're going.
- Anchor every opinion claim with a number or a personal fact.
- Four anti-freeze moves: buy time · admit and narrow · work around · land somewhere.
- ❌ Silence. ❌ Arabic. Group long turns; keep the beat.

SELF-CHECK — UNIT 11 MINI-QUIZ

1. Tense for the scene of a story → past continuous
2. Tense for what happened earlier → had + participle
3. Tense for a reflection now → present perfect
4. I've worked there ___ three years. → for
5. I've worked there ___ 2019. → since
6. I'm responsible ___ the schedule. → for
7. My rent ___ (go up) since 2022. → has gone up
8. Stress: commute (noun) → first syllable
9. Two forbidden moves when stuck → silence and Arabic
10. What makes an opinion claim real → an anchor (number or personal fact)

🎉 UNIT 11 COMPLETE — بقيت مستخدم للغة

You can tell a detailed story, describe your work, give a structured opinion on everyday topics, and keep talking when a question catches you unprepared. That is what B1 feels like from the inside.

Next → Unit 12: Putting It Together. Retrieval, an accent clinic, a full mock discussion, and the B1 summative with your milestone recording. 🏰

👑 UNIT 12 — PUTTING IT TOGETHER (B1 CONSOLIDATION & ASSESSMENT)

THE CAMPAIGN — حملة الوحدة

Your mission: prove the B1 exit criteria and record the milestone that extends your proof timeline to four points — Day 1 → Stage 0 → A2 → B1.

This unit is written in English only. Not as a test of endurance, and not to make the ending harder — but because you no longer need the support, and the last week of a stage is the wrong moment to discover that you still do. Everything here you have already done. Unit 12 only asks you to do it all at once.

Nothing new is taught. Four of the five lessons are retrieval, diagnosis and rehearsal; the fifth is the assessment. If a structure has gone quiet since Unit 4, this is where you find out — while there is still time.

THE LESSONS — دروس الوحدة

#	Lesson	You'll be able to...
L01	Big Review 1	perfect vs narrative past — the whole time system, retrieved
L02	Big Review 2	conditionals · relatives · reported · passive, combined in one talk
L03	Discussion clinic 🎙️	your top three rhythm targets, from evidence — and how to self-monitor
L04	B1 mock discussion	the full 8–12 minutes , exact summative format, no surprises
L05	B1 summative + milestone 🎓	the quiz, the extended discussion, and your B1 recording

Grammar spine: integrated review — perfect aspect, narrative past, first and second conditionals, relative clauses, reported speech, the passive, connectors and opinion structure, all assessed in use. Accent Lab: overall clarity and follow-ability · connected speech and prosody · self-monitoring as the habit that outlasts the course. Mindset: learner → user. And readiness for B2, the flagship. Arabic support: 0% — full immersion.

THE PRIZE — جائزة الوحدة

- A B1 determination built on quoted evidence across five rubric dimensions.
- Your B1 milestone recording, comparable with three earlier samples.
- Two written Stage-3 targets, and a residual-feature list that does not pretend to be empty.

TEACHER'S EDITION

Unit overview: 5 lessons (L01–L03 ~35 min, L04 ~40, L05 ~45) plus this wrapper. The immersion is the point, and it needs framing, not enforcing. Tell learners on L01 why the Arabic is gone. If someone stalls, feed an English phrase rather than switching language — that is the strategy they need in the assessment room and in every conversation after it. L01 and L02 are retrieval, not re-teaching. The temptation is to re-explain the perfect for eight minutes because it is comfortable. Resist it: retrieval under mild pressure is what makes a structure available in speech, and a lecture is what makes it available only in a worksheet. Make them produce. L03 must be personalised from real evidence. Use the two written priorities handed over from U11-L05. If they are missing, diagnose from the seeded passage before choosing targets — handing everyone the same three features is the failure mode here. Stage-2 targets are rhythmic, not segmental: the beat, weak forms, linking, list and contrast contours. The honesty guardrail is absolute — compare each learner only with their own earlier recordings, and never demand "native." L04 must match L05 exactly. Same length, same three parts, same rubric. Push back once, genuinely, for every learner: a discussion that is never challenged cannot evidence Interaction. Do not raise the difficulty to prepare them or lower it to encourage them — either change makes the rehearsal worthless. L05 is governed by the committed documents, not by this unit. Rubric bands and determination come from `05-assessment-suite.md` ; prompt, conditions, storage and consent come from `06-before-after-protocol.md` . The assessment recording and the milestone sample are two separate files — the first determines performance, the second enables fair comparison. Consent is granular and revocable; enrolling is not permission to publish. Never round a determination up for motivation or down for strictness. Carry the residuals forward. A stage ending is not a claim that every feature is finished. Write the unresolved ones down and hand them to Stage 3.

END-OF-UNIT CHECK — تقييم آخر الوحدة (SUMMATIVE)

- Quiz: mixed Stage-2 grammar and vocabulary — perfect and past, conditionals, relatives, reported speech, the passive, connectors — plus short production items.
- Speaking task: the L05 extended opinion-and-discussion task (8–12 min) and the standard-prompt milestone sample, scored on Fluency · Coherence · Accuracy · Range · Interaction at the B1 threshold.
- Feeds: the Cohort Tracker — B1 determination, milestone-clip link and consent tier, residual weak-feature flags for Stage 3, and the four-point proof timeline.

NEXT CAMPAIGN → STAGE 3 — CONFIDENT (B2) ★

the flagship climb: the full tense range, third and mixed conditionals, advanced passive and reported speech, modals of deduction, register and nuance — and a 20–30 minute professional-topic conversation as the graduation benchmark.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Retrieval 5 · Model 5 · Error check 5 · Accent 5 · Build 8 · Record 4 · Feedback 3. Objectives: retrieve the whole perfect and narrative-past system · choose the right tense under load · self-correct the patterned errors. Retrieval, not re-teaching. Make them produce first. If you re-explain the present perfect here you lose the diagnostic value of the lesson and the time you need for the mock. The perfect-against-past choice is still the top thing to reinforce, and it will still be imperfect. That is expected at B1 — the goal is that learners notice and repair it, not that they never slip. English only from here. Unit 12 is full immersion; the whole stage has been building to instructions being invisible. Support: the U2-L03 decision card. Stretch: narrate for two minutes with no preparation and self-correct aloud. Arabic 0% — full immersion.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Retrieve the full past system without notes.
- Choose between the perfect and the past simple under pressure.
- Catch and repair your own tense slips. 🗣️

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

At A2 you could describe a finished day. You can now handle the whole of time: what happened, what was happening, what had happened before that, and what has happened up to now. This lesson checks that the system is available when you are not thinking about it.

That distinction matters more than it sounds. Knowing a tense means you can complete an exercise about it. Having a tense means it arrives on its own, in the middle of a story, while your attention is on what you are saying rather than on how you are saying it. The summative measures the second thing, which is why this unit tests retrieval under time pressure instead of teaching anything new.

Expect the perfect-against-past choice to still wobble. It is the hardest single decision at this level, and even confident speakers occasionally repair it mid-sentence. Noticing and fixing your own slip is not a failure — it is precisely the self-monitoring that keeps you improving after the course ends.

🔄 WARM-UP — سخن (RETRIEVAL SPRINT)

Sixty seconds, no notes. Give one example of each:

present perfect experience · for / since duration · just / already / yet · past simple with a date · past continuous scene · while / when interruption · used to · had + participle

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Answers before any model. Note which of the eight are slow — those are the queue items for L03 and the mock.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A short account using the whole system (📞 in the portal).

I've worked in three cities, but the year I spent in Amman was the strangest.

I'd applied for something completely different — a research job — and I hadn't expected to get anything. While I was waiting to hear back, someone offered me a teaching post instead. I used to think I would hate teaching. I'd never done it.

I took it because the rent had already gone up at home and I needed the money. In the end I stayed fourteen months. I've been back twice since then, and I've never managed to explain to anybody why that year mattered so much.

Notice the choices. I've worked (experience, no date) against I spent (a defined year). I'd applied · hadn't expected · had already gone up for what came earlier. Used to for a former belief. I've been back twice since for unfinished time. Nothing is decorative — each tense is doing a job the others cannot.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners justify three tense choices. Justification is the skill; recognition alone is not.

🧩 THE ERROR CARD — كارت الأخطاء

The four patterned errors of this block.

1) A finished time with the present perfect:

✅ I went to Amman in 2019. · ✅ I've been to Amman. ❌ I've been to Amman in 2019.

2) The present simple for unfinished time:

✓ I've lived here for five years. · ✗ I live here for five years.

3) yet in a positive sentence, or already in a negative:

✓ I haven't finished yet. · ✓ I've already finished.

4) The past form where the participle belongs:

✓ I've seen it. · It was built. · ✗ I've saw it. · It was build.

The one question that resolves most of it: is there a specific finished time? Yes → past simple. No → perfect.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Learners self-correct all eight wrong examples before you confirm. Then re-state the single question from U2-L03 — it is the most portable thing in the stage.

🗡️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك (RETRIEVAL)

Job	Language
experience, no date	I've been / I've never... duration to now	for · since · How long have you...? recent	just · already · yet finished, dated	I went · I finished · in 2019 · yesterday scene	I was working · while interruption	when ... happened
former habit	I used to... earlier than that	I had already...

🎧 ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Contractions across tenses. The auxiliary is the tense, and it is always weak — but never absent:

*I've worked · *I'd worked · I wəz working · I've been working

The two that sound identical: 'd is both would and had. Context decides — 'd + base is would, 'd + participle is had:

I'd* go* (would) · I'd gone (had)

Participle endings under speed. The whole system collapses without them:

work*ed /t/ · lived /d/ · wanted /ɪd/ · seen · taken · built · found*

Then the beat. Content words carry it; auxiliaries compress:

I'd* ap-PLIED fər SOMETHING COMpletely DIFFerent.*

Record & compare: "I'd applied for something else, and I hadn't expected to get anything."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Two minutes on weak-but-present auxiliaries, two on the 'd ambiguity, one on the beat. The 'd distinction is a listening gain as much as a speaking one.

TRAIN — البروفة الكاملة

Exercise 1 — choose the tense.

- I _____ (live) here since 2019.
- I _____ (live) in Tanta when I was a child.
- _____ you ever _____ (be) to Jordan?
- I _____ (not / finish) yet.
- When I arrived, the meeting _____ (already / start).
- While I _____ (wait), my phone _____ (ring).

Exercise 2 — justify. For each answer above, say why in one phrase — "unfinished time", "a date", "earlier than that".

Exercise 3 — fix and explain.

- I've seen him yesterday. → _____
- I work here for three years. → _____
- I've already finished yet. → _____
- It was build in 1902. → _____

Exercise 4 — two minutes. Narrate a real period of your life using at least five different past forms. Your partner counts them.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~8 min. Ex1: have lived · lived · Have ... been · haven't finished · had already started · was waiting / rang. Ex2 is the important one — the justification is what transfers to the summative.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Narrate a real period of your life for about two minutes, using at least five past forms. Listen back once and correct one sentence aloud.

 Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min + 3 feedback. Success check: five or more forms used appropriately, no finished time attached to a perfect, participles correct, and one self-correction after listening.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a two-minute narration and mark the sentence you corrected yourself.
- Look back at A2. You could describe a finished day. You can now place events anywhere in time and say how they relate to each other — which is most of what storytelling is.

REMEMBER — افكر

- One question: is there a specific finished time? Yes → past simple. No → perfect.
- Unfinished time to now → present perfect with for / since.
- yet in negatives and questions; already in positives.
- After an auxiliary, use the participle: seen · built · found.
- 'd is would or had — the next word tells you which.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex1: 1) have lived · 2) lived · 3) Have ... been · 4) haven't finished · 5) had already started · 6) was waiting / rang

- Ex3: 1) I saw him yesterday. · 2) I've worked here for three years. · 3) I've already finished. · 4) It was built in 1902.

Prerequisite: Units 4–8 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit12-putting-it-together.md · S2-U12-L02

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Retrieval 5 · Model 5 · Error check 5 · Accent 4 · Combine 9 · Record 4 · Feedback 3.

Objectives: retrieve conditionals, relatives, reported speech and the passive · combine three or more in one talk · self-correct the patterned error in each. Integration is the goal — reward learners who combine structures naturally and do not chase isolated perfection. Four correct standalone sentences are weaker evidence than one paragraph where three structures cooperate. Error inoculation, not re-teaching. Show the five plausible wrong forms and make learners repair them from memory. If you re-explain the second conditional here, you will not have time for the combination work that this lesson exists for. The likely weak spots are reported questions (word order) and by overuse in the passive. Those two are worth naming explicitly. English only. Full immersion.

Support: the four structure cards. Stretch: a ninety-second talk containing all four. Arabic 0% — full immersion.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Retrieve all four structures without notes.
- Combine three or more in one connected talk.
- Catch the classic error in each. 🎧

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Units 4 to 8 gave you the grammar for complex ideas: hypotheticals, definitions inside a sentence, reporting other people, and describing processes without a doer. Individually they are exercises. Together they are the difference between simple English and adult English.

The summative does not ask you to produce a second conditional on demand. It asks you to talk about something real for several minutes, and the structures either turn up when they are needed or they do not. That is what this lesson tests.

There is also a practical reason to check them as a group rather than one at a time. Under pressure, learners fall back to the safest structure they know and avoid the others entirely — which produces accurate but flat speech that sits below its owner's real level. Retrieving all four in one session makes the avoidance visible, to you and to them.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (FOUR-SHOT RETRIEVAL)

No notes. One original example of each, sixty seconds:

a first conditional · a second conditional · a relative clause · a reported statement · a reported question · a present passive · a past passive

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Note which of the seven are slow or avoided. Avoidance is the signal to watch — it is invisible in a normal task.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

A short talk in which all four cooperate (📞 in the portal).

The building where I work was renovated last year, and it was done badly.

The company that did it was chosen because it was cheapest — which, in hindsight, explains everything. Our office manager told us the work would take six weeks. She asked us whether we could work from home for that period, and we all said yes.

It took five months. If they had planned it properly, it would have taken six weeks — but if I were honest, I think nobody was managing it at all.

If the same thing happens again, Ill simply refuse to come in. The people who suffered most were the ones whose desks were moved four times.

Notice the cooperation. Two passives and a relative clause in the first two sentences. Reported statement and reported question in the second paragraph. A second conditional, a were, and a first conditional in the last two. None of it is announced — each structure appears because the meaning required it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Play twice. Second pass: learners identify all four structure types. Then ask which sentence would be impossible without its structure — that is the argument for having them.

🧩 THE FIVE-ERROR CARD — كارت الخمس أخطاء

Repair each before reading the correction.

Wrong	Correct	Why
If I will see him, I'll tell him.	If I see him...	present after if
If I would have money, I'd travel.	If I had money...	past after if in the unreal
A doctor is a person who he helps.	...a person who helps...	the pronoun is the subject
She asked me where do I live.	...where I lived.	a reported question is a statement
Coffee grown in Brazil.	Coffee is grown...	the passive needs be

And two judgement points, which matter more than form:

1) by is usually omitted. My bike was stolen — not by someone. Include the agent only when it is surprising, specific, or important. 2) Drop the relative pronoun when another subject follows it: the film I saw. It is more natural, and keeping it is never wrong.

The four structures and what each is for:

Structure	Job
conditionals	reason about the possible and the imaginary relative clauses	pack information into one sentence reported speech	pass on what others said and asked passive	describe processes and facts with no doer

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Learners repair all five aloud, then state one judgement point in their own words. Any structure that stays wrong becomes an individual priority before L05.

🔪 YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك (RETRIEVAL)

Job	Frame
real condition	If I ..., I'll ... unreal condition	If I ...ed, I'd ... hypothetical advice	If I were you, I'd ... define a person	the person who ... define a place	the place where ... reduced clause	the thing I ... report a statement	He said (that) ... · She told me ... report a question	She asked me if / where ... report a request	He asked me to ... present passive	It is made ... past passive	It was built ...

ACCENT LAB — معمل النطق

Weak forms and reductions across all four structures. This is the Stage-2 thread, and here it is under maximum load:

'll /l/ and 'd /d/ — one phoneme separating real from unreal that → /ðæt/, or dropped entirely to → /tə/ in *asked me to is / are / was / were — weak but never absent in a passive by — unstressed, with the agent stressed

The minimal pair that carries the most meaning:

I'll* go* — real · I'd* go* — unreal

Then the beat across a mixed sentence. Content words only:

The BUILDing where I WORK wəz RENovated LAST year.

Record & compare: "If they'd planned it properly, it would have taken six weeks."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Two minutes on the 'll / 'd pair, two on weak auxiliaries in the passive. Both are meaning-carrying rather than cosmetic.

TRAIN — البروفة الكاملة

Exercise 1 — one sentence each. Describe a real situation at your work, home or study using:

1. a first conditional
2. a second conditional
3. a relative clause
4. a reported statement
5. a passive

Exercise 2 — combine. Rewrite exercise 1 as one connected paragraph. Add connectors; remove repetition.

Exercise 3 — fix and explain.

1. If I would have time, I'd come. → _____
2. The man who he lives next door. → _____
3. He asked me what did I want. → _____
4. The report was write by my colleague. → _____

Exercise 4 — ninety seconds. Talk about a change at your work or in your city. Use at least three of the four structures. Your partner names which ones they heard.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~9 min. Ex2 is the point of the lesson — give it three minutes. Ex3: If I had time · who lives · what I wanted · was written by. In Ex4, the partner naming the structures is what makes integration visible.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Talk for about ninety seconds about a real change — at work, in your city, or in your life. Use at least three of the four structures naturally.

Record it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min + 3 feedback. Success check: three or more structures used appropriately and unannounced, none of the five patterned errors, by omitted where it should be, and audible 'll / 'd.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a ninety-second talk using three of the four structures.
- You now have the grammar to say complex things. The remaining work is not learning more structures — it is reaching for the ones you already have instead of retreating to the safest one.

REMEMBER — افكر

- Present after if in a real condition; past after if in an unreal one.
- The relative pronoun is the subject — never add another.
- Drop the pronoun when another subject follows it.
- A reported question is a statement: no inversion, no do.
- The passive always needs be; by is usually omitted.
- 'll against 'd — one sound, real against imaginary.

SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- Ex3: 1) If I had time, I'd come. · 2) The man who lives next door... · 3) He asked me what I wanted. · 4) The report was written by my colleague.

DISCUSSION CLINIC: OPINIONS + CONNECTED SPEECH

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 12 · Lesson 3 — PERSONAL CLINIC ⌚ ~35 min · 📞 Recorded + live ·

Prerequisite: Units 9–11 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit12-putting-it-together.md · S2-U12-L03

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~35 min): Identify 4 · Perceive 5 · Re-cue 5 · Produce 9 · Passage 4 · Free speech 4 · Compare 4.

Objectives: identify each learner's top three connected-speech or prosody targets from evidence · improve them from phrase to spontaneous speech · self-monitor and self-correct. Honesty guardrail: celebrate clarity and naturalness gains, never demand "native." Compare each learner only with their own earlier recordings. This is the same rule as the Stage-1 clinic and it matters more here, because Stage-2 targets are prosodic and progress feels slower. Personalise from real evidence. Use the two written priorities handed over from U11-L05. If those are missing, diagnose from the seeded passage before choosing — do not hand everybody the same three targets. Stage-2 targets are rhythmic, not segmental. The beat, weak forms, linking, list and contrast intonation. A learner whose individual sounds are fine can still be hard to follow because every word gets equal weight — that is the thing to fix. Self-monitoring is the transferable skill, and the point of the lesson is that it survives the course. Support: one high-impact target only. Stretch: all three carried into spontaneous speech with self-repair. Arabic 0% — full immersion.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

By the end, you'll be able to:

- Name your three current targets from evidence, not guesswork.
- Improve each from a phrase to spontaneous speech.
- Notice a slip and repair it while still talking. 🗣️

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Your individual sounds are largely fine by now. What still marks you out is rhythm — where the beat falls, which words get squeezed, how a list or a contrast is shaped. That is what makes a speaker easy or tiring to follow, and it is almost never taught.

There is a second reason this lesson exists. A teacher cannot follow you into every future conversation, but self-monitoring can. Once you can hear a feature in your own speech, feel what your mouth is doing differently, and repair it inside a sentence without stopping, your improvement stops depending on a course timetable at all.

Be clear about the target: clearer and easier to follow than your own earlier recordings. Not native. Accent is identity, not error, and nobody in this programme is asking you to lose yours.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (EVIDENCE FIRST)

Take the two written priorities from your Unit-11 recording. Add one more from your tracker. Write all three as specific, testable features:

not "intonation" → falling tune at the end of my turn not "rhythm" → squeezing function words in a long sentence not "linking" → 'd audible in second conditionals

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Insist on specificity. A vague target cannot be tested, so it cannot be improved or evidenced. If a learner has no priorities recorded, use the passage below as a diagnosis.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — اِسمع (PERCEPTION BEFORE PRODUCTION)

For each of your targets, listen to a clear version and a flat version. Mark which is which. Do not speak yet.

Common Stage-2 target	Contrast to hear the beat	every word equal · content words stressed weak forms	for /fɔ:r/ · /fə/
'll vs 'd	I'll go · I'd go list intonation	all flat · rise-rise- fall contrast stress	cheap but slow flat · both words stressed however	run on · full stop, comma
turn-end	rising · falling
linking	asked me to separated · as-kmi-tə

If you cannot reliably hear the difference, slow down there. The mouth cannot fix what the ear does not yet track — and prosody is harder to hear in your own speech than any individual sound.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. A/B listening with eyes closed. A target only advances when the learner identifies four of five correctly. Perception failure is information, not failure.

DECODE IT — الطريقة (CUE CARDS)

Choose only the cards matching your targets.

Target	Physical cue	Quick test
the beat	tap the table on content words only	can a listener follow at speed?
weak forms	let the vowel collapse to /ə/	does for sound like four ?
'll* / *'d	one clean consonant, never dropped	can a partner tell real from unreal?
list contour	hand rises, rises, then drops	does your last item fall?
contrast stress	push both contrasted words	is the contrast audible?
however	stop, say it, comma, continue	two pauses present?
turn-end	drop the pitch and stop	does anyone else take the floor?
linking	no gap between the words	one shape or three words?

One cue per target. In real speech you will not recall an explanation, but you can recall a tap, a drop, or a hand movement. A cue works because it is physical and instant: it survives the moment when you are also choosing a word, tracking what the other person said, and deciding whether you agree. An explanation does not survive that moment, however well you understood it at the time.

Keep each cue tied to its own test, and check the test rather than your feeling. Feeling clearer is not evidence of being clearer, and the two come apart most often on exactly the features that matter — because a rhythm you produce yourself always sounds more natural to you than it does to anyone listening.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Re-cue, do not re-lecture. The learner states the cue and demonstrates the test. It must be usable without you present.

✂ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك (THE REPAIR LANGUAGE)

When you notice...	Do this the sentence sounded flat	repeat the phrase , not the word, with the beat a weak form came out strong	carry on; fix it on the next occurrence
you dropped a 'll or 'd	repair immediately — it changes meaning your turn ended on a rise	add a short falling tag: ... anyway . 📌
you are losing the thread	What I mean is... and restart the clause

A repair should be small and forward-moving: "...which is cheaper — sorry, cheaper but slower." Correct, then continue. Never restart the whole turn.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق (THE NINE-MINUTE CORE)

For each target, run the same ladder:

1. Hear the contrast.
2. Set the cue.
3. Say a word or short phrase.
4. Say one sentence.
5. Say a long sentence — where prosody actually lives.
6. Record and compare with the model.
7. Repeat once, changing only the target.

Required lane for everyone — the beat:

I'VE been WORKing there fər aBOUT three YEARS. If I were YOU, I'd ASK for MORE.* *The BUILDing where I WORK wəz RENovated LAST year.

Then personalise lanes two and three from your own list.

🎧 Checkpoint: save your first and final attempt. Improvement you cannot compare is only a feeling.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~9 min. Three minutes per target. Support route: six minutes on the highest-impact target, three on the beat. Stretch: the final sentence carries all three targets, unscripted.

TRAIN — تدرّب (SEEDED PASSAGE)

Read once for meaning, once for your targets:

If I were starting again, I'd choose differently. However, the job I have now was offered to me by someone I'd met for about ten minutes at a conference — which, honestly, is not a strategy. The role was created because two people had left in the same month. Firstly, nobody explained that. Secondly, nobody explained the salary either. Finally, I found out from a colleague who had been there for nine years.

It's cheaper than commuting, quicker than my last job, and much less stressful. Although I wouldn't call it a career.

Underline every instance of your targets. Read again, then speak for ninety seconds about your own work without the passage. When you notice a slip, repair the phrase and continue.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min passage + 4 min free speech. The passage seeds 'd, were, however, weak for, a list contour, a contrast, two passives and a had form. Score only each learner's selected targets. Count spontaneous self-repairs as success.

YOUR TURN — دورك

Record ninety seconds on any familiar topic, containing all three targets. Listen once and mark:

- one clear gain
- one remaining slip
- one successful self-repair

Keep both the first ladder recording and this final one.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min compare. Success check: clearer and easier to follow than the learner's own earlier sample, all three targets attempted in connected speech, and at least one independent notice-or-repair. Update residual flags for Stage 3.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Post a before/after pair for your number one target.
- Run the five-minute drill daily until the summative: perceive 1 · cue 1 · ladder 2 · spontaneous sentence 1.

- Carry unresolved targets into Stage 3. Finishing a stage does not mean pretending a feature is finished.

🧠 REMEMBER — افكر

- Clearer and easier to follow than your own earlier recording. Never "native."
- Stage-2 targets are rhythmic: the beat, weak forms, linking, list and contrast contours.
- The ladder: hear → cue → word → sentence → long sentence → compare.
- One physical cue per target survives pressure; an explanation does not.
- Repair the phrase, not the word, and keep going.
- Self-monitoring is the skill that outlasts the course.

✅ SELF-CHECK — صحّ لنفسك

- ☐ My three targets came from evidence, not guesswork.
- ☐ I can hear each contrast reliably.
- ☐ I have one physical cue for each.
- ☐ I saved a first and a final recording.
- ☐ I repaired at least one slip without restarting.

B1 MOCK DISCUSSION — THE FULL 8–12 MINUTES

Empire English · Stage 2 — Legionary (B1) · Unit 12 · Lesson 4 — FULL MOCK 🕒 ~40 min · 📞 Recorded + live · Prerequisite: L01–L03 Built from: curriculum/stage2/unit12-putting-it-together.md · S2-U12-L04

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~40 min): Retrieval 5 · Model 5 · Notice 4 · Accent 3 · Mock + peer rubric 15 · Feedback 3 · Self-assess 2 · Queue 3. Objectives: sustain an 8–12 minute discussion with opinions, justification, (dis)agreement and narration · manage turns and fluency strategies · self-assess readiness for the L05 summative. This is the exact summative format. Same length, same prompt types, same rubric. A mock only removes anxiety when nothing about it is a surprise. Do not raise the difficulty to "prepare" them or lower it to "encourage" them. English-only, and say so warmly. Stage 2 ends in full immersion. If a learner stalls, feed a phrase in English rather than switching language — that is the strategy they will actually need in the room. Score the discussion, not a speech. Turn-taking, following up, challenging, conceding and recovering all count. B1 is not error-free; it is coherent, justified, and sustained. Low stakes, high honesty. Today produces one short polish list, not a label. Quote evidence: "You justified three opinions with reasons; two conditionals lost the 'd.'" Support: prompt card, phrase bank, two minutes' prep, 8 minutes. Stretch: chair the discussion, no phrase bank, 12 minutes, handle a direct challenge. Arabic 0% — full immersion.

🎯 YOUR CONQUEST — هدفك

Today you run the whole thing:

- Part 1: state and justify an opinion, and respond when someone disagrees.
- Part 2: tell a detailed story that supports your point.
- Part 3: handle a hypothetical and a reported opinion.
- Score yourself on the rubric and leave with two things to polish. 🗣️

👑 WHY THIS MATTERS — ليه ده مهم

Uncertainty costs more than difficulty. Almost everyone who underperforms in a speaking assessment does so because the shape of the event is unfamiliar, not because the language is missing. You spend the first two minutes working out what is being asked, the next two recovering, and by the time you sound like yourself the assessment is over. Running the format once, in full, at full length, removes that entire category of loss.

There is a harder reason too. Eight to twelve minutes is long enough that memorised material runs out. A rehearsed answer covers ninety seconds; after that you are simply having a conversation, and the discussion starts asking for the things this whole stage was built on — a reason attached to an opinion, a story with a shape, a hypothetical you did not see coming, and a way to disagree without ending the exchange. That is why the mock is not shortened. The length is the test.

So treat today as a rehearsal with real stakes and no consequences. Prepare topics, not scripts. Find out which structures desert you under pressure while there is still a lesson left to fix them, and go into the summative already knowing what the room feels like.

🔄 WARM-UP — سَخْن (RAPID MIXED RETRIEVAL)

Sixty seconds each, no preparation:

1. An opinion about remote work, plus a reason.
2. Something you have done that changed how you think.
3. What you would do with an unexpected free month.
4. Something a friend told you that turned out to be wrong.
5. A change that was made somewhere you study or work.

Your partner responds to each with agreement, partial agreement, or disagreement — never just "OK."

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Speed over polish. This wakes up tense switching, opinion framing and the reflex to respond rather than wait. Note anyone who answers without a reason; that is the single most common B1 shortfall.

💡 WATCH & LISTEN — النموذج

Watch the model discussion excerpt in the portal, then read the transcript slice:

Coach: Some people say social media has made us worse at conversation. What do you think?

Learner: I'd partly agree, actually. I think it's made us better at short exchanges and much worse at long ones. If I have a serious conversation now, I notice I want to check my phone after five minutes — which never used to happen. Coach: Is that the platform's fault, though? Learner: That's a fair challenge. I wouldn't say it's entirely the platform. But the apps are designed to interrupt you, so I'd say the responsibility is shared. Coach: Has anything changed for you personally? Learner: Yes. I've deleted two apps since January. The interesting thing is what happened afterwards — for the first week I was genuinely bored, and I kept picking the phone up anyway. Then around day ten I started reading again, which I hadn't done properly for years. Coach: And if you got a job that required you to be online all day? Learner: Then I'd have to separate the two. My brother works in marketing, and he told me he keeps a second phone with nothing on it. I thought that sounded extreme, but I understand it now.

Notice what the learner does not do: deliver a monologue, avoid the challenge, or answer with a bare opinion. Every turn carries an opinion plus a reason, a concession, or a piece of evidence.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~5 min. Learners identify one opinion+reason, one concession, one narrative stretch, one hypothetical and one reported statement. Then ask where the coach introduced something unmemorable.

DECODE IT — القاعدة (WHAT A STRONG B1 DISCUSSION SOUNDS LIKE)

The rubric has five dimensions. Score each 0–5 from evidence across the whole discussion, never from an impression formed in the first minute.

Dimension	At-threshold evidence
Fluency	speaks in connected stretches; hesitation does not repeatedly halt the discussion
Coherence	ideas are ordered and signposted; a listener can follow the argument without asking
Accuracy	Stage-2 structures usually carry the intended meaning and time
Range	draws on perfect, narrative past, conditionals, relatives, reported speech, passive and connectors as the topic requires
Interaction	responds to what was actually said; follows up, concedes, challenges, and repairs

Four habits separate a discussion that reaches the threshold from one that does not, and none of them is about knowing more grammar.

One: every opinion arrives with a reason. An unjustified opinion is a dead turn — there is nothing for the other person to take hold of. Attach the reason in the same breath, not after being asked for it.

Two: agreement is graded, not binary. Total agreement ends the topic and blank disagreement stalls it. Partial agreement is the engine of a real discussion, because it obliges you to say which part and why.

Three: a story is used as evidence, not as filler. The strongest discussions move between the abstract and the concrete. You make a claim, you show the incident that produced it, and then you return to the claim. That movement is also what naturally recruits the whole tense system.

Four: a challenge is an invitation. When someone pushes back, the weak move is to abandon the position or repeat it louder. The strong move is to concede the reasonable part and then hold the rest — "That's a fair point, but I'd still say..." — which is the single clearest marker that you are discussing rather than reciting.

Length is not the same as talking a lot. A twelve-minute discussion where you speak sixty percent of the time and never respond to anything scores below an eight-minute one where every turn connects.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Read the actual bands from curriculum/05-assessment-suite.md when scoring. This card explains the dimensions to learners; do not invent a threshold in the room.

🗡️ YOUR ARSENAL — ذخيرتك (THE STRATEGIES, NOT THE SCRIPT)

Function	Lines
Justify	The reason I say that is... · mainly because... · which matters because...
Partly agree	I'd partly agree. · Up to a point. · That's true of X, less so of Y.
Disagree softly	I see it differently, actually. · I'm not sure I'd go that far.
Concede then hold	That's a fair point, but I'd still say... · Fair enough — although...
Buy time honestly	That's a good question, let me think. · I've never been asked that.
Bring evidence	Something happened last year that changed my mind...
Hypothesise	If that happened, I'd probably... · Supposing it did...
Report	A colleague told me she'd already tried it.
Hand the floor over	What's your take? · Would you say the same?
Repair	Sorry — what I mean is... · Let me put that another way.

Use these as strategies you can reach for, not sentences to recite. A memorised phrase delivered at the wrong moment is more obvious than a hesitation.

🎧 ACCENT LAB — عيادة النطق (TOP-ONE TUNE-UP)

Take the single highest-impact target from your L03 clinic — the one most likely to affect whether you are easy to follow. Run one short ladder and stop:

cue → phrase → one discussion sentence → one unrehearsed sentence

I'd PROBably say it dependz on the CONtext.

Then put the card away. Three minutes should settle your mouth, not fill your head with monitoring. During the mock, meaning and interaction come first.

Record the discussion sentence once. No perfection loop on mock day.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min. Prioritise a meaning-affecting or follow-ability target over a cosmetic one. Never introduce a new feature today.

TRAIN — البروفة الكاملة (THE FULL MOCK)

In pairs or threes. One learner discusses, the others assess with the rubric card, then rotate.

PART 1 — OPINION + CHALLENGE (~4 MIN)

The assessor picks one:

- Should university be free for everyone?
- Is working from home better for most people?
- Do phones make us less patient?
- Should there be a limit on how much people can earn?
- Is it better to specialise early or stay broad?

State your position, justify it, and answer two follow-ups. The assessor must push back at least once.

PART 2 — STORY AS EVIDENCE (~4 MIN)

Tell a detailed story that supports or complicates your position. Set the scene, connect the events, include one thing that had happened before, and land on the point it proves.

PART 3 — HYPOTHETICAL + REPORTED (~4 MIN)

Answer two closing questions:

- What would you do if the opposite were true?
- What have other people told you about this, and did you agree?

Then ask the assessor one question back.

Assessors: one evidence note plus one next action per dimension. No adjectives without a quotation.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~15 min. Keep assessor behaviour identical for everyone: two follow-ups, one genuine push-back, two closing questions. Support route may hold the prompt card and phrase bank and run eight minutes; record that accommodation. Stretch route chairs the discussion and manages the topic change itself. Time it visibly — learners need to feel how long twelve minutes is.

YOUR TURN — دورك (SELF-ASSESSMENT FROM EVIDENCE)

Score your own discussion 0–5 on all five dimensions, then write:

- one dimension you can prove is at threshold, with the words you used
- one dimension that is not there yet
- the two things you will polish before L05 — and nothing more

Optional recording for private comparison — this is not the milestone clip.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min feedback + 2 min self-assessment. Compare peer scores with your own evidence and resolve the gap out loud; learners calibrate by hearing why. Give a maximum of two polish targets. Success check: sustains 8–12 minutes at or near the B1 threshold, justifies opinions unprompted, handles a push-back without abandoning or repeating the position, and leaves with a specific, manageable L05 plan.

YOUR ORDERS — مهمتك

- Complete the rubric self-assessment from evidence, not from how the discussion felt.
- Prepare topics and examples, never memorised answers. Twelve minutes will find a script.
- Practise only your two polish targets. Reviewing all of Stage 2 the night before adds noise and removes control.
- Bring one story you know well. A story you have actually lived buys you three minutes of fluent speech.

REMEMBER — افكر

- The format: opinion + challenge → story as evidence → hypothetical + reported.
- The rubric: Fluency · Coherence · Accuracy · Range · Interaction.
- Every opinion travels with a reason; partial agreement keeps the discussion alive.
- A push-back is an invitation: concede the fair part, hold the rest.
- B1 is coherent, justified and sustained — not error-free.
- The summative is the same shape as today. There is no trap waiting.

SELF-CHECK — صحّح لنفسك

- ☐ I spoke for the full time without switching out of English.
- ☐ I justified every opinion without being asked to.
- ☐ I answered a push-back by conceding and then holding my position.

- ☐ I used a story as evidence, not as filler.
 - ☐ I handled a hypothetical and reported what someone else said.
 - ☐ My two polish targets are specific and manageable.

TEACHER'S EDITION

At a glance (~45 min): Settle 4 · Quiz 12 · Setup 3 · Accent 2 · B1 discussion 14 · Standard sample 6 · Feedback 3 · Queue 1. Objectives: demonstrate the B1 exit criteria · complete the Stage-2 summative quiz and the extended 8–12 minute opinion-and-discussion task · record the standard-prompt B1 milestone sample that extends the proof timeline to four points. Use the governing documents: `curriculum/05-assessment-suite.md` for the rubric bands and the determination procedure; `curriculum/06-before-after-protocol.md` for the standard prompt, recording conditions, storage and consent. This lesson does not invent replacements for either. The assessment and the proof sample are different recordings. The extended discussion determines performance; the standard prompt exists so that Day-1 → Stage-0 → A2 → B1 can be compared fairly. Keep both, as separate files. Consent is granular and revocable. Enrolling in the course never implies permission to publish. Record the tier the learner actually chose, and honour a withdrawal later without argument. Without publication consent, retain or delete exactly as the protocol says and use the clip privately only where authorised. Clear, not native. Pronunciation is scored for intelligibility and follow-ability. Accent identity is never a pass criterion, and no learner has ever been asked here to sound like someone else. English-only, throughout. Stage 2 ends in full immersion, and the learner has already done this at full length in L04. Arabic 0% — full immersion.

Today you will:

- complete the Stage-2 summative quiz
- complete the extended B1 discussion: opinion and justification, a detailed story, a hypothetical, reported speech
- record the standard B1 milestone sample
- receive an evidence-based B1 determination and your first Stage-3 targets 🎧

1 SETTLE

Take one breath. You already ran this exact format, at this exact length, in L04.

This is a milestone, not a filter. A result describes today's evidence and the next useful step. It does not describe your intelligence, your effort, or your worth. Nobody in this room is hoping you fail.

If your mind goes blank in the first minute, say so in English and ask for the question again. Asking for clarification is assessed interaction, not a lost mark.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~4 min. Confirm the sequence and answer procedural questions only — no content coaching. Verify the recording works, and confirm the consent tier and storage destination before any capture begins.

2 THE SUMMATIVE QUIZ

Complete the Stage-2 quiz independently. It samples recognition and short production across everything the stage built:

- present perfect for experience and for recent events, and the perfect-versus-past choice
- narrative past: past simple, past continuous, used to, and had + participle for what came earlier
- first and second conditionals, and the will-after-if trap
- relative clauses, defining and non-defining, including the doubled-subject error
- reported speech: backshift, pronoun and time shifts, reported questions
- the passive, including by and the agentless passive
- connectors, discussion functions, opinion framing and hedging

TEACHER'S EDITION

~12 min. Use the committed portal or Google Form instrument and its set band. Preserve the raw score and the production responses — the short production items are the part that actually predicts speaking. A quiz that submits successfully is not evidence of speaking ability; it is one component of five.

3 SPEAKING TASK SETUP

The discussion runs 8–12 minutes in three connected parts:

1. Opinion and justification, with at least one genuine push-back from the assessor.
2. A detailed story used as evidence for your position, including something that had happened earlier.
3. A hypothetical and a reported opinion, then one question from you.

You are scored on five dimensions: Fluency · Coherence · Accuracy · Range · Interaction.

You may ask for repetition, ask for thinking time, or repair a sentence you started badly. All three are part of the Interaction score rather than deductions from it.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min. Explain the format and the rubric only. The support route may hold brief preparation notes and run at the shorter end of the range while still covering every criterion; record that accommodation alongside the result so the determination stays interpretable later.

4 ACCENT TUNE-UP

Use the cue for your single highest-impact target from the L03 clinic:

cue → one phrase → one sentence → stop

Do not try to monitor every feature during the discussion. Meaning, reasons and responsiveness come first; clarity follows from the cue you have already practised.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~2 min. No new correction on assessment day. Settle one established cue, then remove the card.

5 THE BI DISCUSSIONPART A — OPINION AND JUSTIFICATION

The assessor opens with one broad question, for example: Should university be free for everyone? · Is working from home better for most people? · Should there be a limit on what anyone can earn? · Has technology made us less patient?

State your position, justify it, and hold or adjust it under one push-back.

PART B — A STORY AS EVIDENCE

Tell a detailed story that supports or complicates your position. Set the scene, connect the events, include one thing that had already happened, and return to the point it proves.

PART C — HYPOTHETICAL AND REPORTED

Answer two closing questions: what you would do if the opposite were true, and what other people have told you about this and whether you agreed. Then ask the assessor one question of your own.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~14 min, recorded. Follow the assessment suite's prompt and scoring procedure exactly. Push back once, genuinely, for every learner — a discussion that is never challenged cannot evidence Interaction. Do not silently simplify after one error or escalate after a strong opening. Score the whole sample against all five dimensions and preserve the evidence notes, quoted.

6 THE B1 MILESTONE SAMPLE

Record the standard prompt under the before/after protocol's comparable conditions — same prompt, same phone or microphone position, same quiet room, unread and unrehearsed:

"Tell me about yourself, your family, and your typical day."

Then add the Stage-2 extension:

"Give me an opinion you hold and your reason for it, tell me a story that shows why, and tell me what you would do if that situation happened again."

Speak naturally. Do not memorise anything and do not read. This recording exists to sit beside your Day-1, Stage-0 and A2 samples; it does not change the assessment result, and nothing you say in it is scored.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~6 min. Capture as a separate file from the assessment. Match the prompt and conditions as closely as the protocol requires — an unmatched recording proves nothing, because any difference could be the conditions. Log the file link, the date, the level point and the consent tier. Never publish, edit into marketing, or transfer the clip beyond that tier without explicit authorisation.

7 RESULT AND FEEDBACK

The coach gives, in this order:

1. the rubric evidence across all five dimensions, quoted from what you said
2. the B1 determination against the assessment suite's threshold
3. two specific wins, quoted
4. one language or interaction target for Stage 3
5. one residual pronunciation target carried from the tracker

Evidence comes before any label. If a component needs repeating, that is a scheduled piece of work with a date on it, not a verdict about you.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~3 min. Do not round up for motivation or down for strictness — both destroy the value of the record. If the evidence is insufficient, or a technical failure affected capture, write that down and reschedule the affected component rather than estimating it.

8 SAVE, CONSENT AND QUEUE

COMPLETION CHECKLIST

- ☐ Summative quiz score and production responses saved.
- ☐ Extended B1 discussion recorded and scored on all five dimensions, with quoted evidence.
- ☐ Standard milestone prompt recorded as a separate file under protocol conditions.
- ☐ B1 determination and evidence notes entered in the Cohort Tracker.
- ☐ Consent tier, storage link and any publication restriction recorded.
- ☐ Residual structures and weak pronunciation features flagged for Stage 3.
- ☐ Learner has received the result, the two wins, and the next action.

YOUR NEXT CAMPAIGN

Stage 3 is Confident (B2) — the flagship climb. The full tense range, third and mixed conditionals, advanced passive and reported speech, modals of deduction, register and nuance and collocation, and a 20–30 minute conversation on a professional topic with clear, controlled speech. The Accent Lab stops teaching sounds and starts refining prosody, thought groups and self-monitoring. Stage 2 gave you the grammar to say complex things; Stage 3 is where you say them well enough that nobody notices the machinery.

TEACHER'S EDITION

~1 min. Where consent permits, pair the Day-1, Stage-0, A2 and B1 samples privately with the learner. A four-point timeline is unusually persuasive evidence of development — and it is evidence, not permission to publish. Set one concrete B2 goal before they leave.

REMEMBER — افكر

- You began this stage describing events and finished it discussing ideas, with reasons attached.
- B1 means coherent, justified, sustained communication — not error-free communication.
- A story used as evidence is worth more than an opinion repeated louder.

- Conceding the fair part of a challenge and holding the rest is a skill, not a retreat.
 - Your recording is proof of your progress; your consent controls what may be done with it.
 - Four points on the timeline now. This is a milestone on the route, not the end of it.

🎓 EMPIRE SIGN-OFF

Legionary → B1 milestone reached when the evidence meets the standard. You did not collect structures. You built enough control to hold a position, tell the story behind it, imagine an alternative, and stay in the conversation when someone disagreed — for twelve minutes, in English, without a script. Keep the recording. Let the evidence speak. Then begin the flagship climb. 🏰
